

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

As stated in the prefatory remarks to one of the earlier issues of the series of bibliographies of which this volume forms the fifth number, the writer undertook a number of years ago the compilation of a work to be published by the Bureau of Ethnology, which was to embrace within a single volume an authors' catalogue of all the material relating to the native North American languages. With this purpose in view he visited the principal public and private libraries of the United States, Canada, and northern Mexico, carried on an extensive correspondence with librarians, missionaries, and others interested in the subject, and examined such authorities, printed and manuscript, as were accessible. The results of these researches were embodied in a work entitled "Proof-sheets of a Bibliography of the Languages of the North American Indians," the full title and description of which will be found on page 403 herewith. The amount of material obtained was so much greater than was anticipated that the volume proved cumbersome, and it was concluded to change the style of publication and to issue a series of bibliographies each relating to one of the more prominent groups of our native languages. Consequently but few of the "Proof-sheets" were distributed, and these were confined to persons who it was thought were in a position to aid in the preparation of the new series. New journeys were undertaken, the national libraries of England, France, and a few of the larger private collections in both of these countries were consulted, many of the libraries of this country and Canada were revisited, other correspondents were enlisted, much additional material was acquired, and the publication of the separate bibliographies was begun.

Of this series four numbers have been published, relating respectively, in order of publication, to the Eskimauan, Siouan, Iroquoian, and Muskogean families; this, the Algonquian, is the fifth, and the next in contemplation includes the languages belonging to the Athapascan stock.

The Algonquian speaking peoples covered a greater extent of country, perhaps, than those of any other of the linguistic stocks of North America, stretching from Labrador to the Rocky Mountains, and from the Churchill River of Hudson Bay to Pamlico Sound in North Carolina: and the literature of their languages is by far the greatest in extent of any of the stocks north of Mexico, being equaled, if at all, by only one south of that line, namely, the Nahuatl. Probably every language of the family is on record, and of the more prominent, extensive record has been made. In two, the Massachusetts and the Cree, the whole bible has been printed, the former, by the way, being the first bible printed upon this continent. In two others, the Chippewa and the Micmac, nearly the whole of the scriptures has been printed, and portions thereof have appeared in a number of others. In the Abnaki, Blackfoot, Chippewa, Cree, Delaware, Micmac, and Nipissing, rather extensive dictionaries have been printed, and of the Abnaki, Nipissing, Blackfoot, Chippewa, Illinois, Massachusetts, Montagnais, and Pottawotomi, there are manuscript dictionaries in existence. Of grammars, we have in print the Abnaki, Blackfoot, Chippewa, Cree, Massachusetts, Micmac, and Nipissing, and in manuscript, the Illinois, Menominee, Montagnais, and Pottawotomi. In nearly every language of the family, prayer-books, hymn-books, tracts, and scriptural texts have appeared, and several of them are represented by school-books of various kinds, i. e., primers, spellers, and readers; and in one of them, the Chippewa, there was printed in 1840 a geography for beginners.

The present volume embraces 2,245 titular entries, of which 1,926 relate to printed books and articles, and 319 to manuscripts. Of these, 2,014 have been seen and described by the compiler—1,850 of the prints and 164 of the manuscripts, leaving as derived from outside sources 231—76 of the prints and 155 manuscripts. Of those unseen by the writer, titles and descriptions of probably one-half have been received from persons who have actually seen the works and described them for him.

In addition to these there are given 130 full titles of printed covers, second and third volumes, etc., all of which with one exception have been seen and described by the compiler; while in the notes mention is made of 243 printed and manuscript works, 146 of which have been seen and 97 derived from other (mostly printed) sources.

So far as possible, during the proof-reading of this volume comparison has been made direct with the respective works. For this purpose, besides his own books, the writer has had access to those in the libraries of Congress, the Bureau of Ethnology, the Smithsonian Institution, Maj. J. W. Powell, and several other private collections in the city of Washington. Mr. Wilberforce Eames has compared the titles of works contained in his own library and in the Lenox, and frequent recourse has been had to the various librarians throughout the country for tracings, photographs, etc. The result is that of the 2,014 works described de visu, comparison of proof has been made direct with the original sources in the case of 1,711. In this later reading, collations and descriptions have been entered into more fully than had previously been done, and capital letters treated with more severity.

Endeavor has been made to acknowledge throughout the work the obligations under which the writer has placed himself in the preparation of this material. To a number, however, he is under a greater indebtedness than could be properly mentioned in the body of the work. This is notably true of Mr. Wilberforce Eames, who has contributed not only his constant aid and advice in bibliographic matters, in which he is so well versed, but who has also furnished almost bodily a number of special articles included within these pages—those relating to the publications of the Apostle Eliot, the Indiane primer, Lykins, Mather, Mayhew, Meeker, Pierson, Quinney, Rawson, Sergeant, and Simerwell, besides many new titles, biographic material, etc. From the Rev. J. E. Jones, of St. Mary's College, Montreal, much information has been received concerning the earlier missionaries of Canada; the Reverend Fathers Beaudet and Hamel of the Laval University, Quebec, have been especially kind in giving information concerning the printed and manuscript material contained in the library of that institution and in that of the archiepiscopal residence at Quebec. Similar kindnesses have been shown me by Prof. A. F. Chamberlain, now of Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts, but formerly of Toronto, Canada.

To the Director of the Bureau, Maj. J. W. Powell, I am under lasting obligations for his constant aid and advice and for the opportunity of pursuing my work under the most advantageous circumstances.

As was the case in the previous numbers of the series, my constant assistant has been Mr. P. C. Warman, and upon him has fallen much of the detail and minutiae inseparable from such a work.

Washington, D. C., June 1, 1891.

INTRODUCTION.

In the compilation of this catalogue the aim has been to include everything, printed or in manuscript, relating to the Algonquian languages—books, pamphlets, articles in magazines, tracts, serials, etc., and such reviews and announcements of publications as seemed worthy of notice.

The dictionary plan has been followed to its extreme limit, the subject and tribal indexes, references to libraries, etc., being included in one alphabetic series. The primary arrangement is alphabetic by authors, translators of works into the native languages being treated as authors. Under each author the arrangement is, first, by printed works, and, second, by manuscripts, each group being given chronologically; and in the case of printed books each work is followed through its various editions before the next in chronologic order is taken up.

Anonymously printed works are entered under the name of the author when known, and under the first word of the title, not an article or preposition, when not known. A cross-reference is given from the first words of anonymous titles when entered under an author, and from the first words of all titles in the Indian languages, whether anonymous or not. Manuscripts are entered under the author when known, under the dialect to which they refer when the author is not known.

Each author's name, with his title, etc., is entered in full but once, i. e., in its alphabetic order. Every other mention of him is by surname and initials only, except in those rare cases when two persons of the same surname have also the same initials.

All titular matter, including cross-references thereto, is in brevier, all collations, descriptions, notes, and index matter in nonpareil.

In detailing contents and in adding notes respecting contents, the spelling of proper names used in the particular work itself has been followed, and so far as possible the language of the respective writers is given. In the index entries of tribal names the compiler has adopted that spelling which seemed to him the best.

As a general rule initial capitals have been used in titular matter in only two cases: first, for proper names, and, second, when the word actually appears on the title-page with an initial capital and with the remainder in small capitals or lower-case letters. In giving titles in the German language the capitals in the case of all substantives have been respected.

When titles are given of works not seen by the compiler the fact is stated, or the entry is followed by an asterisk within curves, and in either case the authority is usually given.

The material contained in the "Addenda" has been entered in the chronologic index at the end of the work, but is not included in the tribal and subject indexes throughout the volume.

Manuscript, pp. 1-78 and 2 ll. long 18°, belonging to Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull, Hartford, Conn.

It contains Prière du Matin en Marichit, Cantique, Prière du Soir en Caniba, Prière avant la Confession, Interrogation pour la Confession, Prière avant [et après] la Communion, Catéchisme, Manière de Baptiser, etc.

This manuscript formerly belonged to Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford. It is entered in the sale catalogue of his books under no. 5694, whence the following note is taken:

"Written by some French missionary to the Abnakis. It is complete and well preserved, though its pages bear traces of long and frequent use. It formerly belonged to Dr. John Pickering, to whom it was presented by Biahop (and Cardinal) Cheverus.

"The mission for which this manual was compiled included Indians of at least two tribes, the Canibas, of whose principal dialect Rasles has given us a vocabulary, and the Etchemins and Mareschites, on and near the St. John's River. 'We read in the relations of the Jesuits, that the Canibas, the Etchemina, and other Indians of different tribes lived together in one village,' under the instruction of the missionary Fathers (Manrault, Hist. des Abenakis, 9); and it is not improbable that this manual contains translations made early in the 17th century, and preserved in manuscript copies by successive missionaries."

The manuscript sold for $6.50.

Abnaki. [Manuscripts in the Abnaki language.] (*)

Under several authors in this bibliography will be found titles and descriptions of Abnaki manuscripts preserved at the Roman Catholic mission of Pierreville, Canada, copied from Gill (C.), Notes sur de vieux manuscrits abenakis (q. v.). In addition to those which he places under the names of their respective authors he adds a general note as follows: "There are other manuscripts in Abnaki belonging to families in the village—books of piety containing prayers, psalms, chants, etc."

ing volume [Abnaki Book of prayers] and is probably by the same hand, but it shows that the writer has become more familiar both with the language and with the pen. The character used by the French missionaries for ou or English w (8) is employed, and the nasals are marked as in Rasles's Dictionary, by ñ. In addition to the prayers contained in the earlier manual, it has the Litanies of the Virgin, and of the Holy Name of Jesus, the Psalms and Antiphons for Vespers, and the hymns 'Lucie Creator' and 'Veni Creator.'"

Abnaki. Racines Abnakiuses, ou plutôt, Dictionnaire abanakis-français.

Manuscript, anonymous and undated, pp. 1-130, sm. 4°, in the library of Laval University, Quebec. Pp. 38-98 are missing and the last numbered page is blank; the first and last leaves are much damaged. The writing is legible.

The first four pages of the text contain the theory of the composition of words in the Abnaki language.

Partially copied as follows:

Abnaki. Racines Abanakiuses.

Manuscript, anonymous and undated, 15 unnumbered pp. (the 12th and 15th of which are blank), in the library of Laval University, Quebec. It is an essay toward a French-Abnaki dictionary, and is the beginning of a copy of the manuscript titled next above.

Abnaki. [Register of baptisms, confirmations, marriages, and deaths at the mission of the Saguenay and of Lac St. Jean.]

Manuscript, 65 unnumbered ll. oblong 4°. The first leaf, what would be the third, and one or more at the end, are lacking. In the library of Laval University, Quebec.

Contains many proper names of the Abnaki Indians.

Abnaki. [Religious instructions, chants, and meditations in the Abnaki language.]

Manuscript, ll. 1-190 (of which ll. 111-121, 161-163 are blank), sm. 8°, in the library of Laval University, Quebec. Well written and bound in calf.

At the beginning is this heading: Modus expiendarum barbarorum confessionum. It contains the explanation of the commandments of God, chief prayers, hymns, and prayers of the church, instructions, and meditations.

Abnaki. [Religious songs, with notes.]

Manuscript, pp. 1-500 (with blank pages here and there numbered with the others), 4°, in the library of the archbishopric of Quebec. Without title, name, or date; very legible; bound in boards covered with gray cloth.

Abnaki. [Songs, poems, etc.] (*)

Manuscripts in possession of Mr. Charles G. Leland, who writes me as follows concerning them:

"I would with pleasure send you an account of my collections in Wabanaki lore, but unfortunately they are packed away in London, and it would be impossible for me to obtain them until I return, which will not be before next spring or summer. If not too late I will then attend to it.

"My collection embraces songs, poems, tales, recipes, in short, Indian folk-lore of a very varied kind. Being an old folk-lore, I formed the idea of putting questions of an extremely varied nature on all kinds of topics. Mrs. Brown informs me that it would be impossible now to make such a collection, so many of the old people who knew this lore having died."—Letter of Dec. 17, 1888.

"In my London manuscripts there are several important Indian texts, e. g., a transcript of the wampum records of the Passamaquoddies, texts of songs, etc. I can not recall them now."—Letter of Jan. 7, 1889.

Alger's 'Words and phrases from the Passamaquoddy,' with a number of additions and notes in writing made by her—about 33 in all."

Algonquian. [Algonquian-French grammar.]

Manuscript, 50 ll. 16°, Algonquian and French, in the library of Maj. J. W. Powell, Washington, D. C.; found several years ago among the papers of John Porteus, an early Indian trader in the Mohawk Valley. It consists of declensions and conjugations in nearly equal parts, the latter beginning near the middle of the book, with heading: Conjugations de quelques verbes Alkonkins & Nipissings.

Algonquian. [Algonquian-French vocabulary.]

Manuscript, 11 l. 59 (incomplete), in the Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris, where it is entered under no. 16 in catalogue no. 327. There is no title-page and no indication of author or date. It is closely and finely though not distinctly written, averaging 57 lines to the page, in two columns, Algonquian and French, the writing covering a little more than half the width of the page. It is arranged alphabetically by Algonquian words and ends in the letter T. The character S is used throughout the manuscript for the sound of su or w.

Algonquian. Catechisme Algonkin. (*)

Manuscript, 140 pp. 4°, preserved at the Mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada, and used by the Sisters in teaching the children of the school at that mission. It is said to be a copy only, made, they assert, about fifty years ago. Besides the catechism it contains many psalms and hymns.

During the autumn of 1883, while on a visit to the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes, I had the pleasure, through the courtesy of Père Leclaire, then missionary at that place, of inspecting a number of linguistic manuscripts, composed for the most part by former missionaries at the Lake, titles of which will be found in their proper places in this bibliography. In addition to these, I have been furnished by the late Mrs. Erminnie A. Smith, an employée of the Bureau of Ethnology, who spent some time at that mission engaged in the preparation of a grammar and dictionary of the various Iroquoian languages, with a list of others, of the existence of which I was not aware at the time of my visit; of those which are anonymous, the title of one is given above and others below. The descriptions are by Mrs. Smith, aided by Père Leclaire.

On a more recent visit (June, 1889), I was shown by the Abbé Cuoq what purported to be all the Algonquian manuscripts belonging to the library of the mission; some of these were additional to those seen on my first sojourn at the lake, but I was unable to identify any of those here entered anonymously.

Algonquian. Catechisme Algonquin. (*)

Manuscript, 12°, written by a Jesuit missionary; in the archives of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada.

Algonquian. Dictionnaire Algonquin-Français de l'an 1661. (*)

Manuscript, sm. 4°, preserved in the archives of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada.

This work has passed through the hands of M. Mathevet, a former missionary at this place, as one clearly sees by an inspection of the cover, which is entirely covered with short notes in Algonquian, written by this missionary; besides these he has made many additions throughout the dictionary.

Other additions and corrections have been made by the hand of another missionary, whose name is not known, but from whom we have a large number of Algonquian manuscripts. To this author belong the six pages which end the work.

These writers were evidently very capable men, and already far advanced in the knowledge of the language.

Algonquian. Dictionnaire Français-Algonquin. 1662? (*)

Manuscript preserved in the archives of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada. It is incomplete, beginning with the letter B and ending with the letter T. Mice have partially destroyed it, but the remainder is in a readable state. The author was a Jesuit missionary.

Algonquian. Dictionnaire Français-Algonquin. 1669. (*)

Manuscript preserved in the archives of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada. It is in bad condition, leaves torn, etc.

Algonquian. Dictionnaire Français-Algonquin. (*)

Manuscript in the archives of the Catholic church at Oka, Canada. Written by one of the Jesuit fathers, who has also left a large book of instructions.

Algonquian. [Discourse on Purgatory, and a part of Genesis, in the Algonquian language. 1662?] (*)

Manuscript, 99 ll. preserved in the archives of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada. It is written in abridged Latin and Algonquian and is the work of the same Jesuit father who compiled the French-Algonquian dictionary, titled above under the date of 1662?

The two dictionaries dated 1662? and 1669, and the Discourse, have been corrected and augmented by a Jesuit father who wrote in 1669 and who had a good knowledge of the language, as is attested by the fact that he wrote upon the roots of the Algonkin.

Algonquian. Grammaire, petit catéchisme, prières et cantiques. (*)

Manuscript in the archives of the Catholic church, Oka, Canada. It is a large octavo volume, written by a Jesuit, and appears to be quite ancient.

Algonquian. Instructions sur les symboles en langue Algonquin. 1669. (*)

Manuscript preserved in the archives of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada.

The two manuscripts last titled are the work of the Jesuit father spoken of above as being well versed in the language.

Algonquian. Liber baptisatorum a Patribus Societatis Jesu in residentia seu reductione Sancti Josephi vulgo Sillery.

Manuscript, 82 ll. of which the first four only are numbered, 4°. It is the register of baptisms and confirmations of the Indians made at Sillery and Three Rivers from 1637 to 1690. It contains the names of the Indians baptised and those of their parents.

Preserved in the Basilique Notre-Dame of Quebec.

Algonquian. [Prayers, etc., in the Algonquian language.]

Manuscript, 1 p. l. pp. 1-160, 8 unnumbered ll. 12°, in possession of the compiler of this bibliography, presented by the pastor of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada. It is bound in leather, fairly written, and well preserved.

As stated in the prefatory remarks to one of the earlier issues of the series of bibliographies of which this volume forms the fifth number, the writer undertook a number of years ago the compilation of a work to be published by the Bureau of Ethnology, which was to embrace within a single volume an authors' catalogue of all the material relating to the native North American languages. With this purpose in view he visited the principal public and private libraries of the United States, Canada, and northern Mexico, carried on an extensive correspondence with librarians, missionaries, and others interested in the subject, and examined such authorities, printed and manuscript, as were accessible. The results of these researches were embodied in a work entitled "Proof-sheets of a Bibliography of the Languages of the North American Indians," the full title and description of which will be found on page 403 herewith. The amount of material obtained was so much greater than was anticipated that the volume proved cumbersome, and it was concluded to change the style of publication and to issue a series of bibliographies each relating to one of the more prominent groups of our native languages. Consequently but few of the "Proof-sheets" were distributed, and these were confined to persons who it was thought were in a position to aid in the preparation of the new series. New journeys were undertaken, the national libraries of England, France, and a few of the larger private collections in both of these countries were consulted, many of the libraries of this country and Canada were revisited, other correspondents were enlisted, much additional material was acquired, and the publication of the separate bibliographies was begun.

Of this series four numbers have been published, relating respectively, in order of publication, to the Eskimauan, Siouan, Iroquoian, and Muskogean families; this, the Algonquian, is the fifth, and the next in contemplation includes the languages belonging to the Athapascan stock.

The Algonquian speaking peoples covered a greater extent of country, perhaps, than those of any other of the linguistic stocks of North America, stretching from Labrador to the Rocky Mountains, and from the Churchill River of Hudson Bay to Pamlico Sound in North Carolina; and the literature of their languages is by far the greatest in extent of any of the stocks north of Mexico, being equaled, if at all, by only one south of that line, namely, the Nahuatl. Probably every language of the family is on record, and of the more prominent, extensive record has been made. In two, the Massachusetts and the Cree, the whole bible has been printed, the former, by the way, being the first bible printed upon this continent. In two others, the Chippewa and the Micmac, nearly the whole of the scriptures has been printed, and portions thereof have appeared in a number of others. In the Abnaki, Blackfoot, Chippewa, Cree, Delaware, Micmac, and Nipissing, rather extensive dictionaries have been printed, and of the Abnaki, Nipissing, Blackfoot, Chippewa, Illinois, Massachusetts, Montagnais, and Pottawotomi, there are manuscript dictionaries in existence. Of grammars, we have in print the Abnaki, Blackfoot, Chippewa, Cree, Massachusetts, Micmac, and Nipissing, and in manuscript, the Illinois, Menomonee, Montagnais, and Pottawotomi. In nearly every language of the family, prayer-books, hymn-books, tracts, and scriptural texts have appeared, and several of them are represented by school-books of various kinds, i. e., primers, spellers, and readers; and in one of them, the Chippewa, there was printed in 1840 a geography for beginners.

turned in November, 1674, and founded the mission of Kaakaskias. On returning from this mission he died on the shore of Lake Michigan May 13, 1675. It is probable that it was about this time the manuscript above described was written.

Since furnishing me with the description of this and another manuscript—by Père Antoine Silvy (q. v.), also belonging to Surgeon-Major Nelson—the Abbé Sasseville's very full and detailed description of them, in French, has been translated into English and published in a pamphlet edited by Mr. George M. Fairchild, Jr., with a supplementary letter by Dr. J. G. Shea, printed in New York in 1887 and issued in an edition of 100 copies. In this pamphlet (p. 10) the Abbé says: "We can reasonably infer that this manuscript was remitted to Père Jacques Marquette by Père Cl. Alloëz, either in the month of May, 1673, or in November, 1674."

André (L.) — Continued.

Manuscript; above title (or rather note) verso first recto blank, text in the Ottawa language 5 unnumbered ll. 16° (6 x 4½ inches).

At the top of the second leaf is the heading: Proceptes phrases et mots de la langue Algonquino outaouoise pour un missionnaire nouveau. Following the vocabulary are 28 remarks in Latin, headed respectively Nota 1, Nota 2, etc.

Composed by and in the handwriting of Father André. On the recto of the 23d l. is the remark "et P. Claudius Alloës, qui circiter 30 annos veratus est cum sylvestribus dixit mihi . . ." Father Alloues died at the Ottawa mission August 27, 1689. He arrived in the country as missionary in 1658.

[—] dictionnaire Algonquin [1688?]

Manuscript; no title, heading as above; 406 unnumbered ll. sm. 8° (7½ x 4½ inches). Paged on the rectos of the leaves in a modern hand in pencil 1, 2, 5, 7, 9, etc. Legibly written, on both sides the leaves, 38 lines to the page. Bound roughly in deer skin, with strings of the same material to serve as clasps.

The first three ll. contain explanatory remarks in French; then follows 1 blank l.; then begins A. Il m'a donné un livre à lire, followed by the Algonquin equivalent. The French words are written in the middle of the page as headings, the Algonquin equivalent underneath, many of which run entirely across the page.

Compiled by and in the handwriting of Father André; probably about 1688.

To give an idea of the magnitude of the linguistic labor performed by some of the missionaries to the Indians, as well as to convey some impression of the character of the older manuscripts, I insert the preface to Father André's dictionary:

Avertissement.

1. Il est difficile de faire un dictionnaire en quelque langue que ce soit de celles dont l'ay quelque connoissance, [sans] qu'on [ne] dise souvent le mesme mot, soit par raport [soit à cause du rapport] qu'ont les choses en elles mesmes les unes envers les autres, soit que le françois ayant plusieurs mots sinonimes le mesme mot algonquin revient pour les signifier.

2. Pour faire ce dictionnaire, ie me suis servi des plus grands dictionnaires françois, dont l'ay mis les mots en algonquin; mais comme ie n'avois pas d'algonquins que ie pense consulter l'ay consulté le dictionnaire outaouois.

3. Quand à la fin d'un mot il y a "out," cela veut dire [que] ce mot est propre aux outaouois.

4. Les algonquins n'ont pas d'l. et les outaouois n'ont pas d'r. Quelque fois le mot est commun aux algonquins et aux outaouois. Chacun y mettant ce qui est propre de sa langue.

5. Tous ceux qui voudront bien apprendre la langue doivent tâcher d'avoir une personne d'esprit, et la bien récompenser, pour luy lire les mots, et luy faire dire ce qu'ils signifient, afin que s'expliquant comme il dit divers mots, et

6. Bien que l'on soit certain d'un mot il ne faut laisser de le lire à vostre maistre; souvent il dira les mots sinonimes que l'on marquera.

7. On fera bien de mettre par escrit ce que l'on veut dire aux sauvages, et de le leur lire, et bien qu'on sache ce qu'on veut leur dire il ne nuira point à la question, parce que les sauvages admirent que le liure parle comme nous et que nous puissions mettre sur le papier ce que nous disons, ce qu'ils ne scauroient faire.

8. Quand l'ay mis la première personne ie mets un 3. pour dire la troisieme personne et dans l'explication ie n'explique que la première personne.

9. Il faut se gêner à apprendre les rudimens autrement on ne parlera jamais bien, et on aura de la peine à entendre bien les sauvages.

10. Rarement les françois parlent correctement.

11. Les enfans apprennent facilement les langues en se divertissant, et sans estude, mais un missionnaire qui est un peu âgé aura de la peine où un enfant n'en auroit point. Combien en voyons nous qui au sortir de leurs classes parlent aussi facilement en latin qu'en françois, à plus forte raison un missionnaire apprendra avec peine la langue des sauvages qui a beaucoup moins de rapport à la langue françoise que la langue françoise n'en a avec la latine.

12. Quelque fois quand ie n'ay pas bien joint les lettres ie mets un petit trait afin qu'on les joigne.

13. Comme ie n'ecris pas bien on se trompera souvent, c'est pour quoy il ne faut rien apprendre qu'on ne l'ait leu à celui des sauvages qu'on a pour maistre.

14. Je marque les longues en mettant un accent sur la syllabe longue.

15. Pour bien apprendre à prononcer il ne faut pas dire aux sauvages le mot, mais il faut qu'ils le disent, car si vous leur dites: "Appeliez-vous cela une pierre [!]" ils en diront souvent oui, sans comprendre ce que vous voulez apprendre d'eux.

16. Il est bon d'avoir tousiours dans sa poche un escritoire ou un crayon et des tablettes pour marquer tout ce que vous pourrez attrapper de ce qu'ils disent et après vous proposerez à vostre maistre ce que vous avez ouï et marqué.

17. Il y a des verbes nobles et ignobles; ie mets le verbe ignoble le premier, et puis le noble parabréniation. Par exemple: nitiberindan, ie gouverne c. la. n. [i. e. noble] ma pro nitiberi-ma, ie gouverne u. g. un homme.

18. Quand ie mets "u. g." cela veut dire "par exemple," uerbi gratia en latin.

19. Quand il y a un d à la marge, cela veut dire que ie double de ce mot.

20. Parfois une lettre n'est pas bien formée, pour lors la 3<sup>e</sup> personne considérée servira à corriger la première, ou au contraire [sic] par la troisieme on corrigera la première.

21. Souvent il faudra deviner; le verbe pré-

édant ayant le commencement de la signification de celui qui suit.

22. Souvent au lieu de ou le ne mets que O par oubli. Les sauvages n'ont pas un w comme les français.

23. Il est bon de faire longue ou brève la syllabe pénultième selon qu'elle est [i. e., as the case may be], pour ne pas choquer l'oreille des sauvages. La pénultième longue a un accent aigu v. g.; celle qui n'a point d'accent est brève. Quelquefois le mets l'accent.

24. Agâming, au bord de ga; agâming, au bord de là.

25. Ainsi que nous avons des mots de nos arts que les sauvages n'ont point, de même ils en ont que nous n'avons pas; c'est pour quoy il est bon de marquer ceux qu'ils ont propres, v. g. sur le canot.

26. Quand il y a un k et un g l'un sur l'autre, cela veut dire que l'un et l'autre se disent. Le même se doit entendre de P et de B.

27. Quand l'ay manqué quelque lettre le la mets au-dessus du mot où elle doit estre insérée.

28. Il faudroit un dictionnaire qui commençât par l'algonquin, ce qui seroit commode pour chercher les mots; mais il faut du temps et du papier en abondance pour ranger bien les mots algonquins ainsi que l'ay tâché de faire aux mots outaouais.

29. Quand le mets l'accent sur la dernière du verbe cela veut dire qu'il faut le mettre sur la pénultième de la seconde personne.

30. Souvent le suppose que le mot est signifié par celui qui commence.

31. Il faut prendre garde à ne pas se tromper quand par inadvertance le mets un mot ou des syllabes outaouaises ou papinachioises car les trois langues tantost conuenient et tantost ne conuenient pas.

32. Quand le ne mets point de français après l'algonquin c'est signe que le [ne] sçay pas la signification.

33. Dans toutes les langues il y a des mots synonymes formellement ou équivalement, ce qui fait que le même verbe est plusieurs fois répété.

34. Tantost le commence par le mot sauvage, tantost par le mot français sans que cela porte conséquence.

35. Souvent ayant mis le verbe, le ne mets pas la signification au premier qui suit.

36. L'ay oublié quelquefois à mettre le français à des phrases.

37. L'écrit comme les sauvages prononcent et il faut s'estudier à prononcer comme eux.

38. Il ne faut permettre à personne de lire dans ce dictionnaire de peur que quelqu'un ne lise ce qui est vilain comme fit X., qui étant au service d'un père amassa tous les mots des honnestes qui estoient dans son dictionnaire et s'en seruit pour dire des vilainies aux filles et les desbaucher.

39. En plusieurs endroits le parle selon les sauvages et leurs salétés que le ne fais que toucher; c'est à ceux qui se serviront de ce dictionnaire à prendre garde à cela.

André (L.)—Continued.

40. Le papier n'estant par des meilleurs en plusieurs endroits donnera de la peine. Le remède sera d'avoir quelque personne qui sache bien la langue qu'on puisse consulter.

41. Kipoukouan kitouponagen, tu nioles la paix, est la façon de parler des sauvages qui font la paix en chantant le calmnet, et ainsi en diners endroits je parle selon la façon de parler des sauvages.

42. Quand il y a une lettre sur l'autre v. g. le P sur le B, le n sur r, cela veut dire que le mot se prononce diuersetment selon les nations.

43. Le mets souvent le verbe à la 3<sup>e</sup> personne et le mets la signification à la première, je fais cela [par] inadvertance.

— [Homilies in the Montagnais language.]

Manuscript, lacking title-page or first leaf, 49 unnumbered ll. sm. 8° (7x4½ inches). The handwriting is fairly regular and distinct. The first 8 ll. are in parallel columns, Montagnais and French; the remainder alternate French on verso, Montagnais on recto. The verses of ll. 47, 48, and 49 are blank. The work seems to be incomplete.

These three manuscripts of Father André I had the pleasure of seeing in the hands of the Abbé Férard, in the summer of 1882, at the Sault au Recollet, Island of Montreal. In June, 1889, I saw them again in possession of Rev. A. E. Jones, of St. Mary's College, Montreal, in the library of which institution they will probably remain.

Through the kindness of the latter gentleman, who furnished me the copy of the above preface, I am also in receipt of an extended biographic sketch of Père André, compiled by him with much labor from printed and manuscript sources—a sketch too long and elaborate for these pages, but which should find place in some more suitable work. I regret my inability to use it as a whole, but must content myself with the following extracts:

Father Louis André was born in 1622, and previous to his coming to New France had entered the Society of Jesus as a member of the province of Toulouse. As a Canadian missionary he was within the jurisdiction of the province of France. He reached America on the 7th of June, 1669, and in a short time was sent to the western missions, where Claude Allouez, Jacques Marquette, and Claude Dablon, together with the coadjutor—brother Louis le Boeumo, were already toiling in the Master's vineyard.

On the 20th of May, 1670, Allouez, leaving the neighborhood of the Bay, had set out for the Sault, and from him we ascertain the fact that Father André had already reached that post with Father Drulillet, who had journeyed with him.

On the 28th of August, Father André set out for the Mission of Mississagué (Wide-mouth-river), on the northern shore of Lake Huron. He arrived there three days after. As soon as the exercises of the mission were ended, he proceeded to Oulébitchiouân, an island in the same lake lying opposite Ekaentston (Manitoulin), where he remained twelve days. After sojourning on the latter island, continuing unremittingly his apostolic labors in spite of famine, he finally reached Lake Nipissing, and there spent three months instructing the Stiskagami (those at the farthest lake).

As the ice broke up he returned to Ekaentston, and for three weeks he preached to the Amiké, or Beaver nation, who had taken up their abode on the island. Provisions were now more plentiful as the hunt of the original had proved successful, and God gave him, as he says, wherewith to "couler doucement la fin de l'hiver." This to all appearances was towards the end of the winter 1670-1671.

The summer months of 1671, Father André passed at the Baie des Puants. We next find him at Michilimakinac, where he spent part of the winter with the Etionnontatehronnon Hurons and other Indians who had returned there as exiles to their old habitation.

On the 15th of December, 1671, he set out to return to Green Bay. After a tedious and perilous journey, owing especially to the ice, he reached his destination and occupied the remainder of the winter journeying from village to village and evangelizing the tribes settled in the neighborhood.

Father André was stationed at Green Bay in 1672, and I might say permanently. He had for his companion Father Allouez.

On the 15th of February, the first day of lent, 1672, he repaired to the village of Oussouamigoung, where his labors were crowned with success. But, owing to a promise he had made Father Allouez, he reluctantly left his neophytes, on the 6th of March, to return to the residence at the Bay. Here day after day, from morning to sundown, the Indians flocked to his cabin to be instructed in the Christian faith. On the 24th of March the Indians struck their tents intending to camp nearer the mouth of the river, and on the day following Father Allouez returned from a mission to the Outagamia, or Foxes, thus leaving Father André at liberty to go on his own annual eight days' retreat, which time he spent in seclusion, prayer, and meditation.

Towards the end of April of this same year, 1672, Father André undertook a mission to the Maloumies or Folles-Avoines, but he does not specify what length of time he spent among them.

In the following year, 1674, he returned to the mission of Oua-satinoun [sic], and premises by saying that it was his third visit. On the 16th of November, the river of the Folles-Avoines or Maloumies being completely frozen over, he was prevented from following the Indian bands to the extremity of Cape Illinois, and saw himself in the necessity of patiently awaiting their return at the end of January, 1675.

From 1678 to 1681 we find him still at Green Bay; in 1782 at Michilimakinac. In 1683 he was with the Indians at Kiskakin. This was the last year of his missionary labor in the West.

He was now in his sixtieth year, and was recalled to Quebec, no doubt with the intention of affording him a little rest after many years of hardship and apostolic toil. He was then named professor of philosophy in the Jesuits' College, at Quebec, a post he occupied in 1684 and 1685. And, though venerable in years, he did not think it beneath him to accept an appointment as professor in the lower forms of Quebec College. This duty he fulfilled from 1686 to 1690. But his superiors no doubt had an ulterior object in view in this appointment. It was, we may presume, to afford him an opportunity and leisure of turning to account for the benefit of future missionaries his thorough knowledge of the Algonquin language. His Algonquin dictionary bears no date, but the compendium [see Collectio, first André title above], written, to all external appearance, about the same time, furnishes us with a clue.

Claude Allouez landed the 11th of July, 1658, and died the 27th of August, 1689, giving an interval of thirty-one years between his arrival and his death, so that the compendium was not certainly written before 1688, though it might have been written after, as Father Allouez died after about thirty years of missionary life.

Besides the dictionary and the collection of precepts, etc., there were other of his works which survived him but which I have not yet been able to discover. We are informed of this by the following inscription in a strange hand written on the inside of the paper cover of the compendium:

"Collectio sequens est conscripta a P. Ludovico Andre, qui fuit Silvicularum Montanorum, missionarius ad ann. M. D. C. XCIII.

"Alia manuscriptorum ejusd. scil. Catechismus, rudimentum, et exhortationes servantur in Archiv. Tadoussakensi, sub No. ..."

The archives of Tadoussac have long since disappeared.

In 1691 André was again on the missions; this time at St. Francis Xavier (Chicoutimi) and Lake St. Peter. This was in the lower Algonquin mission.

In 1692 he was still in the Montagnais mission, with the Papinachois and at Chicoutimi. In 1693 and 1694 we find him back amidst civilization and stationed at Montreal.

From 1698 to 1699, inclusive, he is not mentioned in the catalogues, save in the erroneous statement at the end of 1696: "Obiit P. André Cadomis (at Caen), 20 Apr., 1696." This certainly referred to some other F. André, for we shall see by the sequel that the sturdy veteran was not ready yet to shake off his mortal coil. He appears again in 1700; where he was in the meantime I have not been able to discover. Even the "Miscellaneorum Liber" and the old register preserved at Quebec are silent on the matter, but both, unfortunately, are incomplete.

This year his name is marked on the catalogue among those of the community of Quebec College. Though now in his 77th year he still bore the title of "missionary," which, under the circumstances, could only mean resident missionary at Quebec for such of the Algonquin Indians who might come up or down to barter at the old capital of the colony.

It was in 1703 that the title of "senex," was added to that of missionary, and it became evident that his waning strength would never admit of his again leaving the sheltering walls of Quebec College. In 1705 his title of missionary was dropped from the catalogues and the significant suffix of "senex" alone remained. He was indeed a veteran now and entitled to a well-earned but to him a distasteful repose. It was not, however, until ten years later, on the 19th September, 1715, that he was called to his eternal reward, at the ripe old age of 92.

The following is an extract from a circular dated November 1, 1715, sent by his superior, as was customary on those occasions, to the other houses of the Order:

"We have recently lost, in the person of Father Louis André, a missionary labourer loaded down even more with the weight of merit than that of years. It is now over forty-five years since he devoted himself to the conversion of the Indians, and it may be justly said that in so painful and laborious a vocation he accomplished all the duties of an excellent missionary. There is no doubt but that it was with natural repugnance he adopted the Indian mode of life, and that he underwent many hardships in the long and weary journeyings in which he accompanied his Indians. These never disheartened him, for he reckoned fatigue as naught when there was a question of God's glory or the salvation of souls. He laboured on the mission until he had nearly attained his eightieth year, and if at any moment of his life he was called upon to do violence to himself in the practice of obedience, it was when his superiors, touched at the sight of his many infirmities and the suffering inseparable from missionary labor he must needs have endured at so advanced an age, put a stop to his departure and retained him at Quebec."

Aubéry (Père Joseph). Dictionnaire François-Abnauquis, par le Père Joseph Aubéry, Jésuite. (*)

Manuscript, 540 unnumbered pp. 4°; the old and worn out binding recently replaced by a new one. Preserved in the archives of the Roman Catholic mission at Pierreville, Canada, and described by Judge Charles Gill in his Notes sur de vieux manuscrits abénakis (q. v.), from which the following account is taken:

"On the first page below the title is written
 'ce qui y est écrite en une autre écriture que celle de l'auteur n'est point abnauquis, c'est de l'algonquin que le R. P. de la Chasse y a écrit de sa main, l'auteur de ce dictionnaire n'y aucune part.' There are in fact a great number of Algonquin words added, either interlined or following the Abnauquis word as space permitted. The second page is filled with 'Quelques notes' by the author, in which he refers to a 'petit dictionnaire des racines,' and a 'Rudiment Abnauquis.' Then follows the dictionary, commencing with the word abandonner and terminating with the word zone on page 540. On the last half of this page is found a statement in Abénakis signed: Joseph A. à Soc. Jesu. Arsikanteg8k dari 18 augu-ti, anni 1715. editio 2da

"This dictionary is a work which has required immense labor and a benedictine patience, and as much can be said of the Abnauquis-French dictionary mentioned below, though it does not appear to be so complete.

"The sign of a cross, still in use among the Jesuits, it seems, is found at the top of each page of the dictionary. As the Latin words below the signature indicate, this copy is a second edition; nothing is known of the first. Nor is there found among the manuscripts of the St. Francis mission the 'Rudiment Abnauquis' of which Father Aubéry speaks in his 'Quelques notes.' But there are two copies of a 'dictionnaire des racines' (see Muddmans (J. B.)), which has probably had for a basis the little dictionary of roots made by Father Aubéry which has not reached us, unless he means thereby the Abé-nakis-French dictionary next mentioned. The Abbé Joseph Maurault, the author of the history of the Abénakis, who was the last missionary at St. Francis acquainted with the language of these Indians, undertook, I have often been told, to make a grammar of that language, as well as an Abénakis-French dictionary, but I do not think he ever finished them; at least he had nothing printed."

— [Dictionnaire Abnauquis-François.] (*)

Manuscript, 927 pp. double columns (many pages blank), 4°, preserved at the Roman Catholic mission of Pierreville, Canada, and described by Judge Gill in his Notes sur de vieux manuscrits abénakis (q. v.), as follows:

"No title or preliminary matter and ends without signature or date, but in the handwriting of Father Aubéry. The manner in which the blank spaces are disposed indicates that the author left them for the purpose of inserting other words as opportunity should present or his studies suggest. It begins with 'a figurative de la 3e pers.' and ends with 'z8sk88i8i, étendu sur le dos, z8sk88-eain, il est ainsi couché.'
 There are added words in an ancient handwriting, and also some notes in the hand of the Abbé Maurault, the latter indicating the etymology of the names of places. The work is in character like the preceding, and has required much labor by the author. It is paged, but the little cross mentioned in the French-Abnauquis dictionary is not found in it. Sometimes the signification of the Indian word is indicated in Latin without giving the French word."

Maurault's Histoire des Abénakis, p. viii, speaks of "un vocabulaire abénakis, fait vers 1712, par le P. Joseph Aubéry," which is, per-

maki (q. r.), as follows: At the beginning is a complete index in Latin. The work is in the handwriting of Father Aubéry and contains all the liturgic chant, gradual and vespers, annotated with Latin text and translation in Abnaki, besides various chants, songs, hymns, prayers, special prayers before and after communion, etc., the whole in Abnaki. Besides the annotation of the plain chant, there are airs of songs, the music of which is annotated. They are not extraordinary melodies, but their antique rhythm is not without a certain charm. Several of the songs have not the music, but the airs, borrowed from ditties, like the old song of Marseilles, are indicated at the head. Thus on page 291 there is a duet for the communion to the air: 'Ah! vous dirai-je Maman,' and elsewhere three other songs, the first of which entitled: 'Desiderium animæ possidendi Jesum in cælo,' is to the air: 'Jardins que la nature et l'art,' etc., the second to the air: 'Je me brule l'œil au fond d'un puits,' and the third to the air: 'Bacchus, c'est toi que je chante.'

"The binding is in very bad condition; several leaves are detached and others missing entirely, while some pages are in a different handwriting, evidently recopied to replace others too much worn for further use."

In addition to the three manuscripts described above, there are others, according to Jolige Gill, belonging to families in the village—books of piety, containing prayers, poems, chants, and songs, copied or extracted from the larger work of Father Aubéry.

Father Joseph Aubéry was born in France March 10, 1674, and entered the Society of Jesus September 8, 1690. He came to Canada in 1694, before completing his theological course, was ordained at Quebec September 21, 1699, and was employed on the Abnaki missions. He accompanied Father Bigot to the mission at Pentagöet, Acadia, where he lived a few years. In 1709 he was ordered to St. Francis, and remained at that mission until his death, which occurred in 1755. He was buried in the first church of the Abnakis at St. Francis, and is the only missionary who has been interred at that place.

Father Aubéry was well versed in the Abnaki language. He wrote much, and nearly always in that language. By arduous and persevering labor during 46 years he formed a considerable collection of valuable manuscripts. As these were deposited in the church, with the registers of the mission, they were unfortunately destroyed in 1759 in the incendiary burning of that church. Of all these there have been preserved only an Abnaki vocabulary and a large paper book containing many hymns, motets, psalms, and songs; at the time of the fire they were in the hands of Father Virot. This vocabulary contains a great number of very valuable notes, which have served us much for the history of the Abnakis.—Maurault.

Rev. Frederick Ayer was born in Old Stockbridge, Mass., in 1803. His father, Rev. Oliver Ayer, removed to central New York when the subject of this sketch was three years old. At an early age Mr. Ayer commenced to study for the ministry, but ill health compelled him to abandon the idea, and he engaged in business in Utica and other places. While there, in 1829, he was sent by the A. B. C. F. M. as a teacher in a mission school at Mackinac. Next summer (1830) he went to Lake Superior and spent some time in the family of Lyman Warren, teaching and studying the Ojibwa language. The following year he spent at Sandy Lake with the late William A. Aitkin, where he opened a school, said to be the first in Minnesota. In 1832 he returned to La Pointe, where he wrote a spelling book for Ojibwa children, which he went to Utica that winter to publish.—Minn. Hist. Soc. Coll. vol. 1, p. 86, foot-note.

Contains the Lord's prayer in Poutouatomi, with interlinear Latin translation, pp. 176-177.

Stephen Theodore Badin, clergyman, born in Orleans, France, in 1768, died in Cincinnati in 1853. He was sent for three years to the College Montagu in Paris, where he acquired a thorough classical training, and entered the Sulpician Seminary at Tours in 1789, with the object of becoming a priest. He immigrated to the United States in 1794, and was ordained by Bishop Carroll in the old cathedral of Baltimore in 1793, being the first priest ordained in the United States. He was appointed to do missionary work in Kentucky, which, at that period, formed a part of the diocese of Baltimore. Father Badin was for about three years the only priest in Kentucky. In 1797 Bishop Carroll appointed him vicar-general and sent him an assistant, who died the following year. In 1805 he published his "Principles of Catholics," the first Catholic work printed in the West. From 1830 to 1836 he was connected with the Pottawattamie Indians on St. Joseph's River, Indiana. He was successful not only in converting them to Christianity, but in forming them to the habits of civilized life. He established schools among them, and in a few years all the young people of the tribe had learned to read English. The last three years of Father Badin's life were spent in Cincinnati as the guest of Archbishop Purcell. — Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Dr. Trumbull has kindly furnished me the name of the author of this work and the following information concerning its preparation:

The dialect is that of the Chippeways of central and southern Michigan, in the vicinity of the mission stations established by the Evangelical Lutheran Church in 1845 and 1847, in Saginaw and Gratiot counties, under the superintendence of the Rev. A. Craemer (now director of the Lutheran Seminary, at Springfield, Ill.), who opened the first mission school at Frankenmuth (Saginaw County), on the banks of Cass River, in 1845. In 1847 he was joined by the Rev. Edward R. Baierlein, and a second mission station was established on Pine River, at Bethany, now in Gratiot County, in 1848 or 1849. Mr. Baierlein was sent out by the Evangelical Lutheran Missionary Society at Dresden. A year earlier he had been ordained as a missionary to the East Indies, but was detained at home by sickness, and on his recovery was assigned to another field, in America, as an assistant to Mr. Craemer. In 1848 or 1849 he removed from Frankenmuth to a new station at Shingwauksing, now Bethany, on Pine River. Here, in 1851, he was joined by the Rev. E. G. H. Micaeler, as an assistant, and here, with the help of an interpreter, he wrote his "Spelling and Reading Book." In 1853 Mr. Baierlein was recalled by the Dresden board of missions to go to the East Indies, where he served until about 1857. He now (1889) lives in Dresden, a missionary emeritus, and he has recently published some reminiscences of his earlier mission life, with the title: "Im Urwalde bei den rothen Indianern."

Frederick Baraga, R. C. bishop, born in Treviso, Carniola, 29 June, 1797; died in Marquette, Mich., 19 Jan., 1868. His family, a younger branch of the house of Hapsburg, was the most distinguished in Illyria. He began his studies in the college of Leibac, the capital of his native province, where he learned to speak French, Italian, and German fluently, in addition to the ordinary branches. At the end of his course he went to Vienna to study law, and after graduation, in 1821, determined to devote himself to the priesthood. He entered the ecclesiastical seminary of Leibac and was ordained in 1823. He exercised his ministry for the next seven years in Carniola, and, in the interval of his missionary duties, composed works of devotion in the Slavonic dialect for the people. The present improved condition of this language is chiefly attributed to the efforts of Father Baraga. Having determined on spending his life among the Indians of the United States, he transferred his estates to his brothers, reserving to himself an annuity of $200, and arrived in New York in December, 1830. He spent some months in Ohio studying

English and the Ottawa dialect, and set out in May for Arbore Croche, a village of Ottawa Indians on the peninsula of Michigan. The inhabitants, although they had relapsed into barbarism, retained some traditions of the Jesuits of the seventeenth century and received Father Baraga with welcome, and, under his guidance, the community entered upon the public practice of a Christian life. In a little more than a year he built a church and two schools and had an Indian congregation of more than 700. He next extended his labors as far as the Castor Islands and beyond Lake Michigan, erecting several churches as well as schools in Green Bay and St. Joseph's.

In 1832 he published at Detroit a prayer and hymn book in the Ottawa language, the first of a remarkable series of works in the Indian dialects, which have been found very useful by philologists. He visited Grand River in the spring of 1833 and baptised more than 100 of the natives, but his efforts were counteracted by the white liquor-dealers and the Indians whom they had demoralized. His enemies petitioned the Government for his removal, and, although he was sustained by the governor of Michigan, he was forced to seek other fields.

He began his labors among the Chippewas at Lapointe in 1835, and continued them successfully for eighteen years. His success was mainly owing to the assistance he received from the Leopoldine society in his native country.

He next visited the Indians of Fond du Lac, 70 miles from Lapointe, and the Indians of Bad River, seventeen miles to the south, both of whom led a roving life. During the winter of 1836-'37 he traveled six miles every day to instruct them, on their return to their wigwams, until he had them all ready to receive baptism. During this period he also wrote the "Ojibway Prayer- and Hymn-Book and Catechism," the "Extracts of the History of the Old and New Testaments, with the Gospels of the Year," in the same dialect; "The History, Character, Manners, and Customs of the North American Indians," in German, and a devotional work for his countrymen in Slavonic. He went to Europe in 1837 to collect money for his mission, and was so successful that he was also enabled to have his Indian books printed in Paris. On his return to the United States he was able, with the means in hand, to conduct his operations more systematically.

In 1843, as the missions he had established no longer needed his personal supervision, he resolved to make the "Ance," an old trading-post of the American Fur Company, between Pointe Abbaye and Keweenaw Point, the center of his labors. The Indians here were steeped in idolatry and intemperance. But, though threats were made against his life, he succeeded in converting some of their medicine men, and this was followed by the conversion of many others. He built a church and parsonage, erected thirty houses for his converts, and purchased a large tract of land, on which he located them. In 1850 all the Indians had become christians, and so prosperous that numerous families came to settle on the Ance. Here he wrote his grammar and dictionary of the Ojibwa (Chippewa) language (1851-'53), perhaps the most important contribution to Indian philology made hitherto. The demand for his Indian books in the United States and Canada contributed materially to his resources and enabled him to increase still further the village on the Ance.

The discovery of the copper mines on the upper peninsula of Michigan in 1845 added to Father Baraga's difficulties. A large mining population from all parts of the world was scattered among his Indian villages, and he found it necessary to obtain more priests. For this purpose, as well as to secure the publication of his works, he went to Cincinnati in 1853, where he lectured on the mining resources of the upper peninsula and on the harvest that was open for missionary zeal there. In November of the same year he was made vicar apostolic of upper Michigan.

In 1854 he went to Europe to procure missionaries, and returned with twelve priests. He also introduced the brothers and sisters of Saint Francis and intrusted them with the education of the Indians.

In 1856 Saint St. Mary was erected into an episcopal see, and Dr. Baraga was appointed its bishop in the following year. The see having been transferred to Marquette in 1865, he was created bishop of Marquette and Saint St. Mary. His health began to fail, but his brethren could not prevail on him to moderate his austerities or slacken his labors. He slept on the ground and often walked forty miles a day on snow-shoes when visiting his Indians. He was stricken with apoplexy while in attendance on the Council of Baltimore in 1866, and returned to his diocese broken in health, but continued to perform his ministerial duties till a few days before his death.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

An incomplete English index, in pencil, is fastened in the back of my copy.

I have—from Mr. Barnard—a loose, red sheet of paper on which is printed the first hymn (seven stanzas) in this collection, preceded by the equivalent English (headed "The heavenly world") in a parallel column.

Rev. Alonzo Barnard was born June 2, 1817, in Peru, Bennington Co., Vt. At seventeen years of age he went to Ohio, and was educated at Oberlin. He entered the mission field in 1843, at Red Lake, Minn. In 1846 he was at Cass Lake, and in 1853 at St. Joseph (now Walhalla), Pembina County, where lie the remains of her who shared his labors. In 1854 the wife of his fellow laborer, the late Rev. D. B. Spencer, was murdered by the Sioux. From 1846 to 1855 Mr. Barnard labored under the auspices of the American Missionary Association. In the spring of the latter year he was compelled to abandon the work at St. Joseph and take refuge in a railroad settlement within the present limits of Manitoba. Two or more years were spent with the Indians about Lake Winnipeg under the Bishop of Rupert's Land, and in 1863 he removed to Benzenia, Mich., where he has since resided. After laboring five years among the Indians about Grand Traverse Bay, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Home Missionary Society, he was obliged to resign in consequence of a partial deafness, and he is now a retired member of the Grand Rapids Presbytery.

Benjamin Smith Barton, physician, born in Lancaster, Pa., February 10, 1766; died in Philadelphia, Pa., December 19, 1815. After a course of general studies under Dr. Andrews, at York, Pa., he followed the instructions given at the Philadelphia College, now University of Pennsylvania. Then during 1786-'88 he studied medicine and the natural sciences in Edinburgh and London, and received his medical degree from the University of Göttingen, Germany. On his return he settled in Philadelphia, where he soon acquired an extensive and lucrative practice. In 1789 he was appointed professor of natural history and botany, and in 1795 of materia medica in the college of Philadelphia. In 1813 he succeeded Dr. Benjamin Rush as professor of the theory and practice of medicine in the University of Pennsylvania. He was elected president of the Philadelphia Medical Society in 1809, and was some time vice-president of the American Philosophical Society, and also a member of many other American and European societies. He contributed numerous papers to the "Transactions of the American Philosophical Society," and to the "Medical and Physical Journal," which was published by him. His most important works are: "Observations on Some Parts of Natural History" (London, 1787); "New Views on the Origin of the Tribes of America" (1797); "Elements of Botany," Philadelphia, 1803, 2d ed., 2 vols., 1812-'14; an edition of Cullen's "Materia Medica;" "Eulogy on Dr. Priestley;" "Discourse on the Principal Considerata of Natural History" (Philadelphia, 1807); and "Collections toward a Materia Medica of the United States" (3d ed., Philadelphia, 1810).—*Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Heinrich Bartsch, at first secretary of the Old Town of Königsberg, and since 1724 registrator of the town archives, was born there in 1667 and died in 1723. To what extent he was related to the Gottfried Bartsch mentioned by Andr. Müller, I know not; his father, also Heinrich, was vice-burgomaster of Königsberg. Our Heinrich, as far back as 1717, was engaged in the scheme of publishing a more copious collection than that of Chamberlayne, and hence spared no diligence in gathering all kinds of formulæ yet unprinted in all sorts of languages and dialects. He did not, however, live to see it completed, but bequeathed his collection of manuscripts to the library of the council of his native town, where it is still extant. Having received, through the kindness of Mr. D. Wald, a list of all the copies it contains, I am enabled to give a detailed account of it. The whole consists of two volumes in 4to, nearly all loose leaves with inserted original letters by Bayer, la Croze, and others. The languages are arranged alphabetically. The first part contains 228 formulæ in 69 languages and dialects, the second 133 formulæ in 61 languages and dialects, making together 361 formulæ. To judge by these figures, the collection would have turned out to be, therefore, the richest and most complete. But as the author gathered not only translations but also poetic transcripts, and of translations not only all various translations in one and the same language but all the different copies of one and the same translations, however faulty, much has to be deducted to obtain its real value, and there remains possibly little more than may be found in Chamberlayne. As the author possessed a decided inclination towards the fantastic, as appears from his life, this is not surprising. It is possible, however, that if he had been permitted to undertake the publication, he would have omitted much. Still it is impossible not to admire the industry with which he gathered all printed formulæ from a number of writings, some of them rare. Of unprinted ones I have found only one, that of the Gaspeians or Micmacs in Canada, communicated to him by La Croze, and which I shall utilize in its place. See his life in Acta Boruss., part 2, p. 923.—Adelung's Mithridates, vol. 1, pp. 666-667.

See Baraga (F.) and Belcourt (G. A.)

George Antoine Belcourt was born on the Bay of Fevre or St. Antoine, district of Three Rivers, Lower Canada, in 1803. His father, a mechanic, placed his son at the college of Nicolet, where he passed through his classes with success and afterwards embraced the ecclesiastical state. He was made a priest in 1827, and in 1830 was selected by the Bishop of Provencher to go into the north country and labor solely in christianizing the savage. Arriving at Red River, June 19, 1831, he applied himself with ardor to the study of the Saulteur language. He discovered the principles of the language, which he arranged and caused to be printed in 1839; also a book of piety in this tongue. He composed a dictionary which would form a large quarto, but which, for want of encouragement, has never been printed. This dictionary, French and Saulteur, gives the etymology of each word, and the composite particles, which throws much light upon the knowledge of this language, and enables one to seize the genius of it—a thing so essential to him who desires to understand the people in general. He traveled, formed missions, built chapels, etc., in many places over a space from east to west of 1,000 miles, and passed each winter at his mission of Saint Paul on the Assiniboine River. In 1833, by his personal influence he quelled a disturbance among the half-breeds which threatened to become serious, in gratitude for which Governor Simpson added 50 pounds sterling to a like sum which the Hudson Bay Company gave every year to the Catholic clergy, which they still receive yearly. About 1849, owing to some trouble with the Hudson Bay Company's officers, he left the mission at Red River and accepted one at Pembina.—Annals Minn. Hist. Soc.

The manuscript is bound, well preserved, and very legible.

Bellenger (Abbé Joseph-Marie). Jos. M. Bellenger, Ptre Miss<sup>re</sup> | Ristigouche | 9 octobre 1816. | Kegi abchi8lk K'nixkamin8 | Archevêché de Québec.

Manuscript, 149 unnumbered ll. sm. 4°, in the Micmac language; in the library of the archbishopric of Quebec. The title above is on the recto of the first leaf; just above it we read: Donné à l'Evêque de Québec le 16 sept. 1837, J. E. d. Q. Cahier mikmake [sic]; and below: Ce cahier appartient à M. Jos. M. Bellenger, P<sup>re</sup>, with a reference to the above gift. Its contents are as follows:

Sermon for every Sunday, 1 p.—The great sermon, 19 pp.—Instructions on the day of Sunday, 3 pp., followed by explanations, 12 pp.—The tables of the law, 12 pp.—Song to the air "Vous qui voyez couler mes larmes," 1 p. Below this is the note "Ce cantique paraît avoir souffert pour la mesure; mais tel qu'il est, les sauvages le mènent sur l'air. La diction en est-elle pure? Je ne puis l'assurer: Je l'ai copié d'après leur diction."—Gloss, 2 pp.—Sentences and detached words taken from an old work of M. Maillard, French-Micmac, 19 pp.—Examination for confession; then continuation of the old work (or rather the beginning); note by the author: "Cette partie traite de quelques règles de grammaire, et donne en avant [sic] quelques morceaux de conjugaisons," 20 pp.—Crede, gloss, grammatical remarks continued, 12 pp. at the end of which we read: "Ici finit ce que j'ai pu ramasser de mots, phrases, et conjugaisons dans le vieux cahier de M. Maillard. J'ai été souvent obligé d'y suppléer bien des terminaisons de mots, et des mots entiers. Autant que je le pouvais, je n'y ai pas manqué. Ces notes sont excellentes, et on peut en tirer bon parti pour achever, si non continuer la grammaire mikmaque, Deo adjuvante."—Grammatical studies continued, 3 pp.—Song to the air "O l'auguste sacrement," 1 p.—Notes on some obscure points in expression on the subject of the teaching of the Micmac catechism, 1 p.—Extract from a letter written by Mr. Bellenger to Mr. Desjardins, 7 G. 15 mars 1818, 2 pp.—Grammatical studies continued, 14 pp.—Grammatical notes on the exercise of the confession, 28 pp.; note by Mr. Bel-lenger: "J'ai travaillé jusqu'ici sur un cahier de M. M. [Mr. Maillard]. Comme son cahier ne va pas plus loin, j'arrête mes notes grammaticales."—Detached sentences for use for instructions and reprimands in confession (text and French translation facing: a few parts are translated in Latin), 24 pp.—Another examination (text and French or Latin translation), 23 pp.—Ritual, exhortations for administering the sacraments to the Micmac Indians, for baptism (text and French translation), 8 pp.—For the "saint viatique," 2 pp.—For extreme unction, 4 pp.—For marriage, 8 pp.—Micmac-French gloss, 2 pp.—Instruction on the confession and grammatical notes, 10 pp.—Stanzas on the acts of faith, hope, and charity, 1 p.—Grammatical notes and translation of some Micmac words, 2 pp.

The manuscript is bound in parchment and is well preserved, though the insects have attacked the cover and some of the leaves, and a few of the leaves are detached.

— Rituel | Micmack | [1]816.

Manuscript, 2 ll. pp. 1-108, 12°, in the Micmac language, in the archbishopric of Quebec. On the first leaf is the title above, verso blank, followed by 1 blank l. and on the recto of the next leaf a more modern title reading as follows:

Le | veni mecum | d'un Missionnaire Mik- | makque. | Jos. M. Bellenger Prêtre | missionnaire des Sauvages | des Ristigouche. | 2 mai 1817.

This is followed by the text, which is an extract from the manuscript titled next above, and the contents are as follows: Catechism, pp. 1-41.—Prayers before and after confession, pp. 41-44.—Prayers before and after communion, pp. 45-52.—Prayers for morning and evening, pp. 52-75.—Sermon for every Sunday, pp. 75-77.—Administration of baptism, pp. 78-87.—Administration of marriage, pp. 88-94.—St. Viatique, pp. 95-98.—Extreme unction, pp. 98-106.

and conjugations of verbs from the grammar. In it is the statement that "nearly the whole work of editing the author's manuscript has been done as a work of benevolence by Mrs. G. W. Owa of this city, excepting a portion of the grammar, done during her illness by the senior editor of the Ypsilantian."

The closing paragraph of the work itself is as follows: "Note. Except some condensation and arrangement in the grammar, this work is printed almost verbatim as written by the author.—Editor."

Andrew J. Blackbird, the author of this little book, is an educated Indian, son of the Ottawa chief. His Indian name is Mack-a-de-be-neasy (Black Hawk), but he generally goes by the name of "Blackbird," taken from the interpretation of the French "l'oiseau noir." Mr. Blackbird's wife is an educated and intelligent white woman of English descent, and they have four children. He is a friend of the white people as well as of his own people. Brought up as an Indian, with no opportunity for learning during his boyhood, when he came to think for himself, he started out blindly for an education, without any means but his brains and his hands.

He was loyal to the government during the rebellion in the United States, for which cause he met much opposition by designing white people who had full sway among the Indians, and who tried to mislead them and cause them to be disloyal; and he broke up one or two rebellious councils amongst his people during the progress of the rebellion.

When Hon. D. C. Leach, of Traverse City, Mich., was Indian agent, Mr. Blackbird was appointed United States interpreter, and continued in this office with other subsequent agents of the department for many years. Before he was fairly out of this office he was appointed postmaster of Little Traverse, now Harbor Springs, Mich., and faithfully discharged his duties as such for over eleven years with but very little salary.—Introduction.

several curacies in the diocese of Lincoln, he came to Canada as a missionary of the Church missionary society in 1865, having first received priestly orders from the present Bishop of Rupert's Land acting as commissary for the late Bishop of London. In 1874 he was again summoned to England to receive episcopal orders as Bishop of Athabasca, and in 1884, the present diocese of Mackenzie being portioned off from that of Athabasca, his title was changed to Bishop of Mackenzie River, the Right Rev. Dr. Young being consecrated as Bishop of Athabasca.

He has written and published much material in the Athapascan languages, as well as a primer in Eskimo.

Elias Boudinot, philanthropist, born in Philadelphia, Pa., May 2, 1740; died in Burlington, N. J., October 24, 1821. His great-grandfather, Elias, was a French Huguenot, who fled to this country after the revocation of the edict of Nantes. After receiving a classical education, he studied law with Richard Stockton, and became eminent in his profession, practicing in New Jersey. He was devoted to the patriot cause. In 1777 appointed commissary-general of prisoners, and in the same year elected a delegate to Congress from New Jersey, serving from 1778 till 1779, and again from 1781 till 1784. He was chosen president of Congress on November 4, 1782, and in that capacity signed the treaty of peace with England. He then resumed the practice of law, but, after the adoption of the constitution, was elected to the first, second, and third Congresses, serving from March 4, 1789, till March 3, 1796. He was appointed by Washington in 1795 to succeed Rittenhouse as director of the mint at Philadelphia, and held the office till July 1805, when he resigned, and passed the rest of his life at Burlington, N. J., devoted to the study of biblical literature. He had an ample fortune and gave liberally. He was a trustee of Princeton College, and in 1805 endowed it with a cabinet of natural history, valued at $3,000. In 1812 he was chosen a member of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, to which he gave £100 in 1813. He assisted in founding the American bible society in 1816, was its first president, and gave it $10,000. He was interested in attempts to educate the Indians, and when three Cherokee youth were brought to the Foreign mission school in 1818, he allowed one of them to take his name. This boy became afterward a man of influence in his tribe, and was murdered on June 10, 1839, by Indians west of the Mississippi.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

See Dencke (C. F.) for a description of the original manuscript.

"For about a century, beginning with 1740, missionaries of the United Brethren, or Moravians, devoted themselves to the conversion and civilization of portions of the Lenapé or Delaware Indians. These earnest Christian men studied the native tongue, reduced it to writing, and printed in it, for the use of their converts, a number of works of a religious and educational character. The history of their literary activity in this language has been recently traced elsewhere, in detail, and need not be repeated here. While some of the results appeared in type, much of it remained in manuscript until the curiosity of scientific students led to its publication. Thus, in 1827, Peter S. Duponceau edited the grammar of Zeisberger, and sixty years later his English-German-Onondaga-Delaware Dictionary was printed by the private liberality of Prof. E. N. Horsford.

"These works of David Zeisberger, whose life found an able and sympathetic narrator in the late Right Rev. Edmund de Schweinitz, together with his printed "Delaware Spelling Book," were the chief sources from which the later missionaries drew their knowledge of the Lenapé dialect; and unquestionably the present Lenapé-English Dictionary was founded mainly upon the linguistic work of this proto-Lenapist. So far as the history of the ms. is concerned, I can add nothing to what was stated in 'The Lenapé and their Legends,' which is as follows:

"It is probable that Mr. Dencke was the compiler of the Delaware Dictionary which is preserved in the Moravian Archives at Bethlehem. The ms. is an oblong octavo, in a small, but beautifully clear hand, and comprises about 3,700 words. The handwriting is that of the late Rev. Mr. Kampman, who was missionary to the Delawares on the Canada reservation from 1840 to 1842. On inquiring the circumstances connected with this ms. he stated to me that it was written at the period named, and was a copy of some older work, probably by Mr. Dencke, but of this he was not certain."

"The Rev. C. F. Dencke, here alluded to, was missionary to the Delawares at New Fairfield, Canada, for a number of years after the war of 1812. He was the author of a grammar of the tongue, now apparently lost, and translated into it various portions of the New Testament. His death took place in 1839.

"The ms. of Mr. Kampman was carefully copied and enlarged by the addition of words from the mss. and printed works of Zeisberger, Heckewelder, and Ettwein. These additions have, in the printed copies, been indicated by the capital letters, Z., E., and H. In this condition the ms. was submitted to the Rev. Albert Seagahkind Anthony, a born Lenapé, and perfectly familiar with the language of his nation as spoken by that colony of it resident on the Six Nations reservation in Ontario, Canada. In this colony the usual dialect is the Minsi, and, as its members belong to a portion of the nation who were converted by missionaries of the English Church (to which Mr. Anthony belongs), the theological terms developed usually differ widely from those framed by the Moravians.

"Mr. Anthony kept the ms. by him for some months, giving its contents careful attention, and subsequently the two editors met and passed in review every word in the dictionary. The numerous notes and corrections in brackets, with an appended capital A., are the emendations suggested by Mr. Anthony from the present standpoint of the language and from the dialect of his ancestral sub-tribe. The latter differs somewhat from that employed by the compiler of the dictionary. The grammatical forms employed indicate that this was the Unami (Wonami).

"No attempt has been made to increase the lexicography by the insertion of words or forms obtained from the Delaware of to-day. All such, when mentioned, are by way of comparison only. It would have been easy to have extended the vocabulary. There are evidently some Lenapé radicals and many themes which do not appear in this work, but the editors confined their efforts to presenting this work as exclusively concerned with the dialect as employed by the Moravian missionaries, and hence all additions to the vocabulary have been from their writings."—Preface.

Daniel Garrison Brinton, ethnologist, born in Chester County, Pa., May 13, 1837. He was graduated at Yale in 1858 and at the Jefferson Medical College in 1861, after which he spent a year in Europe in study and in travel. On his return he entered the army, in August, 1862, as acting assistant surgeon. In February of the following year he was commissioned surgeon and served as surgeon-in-chief of the second division, eleventh corps. He was present at the battles of Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, and other engagements, and was appointed medical director of his corps in October, 1863. In consequence of a sunstroke received soon after the battle of Gettysburg he was disqualified for active service, and in the autumn of that year he became superintendent of hospitals at Quincy and Springfield, Ill., until August, 1865, when the civil war having closed, he was brevetted lieutenant-colonel and discharged. He then settled in Philadelphia, where he became editor of "The Medical and Surgical Reporter," and also of the quarterly "Compendium of Medical Science." Dr. Brinton has likewise been a constant contributor to other medical journals, chiefly on questions of public medicine and hygiene, and has edited several volumes on therapeutics and diagnosis, especially the popular series known as "Napheys's Modern Therapeutics," which has passed through so many editions. In the medical controversies of the day, he has always taken the position that medical science should be based on the results of clinical observation, rather than on physiological experiments. He has become prominent as a student and a writer on American ethnology, his work in this direction beginning while he was a student in college. The winter of 1850 '57, spent in Florida, supplied him with material for his first published book on the subject. In 1854 he was appointed professor of ethnology and archaeology in the Academy of Natural Sciences, Philadelphia. For some years he has been president of the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society of Philadelphia, and in 1856 he was elected vice-president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, to preside over the section on anthropology. During the same year he was awarded the medal of the "Société Américaine de France" for his "numerous and learned works on American ethnology," being the first native of the United States that has been so honored. In 1859 the American publishers of the "Encyclopædic Encyclopedia" requested him to edit the first volume, to contribute to it the articles on "Anthropology" and "Ethnology," and to revise that on "Ethnography." By Professor Garland, of Scranton. He also contributed to the second volume of the same work an essay on the "Prehistoric Archaeology of both Hemispheres." Dr. Brinton has established a library and publishing house of aboriginal American literature for the purpose of placing within the reach of scholars authentic materials for the study of the languages and culture of the native races of America. Each work is the production of native minds and is printed in the original. The series most of which were edited by Dr. Brinton himself include: "The Maya Chronicles" (Philadelphia, 1852); "The Tropic of Rites" (1852); "The Guugu-ence: A Comedy Ballet in the Nahuatl Spanish Dialect of Nicaragua" (1857); "A Migration Legend of the Creek Indians" (1854); "The Lenape and Their Legends" (1855); "The Annals of the Cakchiquel" (1856); "Ancient Nahuatl Poetry" (1857); "Big Veda Americanus" (1859). Besides publishing numerous papers he has contributed valuable reports on his examinations of mounds, shell-heaps, rock inscriptions, and other antiquities. He is the author of "The Floridian Peninsula: Its Literary History, Indian Tribes, and Antiquities" (Philadelphia, 1859); "The Myths of the New World: A Treatise on the Symbolism and Mythology of the Red Race of America" (New York, 1860); "The Religious Sentiment: A Contribution to the Science and Philosophy of Religion" (1876); "American Hero Myths: A Study in the Native Religions of the Western Continent" (Philadelphia, 1882); "Aboriginal American Authors and

Butler (Gen. Richard). Vocabulary of the Shawnees.

In Gallatin (A.), Synopsis of Indian tribes, in American Ant. Soc. Trans. vol. 2, pp. 305-307, Cambridge, 1836, 8°.

The following extracts from private letters of Washington are found in volume 9 of Sparks's "Writings of George Washington," Boston, 1835, pp. 301, 306-307:

"I have received your letter of the 30th of November, accompanied by the Indian vocabulary. . . . I assure you it is a matter of surprise to me to find that you have been able to complete a work of such difficulty and magnitude in so short a time."—Letter to Richard Butler, Jan. 10, 1788.

"It is with great pleasure I transmit to you by this conveyance, a vocabulary of the Shawnee and Delaware languages. Your perfect acquaintance with General Richard Butler, the same worthy officer who served under your orders, and who has taken the trouble to compile them, supersedes the necessity of my saying anything in support of their veracity and correctness. . . . I heartily wish the attempt of that singularly great character, the Empress of Russia, to form a universal dictionary, may be attended with the merited success."—Letter to Lafayette, Jan. 10, 1788.

Catechism in the Delaware and Swedish languages, pp. 1-129.—Oratio dominica Lingua Virginiana (ex Bibl. Virgin. Cantabrig. Nov. Angl. 1663), p. 130.—Oratio dominica Lingua Caribica, p. 131.—Lord's prayer, etc., in Swedish, p. 132.—Vocabularium barbaro-Virgineorum (classified vocabulary in Delaware and Swedish), pp. 135-150.—Colloquia (dialogues) in Delaware and Swedish, pp. 150-153.—Numerals 1-100 in Delaware, p. 154.—Vocabula Mahakassica (Susquehanna or Minqua), concluding with the numerals 1-102, pp. 155-160.

The catechism appears to be more of a paraphrase than a literal translation. Each paragraph of the Delaware version is followed by the Swedish "versio," and that by the text of Luther in Swedish, the latter in larger type.

Copies seen: Astor, British Museum, Brown, Lenox, National Museum, Shea, Trumbull.

The Field copy, no. 1465, brought $14. Two copies were sold at the Brinley sale, nos 5698 and 5699; the former, "engraved title, gros-grain levant red morocco extra, filleted sides, in borders g. e.," brought $50; the latter, "another fine copy, without the engraved title-page, old calf, g. e.," brought $25. The Pinart copy, no. 566, was bought by Quaritch for 145 fr. At the Murphy sale, no. 1542, a "green morocco, gilt-edged copy, with the rare map," brought $18; another copy, no. 1543, old calf, brought $8. Quaritch, no. 30084, priced a "fine copy, calf, with the cypher of Charles XI of Sweden on sides," 8l. 8s. Ellis & Scrutton, 1886, no. 59, priced it 25l. Maisonneuve in 1889 priced it 160 fr.

John Campanius Holm, Swedish clergyman, born in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1601, died there 17 Sept., 1683. He sailed with Governor Printz from Gottenburg 1 Nov., 1642, and arrived at Fort Christina, on the Delaware, 15 Feb., 1643, where he entered on his duties as chaplain to the Swedish colony, and continued to officiate in this capacity during six years. Prior to his coming he had been preceptor of the orphans' seminary in Stockholm.

Under his ministry in the colony a church was erected at Tinicum, the seat of government, and was consecrated by him 4 Sept., 1646. This was the first house of worship that was erected within the limits of Pennsylvania.

Jonathan Carver, traveller, born in Stillwater, N. Y., in 1732; died in London, Jan. 31, 1780. In the French war he commanded a company of provincials in the expedition against Canada, and in 1763 he undertook to explore the vast territory claimed by Great Britain in North America. He left Boston in 1766, and, having reached Michilimackinac, the remotest English post, applied to Mr. Rogers, the governor, for a supply of goods as presents for the Indians on the route he intended to follow.
Having received a part of the required supply, with the promise that the remainder should be sent after him to the Falls of St. Anthony, he continued his journey; but as the expected goods did not reach him, he was under the necessity of returning to Prairie du Chien.
Thence, in the beginning of 1767, he set out northward, with a view of finding a communication between the headwaters of the Mississippi and Lake Superior. He reached Lake Superior, and returned, after spending several months on its northern and eastern borders, and exploring the bays and rivers that flow into the lake. Soon after his arrival at Boston, in October, 1768, at which date he had traveled nearly 7,000 miles, he set out for England "to announce his discoveries." On his arrival he presented a petition to the king, praying for a reimbursement of the sums he had expended; and, after undergoing an examination by the Board of Trade, which ordered him to surrender his papers, he received permission to publish his Journal; but the profits he derived from the sale were insufficient to relieve his necessities, and in the winter of 1779 he obtained a subsistence by acting as clerk in a lottery-office. Having sold his name to a historical compilation, which was published in a large folio volume, entitled "The New Universal Traveller" (London, 1779), containing an account of all the empires, kingdoms, and states in the known world, he was abandoned by those whose duty it was to support him. In the early part of 1780 he was reduced to poverty, and died in a state of destitution. The circumstances were made known to the public by the benevolent Dr. Lettessom, who brought out a new edition of his travels for the benefit of his widow and children, and made such a representation of the author's sufferings as finally led to the institution of the literary fund.—Appleton's Cyclop.

Gen. Lewis Cass, the eldest son of Major Jonathan Cass, was born at Exeter, New Hampshire, October 9, 1782, and received a classical education at the celebrated academy in that town. At an early age he removed to Delaware, and took charge of the academy of Wilmington. In 1799 he went to Marietta, Ohio, where he studied law, and in 1802 he was admitted to the bar and began to practice in Zanesville. In 1806 he was elected a member of the Ohio legislature. On March 2, 1807, he was appointed marshal of Ohio, which office he held till 1813. In the war of 1812 he rose to the rank of brigadier-general. On the 9th of October, 1813, President Madison appointed him governor of the Territory of Michigan. He acted as governor and ex-officio as superintendent of Indian affairs for eighteen years. In 1820, in company with Schoolcraft and others, he explored the upper lakes and the source of the Mississippi, with double reference to the character of the Indian population placed under his charge, and to the resources and geographical features of that immense and unknown region. In 1829 he was called to Washington, with General Clark, of Missouri, to examine the laws relating to Indian affairs, and prepare a condensed code for the better government of that growing and complicated department. The report which he drew up on this occasion exhibits his full experience on this subject. In 1831 President Jackson called him to preside over the Department of War. In 1834 the entire Indian code was revised under his direction, on the basis of his prior report of 1829, and the new code enacted by Congress. In 1836 President Jackson tendered him the position of minister to France. This he accepted with the express privilege of visiting the East. In January, 1845, he was elected United States senator from Michigan, which place he resigned on his nomination, May 22, 1848, as Democratic candidate for the Presidency. He was subsequently returned to the Senate, and was made Secretary of State by President Buchanan in 1857, which position he resigned in December, 1860. He died in Detroit, Mich. June 17, 1866.

Catechismo | dei missionari cattolici | in lingua algonchina | pubblicato | per cura di E. Teza |

Pisa | tipografia Nistri | 1872

Second title: Catéchisme Algonquin | traduit | mot pour mot en Latin | et phrase pour phrase en Français | M DCCC VI [1806]

Half-title on cover, half-title verso blank 1 l. title verso blank 1 l. dedication "a Federico Müller" (in Italian, by Teza) pp. 5-7, avvertimento (in Italian, by Teza) pp. 9-12, second title verso blank 1 l. preface (in French, by the translator) pp. 3-4, text pp. 5-81, note verso blank 1 l. 8°. Printed from a manuscript in the library of the University of Bologna. One hundred copies issued.

Notions préliminaires [on the structure of the Algonquin language], pp. 5-10.—Catéchisme, pp. 11-47.—Annotazioni (by Teza, and including extracts from Cuoq, Peter Jones, Baraga, Rasles, etc.) pp. 49-53; extracts from the catechism in Baraga's Otchipwe anamie-masinagan, Paris 1837, pp. 54-58; Lord's prayer from Baraga, p. 58; Lord's prayer from Blatchford's new testament, p. 59.—Breve glossario algonchino, inedito (from a manuscript of the Cardinal Mezzofanti, with notes by Teza, including extracts from Baraga, Howse, Mackenzie, and others), pp. 63-81.

This catechism seems to have been in use at the Lake of Two Mountains (Oka), Canada, in 1806. According to the translator's preface he undertook the translation "in order to place before the eyes of the superior the doctrine taught in Algonquin." Probably not intended for publication, but a private communication by a missionary priest to the superior of his order calling attention to the errors of a catechism composed and adopted by missionaries of another order. It has the approval of Bishop Cadotte, himself well versed in the language.

The Indian text is interlined with the Latin translation, the French paraphrase follows, and at the bottom of the page the explanatory notes—all by the translator. Diligent search by Teza has failed to discover the author.

The glossary also is from a manuscript of the Cardinal Mezzofanti, and, according to Teza, is not by the same person as the translation of the catechism. It is alphabetically arranged in Algonquin, with French definitions, and contains 302 words. The foot-notes are by Teza and include extracts from various authors.

ing and painting. As an artist he was entirely self-taught. In 1832 he went to the Far West and spent eight years among the Indians of Yellowstone River, Indian Territory, Arkansas, and Florida, painting a unique series of Indian portraits and pictures, which attracted much attention on their exhibition both in this country and in Europe. Among these were 470 full-length portraits and a large number of pictures illustrative of Indian life and customs, most of which are now preserved in the National Museum, Washington. In 1852-'57 Mr. Catlin traveled in South and Central America, after which he lived in Europe until 1871, when he returned to the United States. One hundred and twenty-six of his drawings illustrative of Indian life were at the Philadelphia exposition of 1876. — Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

— [Linguistic material of the Mississaugas.] (*)

Manuscript in possession of its author, who wrote me concerning it as follows under date of Nov. 27, 1888:

"The list of words collected by me from the Mississaugas of Scugog Island, Ontario County, Province of Ontario, numbers 620. They were collected at various times, August 2, 4, 8, 11, &c. 1888. About 350 were collected from the niece of Chief Johnson of Scugog; the greater part of the remainder from Mrs. Bolin (Nāwī-giahkōke (an intelligent Indian woman), a few from Osawanimiki (an Indian formerly a teacher among the tribe). They occupy 14 pages of paper 9 x 11 inches; appended are a number of etymological explanations. I have also 2½ pp. same size occupied with explanations (translation and etymology) of Indian (Mississauga) personal and geographical names. Also 8½ pp. same size, closely written, containing 'Myths and Songs of the Mississaugas of Scugog, consisting of the Mississauga version with interlinear English translation, and also full English translation with explanatory notes. I hope to have them published at an early date in the Journal of American Folk-lore."

In July, 1889, Mr. Chamberlain wrote me:

"My list of Algonkin personal names so far contains 30 names (Chippewa chiefly) from Mrs. Jameson (Winter Studies and Summer Rambles), 100 Blackfoot, Cree, and Chippeway from Morris (Indian Treaties), 50 Cree, Chippeway, Potawatomie, etc. from Paul Kane (Wanderings of an Artist, etc.), about 300 from Schoolcraft (Ojibway, Ottawa, Pottawottomie, etc.), making about 15 closely written pages, the Indian names being followed by English translations.

— Studies in Algonkian onomatology and semiology. (*)

Manuscript, 42 pp. 8°. A paper read before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, at Toronto, September 2, 1889. Title and note from its author.

Deals with the names of natural phenomena, animals, birds, plants, fishes, reptiles, insects, tribal and personal names, topographic names, etc., and their etymologic meanings, in Cree, Lake of Two Mountains, Algonkin, Ojibway and Mississauga, with occasional illustrations from other dialects.

I have seen several partial reprints of Charlevoix which do not contain the linguistics.

Pierre François Xavier de Charlevoix, French traveller, born in Saint Quentin 29 Oct., 1682; died in La Flèche 1 Feb., 1761. He entered the Jesuit society in 1698, and while a scholar was sent to Quebec in 1705, and during the four years following his arrival taught in the college in that place. After completing his divinity studies, he became a professor of belles-lettres in France, published a history of Christianity in Japan, and returned to Canada. For some time after his arrival he remained at Sault St. Louis. Then he ascended the St. Lawrence, and, reaching the Mississippi by way of the Illinois, descended the river to New Orleans, thence proceeding to France by way of Santo Domingo, after an absence of two years. From 1733 till 1755 he was one of the directors of the "Journal de Trevoux." He published in succession histories of Santo Domingo and Japan, and in 1744 his "Histoire de la nouvelle France," which had been kept back for twenty years. Simultaneously with the latter appeared the journal that he wrote while in America, which was addressed to the Duchesse de Leediguère, and was soon translated into English. Though his history was praised and quoted as an authority by scholars, it was not translated until recently, when an edition in English was George Copway, an Indian chief, was born, according to his own "Life," etc. (Albany, 1847), near the mouth of the river Trent (Ontario), in the fall of 1818. His Ojibway name was Ka-ge-ga-gah-bowh. Mr. J. J. Enmegahbowh, of White Earth Reservation, Minnesota, who claims to be a first cousin of Mr. Copway, informs me that the latter, like himself, was a "pure and full-blood Indian from the right stock," that he was educated in the state of Illinois and after acquiring considerable knowledge in English books returned to his own tribe as a missionary, and died at Pontiac, Michigan, about 1863. Mr. Copway was for many years connected with the press of New York City, and lectured extensively in Europe and the United States.

Cotton (Josiah). Vocabulary of the Massachusetts (or Natick) Indian language. By Josiah Cotton. [Edited by John Pickering.]

In Massachusetts Hist. Soc. Coll. third series, vol. 2, pp. 147-257, Cambridge, 1830, 8°.

Advertisement signed "J. D." (i. e. John Davis), pp. 147-148.—Notice of the manuscript, with remarks on the author's orthography and the pronunciation of the language, signed J. P. (John Pickering), pp. 148-151.—Table of contents (by the editor), p. 153.—Vocabulary, pp. 153-243.—Appendix, pp. 244-257.

The words of the vocabulary are grouped or classified, having such headings as "Of arts," "Of beasts," "Of rational Creatures," &c.; "Adjectives," "Verbs," "Imperative mood," "Participles," "The creed," "A talk between two," "Adverbs," "Pronouns," "Sentences," and "A dialogue"; it also contains a letter, the Natick version being signed Jno. Nemummin.

The Appendix contains "Examples from the Indian primer" of 1720, words of from one to fifteen syllables; two versions of the Lord's prayer from Eliot's bible, and two from the Indian primer; the ten commandments, from the primer; "A sermon preached by Josiah Cotton to the Massachusetts Indians in 1710"; and "Extracts from a sermon in English and Indian, the English part being in the handwriting of Josiah Cotton, and the Indian in that of his father, John Cotton."

"The following vocabulary of the Indian language, in the Natick or Massachusetts dialect, is faithfully copied from a manuscript compiled by the Hon. Josiah Cotton, a respectable inhabitant of Plymouth, who died in 1756, aged 77. He was the second son of the Rev. John Cotton, pastor of the first church in that ancient town twenty-eight years, from 1669 to 1697."

"Josiah Cotton was graduated at Harvard College in 1698. His early years, after his leaving college, were spent in Marblehead,

where he was employed as a schoolmaster; his studies in the mean time were principally in theology. He was never settled, however, in the ministry; but, returning to his native town early in the last century, after some years of occupation in that place as a schoolmaster, he devoted himself to agricultural pursuits and to the discharge of several civil offices which he sustained. The offices which he held successively or in conjunction were those of clerk of the court of common pleas, justice of the same court, register of probate, and register of deeds. In the latter office he was succeeded by his son, John Cotton, who was succeeded by his son, Rositer Cotton, the present worthy occupant of that office, to whose kindness this society and the friends of ancient lore are indebted for a communication of this manuscript, and of other documents eminently useful and acceptable for the elucidation of our early history. This respectable family derives its origin from the celebrated John Cotton of Boston. Josiah Cotton, as well as his father, in addition to their other employments, performed the duties of missionaries to the Indians at Plymouth and other places in that vicinity. The father was eminently skilled in the Indian language, of which there are many testimonials; the most conspicuous is Eliot's Indian Bible. In the accomplishment of that laborious work Mr. Eliot acknowledges his obligations to Mr. Cotton, especially in the preparation of the second edition.

"Josiah Cotton, besides the advantages of much personal intercourse with the Indians, had the benefit of his father's information; and his long continuance as a religious instructor to the natives, with the ready use of their language, of which he left numerous specimens in writing, may reasonably induce a reliance on the correctness of the present vocabulary which he compiled. A copy of some of his other specimens will be found subjoined to the vocabulary."—Advertisement.

The above vocabulary, though written, according to the statement of the editor, in 1707-'8, was printed here for the first time.

Issued separately also, with title-page as follows:

It is the original of the vocabulary titled above, and is accompanied by an English Massachusetts index, the title to the first volume of which is as follows:

Manuscript, 2 vols. 62 and 52 unnumbered ll. 8°. Double columns; arranged alphabetically according to English words.

Josiah Cotton, son of the second John, born 8 Jan., 1680; died 19 Aug., 1756; was graduated at Harvard in 1698. He studied theology, taught in Marblehead and Plymouth, and, though not ordained over any church, preached occasionally for several years. He also gave his attention to agriculture, having a good farm in Plymouth. Having acquired considerable knowledge of the Indian language, he visited various tribes in Plymouth colony as a missionary during nearly forty years, receiving a salary of $20 from the commissioners for propagating the gospel. He was also clerk of the county court and register of probate.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Crespieul (Père François-Xavier). Prêtres | en | Algonkin [Scroll] Montagnaise. Abanaki [Scroll] Esquimaux 1676 | Par le Révérend Père de Crespieul.

Manuscript, in the archbishopric of Quebec; 30 ll. the first 2 of which are blank and unnumbered, followed by an unnumbered l. on the recto of which is the title and on the verso the beginning of the text, prayers and religious songs 22 ll. catechism 5 ll. 8p.

The pagination is confused; the first pages of the text are not numbered; the third bears the number 2, verso unnumbered; leaves 4-12 bear the same number on recto and verso; the leaf following is intercalated and numbered 11 on both sides, the recto being blank, the verso "Formula baptismi" in Algonkin and Montagnais, and precepts of the church in Algonkin only. Leaves 12, 13, and 11, intercalated among the leaves of the catechism, belong to the book of prayers. Leaves 13-16 have the same number on recto and on verso; a few leaves of the catechism intercalated. On leaf 13 commence the religious songs in Algonkin and in Montagnais. The continuation of the prayers, or rather of the religious songs, is found at the end of the volume, after the 12th leaf intercalated from the catechism; it contains religious songs in use among the Montagnais, with a French translation. The four leaves, from 17 to 20, of which it is composed bear the same number on recto and on verso.

The catechism has a special pagination, more confused if possible than the book of prayers. Leaf 11, we have seen, is intercalated in the prayers, while leaves 10 and 9 precede leaves 12, 10, and 11 which contain prayers in Algonkin and Montagnais. Finally come leaves 9 and 12, which belong to the catechism; the first has for title, in the middle of the recto: De 7 sacramentis, and toward the end of verso: Ecclesias precepta; the recto of the second is blank, and on the verso, after the word "catechism" and the title "de la Messe et de la Communion," we read this note of the author: "Non potui absolvere et ex parte composita describere. Paterit supplere R. P. Lefauré."

The manuscript is bound in parchment. The text commences on the verso of the leaf which bears the title. It is divided into four columns, two on the verso and two on the recto, having four titles, from left to right: Algonkin, Montagnais, Abenaki, Esquimaux. The first two columns only are in the handwriting of Father Crespien. On pages 2 and 3 the first column and the commencement of the second are in his handwriting; the succeeding pages, as far as leaf 13, have only the Algonkin column by Father Crespien. The text of the column devoted to the language of the Esquimaux disappears on the recto of leaf 3. The Abenaki column of the same leaf is incomplete. The texts of the four columns occur on pages 4 and 5, but are not a translation of the same prayers. On pages 5 and 6 the Montagnais column is incomplete; the last two blank. Only the Algonkin text appears from the 6th to the 9th leaf, where the Montagnais text reappears in the prayers for the living and the dead. The Algonkin and Montagnais columns have the prayers: Ad SS. Angelos, ad S. Michaellem, ad O. SS., page 11; ad S. Josephum, et les commandements de Dieu, page 12. The religious songs, page 13, recto, have only two columns, the Algonkin and the Montagnais. Both are by Father Crespien. The following note appears at the top of the page to the left: "Algonk—prestant Montan—et sunt magis in uso et sciunt a multis—Sodas ut non immutentur."

The Montagnais text is not again found until the recto of leaf 17 is reached, where are found Montagnais chants under this title: Cantiones a Montanensibus cani solite. They are accompanied by a French translation as far as page 18, where, in the song for the communion, the Algonkin and Montagnais texts are opposite each other.

Jean-André Cuoq was born at Le Puy, department of Haute-Loire, France, June 6, 1821; entered a seminary of the Society of St. Sulpice as a pupil October 20, 1840; was ordained priest December 20, 1845; arrived at Montreal November 21, 1846, and was sent to the mission of the Lake of Two Mountains (Oka) in 1847 as missionary to the Nipissings, and remained there many years as companion of Mr. Dufresne, who was director of that mission and missionary to the Mohawks.

Mr. Cuoq occupied himself at first only with the study of the Nipissing language, which he speaks and understands more perfectly than the Mohawk; but Mr. Dufresne having been withdrawn from the mission in 1857, Mr. Cuoq then applied himself to the study of the Mohawk for the purpose of ministering in that language also. About 1864 he was sent to the College of Montreal, where he was charged with a class, remaining there two or three years; then he returned to the Lake of Two Mountains, where he remained until 1875. He was then attached to the parochial church of Notre Dame at Montreal, remaining there several years, during which time he composed and printed his later books on the native languages. He returned to the Lake about 1885 and is there at the present time (1890).

In addition to the above works, he has composed a number in the Mohawk language. His modesty has prevented me from carrying out my desire to give a somewhat extended notice of his life and his mission work.

— [Vocabulary of the Massachusetts Indians.]

Manuscript, 49 unnumbered ll. (lacking beginning and end), sm. folio, in the library of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Boston, Mass. There is a small fragment of each of 2 leaves at the beginning, and of 1 leaf at the end. The vocabulary is in double columns, very fine and closely written, almost unreadable. It is alphabetically arranged O to W, with spaces left between some words, presumably for additions. The two fragmentary leaves at the beginning contained words beginning with the letter N. The verso of the 31st leaf and the recto of the 32d are blank.

The manuscript was presented to Rev. Jeremy Belknap by Elias Howard, great granddaughter of Danforth, Aug. 9, 1798.

Samuel Danforth, son of Samuel Danforth of Roxbury, was born in that town on the 10th of December, 1666, and baptised on the 16th of the same month. His father was the colleague of John Eliot from 1650 to 1674. The son probably learned the Indian language in his youth, under the direction of Mr. Eliot. In 1683 he was graduated at Harvard College. His first publication appears to have been the New-England Almanack for 1686. In September, 1687, he was ordained as minister of the church in Taunton, Massachusetts, where he remained until his death.

In 1698, Mr. Danforth and Mr. Grindall Rawson were employed by the commissioners for the propagation of the gospel among the Indians in New England, to visit and report on the "Plantations of the Indians within this Province." This labor they commenced on the 30th of May, and finished on the 24th of June. Their report was printed in the summer or autumn of the same year, as an appendix to Nicholas Noyes's election sermon, entitled New-England's Duty and Interest, pp. 89-99 (reprinted in volume 10 of the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society). Mr. Danforth's translation into the Indian language of five sermons by Increase Mather was published soon after, probably in October, as the dedication is dated on the 14th of that month. His labors for the welfare of the Indians in Taunton and its vicinity were considerable. On certain "lecture days" he preached to them in their own language. He also prepared in manuscript an Indian dictionary, with references under each word to Eliot's translation of the bible. In 1704 he commenced a series of revival meetings in Taunton and in the same year published his sermon entitled Piety Encouraged. This was followed in 1708 by The Duty of Believers, and in 1710 by The Woful Effects of Drunkenness. In 1712 he composed An Elegy on the Memory of the Worthy Major Thomas Leonard, Esq., of Taunton, which was printed on a broadside and on two more publications, An Exhortation to and a sermon at Bridgewater, appeared in 1713 and 1717. He died on November 14th, 1722, the sixty-first year of his age.

John William De Forest, author and soldier, born in Humphreysville (now Seymour), Conn., 31 March, 1826. He attended no college but pursued independent studies, mainly abroad: was a student in Latin, and became a fluent speaker of French, Italian, and Spanish. While yet a youth, he passed four years travelling in Europe, and two years in the Levant, residing chiefly in Syria. Again, in 1850, he visited Europe, making extensive tours through Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Greece, and Asia Minor. From that time until the civil war began he wrote short stories for periodicals, having already become an author of several books. In 1861, as captain, he recruited a company for the 12th Connecticut volunteers, and served constantly in the field till January, 1865. From 1865 till 1868 he remained in the army as adjutant-general of the veteran reserve corps, and afterwards as chief of a district under the Freedman's Bureau. Since then he has resided in New Haven, except when travelling in Europe. The honorary degree of A. M. was conferred upon him by Amherst College in 1859.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

I have seen but the one copy of this little work, and know of the probable existence of but one other—that catalogued by the library of the Boston Athenæum, deposited there by Schoolcraft. This volume has been misplaced on the shelves, and though the library authorities at my request caused diligent search to be made, it has not been found.

Leclerc in 1867, catalogue no. 427, sold a copy for 28 fr., and in 1878, catalogue no. 2382, priced one 40 fr.

There may have been an earlier edition of this work. M. Dejean, in a letter to the Abbé R—, at Bordeaux, Jan. 10, 1829, mentions a manuscript that had been sent to France to be printed: "le livre de prières qui est en usage parmi les Algonkins, et qui a été approuvé par l'autorité ecclésiastique de Montréal." (Annales de l'Association de la Propagation de la Foi, vol. 4, p. 466, 1831.) A note, p. 468, of the same volume, says this manuscript was being printed by the association.

A few Ottawa words and phrases, with definitions, pp. 494-495.

In this letter M. Dejean says: "I know already enough of the language of the Ottawas to converse with them. I am engaged daily in compiling an Ottawa vocabulary. This language is very poor; it has only enough words to express what falls under the senses. * * *"

This letter, which was written by him in the absence of the missionary, thanks the Council of Lyons for them the prayer-book in their own language. The signatures are totemic signs. It is accompanied by a translation in French by M. Dejean, "word for word, literally, to show the barbarous language."

I have placed this work under Père Délage upon the authority of his predecessor at the mission, Père Garin. Bishop Lorrain was under the impression it should be credited to M<sup>r</sup>. Laverlochère and Garin until the latter disclaimed its authorship. Later, at my request, he communicated with Father Plau, O. M. I., superior of the Maniwaki mission in the archdiocese of Ottawa, who confirms Père Garin's impression that it was translated by Délage.

Micmac and equivalent French on facing pages as far as pp. 222-223; the remainder wholly Micmac, with the heading: “Pièces diverses en langue Miquemaque. Te Denm.”

The last page of the manuscript ends thus: “m8 . . . Reliqua, quae paucæ, desiderantur in Ms.” From this note, and from the fact that the manuscript is written throughout with remarkable nicety, and with no corrections or alterations such as might be expected in an original work, and from the further fact that the date, 1836, is almost too early for Demillier to have composed it, it would seem probable that the manuscript is a copy and not an original work by Demillier.

This manuscript is now in the possession of Rev. M. C. O'Brien, St. Mary's Church, Bangor, Maine, who kindly sent it to me for inspection.

The Rev. Mr. O'Brien writes me: "Father Demillier left other manuscripts, and among them a Passamaquoddy dictionary, but they can no longer be found. Father Vetromile is supposed to have had the dictionary at the time of his death, but whether it was carried by him to Italy, where he died, and there left, or is yet among his effects in this country, is not known."

— [Dictionary of the Delaware language.] (*)

Manuscript, oblong octavo, comprising about 3700 words, in the Moravian archives at Bethlehem, Pa. Mr. John W. Jordan, of the Penn. Hist. Soc. Philadelphia, some time since called my attention to this manuscript. He informs me that the handwriting of the manuscript is the Rev. L. F. Kampman's, but that that gentleman said he did not prepare it, but must have made the copy from the original manuscript when a missionary to the Indians at Fairfield, Canada, and that it was probably prepared by Dencke or Luckenbach. This is since confirmed by Dr. Brinton in the following note in his work entitled "The Lenapé and their legends," p. 84:

"After the war of 1812, the Moravian brother, Rev. C. F. Dencke, who ten years before had attempted to teach the Gospel to the Chipeways, gathered together the scattered converts among the Delawares at New Fairfield, Canada West. In 1818 he completed and forwarded to the Publication Board of the American Bible Society a translation of the Epistles of John, which was published the same year.

"He also stated to the Board that at that time (1818) he had finished a translation of John's Gospel and commenced that of Matthew, both of which he expected to send to the Board in that year. A donation of one hundred dollars was made to him to encourage him in his work, but for some reason the prosecution of his work was suspended and the translation of the Gospels never appeared (contrary to the statements in some bibliographies).

"It is probable that Mr. Dencke was the compiler of the Delaware Dictionary which is preserved in the Moravian Archives at Bethlehem. The ms. is an oblong octavo, in a fine but beautifully clear hand, and comprises about 3700 words. The handwriting is that of the late Rev. Mr. Kampman, from 1840 to 1842 missionary to the Delawares on the Canada Reservation. On inquiring the circumstances connected with this ms., he stated to me that it was written at the period named and was a copy or some older work, probably by Mr. Dencke, but of this he was not certain.

"While the greater part of this dictionary is identical in words and rendering with the second edition of Ziesler's 'Spelling Book' (with which I have carefully compared it), it also includes a number of other words, and the whole is arranged in accurate alphabetical order.

"Mr. Dencke also prepared a grammar of the Delaware, as I am informed by his old personal friend, Rev. F. R. Holland, of Hope, Indiana; but the most persistent inquiry through residents at Salem, N. C., where he died in 1839, and at the Missionary Archives at Bethlehem, Pa., and Moraviantown, Canada, have failed to furnish me a clue to its whereabouts. I fear that this precious document was 'sold as paper stock,' as I am informed were most of the MSS. which he left at his decease; a sad instance of the total absence of intelligent interest in such subjects in our country."

The text begins on the verso of the 2d l. with the heading: "Sur l'education que les peres et les meres doivent donner a leurs enfans. On the inside of the front cover is written: "Par M<sup>r</sup> Depéret pretre 1743, M. Élie Depéret, Sulpicien mission."

In the archives of the mission at Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada.

M. Élie Dépéret, a priest of St. Sulpice, was born in the diocese of Limoges, France, in 1690. He came to Canada in 1714, was missionary to the Algonkins at Île aux Tourtes, then at Lac des Deux Montagnes, then at La Galette (now Ogdensburg), where he replaced the Abbé Piquet during the visit of the latter to France in 1753-1754. He died April 17, 1757, while curate of Ste. Anne du Bout de l'Île.

He is also the author of a number of manuscript works in the Mohawk language, titles of which will be found in the Bibliography of the Iroquoian languages.

Emmanuel Henri Diendoné Domenech, French author, born in Lyons, France, November 4, 1825; died in France in June, 1886. He became a priest in the Roman Catholic church, and was sent as a missionary to Texas and Mexico.
During Maximilian's residence in America, Domenech acted as private chaplain to the emperor, and he was also almoner to the French army during its occupation of Mexico. On his return to France he was made honorary canon of Montpellier. His "Manuscrit pictographique Américain, précédé d'une notice sur l'idé-graphie des Peaux Rouges" (1860), was published by the French government, with a facsimile of a manuscript in the library of the Paris arsenal, relating, as he claimed, to the American Indians; but the German orientalist, Julius Petzholdt, declared that it consisted only of scribbling and incoherent illustrations of a local German dialect. Domenech maintained the authenticity of the manuscript in a pamphlet

Durocher (F.)—Continued.

I am indebted to the Rev. A. M. Garin, of Lowell, Mass., for the following notes:

Rev. Father Durocher was born the 6th of September, 1800, at St. Antoine, on the Chambly River, Canada. He made his studies at the Montreal College, kept by the priests of St. Sulpice. In 1820 he began the study of theology, and the 29th of September, 1823, he received the order of the priesthood at the hands of Monseigneur Jean Jacques Lartigue, Bishop of Montreal, and was appointed assistant in the parish of Notre Dame, Montreal, where he remained two years. In 1825 he was sent to Three Rivers, where he served two years as assistant. In 1827 he applied to the Superior of St. Sulpice to be received as a member of their community. Being admitted to the order he worked two years in the city of Montreal and then went to the Lake of the Two Mountains to study the Algonquin language and take charge of that mission. He remained there 14 years and when he left he was master of the language, having composed many sermons, hymns, prayers, etc., in that tongue. All the Indians at the mission being Catholics, he wanted to work for the conversion of the Indians still in the state of infidelity. For that reason he left the community of St. Sulpice to join the order of the Oblate of Mary Immaculate, and began his novitiate at Longueuil the 28th of September, 1843. He made his vows and was received in the order the 8th of September, 1846. In the month of September, 1844, he was sent to the mission of Saguenay, and there began the study of the Montagnais. On the 3d of October, 1849, he was named superior of the mission on the Saguenay, and in September, 1853, he came to Quebec and established the House of St. Sauveur, of which he was appointed superior, and remained in that capacity until the year 1873. During that time he often visited the Indian missions on the Labrador coast and Lake St. John and composed different books in the Montagnais language. He died at Quebec the 8th of December, 1876.

"That the following observations may obtain credit, it may be proper to inform the reader with what advantages they have been made.

"When I was but six years of age my father removed with his family to Stockbridge which at that time was inhabited by Indians almost solely: as there were in the town but twelve families of whites or Anglo-Americans, and perhaps one hundred and fifty families of Indians. The Indians being the nearest neighbours, I constantly associated with them; their boys were my daily school-mates, and play-fellows: that of my father's house I seldom heard any language spoken besides Indian. By these means I acquired the knowledge of that language, and a great facility in speaking it. It is now familiar to me than my mother tongue. I knew then some things in Indian which I did not in English: even all my thoughts ran and though the true pronunciation of the language is extremely difficult to all selves, they acknowledged, that I acquired it perfectly: which as they had been acquired before by any American. On account of this acquisition as on account of my skill in their language in general. I received from them many compliments applauding my superior wisdom and skill in their language I have in a great measure retained to this day.

"After I had drawn up these observations there should be some mistake in sending them to Stockbridge, and received from Capt. Youghum, a principal Indian who is well versed in his own language tolerably informed concerning them and I availed myself of his remarks thereon.

"From these facts, the reader will form his own opinion of the truth and accuracy of what is now offered him.

"When I was in my tenth year sent me among the six nations, with that I should learn their language, become qualified to be a mission there. But on account of the war which then lasted I continued at home but about six months. Therefore I acquired of that language which I acquired of that language but imperfectly, and at this time I little of it that I will not hazard any critical remarks on it. I may observe, that though the words of the languages are totally different, yet the syntax in some respects analogous, particularly the use of prefixes and suffixes.—P

Jonathan Edwards, Jr., theologian, second son of Jonathan, sr., born in Northampton, Mass., 26 May, 1748, died in Schenectady, N. Y., 1 Aug., 1801. When he was six years old the family removed to Stockbridge, at that time almost solely inhabited by Indians. Here he became so proficient in the Indian language as to surpass in the thoroughness of his scholarship all other Anglo-Americans of that day. As it was his father's wish that he should become a missionary to the aborigines, he was sent, in 1755, to the Rev. Gideon Hawley, who was stationed on the Susquehanna River, to learn the dialect of the Oneidae. In consequence of the breaking out of war between England and France, in which the colonies were involved, young Edwards remained there only six months, and acquired but an imperfect knowledge of the language. — *Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Eliot (John). [A primer or catechism in the Massachusetts Indian language.

The earliest printed book in the Massachusetts Indian language of which any record has been found. No copy is known to be extant. In a letter to Mr. Winslow, dated July 8th, 1649, Mr. Eliot wrote concerning the Indians: "I do very much desire to translate some parts of the Scriptures into their language, and to print some Primer in their language wherein to initiate and teach them to read, which some of the men do much also desire; and printing such a thing will be troublesome and chargeable, and I having yet but little skill in their language (having little leisure to attend it by reason of my continual attendance on my Ministry in our own Church) I must have some Indians, and it may be other help continually about me to try and examine Translations, which I look at as a sacred and holy work, and to be regarded with much fear, care, and reverence; and all this is chargeable therefore I look at that as a special matter on which cost is to be bestowed, if the Lord provide means, for I have not means of my own for it." Again, on the 21st of October, 1650, he wrote: "for their own Language we have no book; my desire therefore is to teach them all to write, and read written hand, and thereby with pains taking, they may have some of the Scriptures in their own Language; I have one already who can write, so that I can read his writing well, and he (with some pains and teaching) can read mine."

The native here referred to was without doubt Job Nesutan, who had taken the place of the Long Island Indian, Eliot's first instructor in the language. He is mentioned by

Gookin in the History of the Christian Indians as follows: "In this expedition [July, 1675] one of our principal soldiers of the praying Indians was slain, a valiant and stout man, named Job Nesutan; he was a very good linguist in the English tongue, and was Mr. Eliot's assistant and interpreter in his translations of the Bible, and other books of the Indian language."

Another letter of Eliot's, dated April 28th, 1651, relates that "it hath pleased God this winter much to enlarge the ability of him whose helps I use in translating the Scriptures, which I account a great furtherance of that which I most desire, namely, to communicate unto them as much of the Scriptures in their own language as I am able. Besides, it hath pleased God to stir up the hearts of many of them this winter to learn to read and write, wherein they do very much profit with a very little help, especially some of them, for they are very ingenious. And whereas I had thought that we must have an Englishman to be their Schoole-Master, I now hope that the Lord will raise up some of themselves, and enable them unto that work, with my care to teach them well in the reason of the sounds of Letters and spelling, I trust in the Lord that we shall have sundry of them able to read and write, who shall write every man for himselfe so much of the Bible as the Lord shall please to enable me to Translate." In the latter part of the same year (1651), he wrote in another letter: "And thus we order the Schoole: The Master daily prayeth among his Schollers, and instructeth them in Catechisme, for which purpose I have compiled a short Catechisme, and wrote it in the Masters Book, which he can read, and teach them; and also all the Copies he setteth his Schollers when he teacheth them to write, are the Questions and Answers of the Catechisme, that so the children may be the more prompt and ready therein: we aspire to no higher learning yet, but to spell, read, and write that so they may be able to write for themselves such Scriptures as I have already, or hereafter may. (by the blessing of God) translate for them for I have no hope to see the Bible Translated, much lesse Printed in my dayes. Therefore my chiefe care is to communicate as much of the Scriptures as I can by writing."

The Commissioners of the United Colonies, in a letter to Mr. Winslow, dated "Boston this 24th of September 1653," wrote: "Mr. Eliot is preparing to print a Catechisme of the Indian language which we shall further (as we may) by disbursing the charge of paper and printing out of the stock but by some due allowance shall endeavor to Incurrage Thomas Stanton to assist in the worke; whoe is the most able Interpreter wee have in the country for that Language that the worke may be the more pfectly carried on; Wee have advised Mr. Eliot Etceet: that if hereafter they publish anythings about the worke of God vpon the Indians they send it to the Corporation and leane the dedication to them which wee hope wilbee attended." They also resolved that "It is left to the two Commissioners for the Massachusetts to give order for the printing of five hundred or a Thousand Catechismes in the Indian language and to allow paper and the Charge of printing; and that the worke may bee carried on the more exactly and to better Satisfaction It is ordered that Thomas Stanton's heelp bee used in the same." One year later, on the 25th of September, 1654, they wrote to the Corporation in London: "one Catechesme is already printed and Mr. Pierson is preparing another to suite these southwest ptes where the language differs from theirs who live about the Massachusetts." It appears that Mr. Elliot did not avail himself of Stanton's knowledge of the Indian tongue, as suggested by the Commissioners, for on the 18th of September, 1654, they wrote to him: "Wee desired that Thomas Stanton's help might haue been used in the Catechisme printed and wish that noe Inconvenience bee found through the want thereof; And shall now advise that before you proceed in Translating the Scriptures or any pte of them you Improve the best heelpes the Countrey affords for the Indian Language that if it may bee these southwest Indians (some of whome as wee are now Informed desire heelp both for Reading and to bee Instructed in the things of God and Christ) may understand and haue the benefitt of what is printed."

Seven years after the appearance of this edition a new impression was begun, as follows:

— [A primer or catechism in the Massachusetts Indian language. Second impression.

Cambridge: printed by Samuel Green and Marmaduke Johnson. 1662.] (*)

The Commissioners of the United Colonies wrote from Plymouth to Mr. Richard Hutchinson and Mr. William Ashurst, in England, September 12, 1661: "By the account you will find wee haue remaining 414*lb*: 4: 4 stocke a great part wherof wilbee expended in printing the bible and a new Impression of a Catechisme." They also wrote to Mr. Usher in Boston, September 13th, 1661: "Alsoe wee pray you take order for the printing of a thousand coppies of Mr. Eliotts Catechismes which wee vnderstand are much wanting amongst the Indians; which being finished Receiue from the presse and dispose of them according to order abovesaid." The account presented to the Commissioners by Mr. Usher in September, 1662, contains a charge: "To printing 1500 Catechismes," 15*l*. Another reference to the book occurs in the account of disbursements sent by the Commissioners to England, September 13th, 1667, as follows: "To Indian bibles primers delivered to Mr. Elliott and Mr. John Cotton and to Schoolers," 2*l*. 10*s*. 3*d*.

No copy of this edition is known to be extant.

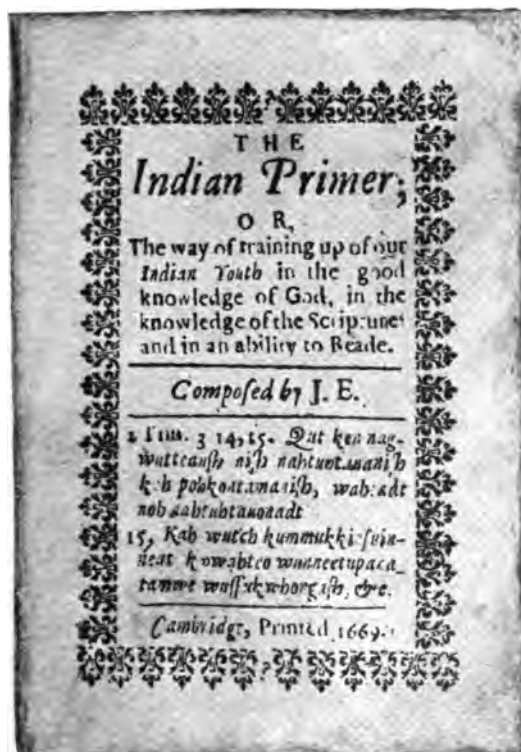

The following note by Dr. Trumbull on the edition of 1662 requires a slight correction: "The cost of printing, at this period, was about £2. 10 per sheet, for 1000 copies (exclusive of paper, which was supplied by the Corporation), and this would not be increased more than twenty per cent. (to £3) by the press-work on 500 additional copies. At £3 per sheet, the Catechism must have required five sheets (80 pages sm. 8vo.), to bring the cost of the edition to £15. This agrees nearly with the charge of paper for printing the first edition in 1654: when 'for the two Catechismes,' Elliot's and Pierson's, Green used 30 reams. Not more than 14½ reams was required for Pierson's (4½ sheets per copy, edition of 1500), leaving at least 15½ for Elliot's or sufficient for a small 8vo. of 70 to 75 pages." The reference here to the edition of 1654 must be a mistake. The account of Samuel Green, the printer, which contains the entries "for printing two Catechismes 30 Reams," and "for printing the Bible 368 Reams," was rendered in September, 1663, and the catechisms referred to were without doubt Pierson's of 1658, and the second impression of Elliot's made in 1662.

—[The six principles of religion, by the Rev. William Perkins, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language.] (*)

According to Dr. Trumbull, "One of the catechisms translated by Eliot—probably much abridged—was the Rev. William Perkins's Foundation of the Christian Religion, gathered into Six Principles. Increase Mather, in his letter to Dr. Leusden, in 1687, mentioned that 'many of the Indian children had learned by heart the catechism, either of that famous divine William Perkins, or that put forth by the Assembly of Divines at Westminster.' Pierson borrowed much from the Six Principles for his Quiripi catechism." In another place he adds: "Experience Mayhew, in a notice of an Indian convert who died at Martha's Vineyard, in 1717, says: 'Mr. Perkins's Six Principles of Religion, having been translated into the Indian tongue, was what she took great delight in reading.' (Indian Converts, p. 168.) No copy of this translation has been discovered, and it is not certain, from Mayhew's mention of it, that it was printed."

—[The book of Genesis, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language.

Cambridge: printed by Samuel Green. 1655?] (*)

This was probably Eliot's second publication in the Indian language. No copy has been found. In a letter to Thomas Thorowgood, dated June 18, 1653, he thus refers to the progress of his work in translating the bible: "I have had a great longing desire (if it were the will of God) that our Indian Language might be sanctified by the Translation of the holy Scriptures into it . . . but I fear it will not be obtained in my dayes. I cannot stick to the work, because of my necessary attendance to my ministerie in Roxbury, and among the Indians, at sundry places, and the multiplied work, which in that kind ariseth upon me, and yet through the blessing of the Lord, I have this Winter translated the whole book of the Psalms . . . While I live, if God please to assist me, I resolve to follow the work of translating the Scriptures." In 1654, he mentions his interpreter, "whom I have used in Translating a good part of the Holy Scriptures." One year later, in a letter dated August 16, 1655, he wrote of the Indians: "That which I now most follow, is, first the spreading of the Gospel into more remote places . . . The second thing attended, is the Civilizing of them . . . The third thing is the Printing of the Bible in their Language, Genesis is Printed, and we are upon Matthew, but our progresse is slow, and hands short." The Commissioners of the United Colonies replied to a letter of Mr. Eliot's, dated August 29, 1655, as follows: "the Commissioners never forbade you to Translate the Scriptures for preach'g or for any other use either of your owne or of your hearers but advised that what you ment to print or sett forth vpon the Corporation Charge might be donne with such Consideration of the Language and Improvement of the best healpes to be had therein that as much as may bee the Indians in all ptes of New England might share in the benefit; which wee feare they can not see well doe by what you haue already printed."

For other references to this edition, see the note to the following title.

—[The gospel of Matthew, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language.

Cambridge: printed by Samuel Green. 1655.] (*)

Eliot's letter dated August 16, 1655, already referred to under the preceding title, contains the earliest mention of this book: "Genesis is Printed, and we are upon Matthew, but our progresse is slow, and hands short." It is also mentioned in his letter to Mr. Richard Floyd, dated from Roxbury, December 28, 1658, as follows: "Yet those pieces that were printed, viz. Genesis and Matthew, I had sent to such as I thought had best skill in the language, and intreated their animadversions, but I heard not of any faults they found." And in a postscript to the same letter: "They have none of the Scriptures printed in their own Language, save Genesis, and Matthew, and a few Psalmes in Meeter." No copy is known to be extant.

—[A few psalms in metre, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language.

Cambridge: printed by Samuel Green. 1658 ?] (*)

Of this little book no copy has been found. It was mentioned as one of the three portions of Scripture which had been printed—"Genesis, and Matthew, and a few Psalmes in Meeter"—in Eliot's postscript to his letter of December 28, 1658, quoted in the note to the preceding title. In the treasurer's account presented to the Commissioners at Hartford in September, 1659, was a charge of 40*l*, "To Mr. Green for printing the Psalmes and Mr. Pierson's Catechisme." At the next meeting in September, 1660, it was resolved that "The Comissioners for the Massachusetts are desired and Impowered to account with Mr. Green for the forty pounds payed him for printing Mr. Pierson's Catechisme and the Psalmes."

Mr. Eliot had made a translation of some of the psalms into Indian metre as early as 1651. In a letter written by the Rev. John Wilson, October 27, 1651, is an account of one of the Indian meetings, in which it is related that "the Indian School-Master read out of his Book one of the Psalmes in meeter, line by line, translated by Mr. Eliot into Indian, all the men and women, &c. singing the same together in one of our ordinary English tunes melodiously."

Second column: The same in English. | A Christian Covenanting Confession [sic].

1 page, verso blank, printed in two columns, Massachusetts Indian and English, with a line of 55 small ornaments at the top, 4<sup>2</sup>.

The text measures nearly 6½ by 5½ inches, which is an inch wider than the text of a page of the Indian bible. It is printed with the same kind of type that was used for the bible. Each column is divided by a line rule into two parts. The upper or smaller divisions contain, in Indian on the left-hand side and in English on the right, articles of belief numbered 1 to 9, with references to bible texts. The third article, which was enlarged in the English column of the edition described below, reads as follows in this edition: "3 He made Adam to rule this Lower world. Gen. 1. 26, 27." The lower divisions contain additional articles and the church covenant, in eight paragraphs, of which the first five only are numbered. The covenant begins thus: "5. For these causes, wee that dwell in this Towne called — are gladly willing to bind our selves to God, to Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy, so long as we live," etc.

The copy here described is in the library of the University of Edinburgh, and is supposed to be unique. On the lower margin below the text, is the following inscription in the handwriting of the Rev. William Trail, minister of Borthwick: "This Indian Confession & Covenant of the Converts in New-England was brought from thence in the year 1690 & afterwards gifted to the Bibliothek of the Colledge of Edinburgh (alma mater) by W. Trail." The other side of the leaf contains the indorsement: "Indian Confession of Faith in New England. Given by Mr. Trail. Min. Borthwick, 1699." The work is reprinted on pages xlvii-liv of the introduction to the second edition of Dr. John Smith's reprint of Elliot's Indian primer of 1800 (Edinburgh, 1880), preceded by an account of its history and a biographical sketch of the Rev. Mr. Trail, and accompanied by a rather fine cartographic facsimile of the original manuscript, from which the above description has been made. The facsimile given here was copied from an electrotpe kindly furnished by Dr. Small. In reproducing it by another process, the size of the sheet has been reduced to less than the original.

The precise date of the covenanting confession was not given, and is not known with certainty. According to Dr. Trumbull: "The first Indian church was gathered in 1660 at Natick; but Mr. Elliot had proposed the admission of the Indians to church estate, eight or nine years before this. Some peculiarities of orthography in the Indian version of this 'covenanting confession' seem to indicate that it was printed before the Bible. It is alluded to by Cotton Mather (Magnalia, iii. 3. p. 178): 'Unto the general engagements of a covenant with God which it was his desire to bring the Indians into, he added a particular article, wherein they bind themselves mechquontamnat Sabbath, pahketeauat toshokte pomantamug, i. e., to remember the Sabbath-day, to keep it holy, as long as we live.'" In the Memorial History of Boston Mr. Trumbull adds: "Probably it was printed before—but not long before—the gathering of the first Indian church at Natick, in 1660."

This seems to be a later edition, as it contains several slight changes and a few additional words and Scripture references. The third article in the upper division of the English column was made to read as follows: "3. He made Adam to Rule this Lower world, be being made perfectly Righteous. Gen. 1. 26, 27."

The only copy known of this edition, which is in the Congregational Library at Boston, lacks a small portion of the lower right-hand corner. The facsimile given here with is from a heliotype, made a few years ago, in the possession of the compiler of this bibliography, and is probably slightly reduced in size.

130 printed leaves without page numbers, and 2 blank leaves, in the following order: 1 blank leaf, the title of the new testament in English on 1 leaf verso blank, the dedication of the new testament to Charles II. in 2 leaves, the title of the new testament in Indian on 1 leaf verso blank, Matthew to Revelation in 126 leaves, and 1 blank leaf at the end, 4°. Signatures A, A (repeated), B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, K, L, Aa, Bb, Cc, Dd, Ee, Ff, Gg, Hh, Ii, Kk, Ll, Mm, Nn, Oo, Pp, Qq, Rr, Ss, Tt, Uu, and Xx, all in fours. Matthew begins on the second A2, and Revelation ends on Xx3. In the Massachusetts Indian language. See the fac-similes of the two title-pages.

It is worthy of remark that the Indian title is dated 1661, the year in which the new testament was finished at the press. At that time it was generally the custom, when the title was on a leaf of the first sheet of the text, as this one is, to give it the date of the year in which the printing was begun. If the gospel of Matthew was first put in type, instead of the gospel of John (which begins a new set of signatures with Aa), then the title may have been originally printed with the date of 1659 or 1660, the year of its commencement, and afterwards reprinted with the whole sheet for particular reasons. However that may be, in all the copies which I have examined, this title appears to be on the original first leaf of signature A, and not an insertion in place of a canceled leaf. Dr. Trumbull must be mistaken in his statement, that "the English title and the Epistle, printed on a sheet of which the first leaf was left blank, were inserted between the first (blank) and second leaves of the first sheet as originally printed,—and the signature A3 is repeated." In all the copies examined, and of which good descriptions have been obtained, the English title and dedication are not inserted between any of the leaves of the first sheet, but are placed before it; and the first leaf of "the first sheet as originally printed" can not be properly called a blank leaf, as it contains the Indian title, and is blank only on the verso.

By a typographical error, the page headings of chapters 21 and 24 of the gospel of Luke, on the recto of leaves L2 and L4, were wrongly printed "Chap. 10" and "Chap. 15," as in both of the Lenox copies of the separate issue. Other variations are found in copies bound with the old testament and metrical psalms. In most copies of the bible with the English general title and dedication, the diamond-shaped figure is found on the Indian title of the new testament, and the errors occur in the page headings of Luke on L2 and L4. In a few dedication copies of the bible, which have the same errata in the page headings of Luke, the diamond figure is omitted in the Indian new testament title, the space between the two lines being blank. See the fac-similes. In other respects the two titles are so much alike that they appear to have been printed from the same type, without resetting.

Some bibles with the general title in Indian only, and with the diamond figure on the Indian new testament title, have the page headings of Luke 21 and 24 correctly printed. Mr. O'Callaghan (List of Editions of the Holy Scriptures . . . printed in America, p. 2) has called attention to the fact that "each verse forms a distinct paragraph until we come to Luke xv. (verso of K3); between that and the end of the Gospel, more than one, sometimes six verses are crowded occasionally into a paragraph, in order apparently to close that gospel and sig. L at the same time." It is probable that sheets A to L (Matthew to Luke) were printed by Green alone, and that Johnson began the gospel of John with sheet Aa, before the printing of Genesis had been commenced. For remarks on the typography and other features of the work, see the note to the whole bible of 1663. The above translation of the Indian title is from Dr. Trumbull's Origin and Early Progress of Indian Missions in New England.

In a letter to Mr. Richard Floyd, the treasurer of the Corporation in England, dated from Roxbury, December 28th, 1658, Mr. Eliot wrote as follows: "I shall not trouble you with any thing at present save this one business of moment, touching the Printing of the Bible in the Indian Language, touching which business sundry of the Elders did petition unto the Commissioners, moving them to further it, as a principall means of promoting Religion among them. And God so guided (without mans contrivance) that I was there when it came in. They moved this doubt whether the Translation I had made was generally understood; to which I answered, that upon my knowledge it was understood as farre as Connecticut: for there I did read some part of my Translation before many hundred English Witnesses, and the Indians manifested that they did understand what I read, perfectly, in respect of the language, they further questioned whether I had expressed the Translation in true language! I answered that I feared after times will find many infirmities in it, all humane works are subject to infirmity, yet those pieces that were printed, viz. Genesis and Matthew, I had sent to such as I thought had best skill in the language, and intreated their animadversions, but I heard not of any faults they found. When the Commissioners ended their meeting, they did commit the further consideration of this matter to our Commissioners, as I understand, of whom our Governour is president. Therefore at the coming away of this Ship, I repaired to the Governour about it. I proposed this expedient, for the more easie prosecution of this work, viz. that yourselves might be moved to hire some honest young man, who hath skill to compose, (and the more skill in other parts of the work, the better) send him over as your servant, pay him there to his content, or ingage payment, let him serve you here in New-England at the presse in Harvard Colledge, and work under the Colledg Printer, in impressing the Bible in the Indian language, and with him send a convenient stock of Paper to begin withall. The Governour was pleased to send for Mr. Norton to advise in it, who came and did heartily further it, wherenpon the Governour promised to write unto your selves, and propose the matter, which also I doe, and doe earnestly intreat your assistance herein." In a postscript he added: "They have none of the Scriptures printed in their own Language, save Genesis, and Matthew, and a few Psalmes in Meester, and I beseech the Lord they have so much, and such as see these Notes may easily observe that they read them, and improve them, which putteth my soule into an earnest longing that they might have more seal. I beseech the Lord, that the whole book of God is translated into their own language, it wanteth but revising, transcribing, and printing. Oh that the Lord would so move, that by some means or other it may be printed." According to his promise, Governor Endicott wrote to Floyd, December 28th, 1659: "I have been moved by diverse able and godly men here with us to propound unto your pious consideration, whether it be not needful for the better instruction of the Indians amongst us in the true knowledge of God, to get the whole Bible of the old and new Testament, which is already Translated into the Indian tongue, to be printed; Many here with us Divines and others judge it a thing that will be acceptable to God, and very profitable for the poor Heathens. If your selves doe so esteeme of it too, it will be necessary to provide paper and letters and such things as may further the work, as also a Journey man Printer to be helpfull under Mr. Greene our Printer to expedite the work . . . Mr. Elliot will be ready at all times to correct the sheetes as fast as they are Printed, and desireth nothing for his paines."

In reply to these letters, the Corporation wrote to the Commissioners in New England, May 7th, 1659, as follows: "As to the printing of the bible in the Indian language; mentioned in Mr. Endicotts letter; which wee vnderstand is already translated into the Indian tongue; wee conceive will not onely bee acceptable vnto god; but very profitable to the poor heathen and will much tend to the promotion of the spirituall parte of this worke amongst them; and therfor wee offer it not onely as our owne but as the judgment of others that the New Testament bee first printed in the Indian language; and doe desire to vnderstand by the next what number of them you intend to haue printed; and how much paper the number will take vp and that you send ouer one sheet of paper which might agree with that already printed; and whether you haue materiaalls sufficient to carry on the same; and because wee would haue noe faile therein haue thought good to send you ouer a cattalogue of the materiaalls fitt for printing with the charge of them according to information giuen vs; because wee are aduertised that if any of them bee wanting it may prejudice the finishing of the worke and as for a printer if you want one wee desire you to send vs word how hee must be qualified whether a Composer or letter printer." To this letter the Commissioners replied, September 7th, 1659: "touching the printing of the bible in the Indian language being incouraged by yoner selues and pressed by Mr. Eliottes affectionate seale which hee hath constantly held forth for this work, wee shall take order for the printing of the New Testament; which being finished wee shall therby bee the better directed in our further proceeding therein; wee thinke to print a thousand Coppies, and for paper and other materiaalls shall depend on Mr. Vaher whoe hath vndertaken to furnish according to the printers direction." In the treasurer's account which accompanied this letter was an item of 80l. 07s. 06d., "To Mr. Vaher for printing letters for the bible." Besides the type here referred to, a new printing press and other necessary materials were purchased in London at the expense of the Corporation, and sent over to Massachusetts, where they were put under the care of Samuel Green, the regular printer of the college press at Cambridge.

A reference to the undertaking is found in the tract entitled, A further Account of the progress of the Gospel Amongst the Indians in New England (London, 1660), in the introductory remarks of Joseph Caryl, dated "the 6th of the first Moneth, 1659" (i. e., March 6, 1660), as follows: "And because, as the whole Work is great, so there are some great partes of it now in hand, as the Printing of Davids Psalmes and the New Testament (besides an intendment of printing of the whole Bible) in the Indian Language."

The printing of the new testament was accordingly begun, and a specimen sheet sent to the Corporation in England, who in a letter dated from London, April 28, 1660, replied as follows: "Concerning your printing of the New Testament in the Indian language, a sheet wherof you have transmitted to vs, wee concur with your selues therein, and doe approve of that provision you haue made for printing the same concealing and offering as our judgments that it is better to print fifteen hundred then but a thousand; hoping that by incouragement from Sion Collidge, with whom wee haue late conference, you may bee enabled to print fifteen hundred of the ould Testament likewise; knowing that the foundation of true religion is from the bible the ould and new Testament and that the furtherance thereof is of principle concernment; and further considering the mutableness of the times and the liues of those whose hartes are stirred vp in that worke especially Mr. Elliott whoe wee have hath translated the whole bible into the Indian language; wee have out of our desire to further a worke of soe great concernment haueing hopes that somthinge will bee collected in particulare with Relation to the printing of the ould Testament agreed with an able Printer for three yeares vpon the termes and conditions enclosed and vnderstanding by Mr. Vshers agent that there is nothing wanting except paper wee have sent an hundred and four reames of euery sume the sheet that is now sent ouer to vs is of; That soe there might bee nothinge to hinder the dispatch of the whole bible hoping that both presses being employed and all other busines layed aside that might hinder it there will bee a happy progresse made by the returne of the next shippe which may much further contribution with relation to it; and although wee haue by our former letters desired that for the reasons therein mentioned the sume of fise hundred pounds per annum onely may bee charged on vs yett with respect to your present imergencies in relation to the printing of the New Testament; wee haue bine willing to comply with your desires in paying the bill of eight hundred pounds this yeare drawne on vs, which wee hope together with the one hundred twenty fise pounds twelue shillings and ten pence remaining of the stocke in Mr. Vshers hands will more then finish the worke of printing the same; . . . wee desire you att the earnest request of Mr. Johnson the Printer and for his encouragement in this vndertakeing of printing the bible in the Indian language his name may bee mentioned with others as a printer and person that hath bine Instrumentall therein."

The new printer, Mr. Johnson, arrived in New England in the summer of 1660. Before September of the same year six sheets of the new testament had been printed, as appears from a charge of 24 l. in the treasurer's account for that year, "To Mr. Green for distributing the fontt of letters and printing six sheets of the new Testament in Indian att four pounds per sheet." At the next meeting of the Commissioners in New Haven, they wrote to the Corporation, September 10, 1660, as follows: "In Generall wee haue bin enformed that about one hundred of Mr. Elliotts Indians can read in the bible and many other about Plymouth Martins vinyards and other places; . . . wee shall attend your aduise for the Impression of the whole bible without which we should have rested in our former determination that the copy might haue bine fully perused and perfected by the most skilfullest healpes in the Countrey; and such order is taken by the aduise and consent of Mr. Elliott Mr. Vsher Mr. Green and Mr. Johnson that the Impression of the ould and New Testament shalbee carryed on together which they haue already begun and Resolue to prosecute with all diligence; a sheet of Geneses wee haue seen which wee haue ordered shalbee Transmitted vnto you; the printers doubt not but to print a sheet euery weeke and compute the whole to amount to a hundred and fifty sheets Mr. Johnson will bee gratified with the honor of the Impression and accomodated in other Respects wee hope to content; the paper sent as wee are enformed by Mr. Vsher is not all sizable . . . Two of the Indian youthes formerly brought vp to Read and writ are put apprentice; the one to a Carpenter the other to Mr. Green the printer whoe take theire trades and follow their Busines uery well." The latter of these apprentices was probably James the printer, afterwards called James Printer, who was employed on both editions of the Indian bible, and whose name appears in 1709 as joint printer with B. Green of Mayhew's translation of the psalter. In the treasurer's account sent with the above letter, there is a charge of 120l. 1s. 8d., "For two hundred Reame of paper bought since our last accountt letters Inke setting them in the presse with materials to worke as by bill appears." At the same meeting (September, 1660), "The Comissioners for the Massachusetts are desired and Impowered . . . alsoe to call on Mr. Green for an accountt or Inventory of all the letters for printing, and all other Instruments in his hands belonging to the Corporation that it may bee Returned to the next meeting of the Comissioners; and to agree with him for the printing of the bible."

The printing of the new testament was completed probably in the summer of 1661, before the next meeting of the Commissioners. On the 18th of May, 1661, the Corporation wrote to the Commissioners that they had paid the bill for 800l. drawn on them, "hoping that the same together 34 lb. which wee vnderstand by your account sent remains in stocke will bee sufficient to defray the Charge of printing the bible and the disbursments there for the present yeare." They also added in relation to the change of government caused by the restoration of Charles II: "wee suppose you are not strangers to the condition of affaires; and particularly with respect vnto ourselues being now noe Corporation; though not without good hopes that the same will bee renewed and conformed by his majestie though possibly the busines may bee acted by other persons; . . . howeuer wee desire that the printing of the bible may not bee retarded." Upon the reading of this letter at their meeting in Plymouth, in September, 1661, the Commissioners resolved: "Vpon this enformation of the Desolution of the Corporation and intimation of hopes that his majestie would conferme the same &c. The Commissioners thought meet to present his Majestie with the New Testament printed in the Indian language with these presents following &c.," namely, the dedication as printed in front of the new testament, of which the following is an extract: "There are diuers of them that can and do reade some parts of the Scripture, and some Catechisms, which formerly have been Translated into their own Language, which hath occasioned the undertaking of a greater Work, viz: The Printing of the whole Bible, which (being Translated by a painful Labourer amongst them, who was desirous to see the Work accomplished in his dayes) hath already proceeded to the finishing of the New Testament, which we here humbly present to Your Majesty, as the first fruits and accomplishment of the Pious Design of your Royal Ancestors. The Old Testament is now under the Press, waiting and craving your royal Favour and Assistance for the perfecting thereof."

The Commissioners also wrote to Mr. Richard Hutchinson and Mr. William Ashurst in England, September 12, 1661: "your desire that the printing of the bible may not bee Retarded wilbee attended according as wee shall see suitable. The New Testament is alreddy finished and of all the old the true bookes of Moses; wee haue heerwith sent you 20 peeces of the New Testament which wee desire may bee thusse disposed viz: that two of the speciall being very well bound vp the one may bee presented to his Majestie in the first place the other to the Lord Chancellor; and that fne more may bee presented to Docter Reynolds Mr. Carrill Mr. Baxter and the two vischancellers of the vniuersities whoe wee vnderstand haue greatly Incouraged the worke; the Rest wee leaue to beedisposed as you shall see cause . . . By the account you will find wee haue remaining 414 lb: 4: 4 stocke a great part wherof wilbee expended in printing the bible and a new Impression of a Catechisme." The treasurer's account for the year contained a charge of 196l. 19s. 1d., "To sundry Disbursements vpon the account of printing as appears by account now sent." The Commissioners also wrote to Mr. Usher in Boston, September 13, 1661, as follows: "your care in providing materialls and furthering the printing of the bible wee thankfully accept desiring the continuance of the same vntil it bee Issued; and the paying of Mr. Green as formerly together with the salaries and other payments according to your order heer enclosed. . . and it is our desires that you will take care for the printing of the preface before the New Testament with the title according to the coppies as alsoe to send to Mr. Ashurst and Mr. huchenson about twenty coppies of the New Testament to beedisposed of according to our directions and order to them." To this was added a postscript: "Wee pray you to demaund and Receiue of Mr. Green the whole Impression of the New Testament in Indian now finished; and take care for the binding of two hundred of them strongly and as speedily as may bee with leather or as may bee most seruicable for the Indians; and deliver them forth as you shall haue order or direction from any of the Comissioners for the time being of which keep an exact account that soe it may bee seen how they are Improved and disposed of."

ber, 1662, contained the entries: "The title sheet to the New Testament" "To binding 200 Testaments at 6d." On the 10th of September, 1662, the Commissioners wrote to the Hon. Robert chief officer of the Corporation in "Wee haue heer with sent twenty the new Testament to bee disposed honors shall see meet." In answer to this letter they directed Mr. Usher to Mr. Boyle twenty of the Impressments with the preface or Epistle." edition may have consisted of only 1 as proposed by the Commissioners in 1659; but if 1,500 were printed, as recommended by the Corporation in April 1650 or more were probably bound up

From the preceding extracts of it appears that forty copies in all were issued in this form. In the twenty copies sent over in 1661, 1 specified for particular persons. The first for King Charles II; the second for High Chancellor, Edward Hyde, 1st Earl of Clarendon (born 1608, died 1674); the third for Dr. Edward Reynolds, bishop of Norwich (born 1615, died 1691); the fourth for the Rev. Caryl, an eminent nonconformist (died 1662, died 1673); the fifth for the Rev. Baxter (born 1615, died 1691); the seventh for the vice chancellors of the universities, Oxford and Cambridge. The remaining thirteen, and the second lot of ten sent over in 1662, were left to the disposal of William Ashurst and Mr. Richard Baxter, the officers of the Corporation.

Copies: All of these, of which descriptions have been obtained, except the diamond-shaped figure on the India has not been ascertained that any copies are without it.

(1) Mr. Clarence S. Bement, Pittsfield, Pa. Bound in calf antique, gilt edges. The leaf, 7½ by 5½ inches. With the diamond-shaped figure on the Indian title. The book-plate of "The Society for propagating the Gospel in Foreign parts, 1704," however, does not appear in White's catalogue of books intended for the library (Bibliotheca Americana) printed in 1713. On one of the leaves is a photograph of Wm. Herbert, 1763, the typographical antiquary (born 1718). It was subsequently owned by James Esq., F. S. A. (born 1737, died 1818). At the sale of the fourth portion of his library, London, August, 1820 (no. 790), was purchased "Ford" for 3s. 6d. Not long after it passed into the collection of Colonel Aspinwall, the United States consul from 1815 to 1833. See the private catalogue of his library (Paris, 1833) is described under no. 168. This copy book was purchased by the late Mr. Samuel L. M. Barlow in 1863. See Mr. J. O. Wright's Rough List . . . Catalogue of the Library of Samuel L. M. Barlow (New York, 1885), no. 560. At the sale of Mr. Barlow's library in New York February, 1890 (no. 852), the testament was bought for the present owner by Mr. Charles R. Hildeburn for $610.

(3) Library of the Boston Athenæum Boston, Mass. In the original leather binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. It was perhaps a presentation copy to Dr. John Fell, dean of Christ Church and bishop of Oxford (born 1625, died 1686). On the verso of the second blank leaf at the front is written: "From his honored friend Dr. John Fell Deane of Christ Church in Oxon." and on the first blank leaf: "Boston Athenæum given by Wm. L. Loring. Jan. 30th, 1833." The testament is not mentioned in the catalogue of this library printed in 1874, but it is still there.

(4) Library of the British and Foreign Bible Society, London. No description has been obtained of this copy. See Bullen's Catalogue of the Library of the British and Foreign Bible Society (London, 1857), p. 135.

(5) Library of the British Museum, London. Free mark 466. a. 21. No description has been obtained of this copy. See the British Museum Catalogue of Printed Books (London, 1857), under Eliot; and Henry Stevens's Catalogue of the American Books in . . . the British Museum (London, 1866), p. 59.

(6) Library of the British Museum, London. A second copy, in the Grenville collection, bound in blue morocco. No description has been obtained of this copy. See the Bibliotheca Grenvilliana (London, 1842), vol. 2, p. 724.

(7) Library of the late John Carter Brown, Providence, R. I. Bound in brown calf. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. It is accompanied by the old testament and metrical psalms in a separate volume, uniformly bound, for a description of which see no. 37 of the list of bibles of 1663. The two volumes were formerly owned by Edward King, viscount Kingsborough (born 1795, died 1847), and at the sale of his library in Dublin, announced for June, but postponed to November, 1842 (no. 34, brought 34. 3s.). They afterwards came into the possession of Mr. E. B. Corwin of New York. According to one account, he paid 4l. for them in 1842, but there is a statement in the Pittsburgh Circular for 1856, that "We believe this same copy was sold some years since by Bartlett & Welford for $40." At the sale of Mr. Corwin's library in New York, November, 1856 (no. 2552), the two volumes brought $30, being purchased by Mr. John R. Bartlett for the Brown collection. This copy of the testament was described in the catalogue of the Brown library printed in 1866 (part 2, no. 600). Information furnished by Mr. John Nicholas Brown, in letters of November 27th and December 2d, 1889.

Eliot (J.)—Continued.

(7) Library of the late John Carter Brown, Providence, R. I. A second copy, in the original binding of blue morocco. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. It was described by Mr. John R. Bartlett in the enlarged catalogue of the Brown library printed in 1882 (part 2, no. 888). Inserted is a slip on which is written: "Sunday 25 Jan. 1793. I took this Testament from the Prince of Orange's Library in his Palace at Lee, which was abandon'd to Pillage, as a memorial to the melancholy scene.—H. Turner." The palace of the Lee, the summer residence of the king of Holland, is near the village of Appeldoorn, about midway between Zutphen and the Zuider Zee. It was taken by the French in their invasion of Holland in December and January, 1794-95. Information furnished by the late Mr. John R. Bartlett, in letter of August 2th, 1882.

(8) Library of Edinburgh University, Edinburgh. Bound with a copy of Eliot's Indian Grammar, 1666. No description has been obtained of this copy. It is briefly mentioned by Dr. Trumbull in the Memorial History of Boston (Boston, 1880), vol. 1, p. 474, note.

(9) Library of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. In vellum binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. It was presented to the library by Middlescott Cooke of Boston, 1761-65, whose autograph is on the front cover. See the Catalogue of the Library of Harvard University (Cambridge, 1830), vol. 1, p. 250. Information furnished by Mr. Wm. H. Tillinghast, in letter of November 21st, 1889.

(10) Lenox Library, New York. In modern calf binding, red edges about 1860. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$  by 5 $\frac{1}{4}$  inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. Mr. Lenox's description of this copy was printed in the Historical Magazine (October, 1850), vol. 2, p. 307.

(11) Lenox Library, New York. A second copy, apparently in the original calf binding (repaired), gilt edges. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$  by 5 $\frac{1}{4}$  inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. On the inside of the front cover, with a blank leaf pasted over it, is a name in manuscript which appears to be "Wm. Platel." On a blank leaf in front of the title is written: "Presented Feby 4th 1811 by Rev. I. Pratt." This may be the Rev. Josiah Pratt, B. D. (born 1758, died 1844), a native of Birmingham, England, vicar of St. Stephen's Church in London, and for twenty-one years secretary of the Church Missionary Society. Among his writings are a prospectus of a polyglot bible issued in 1797, and a life of the Rev. David Brainerd, missionary to the North American Indians, published in 1834. The testament subsequently came into the possession of Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, Connecticut, and at the sale of the first portion of his collection in New York, March, 1879 (no. 786), it brought \$700, being purchased by Dr. George H. Moore for the Lenox Library.

(12) Library of the late George Livermore, Cambridge, Mass. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. According to Mr. Livermore's manuscript description of this copy, it is "quite large, clean and perfect,—as bright apparently as when printed." It was purchased in London, from Thomas Rodd, the bookseller, in 1845. Information furnished by Mrs. Livermore, in letter of January 14th, 1890.

(13) A copy advertised by Bernard Quaritch, in April, 1884 (352 Catalogue, no. 15896), as a "beautiful copy in the original rebounded calf, gilt edges," for 105s; again in April, 1887 (373 Catalogue, no. 37867), for 95s; and in December, 1887 (86 Rough List, no. 109), for 90s. The book has since been sold.

(14) Library of Trinity College, Dublin. Press mark K.K. o. 8. No description has been obtained of this copy. See the Catalogue Librorum Impressorum qui in Bibliotheca Collegii Sacrosanctae et Individuae Trinitatis . . . adserantur (Dublin, 1861), vol. 1, p. 315, where it is entered under the heading of version Americana, as "The New Testament, translated into the Indian language. Cambridge (U.S.), 1661, 4<sup>o</sup>." See also no. 14 of the list of copies of the bible of 1663.

A copy was priced by Mr. Obadiah Rich, in his chronological Catalogue of Books relating . . . to America (London, 1832), no. 338, at 2l. 2s. A copy is also entered in C. J. Stewart's Catalogue of the Library collected by Miss Richardson Currey, at Eshton Hall, Orasen, Yorkshire (London, 1833), p. 8, but it does not appear in the catalogue of the portion of her library sold at auction in London, July, 1862. According to a writer in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 308, a good copy of the testament was then in the library of Pelham Priory, a seminary for young ladies at Pelham, N. Y. The priory was the residence of the late Rev. Robert Bolton, and the supposed testament, which was merely a copy of Mayhew's Massachusetts Psalter, lacking beginning and end, was sold under its proper title by auction in New York, June, 1887 (Catalogue of the Pens Du Bois Collection, no. 1754), for $4. The copy described in the sale catalogue of the library of Mr. Henry C. Murphy (no. 887), was not of this issue, and did not contain the English title and dedication.

testament in Indian on one leaf verso blank, Matthew to Revelation in 126 leaves, and 1 blank leaf at the end, 4<sup>o</sup>. Signatures A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, K, L, Aa, Bb, Cc, Dd, Ee, Ff, Gg, Hh, Ii, Kk, Ll, Mm, Nn, Oo, Pp, Qq, Rr, Ss, Tt, Uu, and Xx, all in fours. In the Massachusetts Indian language.

The new testament as issued for the use of the Indians probably did not contain the English title and dedication, for when the Commissioners directed Mr. Usher to send the second lot of twenty copies to England in 1663, they were careful to add: "with the preface or Epistle." The number of copies bound up in this form is not known with certainty. It was the intention of the Commissioners to print 1,000 copies, but the Corporation advised them to print 1,200. If the edition consisted of the latter number, then 400 copies or more may have been bound separately. On the 12th of September, 1663, the Commissioners ordered 200 of them to be bound "strongly and as speedily as may be with leather or as may be most serviceable for the Indians," as is related in the note to the preceding title.

Copies: Some of these perhaps contained the other variety of the Indian title, without the diamond shaped figure. (See no. 31 of the list of bibles of 1663.) The English title and the dedication are omitted in the copies described below.

(15) Bodleian Library, Oxford. With the diamond-shaped figure on the title. It was Samuel Ponampan's book in 1662. This was probably the Ponampan whose confessions of faith were printed in the Tears of Repentance (London, 1658), in A further Account (London, 1660), and whose name, spelled Ponampan, appears in the records of the Commissioners for September, 1661, as one of the four Indian schoolmasters, assistants to Mr. Eliot, who were allowed an annual salary of 10l. each. In the same records for September, 1662, the name is spelled Tananpum. Samuel was his baptismal name. In 1674, there was a teacher named Samuel at the Indian town of Wameet, on Merrimack river, about twenty miles north-northwest from Boston, who was perhaps the same person. Gookin says: "Their teacher is called Samuel; son to the ruler, a young man of good parts, and can speak, read, and write, English and Indian competently. He is one of those that was bred up at school, at the charge of the Corporation for the Indians." The testament also contains the inscription, "Dedit Dñe Drake 1706." See the Catalogue Librorum Impressorum Bibliothecae Bodleianae (Oxonii, 1843), vol. 3, p. 605, where it is entered under the East Indian versions, as "Novum Testamentum, Indice. 4<sup>o</sup>. Camb. 1661." Information furnished by the librarian, Dr. Edward B. Nicholson, in letter of December 5th, 1893.

the title. It is accompanied by the old testament and metrical psalms in a separate volume, uniformly bound. This copy of the new testament contains on the last page the stamp of the library of Trinity College, Dublin, and appears to have been taken out of a copy of the whole bible formerly in the library of that institution, which was sold as a duplicate, advertised by Mr. Bernard Quaritch in March and April, 1870 (259 Catalogue, no. 277), and in July, 1870 (260 Catalogue, no. 1171), at 80*l.*, and finally purchased by Mr. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn. He extracted this portion of it to go with his other (better) copy of the old testament and metrical psalms, which he had purchased many years before. The two volumes were then rebound, in 1870 or 1871. At the sale of his library in New York, March 1884, the new testament (no. 887), which was wrongly described as containing the English title, and the old testament and metrical psalms (no. 886), were purchased for Mr. Thompson at $340 for each volume. For descriptions of the companion volume to the testament and the other part of the Trinity College bible, see nos. 19 and 38 of the list of bibles of 1663. 600 printed leaves without page-numbers, and 4 blank leaves, in the following order: 1 blank leaf, the title of the whole bible in English on 1 leaf verso blank, the dedication of the whole bible to Charles II. in 2 leaves, the title of the whole bible in Indian on 1 leaf verso blank, the list of the books in both testaments on 1 leaf recto blank, Genesis to Malachi in 44 leaves, 1 blank leaf, the title of the new testament in English on 1 leaf verso blank, the dedication of the new testament to Charles II. in 2 leaves, the title of the new testament in Indian on 1 leaf verso blank, Matthew to Revelation in 126 leaves, 1 blank leaf, the metrical version of the psalms in 50 leaves, rules for Christian living on 1 leaf, and 1 blank leaf at the end, 42. Signatures A in four, two other leaves without mark, A (repeated), B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, X, Y, Z, Aa to Zz, Aaa to Zzz, Aaaa to Zzzz, Aaaaa to Lllll, all in fours, and Mmmmm in two, for the old testament: A, A (repeated), B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, K, L, Aa, Bb, Cc, Dd, Ee, Ff, Gg, Hh, Ii, Kk, Ll, Mm, Nn, Oo, Pp, Qq, Rr, Ss, Tt, Uu, and Xx, all in fours, for the new testament: A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, K, L, M, and N, all in fours, for the metrical psalms and final leaves. In the Massachusetts Indian language. See the fac-similes of the two general titles, the first page of the metrical psalms, and the first page of the leaf of rules.

The bible is printed in double columns, each column with references at the side and headings in Indian at the top. There are no summaries at the beginnings of the chapters, as in the second edition. A full page of text measures 6½ by 13 inches, including headings, catchwords, and references. "The paper used for this Bible," Dr. Trumbull remarks, "was of excellent quality, of the size known to old printers as 'pot' (from its original water-mark, a tankard), which should measure 12½ by 15 inches, giving 6½ by 7½ for the quarto fold." According to Mr. Thomas (History of Printing in America, vol. 1, p. 255) "This work was printed with new types, full faced bourgeois on a brevier body, cast for the purpose [?], and on good paper."

In 1865, Dr. Trumbull caused to be printed a few copies (35) of his translation from Indian into English of the leaf of rules for holy living appended to the metrical translations of the I

Seven varieties of the Indian bible of 1663, with the English general title, are described below. These differ in the number of certain preliminary leaves, namely: the dedication of the whole bible, the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, the English new testament title, and the dedication of the new testament, one or more of which are generally omitted; also in the Indian new testament title, which sometimes does not contain the diamond shaped figure. For an account of the variations in different copies of the new testament portion, see the notes to the separate issues of the new testament in 1661. The bible with Indian titles only is described under a separate title.

Copies of the first variety — Containing the English general title, the dedication of the whole bible, the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the English new testament title, the dedication of the new testament, the Indian new testament title with the diamond shaped figure, Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of titles. 63 printed leaves, and 4 blank leaves.

1. Mr. Theodore Irwin, Oswego, N. Y. It remained in the original leather binding until 1879, when it was cleaned and rebound in brown levant morocco by F. Bedford, preserving three of the original blank leaves. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$  by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches. The Indian new testament title contains the diamond shaped figure. On the recto of the leaf of contents is written, "Thomas Shepard's Book. 2. 67. 1666. ye gift of ye Rev<sup>d</sup> Translator." This was the son of the Rev. Thomas Shepard, minister of Cambridge, who died in 1649. He was born in 1635, graduated at Harvard College in 1653, and was minister of Charlestown from 1659 until his death in 1677. His library, probably including the Indian bible, was bequeathed to his son, also named Thomas Shepard (born 1638, died 1685), who was minister of the same church from 1680 until his death. A memorandum on a blank leaf at the front shows that it was once owned by Thomas Nixon of Framingham, afterwards of Southborough, Massachusetts (born 1736, died 1800), who was an ensign in the French and Indian war of 1756, and retired of the sixth Massachusetts regiment during the revolution. From him it passed to his son, Thomas Nixon junior (born 1764, died 1842), who left it to his son, Warren Nixon, of the volume is the following note in manuscript: "This Eliot's Indian Bible owned by Mr. Framingham is more valuable on account of having the epistles dedicatory, than the two copies of this work now in the collection of Harvard College. It is the as it would seem as the copy of the Rev. R. Harris, which was purchased by him in 1877 or 1878 after the Doctor's death for \$300. . . . If the owner of it should ever feel willing to part with it, assured that the donation would be acknowledged by the College at Cambridge. The bible was afterwards deposited in the library of the American Bible Union of New York, and in 1877 or 1878 was offered for sale by the Astor Library and other institutions for \$300. It was purchased by Mr. J. V. the New York bookseller, who prices it at \$300. From him Mr. Irwin bought it and London to be rebound. See the printed Catalogue of the Library of Theodore Irwin (New York, 1880). Additional information furnished by Mr. Irwin in letter of April 25th, 1889.

It is related in Francis's life of the Rev. Thaddeus Mason Harris that he "discovered in a barber's shop a copy of the first edition, in a state, which was in the process of being used for waste paper. It was found to contain the dedications to the King; and seized upon it with all the interest to the discovery of a long-lost treasure transcribed the addresses, and published in the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society." Dr. Harris himself reprinted of these dedications (Mass. Coll. vii. 222-228), says: "Of six copies of the Indian bible, which I have seen, I have not seen these dedications. The folios taken from a mutilated copy, used in a shop for waste paper. From this destruction they were eagerly snatched up by hand which writes this, a truly valuable copy. It has not been ascertained what became of the other copies. The writer of the manuscript Mr. Irwin's bible probably had the count in mind when he mentioned the other copy; but the only one sold at the Doctor's sale in January, 1843, was of the edition which was purchased by Mr. Croft for $39, and is now in the possession of the University of Chicago. Mr. Thomas, in his History of Printing in America, Worcester, vol. I, p. 475, says: 'I recollect to have seen many years since, a copy that contains the dedications which I possess is without the all others which I have lately examined.'

Copies of the second variety — Containing the English general title, the dedication of the whole bible, the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the new testament title with the diamond shaped

Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 597 printed leaves, and 3 blank leaves. The English new testament title and the dedication of the new testament are omitted in these copies.

(2) Library of Brown University, Providence, R.I. A well preserved copy, with the exception that the diamond shaped figure has been cut out of the Indian new testament title. It contains manuscript notes in English, Indian and shorthand on the margins, and many of the passages and verses are marked, especially in the new testament. At the end are four pages of manuscript, in shorthand, English and Indian. Dr. Reuben A. Guild, the librarian, supposes for various reasons that this copy of the bible belonged to Roger Williams (born 1593, died 1683), who was known to be "a proficient in shorthand," and that the notes and annotations are in his handwriting. On one of the pages is written "College Library," in the hand of James Manning, the president of the University (then called the College of Rhode Island), from 1765 to 1791. "During the war of the Revolution the book was one of the 500 in the library which were removed to Wrentham, Mass., for safety, in the care of the Rev. William Williams, a member of the first graduating class." See the Catalogue of the Library of Brown University (Providence, 1843), pp. 139, 140. Information furnished by Dr. Guild in a letter dated April 25th, 1889, and in an article printed in the New-York Times for May 1st, 1889.

(3) Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, New York. Bound in brown levant morocco by F. Bedford, preserving all of the original blank leaves. Size of the leaf, 7½ by 5½ inches. The Indian new testament title contains the diamond shaped figure. This bible was once owned by White Kennett, bishop of Peterborough from 1718 until his death in 1728, and has his name on the lower part of the English general title. In 1809, according to Dr. Trumbull, it was sold by Bernard Quaritch to Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, Conn., at the sale of whose library in New York, March, 1879 (no. 787), it was purchased for Mr. Morgan for $1,000.

(4) Library of the Zealand Academy of Sciences (Zeeuwisch Genootschap der Wetenschappen), Middleburg, Holland. Bound in leather, with red edges, in fine condition. It probably contains the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. In the Catalogus der Bibliotheek van het Zeeuwisch Genootschap (Middleburg, 1845), p. 3, it is entered as "The Holy Bible translated into the Indian language, Cambr. 1683." In the enlarged catalogue of the same library, p. 209, no. 1067, it is described with the English and Indian general titles and the Indian new testament title. A report on the two copies of the Indian bible in the library of this academy was read at one of its meetings in December, 1873, by the librarian, F. Nagtegaal, and subsequently printed in a separate pamphlet. An English translation of it is given in the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society for 1873-75, pp. 307-309, in which it is stated that this copy of the bible contains "the double title and the dedication to Charles II." See no. 39 of this list for an account of the other copy.

Copies of the third variety: Containing the English general title, the dedication of the whole bible, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title with the diamond shaped figure, Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 596 printed leaves, and 3 blank leaves. The Indian general title, the English new testament title, and the dedication of the new testament are omitted in these copies. Several of the bibles put under this heading (nos. 6, 7, 8, and 14), of which full descriptions have not been obtained, may perhaps belong to the second or fourth variety.

(5) Astor Library, New York. Bound in morocco by F. Bedford. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. It was a duplicate from the library of Trinity College, Dublin, and contains the stamp of that institution. In March and April, 1870 (250 Catalogue, no. 276), and in July, 1870 (260 Catalogue, no. 1170), it was advertised for sale by Mr. Bernard Quaritch at 250s.; in January, 1873 (286 Catalogue, no. 9926), and in October, 1873 (291 Catalogue, no. 18669), at 225s.; and in August, 1875 (298 Catalogue, no. 7543), at 200l. It was purchased by Mr. Alph. L. Pinart, whose book plate was added, and at the sale of his library in Paris, January, 1884 (no. 113), was bought again by Mr. Quaritch for 2700 francs. He advertised it in April, 1884 (352 Catalogue, no. 15997), at 225s., when it was purchased by Mr. Astor. See the supplementary Catalogue of the Astor Library (Cambridge, 1886), vol. 1, p. 402. For the description of another duplicate from Trinity College of the same edition, but with Indian titles only, which also came into the market in 1870, see no. 38 of this list.

(6) Bodleian Library, Oxford. See the Catalogus Librorum Impressorum Bibliothecae Bodleianae (Oxonii, 1843), vol. 1, p. 259, where it is entered under the heading of version Virginianæ, as: "The holy Bible in the language of the Indians in Virginia by John Eliot. 4<sup>o</sup>. Cambridge, in New England, 1683." It is supposed to be of this variety, but in the absence of a more particular description it can not be determined exactly what kind of a copy it is.

(7) Library of the British Museum, London. Press mark C. 10. a. 1. With a colored frontispiece of the royal arms of England inserted. This is probably the copy described in the Bibliothecæ Regiæ Catalogus (London, 1820), vol. 1, p. 279. See the British Museum Catalogue of Printed Books (London, 1887), under Eliot; and Henry Stevens's Catalogue of the American Books in . . . the British Museum (London, 1886), p. 56. It is supposed to be of this variety, with the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. See also no. 23 of this list.

(8) Library of William Cavendish, second earl of Burlington and seventh duke of Devonshire, Chatsworth, England. Bound in purple morocco. The commencement of this collection of books dates back to the reign of Queen Elizabeth, but the greatest additions were made by William George Spencer Cavendish, the sixth duke of Devonshire (born 1790, died 1858), "who is justly entitled to be called the founder of the Chatsworth library in its present form." He purchased the library of Thomas Dampier, bishop of Ely, in 1812, and bought largely at the sales of the Stanley, Horne Tooke, Townley, Edwards, and Roxburghe libraries. Most of his books, which were scattered among his several houses, were removed to Chatsworth in 1815. See the Catalogue of the Library at Chatsworth (London, 1879), vol. 1, p. 180. In the absence of a more particular description, the bible is supposed to be of this variety, with the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title.

(9) Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. In the original binding of dark blue morocco, gilt edges. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. Some of the leaves are loose and stained. The price mark of 7s. 6d. is written on the first title. On the verso of the new testament title is written: "Rachel Gaither Daughter of John Gaither and Ruth his Wife was born April 19th, 1687," and below it a list of the children of "Rich<sup>d</sup> Tucker and Susanna his Wife," Rachel, Susanna, Elizabeth, Richard, and Rebeacker, who were born in the years 1744, 1746, 1748, 1750, and 1752, respectively. On the blank leaf between the new testament and metrical psalms is written: "David Whittle the Son of John Whittle and Rachel his Wife was born . . . July 4th, 1760." The bible was purchased for the Library of Congress from a Maryland family about the year 1872. It is mentioned in Mr. Nathaniel Paine's list, printed in his Brief Notice of the Library of the American Antiquarian Society (Worcester, 1873), p. 55. See the Alphabetical Catalogue of the Library of Congress (Washington, 1878), vol. 1, p. 701.

(10) Mrs. Ralph L. Cutter (Laura M. Eliot), Brooklyn, N. Y. In the original dark blue morocco binding, gilt edges, containing all of the original blank leaves. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$  by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. An unusually large and fine copy, with many rough leaves. It may have been a presentation copy to Henry Ashurst, Esq., the treasurer to the Corporation for propagating the gospel among the Indians in New England, who died in 1680. At the top of the first title is the partially defaced signature of "Wm. Ashhurst," supposed by Dr. Moore and Dr. Trumbull to be Sir William Ashurst, the son of Henry, who was lord mayor of London in 1693, a prominent and afterwards governor, of the above named Corporation, and who died There was another "Wm. Ashhurst" ever, an elder brother of Henry, whose nature is found in the copy described no. 17 of this list. It afterwards came into the possession of Mr. John Allan York, the well known antiquarian collector (born 1777, died 1863). Acquired by Mr. George P. Phileas, Mr. Allan told he bought it for \$10 from a person who sold it to him. At the sale of Mr. Allan in New York, May, 1864 (no. 1013), it was chased by Mr. J. W. Bouton, the bid for \$25. It next came into the possession of Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, Conn. At the sale of the third portion of his New York, April, 1881 (No. 5682), it was chased for \$900 by Dr. Ellsworth Ellsworth, the present owner, who is a descendant of John Eliot. A descriptive copy, made by Mr. Peter Hastie, while in Allan's possession, was printed in the Cal Magazine (March, 1859), vol. 3, p. 11.

(11) Mr. John Lyon Gardiner, Gardiner's Island, N. Y. In the original calf binding, gilt tooling, lacking the clasps and showing marks of much use. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. The first leaf of the dedication is lacking, the second leaf is loose, together with the general title and front cover. The ruled throughout with red ink, around the headings of the chapters between and at the tops of the columns was evidently done before the book was bound, as some of the sheets have been found folded. Mr. John Lyon Gardiner (died 1816), the seventh proprietor of the island and grandfather of the present owner, has the following note in it: "I received this Indian Bible from Joshua Nonesuch, a sachem of the tribe in Lyme, 'Quonehts' means of Daniel Wauheast, this is said to be presented to the tribe of the Moheags in Norwich," etc. "Monchongonuc, Gardiner's Island 1813." This copy was mentioned in the Chester News, in August, 1855, according to an article in the Historical Magazine (Vol. 3, p. 124. Information furnished by Mr. John Lyon Gardiner, in letter of January 9th, 1880. Mr. Wm. Wallace Tooker, in letter of 12th, 1890. See also The Papers and Remains of John Gardiner (St. Louis, 1883), p. 11.

(12) Mr. Brayton Ives, New York. An unusually large and fine copy, with many blank leaves. It remained in the original dark blue morocco, gilt edges, and in the best condition, "until after 1870, when it rebound in olive levant gros grainé by F. Bedford. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$  by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. As originally bound the copy did not contain the leaf of contents, therefore was like no. 17 of this list, as a fifth variety. The leaf, however, was afterwards inserted from another copy, so that it conforms now with the description of the third variety. On the verso of the title is the stamp of the Bodleian Library of Oxford, by which institution it was sold as a duplicate. It came to the United States about the year 1863, and was offered for sale at 10¢. Mr. James T. Bruce, of New York, purchased it, and at the sale of his library in New York, April, 1868 (no. 267), it brought \$1130—against Mr. George Brinley's bid of \$1127.50—passing into the collection of Mr. John A. Rice, of Chicago, who supplied the leaf of contents from an imperfect copy of the bible in his possession. At the sale of his books in New York, March, 1879 (no. 662), it was bought for \$1050 by Mr. J. W. Bouton, the bookseller, who sold it to Mr. William Menzies, of New York. It was then learned that the leaf of contents which had been inserted by Mr. Rice, was from the edition of 1665. See no. 23 of the list of bibles of that edition. This mistake Mr. Menzies rectified by inserting a genuine leaf from an imperfect copy of the first edition in his possession. He also had the book rebound, preserving its original size. At the sale of his library in New York, November, 1878 (no. 665), it was bought by Mr. Joseph J. Cooke, of Providence, R. I., for \$600. When the third portion of Mr. Cooke's library was sold in New York, December, 1883 (Americana, no. 789), the present owner secured the bible for \$1.250.

(13) Lenox Library, New York. In the original binding of dark blue morocco, gilt edges, containing all of the original blank leaves. Size of the leaf,  $7\frac{1}{4}$  by  $5\frac{1}{4}$  inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. The number 18 is written in large figures over the gilt on the bottom edges. On the first blank leaf is the name in manuscript of an early owner, "Ashurst Allin, Rector of Somerston near Yarmouth in Suffolk." On the inside of the front cover is the book-plate of the Scottish antiquary and historian George Chalmers (born 1742, died 1825). While in the possession of Mr. Chalmers it was seen and examined by James Grahame, who refers to it in his History of the United States (London, 1836), vol. 1, p. 280. In 1841 it was probably sold by auction in London, with the library of Mr. Chalmers. In 1861 it came into the possession of Mr. Bernard Quaritch, the bookseller, whose memorandum of collation, dated 21st March of that year, is on one of the blank leaves at the end. In July, 1862, he offered it for sale (185 Catalogue, no. 626), at 63s, when it was purchased by Mr. Lenox. The page headings of Luke 21 and 24, on the recto of leaves L2 and L4, are correctly printed in this copy. See also nos. 16 and 30 of this list.

Eliot (J.)—Continued.

1, p. 303, where it is entered under the heading of version Americana, as follows: "The Holy Bible, translated into the Indian language (by John Eliot). Cambridge (New Engl.), 1663. 4°. (V. T.) A. f. 13." Below it is the additional entry, "Cambridge, 1661 [sic]. 4°. (N. T.) A. k. 42 and 46." This second press mark may refer perhaps to two copies of the new testament of 1661, bound separately. The bible is probably of this variety, but in the absence of a better description it can not be determined exactly what kind of a copy it is. See also no. 14 of the list of copies of the new testament of 1661.

Copies of the fourth variety: Containing the English general title, the dedication of the whole bible, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title without the diamond shaped figure, Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 596 printed leaves, and three blank leaves. The Indian general title, the English new testament title, and the dedication of the new testament are omitted in these copies, which differ from those of the third variety only in the variation of the Indian new testament title.

(15) Mr. Charles H. Kalbfleisch, New York. In the original binding of dark blue morocco, gilt edges. Size of the leaf,  $7\frac{1}{4}$  by  $5\frac{1}{4}$  inches. The Indian new testament title does not contain the diamond shaped figure. This copy is considered to be one of the largest and finest known. Many of the leaves have not been touched by the binder's knife on the front and bottom edges. It came from the library of Philip Yorke, first earl of Hardwicke and lord chancellor of England from 1737 to 1756. After the death of the Right Hon. Charles Philip Yorke, the fourth earl of Hardwicke, a portion of the library was removed from Wimpole House to London, and sold by auction June 29th, 1838, when the bible (no. 45) was purchased for the present owner by Mr. Quaritch for 580s. Information furnished by Mr. Kalbfleisch, in letters of July 22d, 1888, and April 15th, 1889.

(16) Lenox Library, New York. In red morocco binding of the present century (about 1837), gilt edges, containing all of the original blank leaves. Size of the leaf,  $7\frac{1}{4}$  by  $5\frac{1}{4}$  inches. The Indian new testament title does not contain the diamond shaped figure. This copy of the bible was purchased by Mr. Lenox probably some time between 1840 and 1850. It cost him 21s. His description of it was printed in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 307. It has the page headings of Luke 21 and 24 on the recto of leaves L2 and L4, correctly printed. See also nos. 13 and 30 of this list.

Copies of the fifth variety: Containing the English general title, the dedication of the whole bible, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title with the diamond shaped figure, Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 595 printed leaves, and 3 blank leaves. The Indian general title, the leaf of contents, the English new testament title, and the dedication of the new testament are omitted.

(17) Library of Andover Theological Seminary, Andover, Mass. In the original leather binding (apparently), paneled sides, gilt edges. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. At the top of the English title is written the name of "Wm. Ashhurst 1663," an elder brother of Henry Ashurst, Esq., the treasurer to the Corporation for propagating the gospel among the Indians in New England. He was a member of parliament in 1641, again in 1654, and the author of several political tracts printed at London. Another copy of the bible containing the signature of "Wm. Ashhurst," perhaps a nephew of the above, is described under no. 10 of this list. On the blank leaf at the beginning of the volume is inscribed the following: "A present to the Society of Inquiry on the Subject of Missions from Jas. Chater, Baptist Missionary, Colombo, Ceylon, April 1818." The Rev. Mr. Chater was the first missionary sent to Ceylon from England by the English Baptist Missionary Society in 1812. He was one of the translators of the bible into Singalese, and the author of several grammatical works on that language. He died in 1829. The books belonging to the "Society of Inquiry" were deposited in the library of Andover Theological Seminary about the year 1860. Information furnished by the librarian, William L. Ropes, in letters of December 20th, 1889, and January 23d, 1890.

Another copy, which was originally of this variety, was made to conform with the description of the third variety by the insertion of the leaf of contents from another copy, and is described under no. 12 of this list.

Copies of the sixth variety: Containing the English general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the English new testament title, the Indian new testament title with the diamond shaped figure, Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 595 printed leaves, and 2 blank leaves. The dedication of the whole bible, the Indian general title, and the dedication of the new testament are omitted.

(18) Library of the American Antiquarian Society, Worcester, Mass. In the original calf binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. It contains the inscription "The property of Isaiah Thomas, of Boston and Worcester, Printer, 1791," and is without doubt the copy referred to by Mr. Thomas in his History of Printing in America (Worcester, 1810), vol. 1, pp. 255, 475. The bible was probably given by him to the Society at the time of its foundation in 1812, or some time before his death in 1831. See the Catalogue of Books in the Library of the American Antiquarian Society (Worcester, 1837), where it is entered in two places, with the English title under Bible, and with the Indian title under Eliot. A simile of the Indian general title is in the front. Information furnished by Mr. Edmund M. Barton.

Copies of the seventh variety: Contain English general title, the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules, printed leaves. The dedication of the bible and the whole of the new testament are omitted. For other copies of the old testament and metrical psalms, without the English title, see nos. 37-39 of this list.

(19) Mr. Frederick F. Thompson, New York. The old testament and metrical psalms bound together in one volume, in red leather, gilt edges, by Bradstreet (about 1870) accompanied by a copy of the new testament in a separate volume, uniformly bound, the description of which see no. 16 of the list of 1661. The English and Indian titles face each other, and are followed by a leaf of contents, with the text on the recto blank. This is probably the copy of translation of the Old Testament and Book into the Indian tongue, briefly described with the Indian general title, in Mr. E. Murphy's Catalogue of an American Library (1830), printed at Brooklyn about the year 1830. It is said that he bought it in London of Obadiah Rich, the bookseller, for about a copy of the old testament and metrical psalms but perhaps with the Indian title only vertified for sale in Rivington and C. Catalogue (London, 1824), no. 2219, at 10 shillings; and also in Rich's chronological catalogue (London, 1832), no. 331, at 2l. 2s. This may be the copy which Mr. Murphy sold at the sale of his library in New York in 1884, this copy of the old testament and psalms (no. 886), and the new testament (no. 887), were purchased for the present of $680, or $340 for each volume. Information furnished by Mr. Thompson, in letters of November 18th and 23d, 1889.

A copy of the Indian bible with the title and dedication, probably one of the presentation copies, brought 19 shillings at the sale of the library of the Rev. Lazarus Seaman in London in 1676. Dr. Seaman was rector of St. Dunstons Church in London, one of the members of the Westminster Assembly of Divines in 1643-47, and also a prominent member of the Corporation for propagating the gospel among the Indians in New England. His name is subscribed with others to one of the addresses fixed to Strength out of Weakness, 1652. The library belonging to him was the earliest, if not the first, that was put on auction in England. The sale catalogue of the library of G. and J. Meerman (Catalogue of Librorum Impressorum, vol. 1, p. 20), was sold at the Hague in June, 1824, contains the title "The holy Bible, translated into the Indian Language, Cambridge, 1663, mar. vert.

which brought 16 florins. This collection of books was formed by Geraart Meerman, the learned typographical antiquary (born 1722, died 1771), and by his son Jan Meerman, the historian and political writer (born 1753, died 1815). The description given in Field's Essay towards an Indian Bibliography (no. 465), with the English title, was probably not of a copy in his possession, but merely one of the titles of "books not actually in the author's collection," which were included for the purpose of making the list more complete. The copy which Mr. Field owned, notwithstanding his own statement and Mr. Paine's that it was of the first edition, was really of the second, and lacked both beginning and end.

tions. Some copies of the old testament and metrical psalms were also bound up together, separate from the new testament. These are placed at the end of the list.

Copies of the whole bible: Containing the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title, Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 594 printed leaves, and two blank leaves. One of these copies (no. 31) also contains the dedication of the whole bible, and is described as having the variation of the Indian new testament title without the diamond shaped figure. In all the other copies of which particular descriptions have been obtained, the Indian new testament title contains the diamond shaped figure.

(20) Library of the Boston Athenæum, Boston, Mass. In half leather binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. The first title and 35 leaves, or all before Exodus v, are lacking, and also the latter half of the metrical psalms, with the final leaf of rules. The page headings of Luke 21 and 24, on the recto of leaves L3 and L4, are wrongly printed 10 and 15 in this copy. It is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. See the Catalogue of the Library of the Boston Athenæum (Boston, 1874), vol. 1, p. 270.

(21) Boston Public Library, Boston, Mass. In the Prince collection, press mark 21.4. In the original leather binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. The last two leaves of the metrical psalms and the final leaf of rules are lacking, but have been supplied in manuscript facsimile. On the verso of the first title is written, "Thomas Prince 3 Aug. 15. 1738. Gift of Mr. Shipton." This was the date of its acquisition by Mr. Prince. At the top of the leaf of contents is pasted the printed book-plate: "This Book belongs to The New-England-Library, Begun to be collected by Thomas Prince, upon his entering Harvard-College July 6. 1703; and was given by said Prince, to remain therein for ever." On the first blank leaf is written, "This copy of the Indian Bible belongs to the Old South Church Library Boston." The Rev. Thomas Prince was pastor of the Old South Church in Boston from 1718 until his death, October 22, 1758, aged 71 years. His "New-England-Library" was one of the largest and most important collections of the kind formed in the eighteenth century. It was bequeathed by Prince's will to the Old South Church, in the steeple chamber of which it was deposited. During the siege of Boston in 1775-76, the church was used as a riding school by the British soldiers, and many of the books were lost or carried away. In 1814 a small portion of the library was deposited in the rooms of the Massachusetts Historical Society, and the remaining volumes were removed to the house of the pastor, where they were kept.

for many years, until a room was fitted up for the reception of the whole library in the Old South Chapel, in Spring Lane. A catalogue was printed in 1844, and in 1866 the entire collection was deposited in the Boston Public Library. The page headings of Luke 21 and 24, on the recto of leaves L3 and L4, are correctly printed in this copy. See the Catalogue of the American Portion of the Library of the Rev. Thomas Prince (Boston, 1868), no. 110; and the complete catalogue of The Prince Library (Boston, 1870), p. 6.

(22) Library of Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. An imperfect copy, lacking the first forty-two leaves or all before signature L (Exodus xxx, 24), six leaves between the old and new testaments or leaves L1113 to A3 (Zechariah viii, 8, to Matthew iii, 10), and the last five leaves of the new testament or leaves Un3 to Xx3 (Revelation x, 8, to the end). The metrical psalms are also lacking, except a small fragment (leaf A4). Five leaves in the old testament, between chapters x and xxii of 1st Chronicles (Ccc4 to Ddd4), are badly mutilated. The book was presented to the library some time previous to the year 1821. It is mentioned in the Historical Magazine (May, 1850), vol. 3, pp. 157, 158. See the Catalogue of the Library of Bowdoin College (Brunswick, 1863), p. 65. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. Georg. T. Little, in letters of December 16 and 27, 1889.

(23) Library of the British Museum, London. In the Grenville collection. Bound in blue morocco. This copy was formerly owned by the Hon. Edward Everett, while minister of the United States to Great Britain, 1841-1845, and was presented by him to the Hon. Thomas Grenville (born 1755, died 1846). No exact description of the book has been obtained. See the Bibliotheca Grenvilliana (London, 1848), part 2, p. 451, where it is entered with the Indian title. See also no. 7 of this list.

(24) United Congregational Church, Newport, R. I. Inclosed in a japanned tin box, and deposited in the safe of one of the banks. It is in the original dark calf binding, with clasps, somewhat stained, and probably contains the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. On the recto of the second leaf is written, "Ezra Stiles. Bot out of the Library of Rev<sup>d</sup> Joseph Noyes of New Haven, 1761." The Rev. Joseph Noyes was graduated at Yale College in 1709, ordained pastor of the first church in New Haven in 1716, and died in 1761, aged 73 years. His son, Mr. John Noyes, was graduated at Yale College in 1753, and died in 1767. On the recto of the first blank leaf is written: "Ezra Stiles Ex dono D. Johannis Noyes, de Novo Portu, Connecticutia." On the title is written, "Ezra Stiles. Y. C.;" on one of the blank leaves, "Ezra Stiles, Præses;" on the first page of the text, "Ecclesiastical Library Newport Rhode Island, Ezra Stiles;" and on the inside of the front cover, "Ecclesiastical Library in the Care of the Association of Congregational Pastors, Rhode Island, Ezra Stiles." The Rev. Ezra Stiles was born in 1727, and from 1754 to 1777 was pastor of the Second Congregational Church in Newport. In 1778 he was elected president of Yale College, which office he held until his death in 1795. This copy of the bible is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277; and also in Mr. O'Callaghan's American Bibles (Albany, 1861), p. 12. Information furnished by Dr. Ellsworth Eliot.

(25) Library of the late Joseph W. Drexel, New York. Bound in rusia extra, back gilt, sides filleted. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$  by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. On the title is written the name of "H. Hobart." The book was afterwards in the possession of Louis Hayes Poth, Esq., at the sale of whose library in London, April, 1869 (no. 633), it was purchased by Mr. Quaritch the bookseller. He advertised it for sale in July, 1869 (233 Catalogue, no. 13), at 20s. Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, bought it, and at the sale of the first portion of his library in New York, March, 1878 (no. 788), it was purchased by Mr. Drexel for \$550.

(26) Rev. William Everett, Ph. D., Quincy, Mass. In modern binding. The Indian new testament title probably once contained the diamond shaped figure, "for there is a round spot in the blank space, about the size of the ornament, which has been skilfully repaired, but is evident." This copy was once owned by the Rev. Edward Craven Hawtrey (born 1789, died 1862), head master of Eton School, and afterwards provost of the College, and contains his autograph. It was presented by him to the father of the present owner, the Hon. Edward Everett (born 1794, died 1865), then United States minister to England, whose attestation of the gift is dated June 4, 1862. This copy is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. Information furnished by Dr. Everett, in letter of December 7, 1889.

(27) Library of Glasgow University, Glasgow. No description has been obtained of this copy, which may perhaps be of one of the other varieties. See Dr. John Small's introduction to his reprint of Eliot's Indian Primer (Edinburgh, 1877), p. xxviii, note.

(29) David Hunt, M. D., Boston, Mass. Bound in "sound old calf, with a chamotised, smooth morocco outside cover, the whole in a neat case." With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. On a blank leaf at the beginning is written, "Samuel Sanders. Brought by John Beighton from New England. Cost 5 or 6s in Boston, 1661." At the sale of the library of the late Caleb Fisk-Harris, of Providence, in New York, April 30th and following days, 1881 (part 1, no. 827), it brought $50, being purchased by Mr. Rider the bookseller. It was then described as lacking four leaves in the gospel of Mark, from chap. v. verse 22. to chap. xi. verse 10 (sig. F); the whole of the gospel of John, and of Acts all before chap. xxi. verse 10, making twenty-four leaves (sig. Aa to Ff); with two leaves in Proverbs and four leaves in Psalms that were damaged. After all but one (Cc in John) of the missing leaves had been supplied by Mr. Rider from another copy (no. 36), the bible was again sold by auction, in the library of Gen. Horatio Rogers and the remaining portion of the C. Fisk-Harris collection, in Boston, January 24 and 25, 1888 (no. 356), for $210, being purchased by the present owner. Information furnished by Dr. Hunt, in letter of December 27, 1889.

(30) Lenox Library, New York. In modern blue morocco binding, gilt edges, by F. Bedford. Size of the leaf,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  by  $5\frac{1}{2}$  inches. With the diamond-shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. The page headings of Luke 21 and 24, on the recto of leaves L2 and L4, are wrongly printed 10 and 15. A description of this copy by Mr. Lenox was printed in the Historical Magazine (October, 1859), vol. 2, p. 307. See also nos. 13 and 16 of this list.

(31) Library of the late George Livermore, Cambridge, Mass. According to Mr. Livermore's manuscript description of this copy, it is bound in two volumes. The first volume contains: the Indian general title, the dedication of the whole bible to King Charles II. in two leaves, the leaf of contents recto blank, and Genesis to Malachi. The second volume contains: the Indian new testament title (with the diamond-shaped figure, according to Mrs. Livermore), Matthew to Revelation, the metrical psalms and the final leaf of rules. These two volumes were presented to Mr. Livermore by his friend, Mr. Edward A. Crossenfield, of Boston. This copy of the bible is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1859), vol. 2, p. 277. Information furnished by Mrs. Livermore, in letter of January 14th, 1890.

Eliot (J.) — Continued.

His books 1672." This may be the signature of Enoch Greenleaf, the son of Edmund Greenleaf, who came to New England with his father about the year 1635, was of Malden, Mass., in 1663, and soon after removed to Boston; or of his eldest son, Enoch Greenleaf, who died in 1705. This copy is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1859), vol. 2, p. 277. See the Catalogue of the Library of the Massachusetts Historical Society (Boston, 1859), vol. 1, pp. 127, 128.

In the Collections of this Society for 1801 (Boston, 1802), vol. 8, p. 33, is the following statement: "In the files of the Historical Society there is a leaf of the Indian Bible which belonged to his [Eliot's] colleague, the Rev. Samuel Danforth, in which there are several corrections from the hand of this worthy gentleman. He was settled at Roxbury about the year 1662 [or rather 1674] and died 1674, aged 40. He was the brother of the Deputy-Governor of the same name."

(33) Library Company of Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Pa. Belonging to the Loganian Library. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. On the first title is written the name "J. Logan." James Logan was born in 1674, came to Pennsylvania as the secretary of William Penn in 1699, was a member of the provincial council from 1702 to 1747, mayor of Philadelphia in 1733, chief justice of the supreme court from 1731 to 1739, and acting governor of Pennsylvania from 1738 to 1738. On his death in 1751 he bequeathed his valuable library of 2,000 volumes to the city of Philadelphia. They were kept in a separate building erected for the purpose until 1792, when the entire collection was annexed to the Library Company of Philadelphia, of which it forms a separate division. Catalogues of the Loganian Library were printed in 1790, 1795, 1828, and 1837. Fac-similes of the general title of this copy and of the first page of Psalms are given in Smith and Watson's American Historical and Literary Curiosities (New York, 1850), plate 48. This copy is also mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1859), vol. 2, p. 277. Information furnished by Mr. Charles R. Hildeburn, in letter of December 10th, 1889.

(34) Library of J. Poyntz Spencer, fifth earl Spencer, Althorp, England. According to Dibdin's Archa. Bibliothecarum (London, 1822), p. 92, where the Indian title is given in full, "This copy was in the library of Colbert,"—referring probably to Jean Baptiste Colbert, the eminent French statesman and financier (born 1619, died 1683). The famous collection of books known as the Bibliotheca Spenceriana was formed mainly by George John Spencer, the second earl (born 1758, died 1840). No exact description has been obtained of this copy.

(35) J. Hammond Trumbull, LL. D., Hartford, Conn. No description has been obtained of this copy. It is mentioned in Mr. T. W. Field's Essay towards an Indian Bibliography (New York, 1873), p. 120; and in a letter written by Dr. Trumbull in 1879.

(36) Mr. E. P. Vining, St. Louis, Mo. In old calf binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. It lacks all before signature C (Genesis XXI), 28 leaves in the new testament (sig. F and Aa to Ff), and all after signature E of the metrical psalms. An interesting feature of this copy is the presence of the whole of the last sheet of the old testament as originally printed, containing: first, leaf Mmmmm; second, the leaf of contents, recto blank; third, the Indian general title, verso blank; fourth, the final leaf of the old testament. As the binder had neglected to remove the inner half of the sheet, the title and leaf of contents were therefore originally in duplicate. On the verso of this leaf of contents is written, "Henry Newman His Book. Anno domini 1698. 1710." On the verso of the Indian title is written, "Samuel Newman and David I. Newman their Book May: d: 9: 1717;" and in another hand, "The property of Anna Pecke presented to hir by her grandfather." On another leaf is written, "Angelina Peck—Pawtucket, 1831." It also contains the memorandum: "Rebound by Joseph Peck Son of Cyrial Peck, Seekonk." The bible was afterwards in the possession of Mr. Rider, the bookseller of Providence, who took out 28 leaves of the new testament, and two other leaves, to put into another copy (no. 29). It was then sold by auction, in the library of Gen. Horatio Rogers and the remaining portion of the C. Fiske Harris collection, in Boston, January 24 and 25, 1849 (no. 357), for $45, Mr. Vining being the purchaser. Information furnished by Mr. Vining.

From a letter printed in the Documents relating to the Colonial History of . . . New York (Albany, 1881), vol. 13, p. 520, it appears that a copy of the bible was brought to Albany by a Natick Indian in the time of Governor Nicolls, 1664-1668. According to Williamson's History of the State of Maine, "a copy of Mr. Eliot's Indian Bible, printed A. D. 1664, was obtained by Rev. Daniel Little, missionary to the Indians of Penobscot and St. John, since the revolution, which he carried with him; but he said, 'not one word of their language could be found in it.'" A copy of this edition, with the Indian general title, was in the possession of Dr. Johann Severin Vater, the eminent professor of theology and librarian at Königsberg (born 1771, died 1826), and is referred to by him in his continuation of Adlung's Mithridates (Berlin, 1816), Th. 3, Abth. 3, S. 379. In Henry G. Bohn's Catalogue of Books (London, 1841), no. 5896, a copy is described under the heading Virginian, as follows: "Biblia Indica.—The Old and New Testaments, with a metrical version of the Psalms, by J. Eliot, sm. 4to. very rare, injured by damp, 12s. Cambridge, (New Eng.) 1663."

The copy formerly owned by August erick, duke of Sussex, the sixth son George III. (born 1773, died 1843), and described under the Indian title in Pe Bibliotheca Sussexiana (London, 1839), 432, was sold by auction with the duke's in London, in July, 1844 (no. 1158). The copy, lacking the titles and maps at the beginning and end, was sold third portion of the library of the late J. Cooke, of Providence, in New York, 1883 (Americana, no. 790), for $3.37 Francis, the bookseller, being the purchaser. Copies of the old testament: Contain Indian general title, the leaf of contents to Malachi, and the metrical psalms the final leaf of rules. 467 printed leaves 1 blank leaf at the end.

(37) Library of the late John Carter Providence, R. I. The old testament metrical psalms only, bound together in volume, in brown calf. It is accompanied by a copy of the new testament with the title and dedication in a separate volume formerly bound, for a description of volume no. 6 of the list of testaments of 1661. The volumes were once owned by Edward viscount Kingsborough (born 1785, died 1842) and at the sale of his library in London, in June, but postponed to November 1842 (no. 56), brought $1.3s. Not long according to one account, Mr. E. B. C. New York, purchased them in London. There is another statement, however, that they were sold to Mr. Corwin by Bartlett for the New York booksellers, for the sale of his library in New York, November 1856 (no. 2552), the two volumes were purchased for $200 by Mr. John R. Bartlett for $1. This copy is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett printed in the Historical Magazine (Sept. 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. It is also described by Bartlett, but not with sufficient exactness in the catalogue of the Brown library, 1866 (part 2, no. 688), and again in the edition of the same catalogue printed (part 2, no. 920). Information furnished by John Nicholas Brown, in letters of 27th and December 2d, 1889.

(38) Mr. C. F. Gunther, Chicago, Ill. The old testament and metrical psalms only together in one volume, in crushed leather, rocco gilt top and back, by R. W. Smith (1885). The old testament is complete Indian general title and leaf of contents four leaves (signature E) are lacking metrical psalms, from the middle of the first part of Psalm LXXVI, and the leaves have been repaired. On the title is the stamp of the library of College, Dublin, as a "duplicate" so history of this copy, gathered from notices and memoranda, appears as follows. In March and April, 1870 (259 no. 277), and in July, 1870 (260 Cata 1171), Mr. Bernard Quaritch advertised for sale at 88s. a copy of the whole bible with the Indian titles, lacking signature Pp (2d Samuel iv, 9 to xiii, 2) and Ooo (Esther iv. 14 to Job vi. 19) in the old testament, and signature E in the metrical psalms, but otherwise perfect, in the original calf binding, and without doubt a duplicate from Trinity College. It was purchased by Mr. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn, who took out the new testament portion, which he sent to the binder to be bound separately as a companion volume to his other (better) copy of the old testament and metrical psalms. See no. 16 of the list of testaments, and no. 19 of the list of bibles. At the sale of Mr. Murphy's library in New York, March, 1884 (no. 685), the remainder of the volume, containing the old testament and metrical psalms, described as "without binding, quite imperfect: leaves wanting in many places," was bought by Mr. David G. Francis, the bookseller, for $5. He supplied the imperfections of the old testament out of another imperfect copy in his possession, probably the one which he had purchased for $5 at the sale of the third portion of the library of Joseph J. Cooke, of Providence, in New York, December, 1883 (Americana, no. 790). The volume was then put into its present binding, and offered for sale by Mr. Francis, first at $125, again in July, 1885, at $150, and in February, 1886 (Catalogue, p. 1), at $230, when it was purchased by Mr. Gunther. For the description of another duplicate of the edition of 1663 from Trinity College, but with the English title and dedication, which came into the market with this copy in 1870, see no. 5 of this list.

(20) Library of the Zealand Academy of Sciences (Zeeuwsch Genootschap der Wetenschappen). Middleburg, Holland. The old testament and metrical psalms only, bound together in one volume, "in red morocco, with green silk on the inner covers, and tooled with gilt edges." The title is lacking, but in its place is a manuscript account in Dutch, of which the following is a translation: "All the Bibles of the Christian Indians were burned or destroyed by the heathen savages. This one alone was saved: and from it a new edition, with improvement, and an entirely new translation of the New Testament, was undertaken. I saw at Roesberri (Rocsbury?), about an hour's ride from Boston, this Old Testament printed, and some sheets of the New. The printing-office was at Cambridge, three hours' ride from Boston, where also there was, close to the borders of the savages, a college of students of another nation. The Psalms of David were added in the same metre. At Roesberri dwelt Mr. Hailot (N. B.—The Zealand sound of Eliot), a very godly preacher there. He was at this time about seventy years old, and his name was a preacher at Boston. This good old man was one of the first Independent preachers to settle in these parts, seeking freedom to worship. He was the principal translator and director of the printing of both the first and second editions of this Indian Bible. Out of special zeal and love he gave me this copy of the first edition, for which I am, and shall continue, grateful. This was in June, 1880. Jasper Danckaerts." An account of the visit of Jasper Dankers or Danckaerts and Peter Sluyter to Mr. Eliot in the summer of 1680, when this copy was presented to them, is given in the note to the second edition of the bible. Some time after, the book came into the possession of Mr. H. J. Bosschaert of Middleburg, and at the sale of his library in April, 1757, in the catalogue of which it was marked as extra rare, was bought by the bookseller Gillissen for fl. 23.40, according to one account. It next appeared in the library of Professor Willenssen, whose books were sold by auction in Middleburg, in April, 1781. In the sale catalogue of his library it was described as containing the whole old testament and the psalms in metre, lacking the title and some few leaves in the psalm book. The book was not offered at the sale, however, but was withdrawn, and came into the hands of Professor de Fremery, who, in February, 1807, presented it to the Zealand Academy of Sciences. It was then remarked as something curious that the letter r does not once occur in the whole book. In the Catalogus der Bibliotheek van het Zeeuwsch Genootschap (Middleburg, 1845), p. 2, it is entered as "Het Oude Testament in de Americaansch-Indiaansche of Wiltache taal;" and in the enlarged catalogue of the same library, p. 230, no. 1286, it is described as containing the old testament and psalms in the American Indian Language, 4to, full morocco gilt. A report on the two copies of the Indian bible in the library of this academy was presented at its meeting in December, 1873, by the librarian F. Nagtglas, and printed as a separate pamphlet in January, 1874. An English translation of it is in the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society for 1873-75, pp. 307-309, from which the above particulars have been taken. The other copy is described under no. 4 of this list.

Another copy of the old testament and metrical psalms, but with the addition of the English general title, is described under no. 19 of this list. A copy was advertised for sale by Rivington and Cochran of London, in their Catalogue for 1824 (no. 2219), as "The Old Testament, with a metrical version of the psalms," translated by John Eliot, Cambridge (New England), 1663, 4to, calf neat, 18s. In Mr. O. Rich's chronological Catalogue of Books relating to . . . America (London, 1832), no. 331, a copy of "the Indian translation of the Old Testament, and of the Psalms in verse," with the Indian general title, was offered for sale for 2l. 2s.

There is no copy of the edition of 1663 in the library of the American Philosophical Society at Philadelphia, as mentioned in the lists of Mr. Bartlett, Mr. O'Callaghan, Mr. Field, and Mr.

Paine, and as might be inferred from the peculiar way in which the second edition is entered in the catalogue of that society's library printed in 1824. According to Mr. Field and Mr. Paine the New York Historical Society and the Long Island Historical Society each possessed a copy of the first edition of the bible. This is a mistake, however, as the only copies ever owned by these societies are of the second edition. Mr. Field also includes in his list of owners of the first edition the name of "Mr. John H. King (deceased), Jamaica, L. I." This refers without doubt to the Hon. John A. King, of Jamaica, N. Y., who owned a copy of the second edition only. The copy owned by Col. George W. Pratt was not of the edition of 1663, as stated by a writer in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 308, but of the edition of 1683.

— [U'p-Bookum psalmes.

32 (?) leaves, 4°.

The psalter or book of psalms, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language, by John Eliot. At their meeting on the 10th of September, 1664, the Commissioners wrote to the Corporation in England: "The number of Bibles with Psalm books printed were upwards of a thousand, of Baxters Call 1000 and of Psalter 500 dueters wherof all sorts are disposed to the Indians and the rest redly for their use as they can be bound up and there may be occasion." In the treasurer's account presented to the Commissioners at the same meeting, was one item: "To printing 9 sheets of the Psalter at 20s. per sheet," 9l. Nine full sheets would contain 36 leaves. As printed in the old testament, the psalter fills nearly 32 leaves, beginning on the verso of leaf Rrr 4, about two inches from the top, and ending on the verso of Cccc 1, at the bottom. Dr. Trumbull says: "From sign. Ttt 3 to Aaaa 1, with blank verso," which is a mistake, as that would comprise only nineteen leaves, from Psalm xxxiii. 13 to cix. 22. He aptly remarks, however, that "This charge is too small to include composition, and it is probable that these 500 copies of the Psalms were worked from the forms used in printing the Old Testament and were bound up separately." In another place he adds: "Five hundred copies of a Psalter were printed; that is, probably, 500 extra copies of the Psalms were struck off from the forms used in printing the Old Testament, and these—with a special title-page perhaps—were separately bound." No copy of this separate issue appears to be extant.

Mr. Thomas, in his History of Printing in America (Worcester, 1819), vol. 1, pp. 479, 480, says: "The New-England Version of the Psalms was printed with the Bible; but I cannot find that the Indian Grammar was published with either of the editions. It accom-

Crowninshield's library, sold in London, July, 1800 (no. 649), as bound in "crimson morocco extra, gilt edges, the corner of one leaf mended and supplied in fac-simile." It was bought by "Miller" for 6l.15s. Mr. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn, was probably the next owner. At the sale of his library in New York, March, 1884 (no. 888), it was bought for $75 by Mr.
Joseph F. Sabin, the bookseller, in the name of "Brevoort." It remained in his possession until June, 1887, when it was sold for $80, through Mr. Charles L. Woodward, to the present owner. This testament was probably taken out of an imperfect copy of the bible.

of Yy4. In the Massachusetts Indian language.
See the fac-similes of the two titles, the first
of the leaf of rules.

The book is printed in double columns, like the first edition, with references at the side and headings in Indian at the top of each column. A full page of text measures 6½ by 4½ inches, including headings, catchwords, and references, which is an increase in width of one-eighth of an inch. At the beginning of each chapter is a summary in English, not in the first edition. These summaries increase the whole number of leaves to eleven more in the old testament and three more in the new testament, than there are in the edition of 1663-61.
The statement of Mr. Thomas, in his History of Printing in America, that "both editions had title pages in English and Indian," is undoubtedly wrong as far as this edition is concerned, for no copy has been found with an English title, nor is there any probability that one was ever printed. According to Dr. Trumbull, "In printing James I. 26, in the first and second editions of the New Testament, the words 'qut asokekodtam nehenwonche wuttah,' [but de-ceiveth his own heart,] were omitted. The omission was discovered before the issue of the second edition of the Old Testament, 1685.— and attention is directed to it, by an erratum, at the bottom of the page containing the names and numbers of the books,—facing the title page of the New Testament: 'James I. 26.
Asuhkaue wanan, ogketash qut asokekodtam' etc.,—that is, 'After wanan [tongue.] read qut asokekodtam' &c." The above translation of the Indian title is from Dr. Trumbull's Origin and Early Progress of Indian Missions in New England.

In September, 1672, all of the remaining copies of the first edition of the Indian bible were ordered by the Commissioners to be bound. It is probable that the edition was soon exhausted. Many copies were lost or destroyed in the Indian war of 1675-76. As a new edition was much needed, Mr. Eliot began, about the year 1677 to revise the whole work. He also petitioned the Commissioners to reprint it. From the records it appears that it was resolved, at the meeting held in Plymouth, March 20, 1678, "In reference unto the Reverend Mr. Eliot's motion for reprinting the bible in the Indian Language: The Commissioners having had some Debate about that matter doe Judge it most expedient to Refer the determination thereof to the next meeting of the Commissioners." Accordingly, when they met again, in Boston, August 25, 1679, "Appeared, the Reverend Mr. John Eliot, and made a motion referring to the re-printing of the Bible." Concerning the extent of Mr. Eliot's labor on the new edition, Dr. Trumbull remarks: "In the revision he was greatly assisted by the Rev. John Cotton, of Plymouth, but it is not true that 'the second edition of the Indian Bible was John Cotton's' as Mr. Cotton asserts, 'wholly of Mr. Cotton's correction and amendment.' Eliot's correspondence with Boyle proves that he was himself actively engaged in the work, though he acknowledges his indebtedness to Mr. Cotton, who, he writes [July 7, 1688] 'has helped me much in the second edition.'" The Rev. Thomas Prince in the manuscript catalogue of his New England Library, makes the following statement: "Y<sup>e</sup> Rev Mr John Cotton of Plymouth being well acqu<sup>d</sup> wth y<sup>e</sup> Ind<sup>s</sup> Language, & being y<sup>e</sup> Ind<sup>s</sup> Comis<sup>r</sup> to correct m<sup>r</sup> Eliot's edition of 1663; took this method—while a good Reader in his study read y<sup>e</sup> Eng Bible aloud, M<sup>r</sup> Cotton silently look'd along in y<sup>e</sup> same Place m<sup>t</sup> Ind<sup>s</sup> Bible; & wh<sup>n</sup> He thot of Ind<sup>s</sup> word. He judg'd of express y<sup>e</sup> sense better than He constituted y<sup>e</sup>. & this 2<sup>d</sup> Edition was sent to M<sup>r</sup> Cotton's correction." Mr. Eliot himself in the Roxbury Church Records (Boston, 1836) writes: "When the Indians were burnt out of an Island at half an hour's notice, y<sup>e</sup> people in terror y<sup>e</sup> left their goods, y<sup>e</sup> bibles only some few carryed y<sup>e</sup> Indians were spoiled & lost. So y<sup>e</sup> w<sup>h</sup> were touch'd, & y<sup>e</sup> returned to y<sup>e</sup> places they were formerly inhabited, but y<sup>e</sup> especially the want of Bibles, y<sup>e</sup> made me meditate upon the corruption of o<sup>r</sup> Bible, & accordingly I began to revise the first edition. I petitioned the Commissioners to help in y<sup>e</sup> printing, & they obtained some ability so to doe, & I began to revise the whole bible, & whatever I found in the old y<sup>e</sup> down in order, & I began to print y<sup>e</sup> & file y<sup>e</sup> over among the books. The desired authority having been obtained, the printing of the new testament was at once begun. This was probably early in 1680. In the summer of the same year the two Labadists, Jasper Dankers and Peter Sluyter, visited Boston and Cambridge, on their return from New Netherland to Holland. The following extract of their journal for July 7th and 8th, 1680, is from the translation made by Mr. Henry C. Murphy: "The best of the ministers whom we have yet heard, is a very old man, named John Eliot, who has charge of the instruction of the Indians in the Christian religion. He has translated the Bible into their language. We had already made inquiries of the booksellers for a copy of it, but it was not to be obtained in Boston. They told us if one was to be had, it would be from Mr. Eliot. We determined to go on Monday to the village where he resided, and was the minister, called Roxbury. . . . 8th, Monday. We went accordingly, about eight o'clock in the morning, to Roxbury, which is three-quarters of an hour from the city. . . . On arriving at his house, he was not there, and we, therefore, went to look around the village, and the vicinity. We found it justly called Roxbury, for it was very rocky, and had hills entirely of rocks. Returning to his house we spoke to him, and he received us politely. Although he could speak neither Dutch nor French, and we spoke but little English, and were unable to express ourselves in it always, we managed, by means of Latin and English, to understand each other. He was seventy-seven years old, and had been forty-eight years in these parts. He had learned very well the language of the Indians, who lived about there. We asked him for an Indian Bible. He said in the late Indian war, all the Bibles and Testaments were carried away, and burnt or destroyed, so that he had not been able to save any for himself; but a new edition was in press, which he hoped would be much better than the first one, though that was not to be despised. We inquired whether any part of the old or new edition could be obtained by purchase, and whether there was any grammar of that language in English. Thereupon he went and brought us the Old Testament, and also the New Testament, made up with some sheets of the new edition, so that we had the Old and New Testaments complete. He also brought us two or three small specimens of the grammar. We asked him what we should pay him for them; but he desired nothing." The later history of this copy of the old testament is given in the list of copies of the first edition, under no. 39.

On November 4th, 1680, Eliot wrote to the Hon. Robert Boyle: "Our praying Indians, both in the islands, and on the main, are, considered together, numerous; thousands of souls of whom some true believers, some learners, and some are still infants, and all of them beg, cry, entreat for bibles, having already enjoyed that blessing, but now are in great want. . . . We are at the 19th chap. of the Acts; and when we have impressed the new testament, our commissioners approve of my preparing and impressing also the old." The new testament was finished at the press in the autumn or winter of 1681, and closely followed by the impression of the metrical psalms, which were completed in 1682. Some copies of the book may then have been bound for immediate use, because, according to Mr. Elliot's letter written two years before, the Indians were begging, crying, and entreating for bibles, of which they were in "great want." Dr. Trumbull, however, supposes that "few copies, if any," were "made up separately."

The printing of the old testament was begun in 1682, after the metrical psalms had been finished. On the 15th of March, 1682-3, Mr. Elliot wrote to Boyle: "The great work, that I travel about, is, the printing of the old testament, that they may have the whole bible. They have had the whole, in the first impression, and some of the old they still have, and know the worth and use of it; and therefore they are importunately desirous of the whole. I desire to see it done before I die, and I am so deep in years that I cannot expect to live long: besides, we have but one man (viz. the Indian printer) that is able to compose the sheets, and correct the press, with understanding. For such reasons, so soon as I received the sum of near 40*l.* for the bible work, I presently set the work on foot; and one tenth part, or near is done: we are in Leviticus. I have added some part of my salary to keep up the work, and many more things I might add, as reasons of my urgency in this matter." Three months later, on the 21st of June, 1683, he wrote again: "Your hungry alums do still cry unto your honour for the milk of the word in the whole book of God, and for the bread of life, which they have fed upon in the whole bible, and are very thankful for what they have, and importunately desirous to enjoy the whole book of God. . . . My age makes me importunate. I shall depart joyfully, may I but leave the bible among them, for it is the word of life: and there be some godly souls among them, that live thereby. The work is under great incumbrances and discouragements." On the 27th of November, 1683, in another letter to Boyle, he wrote: "Although my hasty venturing to begin the impression of the old testament before I had your honour's (Mat) may have moved (as some intimate) some disgust, yet I see that your love, bounty and charity, doth still breath out encouragement unto the work, by supplies of 40*l.* unto the work, for which I do return my humble thankfulness to your honour, and take boldness to intreat favour for two requests. First, I pray, that you would please to accept an apology for my haste. I am deep in years, and sundry say, if I do not procure it printed while I live, it is not within the prospect of human reason, whether ever, or when, or how, it may be accomplished. . . . My second humble request is, that you would please to draw a curtain of love over all my failures, because love will cover a multitude of transgressions. The work goeth on now, with more comfort, though we have had many impediments, partly by sickness of the workmen, for it is a very sickly and mortal time with us, as also the rigour of the winter doth now obstruct us. The work goeth on, I praise God; the sabbath is sanctified in many places, and they have still fragments of their old bibles, which they make constant use of." The progress of the work is related in another letter to Boyle, dated April 23, 1684: "The last gift of 40*l.* for the reimpression of the Indian bible doth set a diadem of beauty upon all your former acts of pious charity, and commandeth us to return unto your honours all thankful acknowledgments, according to our abilities. It pleased the worshipful Mr. Stoughton, to give me an intimation, that your honours desired to know the particular present estate of the praying Indians; as also, when Moses's pentateuch is printed, to have some copies sent over, to evidence the real and good progress of the work. . . . As for the sending any numbers of Moses's Pentateuch, I beseech your honours to spare us in that; because so many as we send, so many bibles are maimed, and made incomplete, because they want the five books of Moses. We present your honours with one book, so far as we have gone in the work, and humbly beseech, that it may be acceptable, until the whole be finished; and then the whole impression (which is two thousand) is at your honours command. Our slow progress needeth an apology. We have been much hindered by the sickness this year. Our workmen have been all sick, and we have but few hands, one Englishman, and a boy, and one Indian; and many interruptions and diversions do befall us; and we could do but little this very hard winter."

The old testament appears to have been completed in the autumn of 1685. A brief address was then prepared, "To the Honourable Robert Boyle Esq: Governour, And to the Company, for the Propagation of the Gospel to the Indians in New-England, and Parts adjacent in America," dedicating to them "this second Edition of the Holy Bible" in the Indian language, "much corrected and amended." This dedication, dated "Boston Octob. 23. 1685," and signed by William Stoughton, Joseph Dudley, Peter Bulkley and Thomas Hinckley, was printed on one side of a single leaf, and inserted after the first title in the few presentation copies sent abroad. A contemporary reference to the bible is found in a letter from Samuel Sewall to Stephen Dummer, written from Boston, February 15th, 1683: "The best News that I can think to speak of from America, is, that Mr. John Elliot, through the good hand of God upon him, hath procured a second Edition of the Bible in the Indian Language; so that many Hundreds of them may read the Scriptures." In the summer of 1686, Mr. John Dutton, the London bookseller, made a visit to Mr. Elliot, an account of which he gave in his Life and Errors, as follows: "My next ramble was to Roxbury, in order to visit the Rev. Mr. Elliot, the great Apostle of the Indians. He was pleased to receive me with abundance of respect; and inquired very kindly after Dr. Annesley, my Father-in-law, and then broke out with a world of seeming satisfaction. 'Is my brother Annesley yet alive? Is he yet converting souls to God? Blessed be God for this information before I die.' He presented me with twelve Indian Bibles, and desired me to bring one of them over to Dr. Annesley; as also with twelve 'Speeches of converted Indians,' which himself had published." In a letter to Boyle, dated "Roxbury, August 29, 1686, in the third month of our overthrow," Mr. Elliot wrote: "Our Indian work yet liveth, praised be God; the bible is come forth, many hundreds bound up, and dispersed to the Indians, whose thankfulness I intimate and testify to your honour."

From the preceding extracts of Mr. Elliot's letters it appears that 2,000 copies were printed of this edition. Mr. Elliot acknowledged the receipt of 906*l.*, in three separate payments, for defraying the cost of the work. One of the persons employed on this edition was the Indian called James Printer. He was educated at the Indian school in Cambridge, and had worked as an apprentice on the first edition. Mr. Elliot refers to him as the only man they had who was able to compose the sheets and correct the press with understanding. In 1769 his name appears as joint printer with B. Green of Jamaica's Indian translation of the psalter. About the year 1855, Mr. George Livermore had a few copies of the dedication leaf reprinted separately, neatly in fac-simile, for insertion in the modern copies of the bible. The dedication leaf was reprinted in O'Callaghan's American Bibles, p. 17.

Dr. Francis Shea has furnished the following account of the Indian bible: "The volume excited interest in Rome, and a brief of the document XI. to the archbishop of Saragossa, dated 1759 written to exhort him to procure the introduction into Spanish America of the recently translated into an American tongue by Protestants, evidently refers to the bible, though it is spoken of as printed in England."

Forty-five years after the publication of the first edition of the bible, certain letters were addressed to the Society in England, recommending that a new edition be printed. The proposition, however, was not received with favor, and in 1710 a report was drawn of the inexperience of such an attempt. My attention has been called to this document by Dr. Ellsworth Elliot and it is given below in full:

"Hon<sup>ble</sup> Sir,—Your Stewards and Commissioners, to whom the honor for propagating the Gospel among the Indians have committed a more immediate management of that Affair, we shall observe most exactly all you and with all possible conformity. Directions you have been pleased to give for the New Edition of the Indian Bible, your orders, if they be continued, will be religiously complied withall. But be so good to be so well entred upon before we have some Answer to the Address we have presented unto you, We improve the present opportunity humbly to lay before you the Sentiments of your Commissioners here generally matter; and not they only, but we think the Generality of the more considerate Indians through the Country. Indeed the alterations which we have already and wares insinuated, may be of some use to the matter. For if the printing of the Gospel of John, in so far as may be for Satisfaction, have long a time, as above a year; how will necessarily go to so great a Waste of the whole Bible? For the doing also, it will be necessary to take orders from their Ministry among who are of all men the most essential to the Indian Service. In the mean time of many, That as little Money as is expended on a new Edition of the Bible (much more time) would go very far in bringing them to be a sort of English. It is very sure, The best thing we can do for the Indians is to Anglicise them in their Language; and in that of Language others. They can scarce retain the English language, without a Tincture of our Inclinations, which do but ill suit the Honor, or with the design of the Indians themselves are Discontented upon this matter. Though their aged men are tenacious enough of their own Language, which is not all to be wondered at, yet they as earnestly wish that it may be made English as fast as they can. Reasons they assign for it are various; and this among the rest, The Indian Tongue is a very penurious one, the Words are long enough; and things of our Holy Religion brought in it, unavoidably arrive in Terms scarcely more intelligible to them than were entirely English. But the Indian Tongue would presently give them our Treasures and make them the owners of another sort of Library than any to be seen in their Barbarous Language."

of them as can speak English, find themselves vastly accommodated for the entertaining and communicating of Knowledge, beyond what they were before. And it is hoped, That by good English Schools among the Indians, and some other fit methods, the grand intention of Anglizing them would be soon accomplished. The Truth is, when we sit down and count the cost, we much suspect our Ability to go through the Cost of printing the Bible; and yet supporting the actual expences which must be born on other Accounts, or else the Evangelical work among the Indians fall to the ground. That which adds a very great weight unto the Scale we are upon, is this: The Indians, though their number and their distance be now so small, do considerably differ in their Dialect. The former Editions of the Bible were in the Natick Dialect. But if it be done in the Noop Dialect, which would best suit the most valuable body of our surviving Indians, those on the Main, and at Nantucket would not understand it so well as they should. The Books written by two eminent Preachers in their Tongue, the Indians complain of a Difference in them that is considerable. Their Language is also continually changing; old words wearing out, and new ones coming on. And a discreet person whom we lately employed in a visitation of the Indian Villages, inserts this as one article of his Report, about this particular matter.

"There are many words of Mr. Elliott's forming which they never understood. This they say is a grief to them. Such a knowledge in their Bibles, as our English ordinarily have is ours, they seldom any of them have; and there seems to be as much difficulty to bring them unto a competent knowledge of the Scriptures, as it would be to get a sensible acquaintance with the English Tongue."

"Your Commissioners in general were not acquainted with the Letters that went from certain particular Gentlemen here, which gave the Representation that has solicited your excellent charity to run into that Channel of a New Edition for the Indian Bible. We therefore thought it our Duty to throw in our own Representation on the other side, that so the more consummate Wisdom and Judgment of the Corporation may weigh all things, and proceed thereupon to their final Resolutions. When these are made known unto us, what ever they shall be, we shall think it our Duty to fall in with them, and pursue them to the uttermost."

"Being always Your Honor's (and the Company's) most faithful most sincere and humble Servt."

"That none of the Ministers who belong to our number, Sign with us, is owing to their Indisposition upon weighty Reasons, to think it proper for them to declare themselves persumptuously one way or other on the subject."

S."—Samuel Sewall's Letter Book, in the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society, sixth series, vol. 1, pp. 400-403.

The name Virginice or Virginian was wrongly applied, by several European writers of the seventeenth century, to Mr. Eliot's version of the bible in the Massachusetts Indian language, and the error has been repeated in many catalogues and other works. The same term was also used in the polyglot collections of the Lord's prayer or Oratio Dominica published by Andreas Müller in 1680, Benjamin Motte in 1700, Johann Ulrich Krause in 1712, John Chamberlayne in 1715, and by others. The assignment of this version of the Lord's prayer to Virginia did not pass without criticism from a New England scholar. Paul Dudley, the attorney-general of the province of Massachusetts, wrote to John Chamberlayne soon after receiving his work, as follows:

"You shall now allow me as a N. E. man to Expostulate with you concerning one of your versions of the Lord's prayer, viz. that which you call Virginice."

"First I have noe [knowledge] that anything of that nature was done either by or in that colony."

"2. The Whole Bible (besides other small Religious pieces) was Translated by famous Mr. Eliot into the Indian Language, and upon Examination I find yours to be literatim the same and it must be taken from Mr. Eliot's bible, for the Virginia Indians, the Albany Indians at New York or the Mohawks and our Indians of this province use very different Dialects and hardly understand one another, and therefore if I had happened to have been with you when you had Entitled that Translation it should nothave run Virginice [but] Indice ut inter Indos Novangliæ loquitur Ex versione Johannis Elioti." The above extract of Dudley's letter has been furnished by Dr. George H. Moore.

Copies: Nine of these (nos. 5, 9, 13, 15, 32, 35, 40, 47, and 51) contain the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, which was inserted in the few presentation copies sent abroad. Several others (nos. 1, 6, 12, 24, 26, 36, 50, and 53), of which no particular descriptions have been obtained, perhaps contain the dedication also. The copies issued for the use of the Indians are without it.

is the following manuscript note: "American Antiquarian Society from Col: James W. Sever, Decr. 4. 1858." A reprint of the leaf of dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle is inserted. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. Edmund M. Barton.

(3) Library of the American Antiquarian Society, Worcester, Mass. A second copy, in old calf binding, lacking the general title, the first leaf of Genesis, 38 leaves at the end of the new testament or all after signature Z (2d Corinthians xiii. 4 to the end of Revelation), and the whole of the metrical psalms. It contains the autograph of an Indian owner, "Josiah Spotsaher his Bible," who was perhaps a relative of Daniel Spotsa, one of the Indian preachers at Nantucket in 1698. Numerous manuscript notes in the same hand are scattered through the volume. This copy is not mentioned in the catalogue of the society's library printed in 1837, but it is probably the one referred to in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. Edmund M. Barton.

(4) Library of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia, Pa. In old leather binding, lacking the general title and some other leaves, but containing the leaf of contents, the Indian new testament title, and the final leaf of rules. At the front of the volume is bound a copy of Eliot's Indian Grammar (Cambridge, 1666), pp. 68, on the title of which is the autograph of Ebenezer Hazard, the historian (born 1744, died 1817), who perhaps gave it to the library of the society. Other manuscript names have been erased from the title. See the Catalogue of the Library of the American Philosophical Society (Philadelphia, 1824), p. 72, where it is entered as follows: "537 Q. Mamusse Wunnetupanamatmwe, &c. The Bible and New Testament, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language, by John Eliot. With an Indian grammar prefixed. Cambridge, (Mass.) 1666." Below this is another entry: "538. The same, second edition. Cambridge, (Mass.) 1680." This is the only copy of the Indian bible in the library of the society. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. Henry Phillips, jr., in letter of December 13, 1889.

(5) Library of Andover Theological Seminary, Andover, Mass. In the original calf binding, lettered on the back: SS. BIBLIA INDICA X. ANGL. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. At the top of the first title is written the name, "Thomas Fayerweather's 1773," which has been crossed through with ink. Below it is written, in a different hand, apparently, "Bot. at Vendue." On the blank leaf preceding the title is written: "Presented by Thomas Fayerweather Esqr. 1890." This was probably the Rev. Let Pearson, L.L.D. (born 1732, died 1778 to 1786, professor of Hebrew and

(8) Library of the Boston Athenaeum, Mass. A second copy, in new binding, lacking 16 leaves in the old or signatures Uuu to Zzz (Psalms and the leaf of rules at the end of the new testament title is a note in Indian, signed: "Nait his x mark | Co." On the verso blank leaf is written: "Presented to the Athenaeum | by Christopher The donor of this volume (born 1717) was graduated at Harvard College, triot attorney for Massachusetts 1796, commissioner of the Unit England in 1796, governor of Mass 1809-1810, and United States senator to 1816. This is probably the copy in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, the Catalogue of the Library of Athenaeum (Boston, 1874), vol. 1, p.

(9) Boston Public Library, Boston. The Prince collection, press mark: original leather binding. This contains the original dedication to the Boyle, printed on a single leaf. Inside of the first cover is written: "Rawson Ejus Liber, 1714." The Rev. John Rawson (born 1659, died 1715), was minister of the church in Mendon from 1680 until He was well acquainted with the language, into which he translated the Bible. The bible was afterwards in the hands of the Rev. Thomas Prince, who in his "New-England Library," willed by will to the Old South Boston at his death in 1758. A notice of this collection is given to no. 21 of the list of bibles of year 1814 about three hundred of the Prince collection, including this bible, were deposited in the rooms of the Massachusetts Historical Society, where they remained until 1850, when they were removed to the Old South Chapel. In 1866, the entire Prince collection was deposited in the Boston Public Library. Mr. George Livermore was the first to call attention to the leaf of dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, about the year 1855, at which time this copy was supposed to be the only one containing it. See the Catalogue of the Library of Rev. Thomas Prince (Boston, 1846), p. 101, where this bible is briefly mentioned; and the Catalogue of the American Portion of the Library of the Rev. Thomas Prince (Boston, 1868), no. 111, where it is described as containing an apostrophe in the first word of the title (Mamus'ae) which is not found in other copies. This apostrophe, however, is probably not original. See also the complete catalogue of The Prince Library (Boston, 1870), p. 6. For another copy containing Mr. Rawson's autograph, see no. 33 of this list.

(10) Library of Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. In the original leather binding, lacking the leaf of rules at the end, and showing marks of much use. On the blank page of the leaf of contents between the old and new testaments is written: "Samuel Miller's, Esq. | Book. Given him by | his Dear Deceased father | Stephen Minot. Anno | 1729." Stephen Minot was born in 1662. He was a merchant in Boston, and one of the original founders of Brattle Street Church in 1699. His daughter Rebecca (born 1697) was married to Samuel Miller in 1724. The bible was afterwards owned by Thomas Wallcutt (born 1758, died 1840), who was educated in the school of Dr. Wheelock, of Haver, New Hampshire, and went as a missionary to the St. Francis Indians. About eight hundred volumes from his library, including the Indian bible, were presented to Bowdoin College through the influence of the Rev. William Allen, who was president of that institution from 1820 to 1839. This copy is described in the Historical Magazine (May, 1859), vol. 3, p. 158; and (February, 1861), vol. 5, p. 50. See also the Catalogue of the Library of Bowdoin College (Brunswick, 1863), p. 63. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. George T. Little, in letter of December 16th, 1889.

(11) Library of the late George Brinley, Hartford, Conn. A copy lacking the general title, the last leaf of the metrical psalms, and the final leaf of rules, which are supplied in facsimile. It contains the autograph of Zachariah Mayhew, 1750 (born 1717, died 1806). He was a son of Experience Mayhew, and minister of the Indians on Martha's Vineyard for many years. It was also owned by the Rev. William Jenks (born 1778, died 1866), minister of the Congregational church in Green street, Boston, and at the sale of his library in that city, December, 1867 (no. 2273), was purchased for $300, by Dr. Trumbull, probably for Mr. Brinley.

See the Historical Magazine (December, 1867), second series, vol. 2, pp. 391, 392. Dr. Trumbull refers to it as one of Mr. Brinley's copies, in the Memorial History of Boston (Boston, 1880), vol. 1, p. 471. In another place he adds: "Between the leaves of one of Mr. Brinley's copies was found an autograph letter from Zachary Hossueit, an Indian preacher at Gay-head, Martha's Vineyard, to Solomon Briant, the pastor of the Indian church at Marshpee ('Mespeh'), written in 1766." The book will perhaps be sold with the fifth portion of Mr. Brinley's library. The four other copies of this edition which were in his collection are described under nos. 15, 33, 44 and 54 of this list. See also no. 52.

(12) Library of the British and Foreign Bible Society, London. No description has been obtained of this copy. See Bullen's Catalogue of the Library of the British and Foreign Bible Society (London, 1857), p. 59.

(13) Library of the British Museum, London. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. It was purchased from a Mrs. George, of Bristol, in April, 1889. Information furnished by Mr. E. N. Bain, in letter of May 9, 1889.

(14) Library of the late John Carter Brown, Providence, R. I. It is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1853), vol. 2, p. 277. (15) Library of the late John Carter Brown, Providence, R. I. A second copy. "In the original calf binding, well preserved, back gilt, lettered ss. BIBLIA INDICA NOVÆ ANGLIÆ." Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$  by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. It once belonged to Henry Hastings, fourth and last marquis of Hastings, and was kept in his library, Donington Park, Leicestershire, England. After his death in 1868, the library was sold by auction at Nottingham, December 29, 1868. According to Dr. Trumbull, the Indian bible is not named in the catalogue, but is known to have been one of the "three others" lumped with lot 33, "Biblia Hebraica, Oxon. 1750," etc. A writer in the New York Evening Mail for April 20, 1869, states that the lot containing the bible was bought by Mr. Quaritch for 2l. 10s. He offered it for sale in April, 1869 (249 Catalogue, no. 560), for 120l. It was purchased by Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, and at the sale of the first portion of his library in New York, March, 1879 (no. 789), was bought for \$500 by Dr. Trumbull, from whom it passed to the Hon. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn. After Mr. Murphy's death, the bible was sold with his library by auction in

(16) Congregational Library, Boston, Mass. In modern parchment binding, lacking the general title, the first 16 leaves of the old testament or signatures A to D (Genesis i to xxxiii), 46 leaves of the metrical psalms or signatures L13 to Y4 (Psalm xviii, 15 to the end), and the final leaf of rules. Several leaves are also lacking in the Psalms, one in Hosea (Kkkkk2), one in Hebrews (Ec4), and leaves in other places. Many leaves are mutilated, including the new testament title. The volume appears to have been made up from two imperfect copies of the same edition, the first portion comprising from Genesis xxxiv (sig. E) to Hosea ix, 10 (Kkkkk1), and the second portion from Hosea xiii, 5 (Kkkkk3) to Psalm xviii, 14 of the metrical version (L12), inclusive. On a blank page at the end of the old testament is written, "James Esop his book," and a little below, "Thomas Egen." The date 1670 also appears in some Indian writing. There are also manuscript notes in Indian scattered through the book. This copy is mentioned in the Historical Magazine (November, 1858), vol. 2, p. 343; and also in Dr. Dexter's bibliography of Congregationalism (no. 1293), appended to his Congregationalism . . . as seen in its Literature (New York, 1880), at which time it was supposed to be of the first edition. Information furnished by Rev. Henry M. Dexter, in letter of December 9, 1879; and by Rev. William H. Conant, in letter of January 6, 1890.

(17) Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. In modern calf binding, with marbled edges, lettered on the back: UP B183 M 600. 3. RUM 7. 1955. It lacks the last 9 leaves of the metrical psalms or signatures Un4 to Y4 (Psalm cxix, 49 to the end), and the final leaf of rules. The headlines and marginal text of some pages have been partly cut away by the binder's knife. Some extracts from Duponceau and Mayhew are written on the blank leaves at the beginning. On the title is written: "McKean, 1818." This was without doubt the Rev. Joseph McKean (born 1776, died 1818), minister of the Congregational church in Milton, Mass., from 1797 to 1804, and afterwards Boyleston professor of rhetoric and oratory in Harvard College. At the sale of his library in Boston, Aug. 21, 1818 (no. 112), the bible brought $470. This may be the same copy that was sold with the library of George F. Guild, Esq., in Boston, October, 1853 (no. 650), for $50. On the reverse of the first blank leaf is written, "1818." It was afterwards owned by Mr. Peter Force, the historian (born 1790, died 1868), and is mentioned as being in his possession in the Historical Magazine (August, 1879), vol. 3, p. 254. It was sold with his collection of books and manuscripts to the Library of Congress in 1867. See the Catalogue of Books added to the (18) Library of the Connecticut Historical Society, Hartford, Conn. No exact description has been obtained of this copy, but it is supposed to be still in the possession of the society. It is said to be "nearly complete," but it probably lacks the general title and some leaves at the beginning and end. According to Dr. Trumbull, "in many places, particularly the books of Genesis and Isaiah and the Psalms, the paper is fairly worn out by use." The book contains several autographs of an Indian owner, probably of Martha's Vineyard: "Nen-el-sha yeu noosooquoohwank," i. e., "I, Elisha, this my writing," and once, "thes my piple" (bible). In 1694, there were two Indian preachers at Gayhead, on Martha's Vineyard, named respectively Abel and Elisha, the latter of whom was perhaps the owner of this volume. On the blank page between the old and new testaments is written: "Recd from the Revd Mr. Experience Mayhew by Mr. Ebenezer Allen, April, 1719." This copy of the bible, together with no. 19, was probably once owned by the Rev. Thomas Robbins, whose library was presented to the Connecticut Historical Society in 1844. See the note to the following number. It is briefly described by Dr. Trumbull in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 306; and again more fully in the Metropolitan History of Boston (Boston, 1890), vol. 1, p. 472.

(19) Library of the Connecticut Historical Society, Hartford, Conn. A second copy, more imperfect than the other, is or was in this society's library. No description of it has been obtained, but it is briefly mentioned by Dr. Trumbull in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 306. These two copies (nos. 18 and 19) were probably owned by the Rev. Thomas Robbins, D. D., who was born in 1777, and died in 1856. From 1805 to 1827, he was minister of the south parish of East Windsor, Connecticut, in which place he began the formation of the extensive library which he presented to the Connecticut Historical Society in 1844. In 1832 he was installed pastor of the church in Mattapoisett, in the town of Rochester, Massachusetts, where he remained for nearly thirteen years. On the 24th of July, 1838, he visited a Captain Baylies, at Edgartown, on Martha's Vineyard, and looked at his father's books. In his diary for July 25th, he writes: "Mr. Baylies let me have 10 old books, including a broken Eliot's Bible. Paid his mother, $7.00." On the 27th, after his return to Mattapoisett, he writes: "Looked over my old books. Find that I have got parts of three copies of the Indian Bible." In August of the same year, he visited the Rev. Phineas Fish, minister of the Indians at Cotuit, in the Marshpee district, and "paid him for an Eliot's Indian Bible, imperfect, $5 00." See the Diary of Thomas Robbins, D. D. (Boston, 1856), vol. 2, pp. 562, 565.

(20) Library of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H. A copy lacking the general title, the last leaf of the metrical psalms, and the final leaf of rules. This is perhaps the copy mentioned in Mr. Nathaniel Paine's list, printed in 1873. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. M. D. Bisbee, in letters of January 7th and 31st, 1890.

(21) Library of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H. A second copy, lacking the general title, several leaves at the beginning and end of the old testament, the last 27 leaves of the metrical psalms or all after Psalm lxxiii, and the final leaf of rules. On one of the leaves is inscribed: "Sarah Perry Her Indigans Bible written in New England in the year 1717," etc. The name of David Lyon is also written on the same page. In another place is a manuscript note by Thomas Perry, dated 1723. The following inscription is found on another page: "The Exrs. of the Wido Perry Late of Roxbury present this Bible to Mr Pebody for the Service of the Indians under His Care in natek." Below this is written in a different hand: "The Widow Perry Presents this Bible to Mr Pebody for the Indians under his care in Roxbery." The Rev. Oliver Peabody (born 1698, died 1752), was sent in 1721 as a missionary to the Indians in Natick, who were then without a church or minister. In 1729, a new church was formed there, consisting partly of English and partly of Indians, and Mr. Peabody was regularly ordained as its pastor. Here he remained until his death, with the exception of one season when he was employed as a missionary to the Mohegan tribe of Indians in Connecticut. By his exertions, "the Indians were so improved in regard to their education, that many of them could read and write as well as understand the English language." Information furnished by Mr. M. D. Bisbee, in letters of January 7th and 2d, 1890.

(22) Rev. Henry M. Dexter, Boston, Mass. A fragment (less than half) of a copy of the second edition. It lacks all before 1st Kings vi. 11-13, all of the new testament excepting a few leaves, and the whole of the metrical psalms. It is mentioned in Dr. Dexter's bibliography of Congregationalism (no. 1903), appended to his Congregationalism . . . as seen in its Literature (New York, 1880), at which time it was supposed to be of the first edition. Information furnished by Dr. Dexter, in letters of December 9th, 1889, and January 25th, 1890.

(23) Mr. Wilberforce Eames, Brooklyn, N. Y. In modern half leather binding, lacking the general title, the first four leaves of Genesis (chap. 1 to ix, 27) or signature A, a portion of one leaf in Lamentations (Zzzz4), and the leaf of contents, all of which have been supplied in fac-simile. The text of several pages has been slightly cut into by the binder's knife. On the verso of the new testament title is written: "Ebenezzer Cossens of Eastham | Aug. 24. 1728," the first line of which is repeated in another hand. There was a John Cossens, an Indian preacher and schoolmaster at Monomoyick, near Eastham, in 1698, who may have been a relative. On the same page is the following inscription, apparently written by another person: "nen Laben hogsuit [or hos-suit?] ye notoun pipien | June 11 tays year 1747. | nutunumunkun Solomon pinnion annoth 4 Poun | keep my Commauntment." There are also many Indian words in manuscript scattered through the metrical psalms, which appear to be variations or different spellings of certain printed words. The bible was also once owned by Mr. Gabriel Furman (born 1800, died 1854), who was justice of the Brooklyn municipal court from 1827 to 1830, state senator from 1839 to 1842, the author and editor of several historical works, and a well-known book collector. At the sale of his library in New York, December, 1846 (no. 1741), the book was purchased by Alexander W. Bradford for $11. Mr. Bradford (born 1815, died 1867), whose autograph is on one of the blank leaves, was surrogate of New York city and county from 1848 to 1851, a well-known jurist, and the author of the work entitled American Antiquities, published in 1841. At the sale of his library in New York, March, 1868 (no. 67), it brought $95. Mr. Jaques, one of the executors of Mr. Bradford's will, being announced as the purchaser. Shortly after, it came into the hands of Mr. Salun, the bookseller, who sold it to Mr. John A. Rice, of Chicago. While in Mr. Rice's possession, the leaf of contents was probably taken out, and inserted in his copy of the first edition, no. 12 of the list of bibles of 1663. At the sale of his collection of books in New York, March, 1870 (no. 66), it brought $120. The next owner was Dr. Edmund B. O'Callaghan, the historian (born 1797, died 1860). It is mentioned as being in his possession, in Mr. Paine's list, printed in 1873. When Dr. O'Callaghan's books were sold in New York, December, 1882 (no. 831), the bible was purchased by the present owner for $140.

(24) Library of Edinburgh University, Edinburgh. No exact description has been obtained of this copy. It is referred to as follows in Dr. John Smalls' introduction to his reprint of Eliot's Indian Primer (Edinburgh, 1877), p. xxviii: "It may be interesting here to state that a fine copy of this second edition of the Indian Bible in the original binding, and in all probability presented by Eliot to the celebrated Quaker, Robert Barclay (born 1618, died 1697) was, on the dispersion of the family the Barclays of Ury a few years for the Library of the University. In 1662 Barclay received from nominal appointment of Secretary in North America."

(25) Ellsworth Eliot, M. D., New York. In modern morocco binding, lacking one leaf in Genesis from chap. vii. 12 to ix. 27 (A4), and four leaves in the metrical psalms from ex. 3 to cxix. 102 (sig. Uu), all of which have been supplied in fac-simile. A number of leaves which were stained, torn, or cut into, have been neatly repaired. On the recto of the leaf of contents are the three following inscriptions, apparently in the handwriting of as many different persons: first, "Asaph his Book | Asaph his Bible Sent to | Exp. Mayhew;" second, "Recd from the Rev. Mr. Mayhew from Martha's Vineyard, March 22. 1733;" and third, "att february the 14 year 1749 oobible Zachary | hosaveit gayhead nolhompeantog." Zachary Hosaveit was an Indian preacher at Gayhead, on Martha's Vineyard. Two other bibles which may have been in his possession are described under nos. 11 and 45 of this list. On the verso of the last leaf of Revelation is written: "I am Zaery Zaery ad Gay head. I have sad my name ad March the 13. 1733;" and below, "att february the 14 year 1749 oobible Zachary hosaveit Gayhead | nolhompeantog." Manuscript notes in Indian are also found on the verso of the new testament title, on the recto of the last leaf of Revelation, and in many other places on the margins. About the year 1885, while in half leather binding of the present century, and before the missing leaves had been supplied, it came into the possession of Henry Sotheran & Co., the London booksellers, who offered it for sale to several American dealers. After it had been repaired and rebound, the bible was sent to Messrs. George A. Leavitt & Co., and sold in the second portion of the "Trivulzio Collection," in New York, February, 1888 (no. 1163), for $280, at which price it was bought in by the auctioneers. It was then offered at private sale for $350, and was finally catalogued with the "Del Monte Library," and sold in New York, June, 1888 (no. 560), for $230, to the present owner, who is a lineal descendant, in the sixth generation, of the "Apostle of the Indians."

(26) Library of Glasgow University, Glasgow. No description has been obtained of this copy. See Dr. John Small's introduction to his reprint of Eliot's Indian Primer (Edinburgh, 1877), p. xxviii, note.

(27) Mr. C. F. Gunther, Chicago, Ill. In modern binding of purple morocco. At the top of the first title, which is mounted, is the autograph of an early owner, Josiah Cotton (born 1680, died 1756), for nearly forty years a preacher to the Indians in their own language, and the author of a vocabulary of the Natick dialect. He was a son of the Rev. John Cotton, of Boston, who aided Mr. Eliot in the revision of this edition. The bible came afterwards into the possession of the Rev. Thaddeus Mason Harris (born 1768, died 1842), who was minister of the first Unitarian church in Dorchester from 1793 to 1836. At the sale of his library in Boston, January 26th, 1843 (p. 11), it appeared as, "Eliot,

John. Indian Bible. 4to. Cambridge. and was purchased by Mr. Edward A. C. Inshield for $39. See the Proceedings of Massachusetts Historical Society for 1867-427. Information concerning the Harris logue furnished by Mr. Wm. H. Tillinghams letter of December 4th, 1889. After Mr. C. Inshield's death in 1859, the bible was logued to be sold by auction with his library in Boston, in November, 1859 (no. 380), who was described as bound in morocco. The auction sale, however, did not take place in Boston as the entire collection was bought by Henry Stevens, and taken by him to London where the rarest books were withdrawn the remainder sold by auction, in July, 1861. The bible was sold, probably at private sale, to the earl of Crawford and Balcarres. In the Memoir of Henry Bradshaw (London, 1888), p. 328, is the following anecdote of learned librarian of Cambridge, which seems to relate to this copy of the bible: "The read and accuracy of his bibliographical knowledge were astonishing. Many years ago, when as yet only a beginner, he gave a remarkable proof of this. It was in the year 1861, happened to be in Mr. Quaritch's shop in Finsbury, when that well-known bookseller received a request from the late Earl of Crawford and Balcarres for a 'collation,' i. e. a bibliographical description, of a very rare book, a Virginian or Massachusetts Bible, a large in two volumes, printed in Charles II's time. Not being able to lay his hand on any copy of the book, Mr. Quaritch referred to Bradshaw who at once wrote down a complete collation of the book from memory. It was sent to Crawford the same evening, and proved quite correct. Any one who knows a collation of such a book is, will be able to appreciate the feat." The earl of Crawford in 1869. The present earl, James Lindsay, succeeded to the title in 1880. At the sale of the first portion of his library in London, June, 1887 (no. 493) was bought for 40*l.* by Mr. Quaritch, who advertised it for sale in August, 1887 (logue, no. 384-9), for 60*l.* It was purchased by Mr. Gunther.

(28) Library of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. Presented to the library at a time before the year 1800. On one of the leaves is a pencil copy of an inscription taken from the bible once owned by Ebeling, as given below. See Notes of the Library of Harvard University, Cambridge, 1830, vol. 1, p. 250.

In 1818, Mr. Israel Thorndike purchased the library of Dr. Christian Ebeling, the German historian (born 1741, died 1817), and presented it to Harvard University. This collection contained a copy of the Indian bible which appears to have been exchanged at a meeting of the corpora-

College on June 22, 1819, the president and librarian were authorized "to exchange one of the copies of Eliot's Indian Bible for other books of the Treasurer, (Hon. John Davis)." On one of the blank leaves of this copy was the manuscript inscription referred to above: "Biblia Sacra in linguam Indorum Americanae gentis Taw Natick translata a Johanne Eliot Missionario Anglicano. Impressa Cantabrigiae Novae Angliae oppido. Liber summae raritatis. V. Clement. Bibl. cur. T. iv. Freytag Analecta." This bible I have not yet been able to trace or identify. Mr. Davis died in 1847, and it is possible that the book may be in the possession of his heirs. Information furnished by Mr. Wm. H. Tillinghast, in letters of November 21st, 1889, and February 15th, 1890.

(29) Mr. Lucius L. Hubbard, Cambridge, Mass. Bound in morocco, by F. Bedford. This copy formerly lacked about a dozen leaves, which were supplied out of another copy (no. 30), before the book was rebound, so that it is now complete and in very fair condition. On one of the blank leaves at the end is written: "Samson Occom ooskooweeg Sep. 7th 1748;" also, "Thos Shaw's;" and in the upper corner, "17 & 53." Below these names is the inscription: "Purchased of the Rev<sup>d</sup> Samson Occom by Thomas Shaw Esquire of New London & by him presented to Yale College Library. A. D. 1790." On the following blank leaf is also written: "Samson Occom Ooskooweeg A. D. 1748." The former owner of this bible, Samson Occom (born about 1723, died 1792), a noted Indian preacher, was converted to Christianity about the year 1740. In 1748, he began to teach the Indians at New London, Conn., and not long after removed to Montauk on Long Island. In 1766, he visited England, where he delivered a large number of sermons and attracted much attention. After his return to America, he continued his work among the Indians until his death. The next owner, Thomas Shaw, was a prominent citizen of New London, of which he was one of the first aldermen after its incorporation as a city in 1784. This bible is probably the one mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277, as being at that time in the library of Yale College. In 1883, this copy, which already lacked several leaves, was sold as a duplicate to the present owner, through Mr. D. G. Francis, the bookseller, after four other leaves had been taken out of it to complete the bible still preserved in the college library. Information furnished by Mr. Hubbard, in letter of January 9th, 1890, and by Mr. Van Name, in letter of January 29th, 1890.

(30) Mr. Lucius L. Hubbard, Cambridge, Mass. A second copy, without binding, lacking beginning and end, and many leaves in other places. It was once owned by Mr. Henry R. Schoolcraft, and some time after his death in 1864, came into the possession of Mr. Thomas W. Field, of Brooklyn. At the sale of Mr.

Field's library in New York, May, 1875, (no. 617), where it was described as "wanting beginning and end, and otherwise imperfect," it brought $35, and was purchased for the library of Yale College. In 1883, it was sold as a duplicate, together with no. 29, to the present owner, through Mr. D. G. Francis. About a dozen more leaves were taken out of it to complete no. 29. Information furnished by Dr. Ellsworth Eliot; and by Mr. Hubbard, in letter of January 9th, 1890.

(31) Rev. John F. Hurst, D. D., bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Washington, D. C. In modern binding of purple morocco, extra, by Zaehnerdorf. This copy was offered for sale by Mr. Bernard Quaritch in April, 1884 (352 Catalogue, no. 15998), for 120*l.*; and again in April, 1887 (373 Catalogue, no. 37870), for 105*l.* It was afterwards consigned to Mr. J. W. Bouton, the New York bookseller, who sold it to the present owner at a reduced price.

(32) Charles R. King, M. D., Andalusia, Pa. In modern leather binding. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. It was once owned by the Hon. Rufus King (born 1755, died 1827), a member of Congress from 1784 to 1786, and United States minister to England from 1796 to 1803. He purchased it in London about the year 1802, and had it there rebound, and wrote upon one of the blank leaves an extract from Douglass's British Settlements in North-America. It was next owned by his son, the Hon. John A. King, of Jamaica, N. Y. (born 1788, died 1867), who was a member of Congress in 1849, and governor of New York from 1857 to 1859. From him it passed to his son, the present owner. Information furnished by Dr. King, in letter of January 4th, 1890.

(33) Mr. Levi Z. Leiter, Washington, D. C. In modern binding of blue levant morocco, sides filleted and paneled, and enclosed in a dark green morocco box. Size of the leaf, 7½ by 6 inches, nearly. It lacks the leaf of rules at the end and the final blank leaf, but has the general title and its accompanying blank leaf in duplicate, at the end of the old testament. The presence of these duplicate leaves is explained by Mr. Henry Stevens, in a note printed in the Brinley catalogue, as follows: "Sheet Ppppp, the end of the Old Testament, is bound up as originally printed; that is, Ppppp1 is the end of the O. T., ending on the reverse; Ppppp2 is a blank leaf; Ppppp3 is the title to the Old and New Testament, reverse blank; and Ppppp4 is blank on the recto, and has the List of the Books on the verso. The cut-out of the two middle leaves of this sheet, then makes the blank leaf and the title at the front of the book. In this copy, these two leaves are in duplicate, and as clean and fresh as they were in 1685." On the upper corner of the first title is written, according to Dr. Trumbull, the autograph of "Jo. Bally. Jan. 1. [16]84 N. E." This was the Rev. John Bailly (born 1644, died 1697), who was minister of the church in Watertown from 1665 to 1692, when he removed to Boston. The next owner was probably Mr. Edward Rawson, the former secretary of Massachusetts colony, who died in 1693. He gave it to his son, whose autograph is on the blank leaf preceding the title, as follows: "Grindall Rawson | His Indian Bible Given him By his Father | 1712." The Rev. Grindall Rawson (born 1659, died 1715), minister of the church in Mendon from 1680 until his death, was well acquainted with the Indian language, into which he translated several works. The bible was afterwards in the possession of Mr. Henry Stevens, of London, who had it rebound. From him it was purchased in 1871 by Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, Conn., at the sale of whose library in New York, March, 1879 (no. 790), it was bought by Mr. Leiter for $500. For the description of another copy of this edition containing Mr. Rawson's autograph, see no. 9 of this list.

(34) Lenox Library, New York. In modern binding of blue morocco, gilt edges. Size of the leaf, 7½ by 5½ inches. This copy was owned by the Rev. Edward Craven Hawtrey, provost of Eton College (born 1789, died 1862), and contains the following inscription in his handwriting on a blank page at the beginning: "Of this Translation of the Bible another edition was printed in the year [1663] at Cambridge in Virginia. A copy of this Book was formerly in my Possession and given by me to the Hon: E. Everett, the accomplished Minister of the United States to Gr: Britain in 1842. Mr Everett was formerly Professor of Greek in the College of Cambridge. E. H." See no. 26 of the list of bibles of 1663. At the sale of a portion of Dr. Hawtrey's library in London, July, 1853 (no. 425), the bible was purchased for £21 by Mr. Henry Stevens, for Mr. Lenox. Mr. Lenox's description of this copy was printed in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 258.

(35) Lenox Library, New York. A second copy, in modern binding of dark blue morocco, gilt and blind tooled, gilt edges, by Hayes of Oxford. Size of the leaf, 7½ by 5½ inches. With many untrimmed leaves. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. It is perhaps the same copy that was advertised about the year 1872 or 1873, in a List of New and Valuable Books relative to America, on sale by John Bohn, Bookseller, 5, High Street, Canterbury, England, p. 1, where it is described as a "Fine and very large copy, with rough leaves, in blue morocco extra, blind-tooled in the old style, gilt edges," and priced (in ink) at 15*l.*, but without any mention of the dedication leaf. In March, 1874, it was advertised for sale by Trübner & Co., of London, in their No. 3 Catalogue of Choice, Rare, and Curious Books, p. 33, "with the excessively rare dedication to the Honourable Robert Boyle, Esq.," and priced at 160 guineas. It was purchased by Mr. Lenox soon after.

(36) Library of Leyden University, Leyden, Holland. Presented by Rev. Increase Mather. No exact description has been obtained of this copy. See the Catalogus Librorum tam impressorum quam manuscriptorum Bibliothecae Publicae Universitatis Lugduno-Batavae (Lugduni apud Batavos, 1716), p. 495, in the "Appendix librorum, qui post impressum priorem catalogum, Bibliothecae accesserunt," where it is entered as follows: "Biblia Sacra, lingua Indica Americana, ex versione John Eliot, Cambridge 1685. Dono Crescentii Matheri, in quart. Theol. 244 B." Information furnished by Dr. George H. Moore.

(37) Library of the late George Livermore, Cambridge, Mass. In modern russet binding. This bible was once owned by the Hon. Thomas L. Winthrop (born 1760, died 1841), who was lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts from 1826 to 1832, and president of the Massachusetts Historical Society and American Antiquarian Society. In February, 1842, it was advertised in a Catalogue of Books Ancient and Modern, lately selected in London and Paris, for sale by Charles C. Little and James Brown, Boston (no. 217), where it was described as "a fine clean copy of this very rare work, elegantly full bound in Russia, gilt," and priced at $25. "On the 31 of March, 1842," according to a writer in the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society for 1867-69, p. 427, Mr. Livermore "saw on sale, at Little and Brown's, a copy of Eliot's Indian Bible, the price of which was twenty-five dollars. He could not think of buying it, but his brother bought it and generously presented it to him." About the year 1853, Mr. Livermore had a few copies reprinted of the leaf containing the dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, for insertion in this copy and in those of his friends. Information furnished by Mr. Wm. H. Tillinghast, in letter of December 4th, 1883; and by Mrs. Livermore, in letter of January 14th, 1890.

(38) Library of the Long Island Historical Society, Brooklyn, N. Y. An imperfect copy, lacking the general title, the first 19 leaves of Genesis or all before chap. xl. 2 (E4) the last leaf of the old testament (Ppppp1), and the whole of the new testament and metrical psalms. The lower margins of the volume are also very imperfect. This seems to be the copy which is described among the books belonging to Mr. Henry Stevens, in the catalogue of Mr. Crowninshield's library, sold in London, July, 1860 (no. 1807), containing "The Old Testament in the Indian Language, by John Eliot, imperfect, wants leaves, and the lower margins much injured by rats or other irreverent vermin." It sold for 3 shillings, and was bought in the name of "Hotten." Mr. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn, was the next owner. He made a memorandum in the book that it was purchased by him in London for $6. It was afterwards presented by him to the Long Island Historical Society. Information furnished by Miss Jessie E. Prentice, in letters of December 13th and 26th, 1889.

(39) A copy advertised for sale by Manson-neuve et cie., of Paris, in 1878. It is described in Charles Leclerc's Bibliotheca Americana (Paris, 1878), no. 2367, as lacking sheets Aaa to Zzz, inclusive, which comprise 92 leaves or from 2d Kings x. 24 to Psalm lxxix. 13. The price was 1500 francs. This is without doubt the same copy that was advertised for sale by Bernard Quaritch in March and April 1870 (259 Catalogue, no. 278), and again in July, 1870 (260 Catalogue, no. 1172), at 500. It was there described as "wanting aaa to zzz in the Old Testament, otherwise quite perfect, with the titles, calf."

(40) Library of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Boston, Mass. In half leather binding, lacking the general title, the last six leaves of the metrical psalms, or all after Psalm cxxv. 4 (Xc2), and the final leaf of rules. At the beginning of the volume is inserted the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, on the verso of which is written: "Samuel Danforth's book. Cost for binding, 3<sup>00</sup>." This leaf, which appears to have been taken out of another copy of the bible, was found separate among the miscellaneous papers in the library of the Society, about the year 1855 or 1856. The writer of the inscription was probably the second Samuel Danforth (born 1666, died 1727), minister of the Congregational church in Taunton, and the author of a dictionary of the Indian language, compiled from the Indian bible. Mr. Bartlett mentions this copy in his list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September 1878), vol. 2, p. 277. See the Catalogue of the Library of the Massachusetts Historical Society (Boston, 1859), vol. 1, pp. 127, 128, 414, from which it appears that the old testament is "Imperfect, wanting title and first signature." See also the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society for 1840-62, pp. 378, 379. Information furnished by Dr. Samuel A. Green, in letter of January 15th, 1890.

(41) Library of the Morse Institute, Natick, Mass. A good copy, "inclosed in a casket made from the large oak tree under which the apostle first gathered his dusky audience." See the American Bibliophile for February, 1879. The bible was once owned by the Hon. John Pickering, the philologist (born 1757, died 1846), and at the sale of his library in Boston, September, 1846 (no. 603), was bought by Mr. O. Thayer for the town of Natick, according to a memorandum in the book. Dr. Trumbull, however, states in the Brinley catalogue that it was bought by Mr. Brinley. A tea party was given at Natick on the 28th of October of the same year, in order to raise money for the purchase of this copy, to be preserved in the archives of the town. A circular was also printed, containing Psalm C in the Natick dialect, with the English translation and the tune. In Bacon's History of Natick the following account is given: "Some pious resolute individuals purchased this copy from the library of Hon. John Pickering; and the ceremony of its presentation to the town took place in the Town Hall on the two hundredth anniversary of Eliot's first visit to the Indians at Nonantum, October 28, 1846, the nominal, not the actual day." See S. A. Drake's History of Middlesex County, Mass. (Boston, 1890, vol. 2, pp. 296, 297). Information furnished by the librarian, Miss Nellie L. Fox, in letters of January 25th and 30th, 1890.

(42) Library of the New York Historical Society, New York. In modern half leather binding. It was formerly owned by the Rev. Thomas Bradbury Chandler, the rector of St. John's Church, Elizabethtown, born 1726, died 1799, whose name "T. B. Chandler" is written at the top of the general title and crossed through with a pen. On the same page is the autograph of "John Pintard 1807" the founder of the New York Historical Society (born 1759, died 1844), who presented the book to the society.

(43) New York State Library, Albany, N. Y. An imperfect copy, in modern binding, lacking the general title, the first seven leaves of Genesis or all before chap. xviii 7 (43), and the whole of the new testament and metrical psalms. On one of the blank leaves is written: "Purchased at Garley and Hild's auction sale, New York, Feb. 24 1846." See the Catalogue of the New York State Library (Albany, 1850), p. 511; and the enlarged catalogue of the General Library, 1855 (Albany, 1856), p. 55. Information furnished by Mr. George R. Howell, in letter of December 13th, 1889.

(44) Library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa. Bound in levant black morocco, clothed and paneled sides, by F. Beurd. Size of the leaf 7, by 5 inches. On the verso of the blank leaf preceding the title is the autograph of a former owner, "William Stoughton, eldest son and first-born, and second son of the first and last lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, born 1632, died 1704." On the same page is the autograph of another owner, "John Danforth, 1714," who married governor Stoughton's niece. He was minister of the Congregational church in Dorchester from 1682 until his death in 1730, aged seventy years. It afterwards came into the possession of Mr. George Brinley of Hartford, and is perhaps the copy referred to by Mr. O'Callahan in his Account of the Bible (Albany, 1861), p. 18. At the sale of the third portion of Mr. Brinley's library, in New York, April, 1841 (no. 593), the bible was purchased for $39 by Mr. Charles R. Hildoburn, for the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.

(45) Library Company of Philadelphia, Pa. An imperfect copy, lacking the general title, the first nine leaves of Genesis or all before chap. xxii. 4 (C2), the leaf of contents, the new testament title, the first 18 leaves of the new testament or all before Mark i. 33 (E3), another leaf in Mark from chap. iii. 30 to v. 22 (E4), the last eight leaves of the metrical psalms or from Psalm cxix. 103 to the end (Xx and Yy), and the final leaf of rules. This bible was once in the possession of Zachary Hosveit, an Indian preacher at Gayhead, on Martha's Vineyard, whose autograph, dated September 16th, 1738, is on one of the leaves. Two other bibles, which may have been in his possession, are described under nos. 11 and 25 of this list. It was afterwards owned by Samuel William Fisher, a Quaker merchant of Philadelphia, (born 1764, died 1817), who presented it to the Library Company of Philadelphia in 1815 or 1816. See the Catalogue of the Books belonging to the Library Company of Philadelphia (Philadelphia, 1835), vol. 1, p. 16, where it is entered as follows: "1639, Q. The holy bible, printed in the Indian language, for the use of the Indians of New England. Cambridge, 1680. Gift of S. W. Fisher." Information furnished by Mr. Charles R. Hildeburn, in letters of December 10th and 29th, 1889.

(46) Library of the Pilgrim Society, Pilgrim Hall, Plymouth, Mass. An imperfect copy, lacking the general title, the first ten leaves of Genesis or all before chap. xxiv. 20 (C3), five leaves at the end of the old testament or all after Zechariah iv. 13 (Nununt), the leaf of contents, the new testament title, the first seven leaves of Matthew or all before chap. xiii. 49 (C1), and a dozen or more leaves at the end of the metrical psalms. On the blank page at the end of Revelation is written: "Johannis Wainwright Liber Donum Domi Josiae Willard Jan. 19. 1707." The donor of this volume, Josiah Willard (born 1681, died 1756), was the son of the Rev. Samuel Willard, of Boston, and was secretary of Massachusetts from 1717 until his death. The next owner, John Wainwright, according to Dr. Trumbull, was "probably the Harvard graduate of 1709, son of Col. John, of Ipswich. . . . A few years afterwards it came into the possession of 'Josiah Attaunitt,' alias 'Josiah Ned,' who left his name on several pages and scribbled memoranda on the margins. He seems to have been one of the Christian Indians who lived near Duxbury or at Mattakesit. In one place he wrote, 'Josiah Ned, 1718;' in another, 'Josiah Attaunitt yeu wutaimun in March 18 in . . . i. e., 'J. A. this belongs to him.' See. On the margin of one page is a note, dated 'at february 7 day 1715.' (The Massachusetts Indians did not pronounce the r, substituting n for it). The writer was 'at this time at the house of Pamohkawkut, who lives at Duxbury' but ohquompi ut wekit Pamohkawkut uoh pamontog ut Tosspane'. In another place the name of Duxbury is differently spelled: — foouany haitay 20 day, 1715, ut wekit pamohkawkut ut tukspany kah yeu wutappin annis mommehthemmut unnoowau, nuttom nasit saup;' (i. e., 'February, Friday, 20th day, 1715, in the house of Pamohkawkut at Duxbury, and here lodged, Annis Mommehthemmut said, I am going to Nauset to-morrow'). — Memorial History of Boston (Boston, 1830), vol. 1, pp. 371, 472. Another owner of the book was the Hon. William Cushing, of Scituate (born 1732, died 1810), who was judge of the Massachusetts superior court in 1772, chief justice in 1777, and in 1780 was chosen the first chief justice of Massachusetts under the State constitution. The bible was presented by his widow, Mrs. Hannah Cushing, to the Pilgrim Society some time between the years 1820 and 1830. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. Thomas Bradford Drew, in letter of January 15th, 1890.

(47) Library of the late Col. George W. Pratt, Esopus, N. Y. A copy lacking the final leaf of rules, but otherwise well preserved. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. Manuscript notes in Indian are found on the margins of many pages. In one place in the Acts is written the name of a former owner, apparently, "nen matthew Gocknow yeu noopie paku." In another place is the inscription, "Jacob Gocknow wuttannah nuppi May 17. 1727 noh assoontogit ganoh;" also, "Ephraim uaquatanappi at July 1. 173 . ." The dates 1744 and 1745, with what appears to be the name of an Indian, are written on one of the pages of 1st Chronicles. On the margin of a page of the gospel of Mark is written: "meh-quantamoo naumattunne pish lenashpe pah-quohwunnitteon en watchanitt-oonganit lon," and other inscriptions of the same character are scattered throughout the volume. This bible was in actual use until early in the present century, as the property of an Indian teacher at Marshpee, Cape Cod. An autograph of John Eliot has been pasted on the blank leaf preceding the title page. This is probably the copy referred to by a writer in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 308, who states that "a copy of the edition of 1663 [sic] is in the possession of George W. Pratt, of Kingston, Ulster County, N. Y." It is mentioned in Dr. O'Callaghan's American Bibles (Albany, 1861), p. 18, as of the edition of 1685. Since Col. Pratt's death in 1861, the bible has remained in the possession of his family. A portion of his library was sold by auction in New York, March 23d to 27th, 1868. Information furnished by Mrs. Gasquet James, in letters of December 27th, 1889, and January 11th, 1890.

(48) A copy advertised for sale by Mr. Bernard Quaritch, in April, 1884 (352 Catalogue, no. 15999), with "one leaf mended, in other respects an excellent copy in the original calf binding," for 150l; again in April, 1887 (373 Catalogue, no. 37871), for 125l; and in December, 1887 (89 Rough List, no. 110), for 125l. It also appears at the same price in a Hand-List of a peerless collection of Books and Manuscripts (London, 1830), no. 442, to be exhibited or sale in the United States in the spring of 1830.

(49) Library of the University of South Carolina, Columbia, S.C. An imperfect copy, lacking the general title, the first eleven leaves of Genesis, or all before chap. xxv. 16 (C4), 62 leaves in the new testament or from Acts xix. 12 to the end of Revelation (S — Kk2), and the whole of the metrical psalms. On one of the blank leaves is written: "Rec<sup>d</sup> of Amos Håhåton May 19th 1731." The book was afterwards owned by a Mrs. Goodwin, and was purchased from her through the Rev. Dr. Palfrey. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. Isaac H. Means, in letter of December 18th, 1889.

(50) Library of J. Poyntz Spencer, fifth earl Spencer, Althorp, England. "In old calf binding." No exact description has been obtained of this copy. See Dublin's Aedes Althorpianæ (London, 1822), p. 92. See also no. 34 of the list of bibles of 1653.

(51) Library of Trinity College, Cambridge, England. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. Information furnished by Dr. William Everett, in letter of December 7, 1889. The book was examined by Dr. Everett in the year 1869.

(52) J. Hammond Trumbull, LL. D., Hartford, Conn. No description has been obtained of this copy, which is mentioned in a letter written by Dr. Trumbull in 1879. If it is the one which was purchased in Dr. Trumbull's name at the sale of Mr. Griswold's books in 1876 its history belongs in this place, as follows: It is bound in red morocco, extra, by F. Bedford. On the back of the first title is pasted the book-plate, dated 1702, of William Talbot, successively bishop of Oxford, Salisbury and Durham (born 1659, died 1730). It afterwards came into the possession of Miss Frances Mary Richardson Currer, the well-known book collector (born 1785, died 1861). It does not appear, however, in the privately-printed catalogue of her library issued in 1833. At the sale of the principal portion of Miss Currer's library in London, July and August, 1862 (no. 425), where it was described as bound in "calf, m. e. water stained," it brought 23*l.*, being purchased in the name of "Willis." Mr. Almon W. Griswold, of New York, was the next owner. He had it cleaned and rebound, and at the sale of a portion of his library in New York, announced for February, but postponed to March, 1876 (no. 260), it was bought for $325 by Dr. Trumbull, probably for himself or for Mr. Brinley.

(53) Library of Utrecht University, Utrecht, Holland. No exact description has been obtained of this copy. It was sent to John Leusden for the University by Rev. Increase Mather, at the time of its publication, and is referred to by Leusden in his dedication of The Book of Psalms, published in 1688, and by Hadrian Roland in his Dissertationes, published in 1708, vol. 3, p. 211. According to the Bibliothecæ Rheuo-Trajectinæ Catalogus (Trajecti ad Rhenum, 1833), vol. 1, p. 123, it contains the following manuscript inscription: "Bibloth. celeberr. ap. Ultrajectinos Acad. Hae S. Biblhorum versione indica donat Crescent. Matheras colleg. harv. ap. Cantabrigienses in Nova Anglia. Praeses pro tempore. Maji 28 A. D. 1686."

(54) Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt, New York. A copy bound in levant red morocco, extra gilt, with vellum linings and guard-leaves, by F. Bedford. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$  by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches. By a mistake of the binder the leaf of rules and the final blank leaf were inserted at the end of the old testament. According to Dr. Trumbull, "the volume has been skillfully cleaned throughout, the margins of some short and worn leaves extended, and the deficiencies, if any were found, are supplied in facsimile so perfect as to escape detection." On one of the blank leaves is a pencil memorandum: "From the library of Jonathan Edwards." This refers, perhaps, to the elder Jonathan Edwards (born 1703, died 1758), who was missionary to the Stockbridge Indians from 1751 to 1757, and president of the College of New Jersey in 1757-58. His son, Jonathan Edwards (born 1745, died 1801), pastor of the church in White Haven, Conn. from 1769 to 1795 and president of Union College at Schenectady, N. Y., from 1799 to his death, was well acquainted with the Indian language. The bible afterwards came into the possession of Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, and at the sale of the third portion of his library in New York, April 1881 (no. 534), was bought for the present owner for \$540. Information furnished by Mr. Vanderbilt, in letter of December 30th, 1889.

(55) Library of Yale College, New Haven, Conn. In the original calf binding, well preserved, lettered on the back, ss. BIBLIA INDICA. S. ANGL. On the outside of each cover are stamped the letters, "J. [ornament] W." On the first blank leaf is written, "John [Winthrop?], me possidet 1697, the surname being torn off. The name 'Winthrop' is written on the second blank leaf. This was probably the third John Winthrop (born 1639, died 1707), a grandson of the governor of Massachusetts. He was the agent of Connecticut in London in 1693, and governor of the same colony from 1698 until his death. This copy of the bible was acquired by Yale College some time before the year 1858. It is one of the two copies mentioned in Mr. Paine's list, printed in 1873. It was then slightly imperfect, lacking a signature or about four leaves, which were afterwards supplied out of another copy (no. 29). Information furnished by Dr. Ellsworth Eliot; and by the librarian, Mr. Addison Van Name, in letters of December 30th, 1889, and January 29th, 1890.

For a description of two other copies of this edition formerly in the library of Yale College, which were sold as duplicates, see nos. 29 and 30 of this list.

In Dewitt's historical Discourse delivered in the North Reformed Dutch Church (New York, 1857, p. 7) it is related of the Rev. Henricus Selous, who was minister of the Collegiate Reformed Dutch Church in New York from 1682 to 1701, that "at the publication of John Eliot's celebrated Indian Bible he procured it and sent it to the Classis of Amsterdam." Mr. Samuel Sewall during his visit to England, wrote as follows in his diary for February 25, 1687: "Viewed Winchester Colledge, the Chapel, Library built in the midst of the Green within the Cloisters. Left my Indian Bible and Mr. Mather's Letter there." This copy may still be preserved in the College Library at Winchester. The copy mentioned in White Kennett's Bibliotheca Americana Primordia (London, 1713), pp. 141-144, was probably in the author's possession at that time. According to Mr. Henry Stevens, "The Books named in Bp. Kennett's Catalogue were promised to be left by will to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts; should that Society provide accommodation for them, but that condition not having been fulfilled, the books were not separated from the Bishop's Miscellaneous Library, and probably now form part of the Cathedral Library of Peterborough."

In Rydington and Cochran's Catalogue (London, 1841, no. 2220, a copy was offered for sale of "The Old and New Testament, with a metrical version of the psalms, by J. Eliot," Cambridge, New England, 1680, 5, 4to, calf neat, for 17. 1s. An auction Catalogue of Books in every part of Literature and Science, sold by Edwards, in London, October 26-30, 1830, contains the following entry: "1679 Holy Bible, in the West Indian Language, by Eliot, Cambridge, N. America, 1685," which was purchased by the same firm for 17. 1s. The copy owned by Richard Heber, Esq., was described as follows among his bibles in the Bibliotheca Heberiana, part 1, sold in London, May 30th and 13 following, 1806: "417 — in the Indian language, by J. Eliot, Cambridge, 1685, 4to." It was sold for 12s.

A copy of the second edition was once in the library of the American Bible Society at New York, as appears from its Catalogue of Books (New York, 1855, p. 27, where it is entered to be sold with the heading of Massachusetts version as "Eliot's Indian Bible, 4to, Cambridge, 1685, (E)" and again with the heading of Massachusetts version as "The Mohegan Bible, 4to, Cambridge, 1685, (E)" In the edition catalogue of this library (New York, 1856, pp. 46-47, both entries are repeated, but the second is marked as left blank, because the book was missing. Dr. Edward W. Gilman, of the same library, informs me that no trace of the book has been found. Mr. Bartlett also informs me that the name of Edward Everett in the margin of a copy of the edition of 1685, which is probably a mistake, as Dr. William Everett informs me (December, 1889) that no copy of this edition is in his possession.

The following memoranda relate to copies of which the edition or date is not specified. Mr. Samuel Sewall, in his diary for April 7th, 1718 (Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., fifth series, vol. 7, p. 180), writes: "I prove Mr. William Denison's Will. Her brother . . . brought the widow to town. . . . I gave her 10s. to give her sister Weld for her Indian Bible." Mr. Denison was a resident of Roxbury, whose wife's maiden name was Weld. Dr. A. C. Thompson, of Roxbury, had a copy of one of the editions, but he informs me now (December 13th, 1889) that he sold it "forty or more years ago." A writer in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858, vol. 2, p. 308, says: "we believe also that Mr. Samuel G. Drake, of Boston, has a copy." As Mr. Drake was at that time a bookseller, it is probable that the bible was in his possession for a short time only. Another copy, of which the date is unknown, was formerly in possession of the Rev. William Allen, of Northampton, Mass. (born 1784, died 1868), and is mentioned in the Historical Magazine (November, 1858, vol. 2, p. 343; but I am now informed (December 21st, 1889) by his son, the Hon. William Allen, of Northampton, that it "was destroyed by fire many years ago in New York." Another writer in the Historical Magazine (May, 1859, vol. 3, p. 158, in his description of the copies at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine, adds: "I have heard that a copy of this Bible is owned in Portland, and that several others are to be found in the State." In a collection of books belonging to Mr. W. Elliot Woodward, of Roxbury, sold in New York, in April, 1869 (no. 2015), were "portions of an Indian bible, 117 leaves, comprising a part of Genesis, with all or nearly all of the six following books, a portion of Isaiah, Jeremiah, and a part of the New Testament," which brought $5.50. At the sale of Mr. John K. Wiggin's collection of books, in Boston, March, 1876 (no. 804), was a "Part of Indian Bible, 11 leaves," which sold for $4.37.

A copy of one of the editions was once in the possession of the Rev. Eulardus Westerlo (born 1738, died 1799), who was pastor of the Dutch Reformed church in Albany from 1760 until his death. His son, Remselaer Westerlo, was a member of Congress from 1817 to 1819, and died at Albany in 1851. From his family it was obtained by the Rev. Aaron Lloyd, in whose possession it remained for a number of years. He offered it for sale several times at the low price of $75, and finally sold it, November 15, 1864, to George P. Philes & Co., the New York booksellers, for $50. The book then lacked one leaf or more at the beginning, but was described as being otherwise in good condition. After Mr. Philes had sold it to one of his customers, the book was sent to Paris, where the imperfections were supplied by facsimile, and it was handsomely bound. According to Mr. Phileas, it was afterwards offered for sale in London at a large price. The name of the present owner has not been ascertained. Information furnished by Mr. Lloyd, in letters of December 19th and 31st, 1839.

Further research will bring to light many more copies of the Indian bible. In 1858, Mr. John R. Bartlett prepared a list of 13 copies of the first edition, and 14 copies of the second, which was printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. Mr. E. B. O'Callaghan, in his American Bibles (Albany, 1861), pp. 12, 18, mentioned 15 of the first edition, 19 of the second, and 2 of which the dates were not ascertained. Mr. Thomas W. Field named 23 copies of the first edition in his Essay towards an Indian Bibliography (New York, 1873), p. 120. The largest list hitherto published is that in Mr. Nathaniel Paine's Brief Notice of the Library of the American Antiquarian Society (Worcester, 1873), pp. 54, 55, in which 26 copies of the first edition are mentioned, and 28 of the second. These four lists contain only copies owned in the United States.

Richard Baxter's Call to the Unconverted was first printed at London in 1637. This is Mr. Eliot's translation of it into the Massachusetts Indian language. The above title, excepting the imprint, is copied from the reprint of 1688.

Eliot (J.) — Continued.

The records of the Commissioners show that the book was printed by Marmaduke Johnson, "with our owne printer," Samuel Green.

On the 6th of July (6th of the 5th), 1663, Mr. Eliot wrote from Roxbury to Mr. Richard Baxter in London, as follows: "My Work about the Indian Bible being (by the good hand of the Lord, though not without difficulties) finished, I am meditating what to do next for these Sons of this our Morning: they having no Books for their private use, of ministerial composing.

. . . I have therefore purposed in my heart (seeing the Lord is yet pleased to prolong my life) to translate for them a little Book of yours, intituled, (A Call to the Unconverted): The keenness of the Edge, and liveliness of the Spirit of that Book, through the blessing of God, may be of great use unto them. But seeing you are yet in the Land of the Living, (and the good Lord prolong your days) I would not presume to do such a thing, without making mention thereof unto your self, that so I might have the help and blessing of your Counsel and Prayers. I believe it will not be unacceptable to you, that the Call of Christ by your holy Labours, shall be made to speak in their Ears, in their own Language, that you may preach unto our poor Indians. I have begun the Work already, and find a great difference in the Work from my former Translation: I am forced sometime to alter the Phrase, for the facilitating and fitting it to our Language, in which I am not so strict as I was in the Scripture. Some things which are fitted for English People, are not fit for them, and in such cases, I make bold to fit it for them. But I do little that way, knowing how much beneath Wisdom it is, to shew a Man's self witty, in mending another Man's Work," etc. The Commissioners also wrote to the Corporation in England, concerning the printer Marmaduke Johnson, on the 18th of September, 1663: "the bible being finished . . . wee shall endeavour to employ him as wee can by printing the psalmes and another little Treatise of Mr. Baxters which Mr. Elliott is translating into the Indian language which is thought may be usefull and profitable to the Indians." In reply to Mr. Eliot's letter, Mr. Baxter wrote, in a letter dated from Acton near London, November 30th, 1663, as follows: "We very much rejoice in your happy Work (the Translation of the Bible) and bless God that hath strengthened you to finish it. If any thing of mine may be honoured to contribute in the least measure to your blessed Work, I shall have great cause to be thankful to God, and wholly submit the Alteration and use of it to your Wisdom. Methinks the Assemblies Catechism should be next the holy Scriptures, most worthy of your Labours." In the account of his own life and times (Reliquia Baxterianæ, London, 1696), Mr. Baxter also mentions this work: "Mr. Elliott sent the King first the New Testament and then the whole Bible, translated and printed in the Indians' Language: Such a Work and Fruit of a Plantation, as was never before presented to a King. And he sent word, that next he would print my Call to the Unconverted, and then The Practice of Piety: But Mr. Boyle sent him word it would be better taken here, if the Practice of Piety were printed before any thing of mine." In another place he writes: "When Mr. Eliot had printed all the Bible in the Indians' language, he next translated this, my Call to the Unconverted, as he wrote to us here: and though it was here thought prudent to begin with the Practice of Piety, because of the envy and distaste of the times against me, he had finished it before that advice came to him."

Mr. Eliot finished this translation on the last day of the year, as appears from the date at the end of the reprint: "Finitur, 1663, December 31." It went to the press early in 1664, and was finished in or before August of the same year. On the 7th of March, 1664, the Corporation in London wrote to the Commissioners in New England: "wee can not but take notice of Mr. Eliots great paines and labour amongst the poor Indians and the good Effect that hath followed therevpon: and alsoe his care in translating the bible into the Indian Language and attending vpon the Correcting of the presse whiles the said bible was printing: and now his translating a treatise of Mr. Baxters into the said Language: which althoe att present wee can not gratefully acknowledge: yet when enabled therevnto shall indeauor to make a proportionable Requittall."

After the book had been printed, Mr. Eliot wrote to the Commissioners at Hartford, on the "25 of the 6th [August 25th, 16]64," as follows: "Touching the Presse, I thank God & yourselfes for the good successe of the work in it. Mr. Baxters Call is printed and disposed. . . . My request also, in respect to Mr. Johnson is, that seeing the Lord hath made him instrumentall to finish the Bible, and Baxter, and is now returning for Engl<sup>d</sup>, you would please to give him his due encouragmt, and such farther countenance and commendation, as your wisd<sup>ts</sup> shall see meet to afford him." When the Commissioners met at Hartford in September, 1664, they wrote to the Corporation in England: "wee dismissed Marmaduke Johnson the Printer att the end of his tearme agreed for having Improved him as well as wee could for the yeare past by employing him with our owne printer to print such Indian workes as could be prepared which hee was not able to do alone with such other English Treatises which did present; for which allowance hath bene made proportionable to his laboure." They also added, in the same letter: "the number of Bibles with Psalm books printed were upwards of a thousand; of Baxters Call 16,000, of Psalters 500 diuers wherof all sorts are disposed to the Indians and the rest redely for the use as they can be bound vp and there may bee occasion." FAC-SIMILE OF THE TITLE-PAGE OF BAYLY'S PRACTICE OF PIETY, 1685.

Mr. Eliot's translation into the Massachusetts Indian language of Lewis Bayly's Practice of Piety, but "considerably abridged," according to Dr. Trumbull, whose translation of the Indian title is given above. The author of this treatise was bishop of Bangor, and died in 1631. His "sole claim to fame," as Prof. Tout remarks, "is the above-mentioned 'Practice of Piety' which, published early in the century, obtained at once the extraordinary popularity that it long maintained in puritan circles. The date of its first publication is not known, but in 1613 it had reached its third, and in 1619 its seventh edition. In 1630 a twenty-fifth edition, and in 1735 a fifty-ninth edition was published." The printed list of editions and translations of the Practice of Piety, prepared by William Cooke, F. S. A., contains seventy-eight titles. Mr. J. E. Bailey, F. S. A., has called attention to the entry by John Hodge ttee, in the Stationers Hall Register (iii, 475), on 11 Jan., 1611-12, of what was probably the first edition of the book.

On the 6th of the 5th (August 6th), 1663, Mr. Eliot wrote to Mr. Richard Baxter in London, announcing that he had begun to translate into the Indian language that author's Call to the Unconverted. "When this Work is done," he then continues, "if the Lord shall please to prolong my Life, I am meditating of Translating some other Book, which may prescribe to them the way and manner of a Christian Life and Conversation, in their daily Course; and how to worship God, on the Sabbath, fasting, feasting days, and in all Acts of Worship, publick, private and secret; and for this purpose I have thoughts of translating for them, the Practice of Piety, or some other such Book: In which Case I request your Advice to me; for if the Lord give opportunity, I may hear from you if you see cause so far to take Notice hereof; before I shall be ready to begin a new work; especially because the Psalms of David in Metre in their Language, are going now to the Press, which will be some Diversion of me, from a present Attention upon these other proposed Works." Reliquie Baxteriane, p. 293. In the account of his own life Mr. Baxter writes of Eliot: "And he sent word, that next he would print my Call to the Unconverted, and then The Practice of Piety: But Mr. Boyle sent him word it would be better taken here, if the Practice of Piety were printed before any thing of mine." This advice did not reach Mr. Eliot until after he had finished his translation of Baxter's Call. On the 25th of August, 1661, he wrote to the Commissioners at Hartford: "Touching the Press I thank God & yourselves for the good success of the work in it. Mr. Baxter's Call is printed and dispensed. And though I have Mr. Shepard's Synecaro Cony & Sound Be- ever all most translated, though not fitted and finished for the Presse, yet by advertizing from the honorable Corporation, I must lay that by and fall upon the Practice of Piety, w<sup>ch</sup> I had intended to be the last: therefore this winter I purpose, if the Lord will, to set upon that booke." In their next letter to the Corporation in England, the Commissioners wrote, from Hartford, September 1st, 1664, that they had dismissed Marmaduke Johnson the printer, and that "for after time wee hope to have all books for the Indians v<sup>se</sup> printed vpon ezier tearmes by our owne printer especially if it please your honors to send over a foule of Pica letters Roman and Italian which are much wanting for printinge the practice of piety and other workes: and see when the Presses shalbe Improve for the vse of the English wee shalbe carefull that due allowance be made to the Stocke for the same." The translation was finished by Mr. Eliot in 1665, and the book was printed in the same year, probably by Samuel Green. Under date of September 13th, 1667, the records of the Commissioners contain the following charge for binding: "To two hundred Practice of piety at 6d. . . 54.

The second edition of Mr. Eliot's translation of Bayly's Practice of Piety into the Massachusetts Indian language. Dr. Trumbull has called attention to the four typographical errors in the title. The printing of this edition was probably begun late in 1665 and finished in the summer of the following year. On the 29th of August, 1666 Mr. Eliot wrote from Roxbury to the Hon. Robert Boyle: "Our Indian work yet liveth, praised be God. the bible is come forth, many hundreds bound up, and dispersed to the Indians, whose thankfulness I intimate and tes-

A copy was sold in the library of Rev. William Jenks, in Boston, December, 1867, for $61; and another, imperfect at beginning and end, for $8.50. In October, 1873, Mr. Quaritch advertised a copy for sale (291 Catalogue, no. 18671), from the library of Charles Nodier, bound in red morocco by Thompson of Paris, for 50l. It was bought by Mr. Brinley, and at the sale of his library in New York, March, 1879 (no. 797), it was purchased for $50 for the Lenox Library. Mr. Brinley's other copy (no. 796), lacking seven leaves, and bound in blue levant morocco by Bedford, was bought at the same sale by Dr. Trumbull, for $42.50.

The language of which this grammar treats was specifically that of the Massachusetts tribes of Indians, dwelling near the sea-coast of the present state of Massachusetts. "It was spoken," according to Dr. Trumbull, "with some differences of dialect which cannot now be accurately indicated, by the Wampanoags of Plymouth colony, the Narragansets and Niantics, the islanders of Nope (Martha's Vineyard), the Montauks, &c." In the introduction to the reprint of the grammar, Dr. John Pickering remarks: "It has also been called the Nonantum language; but more frequently the Natick tongue, apparently from the accidental circumstance, that Eliot established his first Indian church in the town called Natick, which was near Boston and was once the town of greatest note among the Indians in this quarter." Mr. Eliot himself writes: "We Massachusetts pronounce the n. The Nipmuk Indians pronounce r." To illustrate this difference in pronunciation he mentions the word for dog (Anim, Atum, and Arum) in these three dialects.

In Mr. Eliot's letter of August 25th, 1664 (25 of the 6th, 64), to the Commissioners at Hartford, informing them that the Corporation in England had advised him to make a translation of the Practice of Piety, he adds: "they are pleased to put me upon a Grammar, with my sons; and I have of, but now I must (if the Lord give strength) be doing about it. But able to do much in it, because with the latitudes and corners of the language general and useful collections, I hope will enable us to produce. And for my request is, that you would continue my interpreter's salary, which is more added to what I was bold to make of afore." He also wrote to Mr. Boyle, 26th, 1664: "You are pleased to intimate a memorandum of your desires, may be a grammar of our Indian language, for publick and after use, whereas I doubt not but it springeth from so my answer unto yourself about most proper. I and my sons (John) have often spoken about it. But your intimation as a command to me. When I have finished the translation of Practice of Piety, my purpose is, if that and that I do live, to set upon some beginning of reducing this language, which, in the most common and usual I do see, is reducible; though there are anomalies full of difficulty to understand under any stated rule, as yourself knoweth better than I, it is in all languages. I have much either insight or judgment, as to undertake anything worthy the name of a grammar; only some preparatory collection tending, which may be of use unto such as may be studious to learn the language. I desire, if God will, to take it in. But this is a work for the morning; my work is translation, which, by your help, I desire to attend unto."

The grammar was finished and 1666, in an edition, probably, of about 100 copies, according to Dr. Trumbull. The records of the Commissioners contain, under date of September 13th, 1667, the following for binding: "To 4 hundred and fifty Grammars at 3s. a hundred," 13s. 0. On this charge it may be inferred that they were merely sewed and issued in pages. Some copies may have been sent to England in sheets, to be bound there for press. Dr. Trumbull supposes that "a few with copies of the New Testament [sic];" and Mr. Thomas says that "printed some copies of the Psalter; were occasionally bound together in one small octavo [sic]."

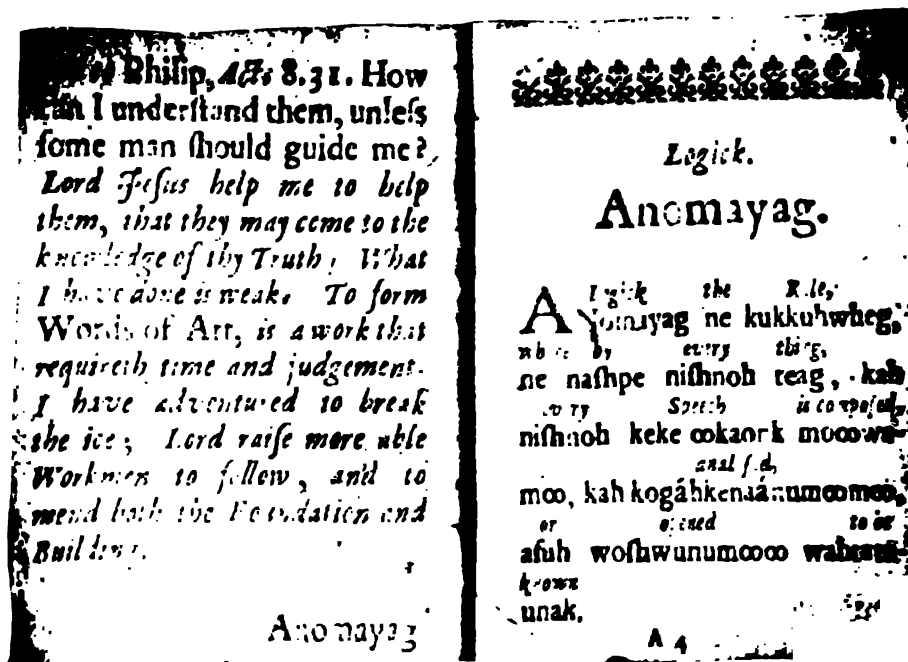

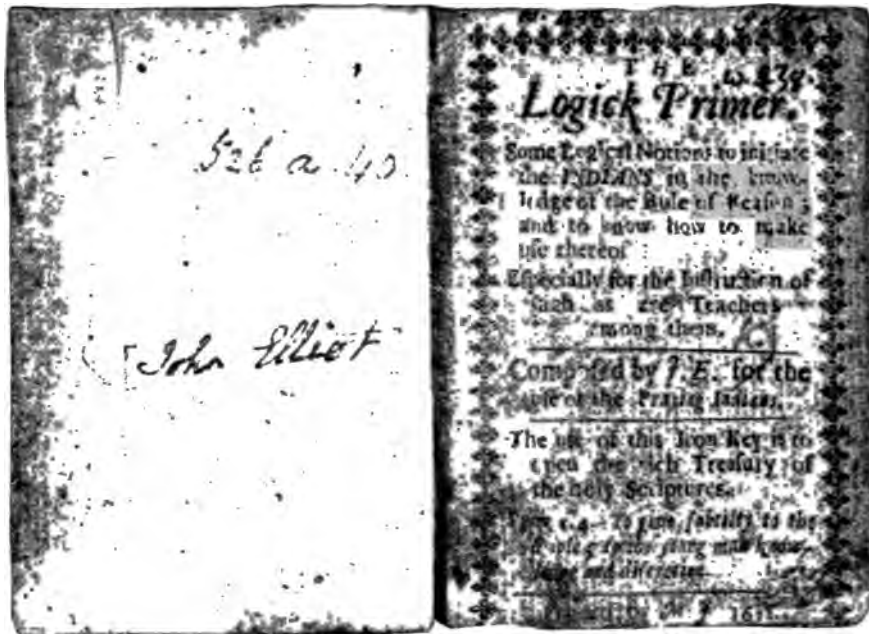

In the dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle prefixed to the book, Mr. Eliot writes: "I was pleased . . . to Command me in this aspect have your so wise and salutary Motions, to my heart) to Compile a Grammar of this Language, for the help of those who have an heart to study and learn the . . . In 1670, Mr. Eliot set up at Natick "a lecture in logic and theology," which was attended by the Indians once every fortnight during the summer season. The purpose of the lecture was "the better to prepare and furnish them with abilities to explicate and apply the scriptures." On the 20th of September of the same year he wrote to the Corporation in London about the work among the Indians as follows: "And seeing they must have Teachers amongst themselves, they must also be taught to be Teachers: for which cause I have begun to teach them the Art of Teaching, and I find some of them very capable. And while I live, my purpose is (by the Grace of Christ assisting) to make it one of my chief cares and labours to teach them some of the Liberal Arts and Sciences, and the way how to analyze, and lay out into particulars both the Works and Word of God; and how to communicate knowledge to others methodically and skillfully, and especially the method of Divinity." He also wrote to the Hon. Robert Boyle, in a letter dated September 30th, 1670: "Touching the present state of this work with the Indians . . . your honour will see, that I have undertaken and begun a kind of academical reading unto them, in their own language, thereby to teach the teachers and rulers, and all that are desirous of learning." Concerning this undertaking Dr. Francis remarks: "We cannot suppose that he purposed, or expected, to indoctrinate the natives in the technical forms or subtle distinctions of the logic of the schools. The object of his lectures was to accustom them, in some degree, to clear and methodical habits of thought, that they might arrange and express their ideas on religious subjects with propriety. These instructions seem to have been designed chiefly for such as were to be trained to the office of teaching and expounding. In aid of this design, Eliot published, in 1672, an Indian Logick Primer, which was printed by Johnson at Cambridge. Natick became a kind of seminary, from which teachers went forth among their brethren at the other stations."

At a meeting of the Commissioners, held in New Plymouth, September 6th, 1672, it was resolved, that "Mr. Hezekiah Vsher is ordered to pay out of the Indian Stocke in his custody . . . To Mameduke Johnson for printing stitching and cutting of a thousand Indian Logick Primers" 6*l*.

The following introductory remarks are prefixed to the book: "These few short Logickall Notions are onely for a Thrill, to lead my Readings to them, and to guide them to follow me through the principal and most usefull Principles, whereby they may be in some measure enabled to understand, open, and improve the plain things of the Kingdome of Christ Jesus revealed in the Scriptures. And touching these Notes, I may say as the Eunuch said to Philip, Acts 8. 31. How can I understand them, unless some man should guide me? Lord Jesus help me to help them, that they may come to the knowledge of thy Truth! What I have done is weak. To form Words of Art, is a work that requireth time and judgement. I have adventured to break the ice; Lord raise more able Workmen to follow, and to mend both the Foundation and Building."

Dr. Trumbull gives a brief title of this little primer in his list of "Books and tracts in the Indian Language or designed for the use of the Indians," but he had not seen it and evidently was not aware of its being in the Indian language, as he classes it with the Indian Dialogues of 1671, which is entirely in English. For the clue to its Indian contents we are indebted to Mr. H. R. Tedder's article on Eliot in the Dictionary of National Biography, vol. 17 (London, 1886), p. 191, where it is described for the first time as "in Indian, with interlinear translation." The authorities of the British Museum kindly permitted the whole book to be photographed (full size), and from these negatives, now in the possession of the compiler of this bibliography, a half-dozen photographic copies have been made. (Eames, Dr. George H. Moore, Pilling, Powell.)

The only copy we have been able to trace is in the British Museum, press-mark 526. a. 40. According to Dr. Trumbull a copy was also in the Bodleian, but the librarian, Dr. E. B. Nicholson, writes (December 5th, 1839,) that no copy of the book is in that library.

Believer all most translated, though not fitted and finished for the Press, yet by advertizing to the honorable Corporation, I must lay that by and fall upon the Practice of Piety. w<sup>ch</sup> I had intended to be the last." Twenty-four years later, in a letter to the Hon. Robert Boyle, dated July 7th, 1688, he mentions "Mr. John Cotton, who helped me much in the second edition of the bible," and then adds: "And also I must commit to him the care and labour of the revision of two other small treatises, viz. Mr. Sheppard's Sincere Convert and Sound Believer, which I translated into the Indian language many years since; and now I hope, that the honourable corporation will be at the charge to print them, by your honour's favour and countenance. But I cannot commit them to the press without a careful revision, which now but Mr. Cotton is able to help me to perform."

The Sincere Convert was printed in the following year, with the Indian title given above. It was revised for the press, however, not by Mr. Cotton, but by the Rev. Grindall Rawson, minister of the church in Mendon, "who had learned to preach to the Indians in their own language, and was for many years active in mission work among them." Mr. Eliot's Indian translation of the Sound Believer was probably never printed. The first edition of the Sincere Convert in English is dated London, 1641; the first edition of the Sound Believer, London, 1645.

Copies seen: American Antiquarian Society, Brown, Lenox, Trumbull, Yale.

A copy of this book, lacking the title and bound with Rawson's Nashuanittue Meninunk of 1691, brought $12 at the sale of the Rev. William Jenks's library in 1867. One of Mr. Bradley's copies, bound in blue levant morocco by Bedford, sold in 1879 (no. 803) for $40. Mr. Bartlett buying it for the Brown collection; another, bound with Rawson's Nashuanittue Meninunk of 1691, in blue morocco by Bedford, (no. 804), was purchased for Yale College library for $100; and a third copy, with the title and next leaf in fac-simile, and bound in olive morocco by Bedford (no. 805), was bought by Dr. Trumbull for $21.

John Eliot was born in England, probably in the beginning of August, 1604, and died at Roxbury in Massachusetts, in May, 1690. The place of his birth is not known with certainty. Several of his biographers locate it at Nasing in the county of Essex; but later researches seem to fix it at Widdford in Hertfordshire, where the record is found of his baptism on the 5th of August, 1604. Bennett Eliot, his father, held lands in both of the above named counties from the profits of which the sum of 8*l.* yearly was set apart by will, November 5th, 1621, for the maintenance of John at college. On the 20th of March, 1619, John Eliot was entered as a pensioner at Jesus College in Cambridge, where he graduated in 1622 with the degree of bachelor of arts. About the year 1630, he was employed as an assistant in a school at Little Baddow, near Chelmsford, in Essex, which was kept by the Rev. Thomas Hooker, who had been silenced for nonconformity, and who afterwards became the first minister of the church in Cambridge (then called Newtown), New England. While living in Mr. Hooker's family, a change took place in Mr. Eliot's belief, which led him to join the dissenters, although he had probably taken orders in the Church of England. Having resolved to devote himself to the ministry, he decided to leave his native land in order to obtain the liberty of preaching without restraint, and to escape the persecution which followed nonconformists in England. He accordingly sailed for America, and early in November, 1631, landed at Boston. For several months he preached for the church in that town, during the temporary absence of its minister, the Rev. John Wilson. On the 4th of September, 1632, he was married; and on the 5th of November of the same year he was ordained as teacher of the church in Roxbury, which office he held more than fifty-seven years. Twice during this long period, from 1641 to 1650, and from 1673 to 1688, he was without clerical assistance in his ministerial work. His first colleague was the Rev. Thomas Welde, from 1633 to 1641. In 1634, Mr. Eliot incurred the displeasure of the colonial magistrates by a sermon in which he criticised their conduct in making a treaty with the Pequot Indians without first obtaining the consent of the people. For these injudicious animadversions he was required to make a public apology. Three years later he took part in the examination and trial of Mrs. Hutchinson, which resulted in the excommunication and banishment of that religious enthusiast from the colony. In 1639, he was selected, with Rev. Thomas Welde and Rev. Richard Mather, to prepare a new version of the psalms of David in English metre. This joint undertaking was completed and printed in the following year as The Whole Book of Psalms, more generally known as the Bay Psalm Book. It was the first book printed in the English American colonies.

At the time of Mr. Eliot's arrival in Massachusetts there were five principal nations of Indians, as enumerated by Mr. Gookin, dwelling within the confines of New England, all of whom used "the same sort of speech and language," but with differences of dialect. The first of these nations, the Pequots or Pequods, "were a people seated in the most southerly bounds of New England," within the limits of the present State of Connecticut. "Their chief sachem held dominion over divers petty sagamores, as over part of Long Island, over the Mohegans, and over the sagamores of Quinapeake, yea over all the people that dwell upon Connecticut river and over some of the most southerly inhabitants of the Nipmuck country, about Quinabaag. The principal sachem lived at, or about, Pequot, now called New London." This nation was conquered and broken up by the English in 1637. The territory subject to the sachem of the Narragansetts, the second great nation, "extended about thirty or forty miles from Sekunk river and Narragansitt bay, including Rhode Island and other islands in that bay, being their east and north bounds or border, and so running westerly and southerly unto a place called Wekapage, four or five miles to the eastward of Pawcutuk river, which was reckoned for their south and west border, and the easternmost limits of the Pequots. This sachem held dominion over divers petty governments: as part of Long Island, Block Island, Casewitt, Niantick, and others: and had tribute from some of the Nipmuck Indians, that lived remote from the sea. The chief seat of this sachem was about Narragansitt bay and Cannonicent island. . . . The jurisdiction of Rhode Island and Providence plantations, and part of Connecticut people, possess their country." The third nation, called Wampanoags or Pawkunnawkuttis (Pokanoketts), "lived to the east and northeast of the Narragansitts: and their chief sachem held dominion over divers other petty sagamores: as the sagamores upon the island of Nantuckett, and Nope, or Martha's Vineyard, of Nawsitt, of Mannamoyk, of Sawkattukett, Nohsquisitt, Matakees, and several others, and some of the Nipmucks. Their country, for the most part, falls within the jurisdiction of New Plymouth colony." The Massachusetts, "being the next great people northward, inhabited principally about that place in Massachusetts bay, where the body of the English now dwell. These were a numerous and great people. Their chief sachem held dominion over many other petty governments: as those of Wechagaskas, Neponsett, Punkapaog, Nonantum, Nashawav, some of the Nipmuck people, as far as Pokomtucke, as the old men of Massachusetts affirmed. . . . They were in hostility very often with the Narragansitts: but held amity, for the most part, with the Pawkunnawkuttis, who lived on the south border, and with the Pawtucketts, who inhabited on their north and northeast limits. . . . Pawtucket is the fifth and last great sachemship of Indians. Their country, both north and northeast from the Massachusetts, whose dominion reacheth so far as the English jurisdiction, or colony of the Massachusetts, doth now extend, and had under them several other smaller sagamores: as the Pennakooks, Agawomes, Naanakees, Pascatawayes, Acominas, and others."

An account of the earliest attempts to civilize and convert these tribes was printed at London in 1643, in the tract entitled New Englands First Fruits, in which an appeal was also made to help to continue the work. Among the difficulties of the undertaking, enumerated in that publication, was "the diversity of their own language to it selfe; every part of that Countrey having its own Dialect, differing much from the other."

It was among the Massachusetts Indians that Mr. Eliot began his missionary labors. He commenced the study of their language probably about the year 1643, or perhaps earlier. In a letter dated February 2d, 1649 (2. of the 12. 1648), he wrote: "There is an Indian living with Mr. Richard Callicott of Dorchester, who was taken in the Pequott Warres, though belonging to Long Island; this Indian is ingenious: can read: and I taught him to write, which he quickly learnt, though I know not what use he now maketh of it: He was the first that I made use of to teach me words, and to be my Interpreter." At the end of his Indian grammar (Cambridge, 1660), Mr. Eliot gives the following account of his method of learning the language: "I have now finished what I shall do at present: And in a word or two to satisfie the prudent Enquirer how I found out these new wayes of Grammar, which no other Learned Language (so farre as I know) useth: I thus inform him: God first put into my heart a compassion over their poor Soules, and a desire to teach them to know Christ, and to bring them into his Kingdome. Then presently I found out (by Gods wise providence) a pregnant witted young man, who had been a Servant in an English house, who pretty well understood our Language, better then he could speak it, and well understood his own Language, and hath a clear pronounciation: Him I made my Interpreter. By his help I translated the Commandments, the Lords Prayer, and many Texts of Scripture: also I compiled both Exhortations and Prayers by his help. I diligently marked the difference of their Grammar from ours: When I found the way of them, I would pursue a Word, a Noun, a Verb, through all variations I could think of. And thus I came at it. We must not sit still, and look for Miracles: Up, and be doing, and the Lord will be with thee. Prayer and Pains, through Faith in Christ Jesus, will do any thing."

In 1646 Mr. Eliot began to preach to the Indians in their own tongue. About the middle of September he addressed a company of the natives in the wigwam of Cutshamoquin, the sachem of Neponset, within the limits of Dorchester. His next attempt was made among the Indians of another place, "those of Dorchester mill not regarding any such thing." On the 26th of October he delivered a sermon before a large number assembled in the principal wigwam of a chief named Waban, situated four or five miles from Roxbury, on the south side of the Charles river near Watertown mill, now in the township of Newton. The services were commenced with prayer, which, as Mr. Shepard relates, "now was in English, being not so farre acquainted with the Indian language as to expresse our hearts herein before God or them." After Mr. Eliot had finished his discourse, which was in the Indian language, he "asked them if they understood all that which was already spoken, and whether all of them in the Wigwam did understand or only some few! and they answered to this question with multitude of voyces, that they all of them did understand all that which was then spoken to them." He then replied to a number of questions which they propounded to him, "borrowing now and then some small helpe from the Interpreter whom wee brought with us, and who could oftentimes expresse our minds more distinctly then any of us could." Three more meetings were held at this place in November and December of the same year, accounts of which are given by the Rev. Thomas Shepard in the tract entitled The Day-Breaking, if not the Sun-Rising of the Gospell with the Indians in New-England, London, 1647.

In the meantime (November, 1646), the general court of Massachusetts had passed an order for the appointment of a committee to purchase lands for an Indian settlement on the site where these meetings were held, "for y<sup>e</sup> encouragement of y<sup>e</sup> Indians to live in an orderly way amongst us . . . & further, to set downe rules for their impove & enjoying thereof." The place was called Nonantum or Noonatomen by Mr. Eliot, "which signifies in English rejoicing." The word Nonantum, according to Dr. Trumbull, means literally "I rejoice," or "am well-minded." The form Noonatomen (or Noontassum) is plural, "We rejoice." This was the first Indian mission established in New England. The Indians of Concord, when they heard of these things, requested Mr. Eliot to visit and teach them too, which he did whenever he had an opportunity. They also obtained permission from the English to begin a mission settlement of their own, in January, 1647. Mr. Shattuck, in his History of Concord, as quoted in Francis's Life of John Eliot, doubts whether there was, as has often been stated, any definite grant of land to the Indians, either at Concord or Nonantum. He thinks "they lived by sufferance on lands claimed by the English, prior to their gathering at Natick." Another mission was also begun at Neponset, about four miles south of Roxbury, among the Indians of Dorchester, at the request of their sachem Cutshamoquin, who had formerly given Mr. Eliot so little encouragement. Here he set up a second lecture, which was continued for several years with the lecture at Nonantum.

In 1647 the Indians commenced to fence in the grounds of their new settlement and to build a stone wall, for the making of which Mr. Eliot provided them with shovels, spades, mattocks, and crowes of iron, "and to encourage their slothfulness, promised to give a groat or sixpence a rod, if they would thus farre attend their own good, and work for themselves." They "call upon me," he writes, September 26th, 1647, "to help them with tools faster then I can get them, though I have now bought pretty store, and they (I hope) are at work. The women are desirous to learn to spin, and I have procured wheels for sundry of them, and they can spin pretty well. They begin to grow industrious, and find something to sell at market all the yeer long." In March the ministers of Boston visited the "Indian Lecture" at Nonantum, for the purpose of inspecting the new undertaking. Several months later Mr. Eliot accompanied Mr. Wilson and Mr. Shepard on a visit to Yarmouth, where he improved the opportunity by preaching "to the poore Indians in these remote places about Cape Cod." According to Mr. Shepard's account of this journey, "We first found these Indians (not very farre from ours) to understand (but with much difficulty) the usuall language of those in our parts, partly in regard of the different dialect which generally varies in 40. or 60. miles, and partly and especially in regard of their not being accustomed unto sacred language about the holy things of God, wherein Mr. Eliot excels any other of the English, that in the Indian language about common matters excell him: I say therefore although they did with much difficulty understand him, yet they did understand him, although by many circumlocutions and variations of speech and the helpe of one or two Interpreters, which were then present." Before the end of the year Mr. Eliot went on a journey up the country towards Merrimack river, for the purpose of preaching to the Indians in that neighborhood. Further particulars of these visits are given in Shepard's Clear Sunshine of the Gospell breaking forth upon the Indians in New-England, London, 1648.

In the summer of 1648 Mr. Eliot made four visits to the western Indians, who lived about forty miles from Roxbury, and induced Shawanon, "the great Sachem of Nashawog," to listen to his preaching. He also visited some of the southern Indians at Tihcarutt or Titicut. In one of his letters he remarks: "There is a great fishing place upon one of the Falls of Merrimack River called Pantucket, where is a great confluence of the Indians every Spring, and thither I have gone these two yeares in that season, and intend so to doe next Spring (if God will.) . . . This last Spring I did there meet old Papassaconaway, who is a great Sagamore, and hath been a great Witch in all mens esteem . . . and a very politick wise man. The last yeare he and all his sommes fled when I came, pretending feare that we would kill him: But this yeare it pleased God to bow his heart to heare the word. . . . There is another great fishing place about threescore miles from us, whether I intend (God willing) to go next Spring, which belongeth to the fore-named Papassaconaway; which journey, though it be like to be both difficult and chargeable for horse and men, in fitting provisions, yet I have sundry reasons which bow and draw my heart therunto." In another place he writes: "Some of Sudbury Indians, some of Concord Indians, some of Mestic Indians, and some of Dedham Indians are ingenious, and pray unto God, and somesquared for the building of a meeting house and fort. In a letter dated October 21st Mr. Eliot writes: "Our work in civilizing them will go on the more slowly for want of tools; for though I have bought a few for them, we can do but little, for alas a few will set but a few on work, and they be very dear too." His remarks in another place: "In prosecution of this work in the year 1650 we begun by the Lords assistance our first Towne at Natick, where we built a Fort, and one dwelling-house." The name is said to signify "a place of hills." See Mr. Eliot's letters in Whitfield's tract entitled, The Light appearing more and more towards the perfect Day, or, A farther Discovery of the present state of the Indians in New-England, London, 1651.

Mr. Eliot had been without an assistant in the ministry of the church in Roxbury since 1641; but the increase in his missionary labors now made some help necessary. The Rev. Thomas Danforth was therefore ordained, on the 24th of September, 1650, to be his colleague in that church, which office he filled for twenty-four years.

In 1651, some of the tools and other necessities having arrived from England, the "praying Indians" were removed from Nonantum to Natick, where the work of laying out the town was completed. On the 28th of April, Mr. Eliot wrote: "Besides those works which concerne Religion and Learning, we are also a doing (according to the measure of our day of small things) in the civil part of this work, we have set out some part of the Town in several streets, measuring out and dividing of Lots, which I set them to doe, and teach them how to doe it: many have planted Apple-Trees, and they have begun divers Orchards, it's now planting-time, and they be full of businesse. . . . We also have begun a Pallizadoe Fort, in the midst whereof we intend a meeting-house and a Schoole-house, but we are in great want of Toolles, and many necessities, and when we cannot goe we must be content to creep: this present week I am going to Pawtucket, the great Fishing place upon Merimek, where I hear sundry doe expect my coming, with a purpose to submit themselves unto the Lords hand." Another letter, written towards the end of the year, continues the relation: "Therefore upon the sixt day of the sixt Moneth of this present year [August 6th, 1651], (their Pallizadoe Fort being finished) they had a great meeting, and many came together from diverse parts, . . . and finally they did solemnly choose two Rulers among themselves, they first chose a Ruler of an Hundred, then they chose two Rulers of Fifties, then they chose Ten or Tithing Men. . . . And lastly, for that dayes work every man chose who should be his Ruler of ten, the Rulers standing in order, and every man going to the man he chose. . . . After this work was ended, they did enter into Covenant with God, and each other, to be the Lords people, and to be governed by the word of the Lord in all things." In October, Governor Endicott and about thirty of the chief men of Boston, visited Mr. Eliot's lecture "at Natick, the new Indian Towne."

In the same year, Mr. Winthrop advised Mr. Eliot, "to send two discreet men to the greatest and most potent Sachem among the Narragansets, to answer such Questions as they might propound, and to stirre them up to call on God." He therefore writes: "I did accordingly, and sent him a Present by them; but the proud Sachem did little lesse than despise the offer, though he tooke the present; So they thought they should have returned without successe; but when they came among the people, especially such as were a little more remote from the great and proud ones, they received them with great gladnesse. . . . There is a great Countrey lying between Conectacott and the Massachusetts, called Nipnet, where there be many Indians dispersed, many of which have sent to our Indians, desiring that some may be sent unto them to teach them to pray unto God. And sometimes some of our best men doe goe to severall places for a little while, and returne againe, and not without successe." On the 20th of October there came to the general court of Massachusetts, "one Pummakummin Sachem of Quinubbaggie, dwelling amongst or neer to the Narragansets, who offered himselfe and his Men to worship God, and desired that some English may be sent from the Massachusetts Government to plant his River, that thereby he may be pertaker of Government, and may be instructed by the English to know God." Mr. Eliot's letters describing the events of this year were printed in the tract entitled, Strength out of Weaknesse; Or a Glorious Manifestation Of the further Progress of the Gospel among the Indians in New-England, London, 1652.

The Indians of Natick being now, as Mr. Eliot remarks, "come under Civil Order, and fixing themselves in Habitations, and bending themselves to labor, as doth appear by their works of Fencings, Buildings &c. and especially in building without any English Workmans help, or direction a very sufficient Meeting-House, of fifty foot long twenty five foot broad, neer twelve foot high betwixt the joints, wel sawen and framed (which is a specimen, not only of their singular ingenuity, and dexterity, but also of some industry) I say this being so, now my argument of delaying them from entering into Church-Estate, was taken away. Therefore in way of preparation of them thereunto, I did this Summer [1652] call forth sundry of them in the dayes of our publick Assemblies in Gods Worship; sometimes on the Sabbath when I could be with them, and sometimes on Lecture daies, to make confession before the Lord of their former sins, and of their present knowledg of Christ, and experience of his Grace which they solemnly doing, year 1689 was also the date of the organization at Natick, after nine years of probation, of the first Indian church in Massachusetts colony. One Indian church had already been formed on Martha's Vineyard in the preceding year, under the care of Mr. Thomas Mayhew.

In 1661, the printing of the Indian new testament was finished, and in the following year a second edition of the primer or catechism was issued. The old testament and metrical psalms followed in 1663. The Indian translations of Baxter's Call to the Unconverted and of Bayly's Practice of Piety were printed in 1664 and 1665. In the latter year, Mr. Eliot's treatise in English, entitled Communion of Churches, was printed by Marmaduke Johnson at Cambridge. It is supposed to be the "first privately printed American book." The Indian Grammar was published in 1668. In 1668, Mr. Eliot's eldest son John, who had learned the Indian language and helped his father in preaching to the Indians, died on the 13th of October, aged about thirty-two years. The Indian Primer was printed in 1669. In the following year Mr. Eliot and Mr. John Cotton of Plymouth, visited Martha's Vineyard, and assisted Mr. Mayhew in the ordination of the convert Hiacommes as pastor of the Indian church there.

Mr. Eliot's Brief Narrative of the Progress of the Gospel amongst the Indians in New-England, in the Year 1670, was written on the 24th of September of that year, and printed at London in 1671. It contains the following particulars of the state of the mission, and a list of the praying towns. "Upon the 17th day of the 6th month [August] 1670," he writes, "there was a Meeting at Maktepog [Marshpee] near Sandwich in Plimouth-Patent, to gather a church amongst the Indians." This place was about sixty miles southeast of Natick. The converts there, "being of kin to our Massachusetts-Indians who first prayed unto God," had been taught by Mr. William Leveredge as early as 1652. After Mr. Leveredge removed to Long Island, Mr. Richard Bourne was encouraged by Mr. Eliot to undertake the charge of these Indians, and on this occasion he was ordained to be their pastor. Mr. Eliot then continues his relation: "From them we passed over to the Vinyard, where many were added to the Church both men and women, and were baptized all of them. . . . Foundation is laid for two Churches more. . . . Also the Teacher of the Praying Indians of Nantuket, with a Brother of his were received here . . . and being asked, did make report unto us that there be about ninety Families who pray unto God in that Island."

The towns of "praying Indians" in Massachusetts colony are described in the Brief Narrative in the following order: "Natick is our chief Town, where most and chief of our Rulers, and most of the Church dwells. . . . It is by Divine Providence seated well near in the center of all our praying Indians, though Westward the Cords of Christ's Tents are more enlarged. . . . We have betwixt forty and fifty Communicants at the Lord's Table." The next in order, "Ponkipog, or Pakeunitt [Pakemitt] is our second Town, where the Sachems of the Bloud (as they term their Chief Royal-Line) had their Residence and Rights, which are mostly Alienated to the English Towns." It was situated about fourteen miles south of Boston. Hassanamesut or Hassanamesitt was the third town "in order, dignity, and antiquity." It was about thirty-eight miles "west southerly" from Boston, and about two miles east of Nipmuck or Nipmuck river. The fourth town, Oquonikongquamesut or Okommakamesitt, was about twelve miles north northeast from Hassanamesitt and thirty miles west from Boston. "I was very lately among them," Mr. Eliot writes, and "they desired me to settle a stated Lecture amongst them, as it is in sundry other Praying Towns." Nashope or Nashohah was the fifth praying town. It was situated about twenty-five miles west northwest of Boston. "This place lying in the Road-way which the Manquaogs haunted, was much molested by them, and was one year wholly deserted; but this year the People have taken courage and dwell upon it again." Wamesut or Pawtucket was the sixth town. It was about twenty miles from Boston, north northwest, "at the bottom of the great Falls, or the great River Merynak, and at the falling-in of Concord River." This place was much resorted to by other Indians during the fishing season. Mr. Eliot visited it "but once in a year." The seventh town, Panatuket, "is the upper part of Mer-mak Falls, so called, because of the noise which the Waters make. Thither the Penagwog-Indians are come, and have built a great Fort. Their Sachems refused to pray to God. . . . But now since the Penagwog-Sachems are cut off, the People sundry of them dwelling at Panatuket-Fort do bow the Ear to hear, and submit to pray unto God." Magunkukquok or Magunkaquoq, the eighth town, was situated "at the remotest Westerly borders of Natick," about midway between that place and Hassanamesitt. This town was a "gathering together of some of the Nipmuck Indians who left their own places, and sit together in this place, and have given up themselves to pray unto God." The ninth place, Quanasisset, "is the last of our Praying Towns, whose beginnings have received too much discouragement; but yet the Seed is alive: they are frequently with me."

Mr. Eliot's little book entitled Indiana Dialectica was printed at Cambridge in 1671. It is entirely in English, but was intended for the use of the native Indian teachers and ministers, "for their Instruction in that great Service of Christ, in calling home their Country men to the Knowledge of God, and of themselves, and of Jesus Christ." In the introductory address to the Commissioners of the United Colonies, signed "J. E.," Mr. Eliot writes of the Indians: "God hath in mercy raised up sundry among themselves to a competent ability to teach their Countrymen. Many have been sent forth by the Church this Winter to divers places, and not without good success. . . . I finde it necessary for me to instruct them (as in Principles of Art, so) in the way of communicating the good knowledge of God, which I conceive is most familiarly done by way of Dialogues; an Essay whereunto I do here present unto you: purposing, if the Lord will, and that I live, to do more of the like kinde hereafter." In the preface he remarks: "These Dialogues are partly Historical, of some things that were done and said; and partly Instructive, to shew what might or should have been said, or that may be (by the Lords assistance) hereafter done and said, upon the like occasion. . . . For sundry weighty Reasons I desire and endeavour, that our Learned Indians should learn at least the English Tongue; our Indian Churches holding Communion with the English Churches, must perform that Service in the English Tongue. If the Lord give life, and length of dayes, I may hereafter put forth these or the like Dialogues in the Indian Tongue." The following extract is from page 14: "At first this [matter of praying to God] was a little thing, like a Cloud in the Vest of the bigness of a mans hand, but now the Cloud is great and wide, and spreadeth over all the Country. Nop and Nantuket, and Paumotuk Islands, Mashpeog, and many parts of the main Land, to the utmost bounds of this Country Eastward. And Westward, not only all the Massachusetts pray, but also a great part of Nipmuck." In 1671, the second Indian church in Massachusetts was organized at Hassanuesitt. The Leitch Primer, in Indian and English, which was printed in 1672, was also prepared by Mr. Eliot for the instruction of the native teachers.

On the 23d of August, 1673, Mr. Eliot wrote to the Rev. Increase Mather: "There be (through the grace of Christ) six churches gathered, according to the order of gathering churches among the English, one at Natick, one at Hecanuesett, 28 miles to the west, one at Mashpeog 29 miles east of Plymouth, two at Marty's Vineyard, and one at Nantucket. . . . All are furnished with officers, saving the church at Natick, and in modesty they sent off, because so long as I live, they say, there is no need; but we propose (God willing) not always to rest in this answer. . . . We have schools; many can read, some write, sundry able to exercise in publick, are sent by the church to teach in new praying places and who have note from the churches and some or other of them doe every lecture day, at Natick, to exerce their gifts two or three on a day, and moderate."

The Indian missionaries sent out from Mr. Eliot's school of logic and theology at Natick, in the winter of 1670-71 and in the three following years, for the purpose of preaching the gospel to the pagan tribes in the western parts of the colony, were the means of gathering nine more towns in the Nipmuck country. These towns were situated from forty to seventy miles west and southwest of Boston. Their names were Manchage, Chabanakong-komun, Maanexit, Quantiaset, Wabquiasit, Pakachoog, Waeuntug, Weshakim and Quabaug. In July, 1673, and again in September, 1674, Mr. Eliot visited most of these new places, in company with Mr. Daniel Gookin, the official superintendent of the Indians. The object of the journey was to confirm the new converts in the Christian religion, "to settle teachers in every town, and to establish civil government among them, as in other praying towns." At this period the fourteen principal towns of praying Indians under Mr. Eliot's supervision, within the jurisdiction of Massachusetts colony, were supposed to contain 1,100 souls, of which about 145 were at Natick. In Plymouth colony, and on the islands of Nantucket, Martha's Vineyard and Chappaquidick, the number of converts under the care of Mr. Richard Bourne and Mr. John Cotton was estimated at nearly 2,500. Mr. Eliot's catechisms and translations were probably used by all these Indians. On the 19th of November, 1674, the death of Mr. Danforth deprived Mr. Eliot of his colleague at Roxbury. During the next fourteen years he was without a helper in that church.

The disastrous war with Philip, sachem of Pokanoket and of all the Wampanoags, began in the latter part of June, 1675. Cotton Mather relates of this sachem that when Mr. Eliot once offered to preach to him and his people, "the Monster entertain'd it with Contempt and Anger, and after the Indian Mode of joining Signs with Words, he took a Button upon the Coat of the Reverend Man, adding, That he cared for his Gospel, just as much as he cared for that Button." The Narragansetts, who were Philip's allies, had also refused to listen to the teachers sent by Mr. Eliot. But after this war began, "the Lord Jesus," as Gookin remarks, "before the expiration of 18 months, destroyed the body of this Narragansett nation, that would not have him to reign over them." The severest effects of the war were felt by the inhabitants of Massachusetts colony, and by Mr. Eliot's Indian converts. The situation of the old praying towns was such, "that the Indians in them might have been improved as a wall of defence about the greatest part of the colony." But the advice and pleadings of Mr. Eliot in their behalf received but little attention. Both he and Mr. Gookin were publicly insulted and reviled for taking their part. The English, in their animosity against all Indians without exception, "could with difficulty be restrained from involving in one common destruction the whole race." The Indian towns in the Nipmuck country were forced to join the enemy. The other praying towns were broken up, and many of the converts were forced to flee from the English to the woods for safety. On the 30th of October, the Natick Indians, about 200 in number, were forcibly removed from their town, and confined on Deer Island, in Boston harbor, "encouraging and exhorting one another with prayers and tears." The Ponkipog Indians were taken to the same place about a month later, and the Nashobah Indians in the following February. Here they remained during the winter, exposed to much suffering. In May, 1676, after some of the ill feeling against them had subsided, they were taken back to the main land, where they were permitted to camp during the summer. In August, King Philip was slain, and the war soon after brought to a close. The Wampanoags and Narragansetts were almost exterminated. In the spring of 1677 the remnant of the praying Indians returned to their old plantations at Natick and Ponkipog, where they were encouraged and taught by Mr. Eliot. The eastern Indians of Cape Cod and other places in Plymouth colony, as well as those of Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard, "felt very little of this war comparatively."

Mr. Eliot's Harmony of the Gospels was printed in English at Boston in 1678. In the following year his Brief Answer To a Small Book written by John Norcut against Infant-Baptisme, was published at the same place. The new edition of the Indian bible, commenced in 1680, was five years in passing through the press. In a letter written by Mr. Eliot to the Hon. Robert Boyle, on the 15th of March, 1683, there is a reference to "those remote Indians, to the North-West, whose language agreeth with ours, so that they and we can speak to each other a understanding." Mr. Boyle had sent to him £4., which sum was intended to be used, whenever occasion offered, for a mission among these tribes. In the same letter Mr. Eliot mentions "our Wameset Indians, who are our most northerly plantation." Another letter to Boyle, dated April 22d, 1684, relates that "the stated places [of worship for the Indians], in the Massachusetts, since the wars, are contracted into four, Natick, Ponkipog, Wameset, and Olachaubaukkaskowok." In Plymouth colony there were about ten places, on Martha's Vineyard ten, and on Nantucket five. In 1685, a second edition was issued of Bayly's Practice of Piety in Indian. About the same time, or in the following year, there was printed probably at Cambridge, a little tract containing The Dying Speeches of several Indians. In the preface Mr. Eliot writes: "Here be But a few of the Dying Speeches & Counsels Of such Indians as dyed in the Lord. It is an humbling to me that there be no more, it was not in my heart to gather them, but Major Gookins hearing some of them rehearsed. He first moved that

Daniel should gather them, in the Language as they were spoken, and that I should translate them into English: and here is presented what was done that way. These things are Printed, not so much for Publishment, as to save charge of writing out of Copies for those that did desire them."

In 1684 Mr. Daniel Gookin, the eldest son of Major Gookin, began to learn the Indian language, and held a lecture once a month at Natick, when he preached to the Indians by the aid of an interpreter. This relieved Mr. Eliot to some extent. The church of Natick had received his special care ever since its organization, and had, therefore, always been without a minister of its own. As early as 1667, however, one of the Indian teachers, named Daniel Takawompait, was ordained to that office. On the 23d of March, 1687, Mr. Eliot's wife died, in the eighty-fourth year of her age. In the same year, probably, a new edition of the Indian primer was published, and in 1688 the Indian version of Baxter's Call to the Unconverted was reprinted. On the 17th of October, 1688, Mr. Nehemiah Walter was ordained as Mr. Eliot's colleague in the church at Roxbury, to relieve him from his labors there. The Indian translation of Shepard's Sinner's Convert, made many years before, was printed in 1689. It was the last of Mr. Eliot's publications. On the 21st of May, 1690, at about one o'clock in the morning, he died at Roxbury, in the eighty-sixth year of his age. Of six children, only two survived him.

At Natick, after Mr. Eliot's death, the Indian church rapidly declined. In 1688 it had but ten members, and on the death of the Indian preacher, Daniel Takawompait, in 1716, it became extinct. The use of the Indian language in the records of the town ceased at the same time. In 1721, Mr. Oliver Peabody was sent as a missionary to Natick, where he preached to the Indians in English, and in 1729 a new church, consisting partly of English and partly of Indians, was gathered there under his charge. The number of white residents continually increased. In 1753 Natick was "erected into a precinct or parish" by an act of the general court, and in 1781 it was incorporated as an English town. The Indian residents in 1753 numbered but twenty-five families, and in 1763 only thirty-seven individuals. In 1792 the number had fallen to about thirty, and in 1797 to twenty. Their last reservation was sold in 1824. In the report on the Indians of Massachusetts made in 1851 by the state commissioner, Mr. John Milton Earle, it is stated that "of all the tribes which held reservations, and were placed under guardianship by the State, the Natick Tribe is nearest extinct. There are, scattering about the State and mingled with other tribes, particularly the Hassanamiscoes, those whose in trace descent back to the Naticks, but of those who claim now to belong to the tribe, only two families remain and one of these is descended equally from the Naticks and the Massanamiscoes. Their whole number is twelve." From the same report it appears that the whole number of Indians in the state of Massachusetts in 1861 was a little over sixteen hundred. They were mostly divided into sixteen tribes, viz: the Chappaquiddick, the Christiantown, the Gay Head, the Marshpee, the Herring Pond, the Natick, the Punkapog, the Troy or Fall River (descendants of the Wampanoags), the Massanamisco, the Dudley (descendants of the Nipmucks), the Dartmouth (descendants of the Wampanoags), the Yarmouth, the Mamattakeeset, the Tumpum, the Deep Bottom, and the Middleborough Indians. "Of all these, it is safe to assume that there is not one person of unmixed Indian blood." Some of the tribes began to intermarry with the negroes and whites nearly two hundred years ago. Their language was gradually superseded by English. The Indian bible appears to have been used by a few Indians about the middle of the last century, but the ability to read and understand it probably did not continue many years after that date.

John Ettwein, Moravian bishop, born in Trendenstadt, Württemberg, 29 June, 1721, died in Bethlehem, Pa., 2 Jan., 1802. In 1754 he came to the American colonies, where he labored for nearly half a century as an evangelist, as a pastor, and finally as a bishop of the Moravian church. He was consecrated to the episcopacy on 25 June, 1784. In 1801, owing to the infirmities of old age, he retired from active service. Few men of the last century displayed greater zeal in spreading the gospel through the country of his adoption. He studied the language of the Delaware Indians, prepared a small dictionary and a phrase-book thereof, and in 1788 gave an account of their language and traditions, including a vocabulary, since published by the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. He travelled thousands of miles often on foot, and preached in eleven of the thirteen original colonies and in what is now the State of Ohio, "in cities" to use his own words, "in villages, in homesteads, from pulpits, in the open air, in court-houses and barns, to many and very different classes of men." He labored frequently among the Indians, and in 1772 led the Christian Indians from the Susquehanna to the Tuscarawas valley of Ohio. Not the least important act of his life was the founding, in 1787, of the "Society for Propagating the Gospel among the Heathens," which still exists, has a large endowment, and contributes liberal amounts towards the support of the extensive missions of the Moravian church. Ettwein stood at the head of this church as its presiding bishop for seventeen years, displaying sound judgment, great decision of character, and often, amid trying circumstances, a marvelous heroism.—*Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. - ˆ = n, as in pˆ, it is cold.
 ˙ = m, " ˆ˙, sun.
 ˘ = a, " ˘˙, boy.
 ˚ = p, " ˚˙, duck.
 ˜ = t, " ˜˙, tooth.
 ˝ = ch, " ˝˙, very.
 ˞ = w, when placed immediately to the right of a syllable, as in ˛˙˞, my wife.
 ˟ = i, when placed higher to the right, as in ˛˙˟˙, my coat.

" = the rough breathing, or aspirate, as in ˆ˙˙, ashes.

ˆ˙ = a combination of " and ˙, that is, of the aspirate and k, as in ˆ˙˙˙, at the river,

˙˙ = r, as in ˙˙˙˙, Christ.

When " and "˙ are placed to the right of a syllable, as in ˆ˙˙˙˙, the value of "˙ is absorbed by the syllable, while that of " is affixed. Written in Roman characters the word ˆ˙˙˙˙ will illustrate:—pe-kis-kwāoo; "w" is within the syllable, and "oo" is affixed to it. The value of "˙" which appendage must be placed after the syllable it affects, is always absorbed except in the case of ˙˙˙, ˙˙˙, ˙˙˙, ˙˙˙, in which, though "˙" is affixed in position, its value is prefixed. The above combinations are pronounced, wā, wē, wō, wū. The absorbed and the prefixed values of "˙" are met with in the word ˙˙˙˙˙˙˙˙ = wē-pē-kis-kwāoo, he wishes to speak.

It will be noticed that there are quantities between ˙ and ˙˙. ˙˙ and ˙˙˙, &c., less full than those given in the Alphabet. When quantities similar to the alphabetical ones are very necessary in the pronunciation of a word, the period "˙" is placed directly over the long or broad syllable, ˙˙˙˙˙˙˙˙ = ni-kă-kwē-tă-mūn = I shall be in need. ˙˙˙˙˙˙˙˙ = I shall be there; here the last syllables are "ū" and "yān," both broad. ˙˙˙˙˙˙˙˙ = where you are. The last "˙" is not broad, kă-ā-yā-yuu.

made by the writer of this paper to teach them [the Dénés, an Athapaskan dialect] to read and write their own language, and the result has been really wonderful. In order to attain this satisfactory and promising result, he has had to compose a syllabic alphabet somewhat on the principle of that so suitably invented by the late Mr. Evans for the Cree language, but which he soon found to be totally inadequate to render correctly the numerous and delicate sounds of the Déné dialects. Besides (why should I not say it!) it lacks that method and logic which have been applied to the new or improved syllables, and which have thereby simplified the acquisition of the language. I am now continually in receipt of letters from Indians whom I never taught and who have learned to read after one or two weeks' (in some cases I might say three or four days') private instruction from others."

A sample of the new syllabary, with inter-linear Déné transliteration and an English translation, is given in Father Morice's paper.

The following notes are extracted from an article by the Rev. John Carroll, in the Canadian Methodist Magazine for October, 1842:

"James Evans was English born in King's Place, town and county of Kingston-upon-Hull, January 18th, 1801. His parents were Wesleyan Methodists, named respectively James and

Mary Evans. His father was the master of a merchant ship.

"Shortly before the emigration of the family to Canada James removed to London, and was employed in a large glass and crockery establishment, where he remained about two years, and then proceeded to join the family group at Lachute, Lower Canada.

"After a few months he opened a school in the neighborhood of L'Orignal, where he formed an acquaintance with Miss Mary Blithe Smith, which ripened into love and marriage. This occurred about the year 1822 or '23, when he was not much passed twenty-one. About 1825 they removed to Upper Canada.

His first entrance upon Indian work in connection with Canadian Methodism was that of organizing a school at Rice Lake, in 1828, to which he was introduced by the indefatigable Elder Case. Their sojourn at that place comprised three years. Here he began to evince his interest in everything Indian, including the study and systematizing of their language, which pointed him out as specially adapted to the work of native evangelization, and laid the foundation for his great success in that work.

"The Credit Mission was one of the oldest and best: it sought the improvement of a large band of Mississaugas, whose fertile lands skirted a sizable river, noted for salmon fishing, central between the two ends of the province. It had been intrusted to men of more than usual calibre—Egerton and George Ryerson and James Richardson—while it was Elder Case's frequent resting place, and the proper home and place of his translation work, and was the base of the evangelizing operations of the notable Kake-way quon-a-by, or Peter Jones, native missionary. Yet it was thought proper that Evans should be entrusted to take up and further carry on the great work they had done.

"There was, up to the year 1832, a large body of unchristianized Indians at what we now know as Sarnia, and at several other places on and near the upper end of the St. Clair River. A stern and experienced agent was required, and was found in the person of James Evans, and that heroic and versatile man was stationed by the Conference of 1834 at St. Clair.

"He went, without gainsaying, and entered on every part of the multifarious work which devolved upon him—visiting, conciliating, building, preaching, praying, studying the language, translating and getting his translations printed—a work he patiently continued four long weary years. During that time a church and mission-house were erected, fields were won from the wilderness, schools were organized and taught, and printed hymns and other books were put into the hands of his flock, old and young, out of which they read and sang of the wonderful works of God.

"At the opening of the year 1838-'39 the Church entered on wider fields of Indian evanpolition, and a region only occasionally visited and partially occupied before was now to be brought under complete cultivation and to be permanently occupied; and two of the foremost men in the ranks of the missionary laborers were to take possession of the territory in the name of the King of kings. These were no others than James Evans and Thomas Hurbert. He proceeded at once to his new field of labour, leaving his family in Canada.

"Mr. Evans was soon called to his long and widest field of missionary enterprise and toil. The British conference, or their missionary committee, had determined on sending missionaries among the various Indian tribes which wandered in vast herds over the wide and wild expanse of the Hudson Bay territory; and requiring a man of the needed qualifications and experience and heroism, to conduct the needless conquest, they asked Mr. Evans to head this important enterprise. He at once gave his consent, and in the following spring (1846 [sic for 1840!]) he went out to the Hudson Bay territory.

"Mr. Evans took with him from Canada two young Indian assistants, Peter Jacobs and Henry Steinhaur. His own local position was Norway House, where he gathered and established a noble mission, with the superintendency of all the Hudson Bay territory missions, extending many hundred miles north and west. He performed prodigies of labor and adventure during the six years he was there. He planted five or six most important Missions at central points; gathered in hundreds of souls; traversed that vast, wild country from side to side and from end to end over and over again, in summer's heat and in winter's cold, studying the languages and dialects, especially mastering the Cree, for which he invented a syllabic character by which nine characters, by being each turned or placed in four different ways, expressed thirty-six elementary syllabic sounds of the language; and, after manufacturing both types and press himself, printed hymns and portions of the New Testament, thus, as it were, fixing a written language and giving the people a literature. In labours and exposure he took the lead of all others, being often men from home, and conducting his correspondence with his family on strips of birch bark.

"In the absence of his journals, diaries, or copious memoranda in language-making, as to etymology and syntax; and certain copies of letters of his own and others to him, which have passed out of my hands I will attach a paragraph or two of a private letter addressed to me at my own request, by his nephew, the respected and venerable brother, the Rev. Dr. Evans, who is related to the Hudson Bay people of his history. Mr. Evans says—

"The acknowledged necessity of the invention of the syllabary for the Cree language is now written and printed. For some years previous to its invention, the a press was refused; but he labored on, casting leaden blocks from the lining of the chests in which tea was brought into the country, and whittling them into shape as best he could; and by a rough improvised press of his own manufacture succeeded in printing many hymns, sections of the Holy Scriptures and primary school books, which were of great service. I was in England, in 1841, when a set of his home-made types was received by the Wesleyan Missionary Society, and took some part with them in obtaining permission from the Directors of the Hudson Bay Company to have a font cast, and, with a press, sent out to Norway House, pledges being given that they would be used only for our mission work. Their arrival was cause of great joy and thanksgiving to God."

"His noble character and the circumstances of his death receive confirmation and illustration from the short Conference obituary which was published in the British Minutes for 1847.

"James Evans was a missionary of remarkable ability and zeal, and of great usefulness among the North American Indians. His success among the aborigines of Canada led to his appointment as General Superintendent of the recently formed Missions in the Hudson Bay territory. To his mental vigour and indomitable perseverance the Indians are indebted for many advantages, among these is a written and printed character, suited to their language, of which Mr. Evans was the inventor. Many were the afflictions and trials he had to endure, those issued in a failure of health which rendered his return home to England desirable, but the results were not favourable. He died suddenly at Keilby, in Lincolnshire, on the 21 of November, 1846, at the house of a friend, after attending a missionary meeting at which his statements had excited great interest.

Everhardt (Job). An epitome of stenographic; or, An Abridgement and Contraction, of the Art of short, swift, and secret Writing by Characters, both fair, formal, and legible, as will appear hereafter, as well as in the Preface Example. Being a most useful plain and full new system. Written by Job Everhardt. Written in London 1741.

Printed by M. Smith, in Pall-mall, near the Theatre Royal, in the Strand, in the City of London. 1741. 8vo. 12s. 6d. This is a very rare and valuable work, and is the first of its kind in the English language. It is a most useful and plain system, and is well adapted for the use of the public. The author is a native of the City of London, and is a most experienced and successful writer. The work is divided into two parts, the first of which contains the alphabet, and the second contains the rules for writing. The work is well illustrated with examples, and is a most valuable addition to the library of every student of the art of writing.

The manuscript, bound in coarse gray cloth, is well preserved, and though not in an elegant handwriting, is legible. At the bottom of p. 385 we read "Ad Ste Crucis Tadéssaci ad N. D. B. V. et om. Stom gloria. Inchoata 20<sup>bris</sup> 1686, finita 20 Martii 1686, ad Ste Crucis Tadéssaci: 307."

Between brackets, but in another handwriting immediately above the preceding, we read "P. Bonaventura Favre seu Faber collect." Below to the right "Scq. app." Finally on the first unnumbered leaf, attached to the binding after the words "Sommaire de Québec," is found the following note: "Le P. Bonaventura Favre ou Faber, auteur de ce dictionnaire, est un Jésuite arrivé en Canada en 1685. C'est une copie faite à Paris, sous le règne de Louis le 2<sup>e</sup> novembre 1685. Le 20<sup>bris</sup> 1686."

Férard. This word following a title or within parentheses after a note indicates that a copy of the work referred to has been seen by the compiler in the library of the Abbé Martin Férard, Sault au Récollet, Montreal Island, Canada.

Férard (Abbé Martin). [Dictionary of the Odjibue language: Odjibue-English and English-Odjibue.]

Manuscript, sm. 4°, in possession of its author, who was for many years a missionary among the Ojibwas around Lake Superior. I first saw this manuscript when the Abbé Férard was stationed at the Sault au Récollet, Island of Montreal, in 1882. Later, in the summer of 1889, I again visited him, when he was in the House of the Immaculate Conception, a retreat near Montreal belonging to St. Mary's College. At my request the abbé has described the manuscript for me as follows:

The intended Dictionary will be in Odjibue-English and English-Odjibue—not French.

I shall follow the same order as that adopted in Hebrew and Sanscrit dictionaries; that is, the alphabetic order of the roots.

The radical meaning of each root will be given at the head of each one; hence its derived meanings will appear more clearly, just like the rays emanating from one center. The number of the roots amounts to about 1,300; and please remember that in Odjibue a root is properly the qualitative applied to natural objects to specify them.

In the beginning of the dictionary I shall give an alphabetic list of all the natural objects entering or used only, nearly all, in composition, with their meanings. The number of natural objects known to the Indians and employed in composition, that is, specified by a qualitative, amounts to about 445.

I have so far written about 1,600 pages, which is the third part, about, of the whole letter A. But I have developed fully the beginning of this letter, to accustom the philologist to the various terminations of the words; henceforth I shall abridge considerably, contenting myself with indicating the formation, otherwise there would be no end to the work. The whole dictionary Odjibue-English may amount perhaps to about 1,200 pages in print, one of which will contain easily six or eight pages of the manuscript.

The English-Odjibue is intended to be concise; an English word will be referred to the proper Indian root, and then, as the derivatives are laid down in alphabetical order, it will be easy to arrive at the required meaning of the word looked for.

I intend to give a new edition of the Grammar of Bishop Baraga, with notes and corrections. If I find the time I intend to publish also a small glossary comparing the Odjibue roots with those of Hebrew, Sanscrit, Latin, Greek, Gothic, etc. That work might perhaps please the philologist, and show to him that after all at least the Odjibue language is not so barbarous as many have fancied, and might, perhaps, appear to him superior to our modern and hybrid languages.

In a later communication (Feb. 9, 1890) the author states: "My work goes on steadily. I have almost finished the letter A, which contains nearly 200 roots, and is by far the longest of all. I thought proper to develop those roots in full, in order, to afford philologists an understanding of the genius of the Odjibue language. The other roots will be shortened in their development; otherwise it would take too much time to finish the work. But the letter A will be a pattern for the others, to which philologists shall be referred."

— [Grammatical sketch of the Odjibue language.]

Manuscript, occupying the last three pages of a sheet of note paper, and comprising the greater portion of a communication to the compiler of this bibliography dated "Collège Ste. Marie, Rue Bleury, Montréal, Quebec, 27th January, 1889;" now in the library of the Bureau of Ethnology.

Albert Gallatin was born in Geneva, Switzerland, January 29, 1761, and died in Astoria, L. I., August 12, 1849. Young Albert had been baptised by the name of Abraham Alfonse Albert. In 1773 he was sent to a boarding-school, and a year later entered the University of Geneva, where he was graduated in 1779. He sailed from France late in May, 1780, and reached Boston on July 14. He entered Congress on December 7, 1795, and continued a member of that body until his appointment as Secretary of the Treasury in 1801, which office he held continuously until 1813. His services were rewarded with the appointment of minister to France in February, 1815, entering on the duties of his office in January, 1816. In 1826, at the solicitation of President Adams, he accepted the appointment of envoy extraordinary to Great Britain. On his return to the United States he settled in New York City, where, from 1831 till 1839, he was president of the National Bank of New York. In 1842 he was associated in the establishment of the American Ethnological Society, becoming its first president, and in 1843 he was elected to hold a similar office in the New York Historical Society, an honor which was annually conferred on him until his death.—*Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Manuscript and printed clippings, in possession of Mr. Ganong, Cambridge, Mass., who describes the work as follows: "I have a large scrapbook (Shapman's), 12 by 10 inches, containing originally about 280 pages, but to which I have added many more. In this I have all sorts of material relating to place-names in Acadia, more especially in New Brunswick. I have entered in it, collected from various authors, all Indian names of places I have been able to find. Embodied in it also is some material that I have myself obtained on this subject from Indians, and also letters from different persons giving lists of Indian place-names in New Brunswick, very few of them as yet published by anyone. I have pasted in it also many newspaper articles relating to the subject. The book might be called 'Place-names in Acadia.'"

In Wood (S.), Sketch of Long Island, p. 23, Brooklyn, 1824, 8°, and in subsequent editions.

Reprinted in Bayles (R. M.), Historical and descriptive sketches, pp. 63-64, Port Jefferson, 1874, 12°; also in Lambert (E. R.), History of the colony of New Haven, p. 184, New Haven, 1838, 8°; also in Macanley (J.), Natural History of New York, p. 252, Albany, 1829, 8°.

The original manuscript containing this Montauk vocabulary is now in possession of J. Lyon Gardiner, the twelfth proprietor of Gardiner's Island, and a copy made by Wm. Wallace Tooker is in the library of the Bureau of Ethnology. The vocabulary contains about seventy entries, including the numerals 1-10 and a few sentences, and is preceded by the following note:

"March 25, 1798.—A vocabulary of the Indian language spoken by the Montauk tribe. George Pharaoh, aged 66, the oldest man of that tribe, and their chief, gave me this specimen of their language. There are only about seven persons that can now speak this language, and a few years more and it will be gone forever. It was spoken with little difference by all the Indians upon the east end of Long Island, and perhaps the whole island and the adjoining islands. George says the Moheags of Connecticut speak the same language. George repeated these words several times, and I write them as near as he pronounced as I can with the English alphabet."

Contains 328 hymns and (pp. 642-645) 5 doxologies and benedictions.

"There are imperfections in the translation. It is difficult to compress this sweetly-flowing tongue into the measure of English verse. This they know who have made the attempt. Yet the endeavor has been made to preserve somewhat of the rhythm and metre, but not the rhyme, of the original. It has been the translator's aim to preserve the best thought of the hymn, and of each stanza, where it was impossible to retain all."—Preface.

These seven manuscripts are in the library of the Bureau of Ethnology. In their transcription Mr. Gatschet has used the alphabet recommended by the Bureau.

Albert Samuel Gatschet was born in St. Bonenberg, in the Bernese Oberland, Switzerland, October 3, 1832. His propædæutic education was acquired in the lycæums of Neuchâtel (1843-'45) and Berne (1846-'52), after which he followed courses in the universities of Berne and Berlin (1852-'58). His studies had for their object the ancient world in all its phases of religion, history, language, and art, and thereby his attention was at an early day directed to philologic researches. In 1865 he began the publication of a series of brief monographs on the local etymology of his country, entitled "Orts-etymologische Forschungen aus der Schweiz" (1863-'67). In 1867 he spent several months in London pursuing antiquarian studies in the British Museum. In 1868 he settled in New York and became a contributor to various domestic and foreign periodicals, mainly on scientific subjects. Drifting into a more attentive study of the American Indians, he published several compositions upon their languages, the most important of which is "Zwölf Sprachen aus dem Südwesten Nordamerikas," Weimar, 1876. This led to his being appointed to the position of ethnologist in the United States Geological Survey, under Maj. John W. Powell, in March, 1877, when he removed to Washington, and first employed himself in arranging the linguistic manuscripts of the Smithsonian Institution, now the property of the Bureau of Ethnology, which forms a part of the Smithsonian Institution. Mr. Gatschet has ever since been actively connected with that bureau. To increase its linguistic collections, and to extend his own studies of the Indian languages, he has made extensive trips of linguistic and ethnologic exploration among the Indians of North America. After returning from a six months' sojourn among the Klamaths and Kalapuyas of Oregon, settled on both sides of the Cascade Range, he visited the Kataba in South Carolina and the Cha'hta and Shetimaasha of Louisiana in 1881-'82, the Kayowe, Comanche, Apache, Yattassece, Caddo, Naktche, Modoc, and other tribes in the Indian Territory, the Tonkawe and Lipans in Texas, and the Atakapa Indians of Louisiana in 1884-'85. In 1886 he saw the Tlaskaltecs at Saltillo, Mexico, a remnant of the Nabua race, brought there about 1575 from Anahuac, and was the first to discover the affinity of the Biloxi language with the Siouan family. He also committed to writing the Tunixka or Tonica language of Louisiana, never before investigated, and forming a linguistic family of itself. Excursions to other parts of the country brought to his knowledge other Indian languages,—the Tuskarora, Caughnawaga, Penobscot, and Karankawa.

Mr. Gatschet is compiling an extensive report embodying his researches among the Klamath-Lake and Modoc Indians of Oregon, which will form Vol. II of "Contributions to North American Ethnology." Among the tribes and languages discussed by him in separate publications are the Timucua (Florida), Tonkawé (Texas), Yuma (California, Arizona, Mexico), Chinéto (California), Beothuk (Newfoundland), Creek and Hitchiti (Alabama). His numerous publications are scattered through magazines and government reports, some being contained in the Proceedings of the American Philological Society, Philadelphia.

[Gay (Père Robert Michel).] Grammaire algonquine. (*)

Manuscript in the seminary at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada, prepared by the first superior of the mission. It is a little book which is torn. It includes some pages of Algonkin names, with French translations by Maurice Quéré de Fiegueron, the second superior.

During a visit to the above mission in the summer of 1882 I saw a number of Algonquian manuscripts, but not the above, the title of which was sent me subsequently by the late Mrs. Erminie A. Smith, an employee of the Bureau of Ethnology. I made an unsuccessful attempt to see it on a later visit to Oka, in the summer of 1889, the Abbé Cuoq assuring me there was no such manuscript in their archives.

Gravier (Rev. James). [Dictionary of the Illinois language.]

Manuscript belonging to Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull, Hartford, Conn., who permitted me to inspect it and who subsequently furnished me the following description:

"It is a stout volume in quarto or small folio, the leaf measuring 11½ by 8½ inches. It has been bound, but is now, and probably for many years has been, without its covers. It has lost the first two or three leaves at the beginning, and perhaps as many at the end, and a few other leaves have been somewhat injured by mice. There remain 293 leaves (586 pages), which average about 38 lines to the page, indicating a total of about 22,000 words. The arrangement is Illinois-French (not French-Illinois). The dialect is that of the Peorias (Peoria), readily distinguished from the Miami-Illinois by the use of r for m. Occasionally, however, words and phrases are introduced which are marked as 'Miami.' The manuscript is very neat and legible. The handwriting and the orthography, in my opinion and in that of French scholars who have inspected it, show that it was written before or not many years after the beginning of the 18th century; certainly, I should say, not later than 1710. If so, it cannot have been the work of the Rev. Jos. I. Le Boulanger, whose connection with the Illinois Mission has not been traced before 1719. On nearly every page, however, there are additions, corrections, or explanations in at least two later and distinct hands; but these are not more frequent than two or three to the page on the average.

"Throughout the work references are made to another volume or volumes, which contained a grammar, lists of radicals, names of animals, plants, medicines, etc.

"I conclude that this dictionary was compiled by Gravier, though I cannot positively say that it is in his autograph, and that the additions and emendations were made by his successors in the mission, some of them, perhaps, by Le Boulanger.

by the late Hon. Henry C. Murphy [see Le Boulanger (J. L.)], may have been the French-Illinois counterpart of the Illinois-French dictionary of Gravier, or may have been a transcript of that counterpart revised and completed by Le Boulanger; but it appears that Mr. Murphy's manuscript was in the Miami-Illinois dialect, while the earlier work I have described is unquestionably in that of the Peouaria-Illinois, among whom Gravier labored. Mr. Murphy (to whom I showed the volume here described) believed it to be of earlier date than the French-Illinois dictionary belonging to him."

More recent comparison shows the two dictionaries to have no connection, the one with the other.

In Dr. Trumbull's Notes on forty Algonkin versions of the Lord's prayer, pp. 98-99, there is given an Illinois version "as printed by Bodiani [sic], Oratio Dominica in clv Linguis (Paris, 1806) 'ex. ms.'" concerning which the author speaks as follows:

"A copy of this version, evidently from the same original, was communicated to Dr. John Pickering in 1823 as from a ms. grammar and dictionary of the Illinois language. The ms. may have been that of Father Boulanger, missionary to the Illinois in 1731. The version is more probably that of Father James Gravier, S. J., missionary from 1687 to 1706, who 'was the first to analyse the language thoroughly and compile its grammar, which subsequent missionaries brought to perfection.' I have recently had the good fortune to discover the long-lost dictionary of Gravier, with additions and corrections by his successors in the Illinois mission, and by its aid I am enabled to correct some—though not all—of the errors of Bodoni's copy."

According to Shea's Catholic Missions, p. 415, note, a catechism in the Illinois language by Father Gravier was in existence some years since but seems to have been lost.

James Gravier, missionary, born in France; died in Mobile, Ala., in 1708. He was a member of the Society of Jesus, and was sent as a missionary to Canada, but it is uncertain at what time. He was stationed at Sillery in the autumn of 1684 and the ensuing spring, but must have gone west soon afterward, as he was on the Illinois Mission in 1688, and succeeded Allouez about 1690 as superior. He was appointed vicar-general by Bishop de Saint Vallier in the following year. He has left a journal of his mission extending from 20 March, 1693, to 15 Feb., 1694. He built a chapel outside the French fort for the convenience of the Miami Indians on St. Joseph's River, among whom he labored with great success. He also visited the Peorias, but without result. His chief success was with the Kaskaskias, whose chief he converted, and of whom he baptised 206 in less than eight months. He also planned missions to the Cahokia and Tamarois bands of Indians, which he subsequently carried out, as well as to the Osages and Missouria, who sent ambassadors to him. In 1696 he went to Montreal, but soon returned and devoted himself to the more distant missions. In 1705 some of the Illinois, instigated by their medicine men, attacked him, and he was severely wounded. The missionary proceeded to Paris for treatment, but obtained little relief. He then went to Louisiana, and landed at Isle Massacre, 12 Feb., 1708. His wound, aggravated by his long voyage, proved fatal soon afterward. Father Gravier was the first to analyze the Illinois language and compile its grammar, which subsequent missionaries brought to perfection.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

No title-page, heading only; text pp. 1-8, 16°;
entirely in the Delaware language except German headings to the hymns. See the fac-simile of the first page.

I have seen but an incomplete copy of this little work; it is the only one known and is in the library of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, Philadelphia, Pa., found by Mr. J. W.
Jordan, of that society, during 1886, in the archives of the Moravian mission at Bethlehem, Pa.

into the Delaware tongue. By Rev. B.
A. Grube.

Title from Hildeburn's List of the issues of the press in Pennsylvania. No copy is known to exist, but the local records of the Moravian Society supply evidence that the work was printed.

Manuscript, 77 ll. 122, in the library of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. The text begins with the above heading. The Delaware and equivalent German are in alternate lines, the former in Roman letter, the latter in German script. The entries are not arranged alphabetically. Some of the verbs are accompanied by partial inflections. What seems to be another grouping is called "Einige kleine some more pages in Delaware and German, not in columns.

This is one of the collection of "manuscripts in the Delaware language presented to the public library of the University at Cambridge by the Hon. Ebenezer Lane, of the class of 1811, late Chief-Justice of the State of Ohio."
It is marked by Judge Lane: "A vocabulary of Delaware language, presented by the Rev.
Mr. Grube to the Rev. Mr. Luckenbach on his setting out upon his western missionary journey in 1800."

I am indebted to Mr. J. W. Jordan of the Pennsylvania Historical Society for the following notes:

The importance of communicating directly with the Indians in order to dispense with the services of an interpreter—at all times, and especially in matters of religion, an unsatisfactory medium of communication—claimed the attention of the Moravians in America at an early date. This led them to establish schools for acquiring the prevalent languages and dialects of that people. A minute of a church council held at Bethlehem, Pa., July 15, 1742, recommends the study of the Delaware in order to facilitate intercourse with individuals of that nation, whose visits to the settlement were then of almost daily occurrence. The Mohican was diligently studied during the sojourn, in 1745, of 46 converts from Shecomoco, and the Rev. John C. Pyleus began the preparation of a Mohican hymn-book, to which others also contributed translations. From Bethlehem the Indian school was removed to Gnadenhuetten, where it continued until that settlement was destroyed. Zeisberger, Post, and other clergymen of the church, prominent in the mission among the Indians, received their first instruction in these schools.

In 1760 the mission at Wechquetanc (in now Monroe County, Pa.) was commenced, and the Rev. B. A. Grube appointed missionary.
Grube was familiar with the Delaware dialect, and was ably assisted in the translation he undertook there by the native assistant, Anton.
The following extracts are from the diary of the mission, now in the archives at Bethlehem:

1761. January 18. — Anton & I [Grube] worked at the Delaware translation of the "Acts of the Days of the Son of Man" [a Harmony of the Gospels].

1762. March 17. — To-day I sent the first-sheets of the "Acts, &c.," to Brandmüller at Friedensthal to print.

April 13 — Brandmüller sent me proof to read.

1763. February 13. — Anton & I have translated 56 chapters for the "Harmony."

April 1. — Brandmüller forwarded to-day a proof of Essay of a Delaware Hymn Book.

Father Jean Pierre Guéguen, O. M. I., was born at Ploudalmézeau, Bretagne, France, September 18, 1838. Came to Canada in 1864 and went first to Maniwaki; was removed to Lake Temiskaming in 1865 and visited the missions of Abitibi, Mattawan, Temiskaming, and Tamagaming. In 1867 he visited for the first time the missions of the St. Maurice and Mekiskan rivers, and in 1869 and 1870 went as far as Lake Mistassini. This (1888) is the 22d year that he has visited those missions of the St. Maurice. He is considered by many the most expert man of the Dominion in the Indian languages. At the present time he resides at Maniwaki, on the Gatineau River, and is working at the translation of the catechism and other prayers and canticles into the dialect of the Wemontaching Indians.—Lorrain.

Manuscript; title as above (in the right-hand corner of which is the date 1757-1793) reverse blank 1 leaf and 47 other unnumbered ll. sm. 4<sup>o</sup>; in the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes, Oka, Canada. The recto of l. 2 is blank; the verso begins with the Examen in Algonquin, and on the opposite page, recto l. 3, commences the same in Mohawk, continuing to recto of l. 40, the left-hand pages being in Algonquin, the right in Mohawk. In many cases the French, and in some cases the Latin, equivalents of the questions and answers are given on the Algonquin pages. Each question and answer is numbered, each page beginning a new numbering. Verso l. 40 begins the Pensées, prières, in French and Mohawk, which extend to verso of l. 42. Recto l. 43, Exhortation après la confession, in Mohawk; the recto of l. 44 is blank, the verso being occupied with a table of relationships in French and Mohawk, continuing to recto of l. 45, the verso of which is blank, as is also the recto of l. 46. Verso of l. 46, Credo in Mohawk; recto of l. 47, Pater, Ave Maria, Foy, Espérance, Amour, the last continuing to verso of the leaf, which also contains the Confiteor; l. 48, recto, Contrition, Sub tuum, verso blank.

The manuscript is nicely written, has been bound, and is well preserved.

Manuscript, 80 ll. 4°, in the archives of the Catholic church at Lac des deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada. Interspersed with the text are a number of blank leaves upon which are written, in different handwritings and apparently at different dates, notes relating to the coming and going of various missionaries attached to this station; among them is one which reads: "Guichart au lac 1754—mort 1798."

Guichart de Kersident (V. F.)—Cont'd.

"Vincent Fleuri Guichart de Kersident came from France in 1754, learned the two languages, and served, sometimes conjointly, sometimes successively, the Iroquois and the Algonkins of the Lac des Deux Montagnes. He has left some instructions both in Algonkin and Iroquois. He knew the plain-chant well, and has left us several manuscripts of songs with notes. His portrait is preserved at the Lake of the Two Mountains. He died in 1798."—Oueg.

Concerning this little work Mr. Hale writes me as follows: "You may be amused to learn that this youthful production of mine was not only written at the age of seventeen, during my second year at Harvard, but was printed by myself. Some Indians from Maine came—I do not remember how or why—and encamped on the college grounds. I took down a vocabulary from them, and, having a knowledge of typesetting, I took it to a printing office, and there put it into type and printed off fifty copies, which I sent to persons whom I thought likely to be interested in it. I have some idea of reprinting it, with these particulars by way of preface.

"I shall also have to ask you to omit the initial E from my name. Finding that there was no other Horatio Hale from whom I needed to be distinguished, I dropped this useless and cumbersome adjunct from the time I became of age. All my works except the little pamphlet just referred to have appeared without it."

Horatio Hale, ethnologist, born in Newport, N. H., May 3, 1817, was graduated at Harvard in 1837, and was appointed in the same year philologist to the United States exploring expedition under Capt. Charles Wilkes. In this capacity he studied a large number of the languages of the Pacific islands, as well as of North and South America, Australia, and Africa, and also investigated the history, traditions, and customs of the tribes speaking those languages. The results of his inquiries are given in his "Ethnography and Philology," (Philadelphia, 1846), which forms the seventh volume of the expedition reports. He has published numerous memoirs on anthropology and ethnology, is a member of many learned societies both in Europe and in America, and in 1886 was vice-president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, presiding over the section of anthropology.—*Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Manuscript. Title from an article by Julius T. Clark, entitled "Reminiscences of the Chippewa chief, Hole-in-the-day," which appeared in the Collections of the Wisconsin Historical Society, vol. 5, p. 380, from which I extract the following:

"Among the other things done by Mr. Hall he reduced the Chippewa (or more properly, Ojibwa) language to a system, and translated the New Testament and a variety of other books into their language. One of these Testaments I had the pleasure of presenting to this Society after my return.

"I have also a part of the grammar, as made by Mr. Hall, in manuscript."

In answer to an inquiry of mine concerning the manuscript grammar, Mr. Clark writes me as follows:

"It is so long (now over forty years) since the matters about which you inquire occurred, I fear that I shall not be able to aid you in the object of your search. I spent between one and two years among the Ojibways in Government employ. The manuscript copy of a portion of the Ojibway grammar which I brought home, I remember was preserved for awhile and referred to as a curiosity, but, in my various movements, it has long since disappeared. I regret this fact, for, if you have not a copy I think it might have proved of some interest to you."

in Ohio, and after his graduation at Oberlin, received his medical degree at the A. M. C. medical college in 1853. During the same year he explored the "Bad Lands" of Dakota. In 1854 he again went West, spent two years exploring the basin of the Upper Missouri. In May, 1859, he was appointed naturalist surgeon to the expedition sent out for exploration of the Yellowstone and Missouri Rivers under Capt. William F. Raynolds. In May, 1862, he entered the U. S. Army as assistant surgeon of volunteers. He was appointed professor of mineralogy and geology in the University of Pennsylvania, and held the chair until 1872, when the increased duties of the survey caused his resignation. During the summer of 1866 he again visited the valley of the Upper Missouri. In 1867 Congress provided for the geological survey of Nebraska. Hayden was directed to perform the work continued so occupied until the 1 April when it was organized under the title Geological Survey of the Territories of the United States. From 1869 till 1872 Dr. Hayden conducted a series of geological explorations in Dakota, Wyoming, Utah, and Colorado. Dr. Hayden continued the direction of the survey until 1879, when the then existing geological surveys were consolidated into the Geological Survey, and Dr. Hayden was geologist-in-charge of the Montana division. He held this office until 31 Dec., 1886, failing health led to his resignation. Dr. Hayden was a member of scientific societies in the United States and in Europe, and was elected to the National Academy of Sciences. In 1887 the degree of LL.D. conferred on him by the University of Pennsylvania.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

— A correspondence between the Rev. John Heckewelder, of Bethlehem, and Peter S. Duponceau, esq., corresponding secretary of the historical and literary committee of the American philosophical society, respecting the languages of the American Indians.

In Pennsylvania Hist. Soc. Mem. vol. 12, pp. 349-433, Philadelphia, 1876, 8°.

John Gottlieb Ernestus Heckewelder was born at Bedford, England, March 12, 1743. His father was a German exile. . . . In the year 1754 the family came to America, father, mother, and four children. In 1758 he was apprenticed to a cedar cooper, with whom he remained four years, and then became Frederick Christian Post's companion in his second visit to the Muskingum in the year 1762. He was Zeisberger's assistant in the Susquehanna valley in 1765, and to him for a time was given charge of the Mach-wil-lus-ing Mission. During the following nineteen years he was much of the time a fellow laborer with Zeisberger. Heckewelder was the founder of Salem, on the Tuscarawas, and in chapel there, July 4, 1780, he married Sara Ohneberg, the venerable Adam Grube officiating, probably the first wedding of a white couple within the limits of the present state of Ohio. He was with the Indian church during all the early troubles recorded in this diary, but finally, owing to the illness of his wife when upon the Cuyahoga, he returned to the church at Bethlehem October 9, 1783. Henceforward he was not immediately connected with our mission, though he made two or three visits, being employed in other duties, especially as agent of the Society for propagating the gospel among the heathen, and as one of the Peace Commissioners sent to treat with the Indians. In the year 1798, however, he came to Fairfield, on the Thames, to assist in conducting a portion of the church to Goshen, staying there only nine days. In the valley of the Muskingum he labored until 1810, when he went home to the church, being now nearly seventy years old, and having well earned repose. He died January 31, 1823.—Bliss, Diary of David Zeisberger.

Henry (Alexander). Journal | of | Alexander Henry | to | Lake Superior, Red River, Assiniboine, Rocky Mountains, Columbia, and the Pacific, 1799 to 1811, | to establish the fur trade. (*)

Manuscript, about 1,700 pp. foolscap, preserved in the library of Parliament, Ottawa, Canada. For its description I am indebted to the kindness of Mr. Charles N. Bell, of Winnipeg, who writes: "The sheets are evidently not the original ones used by Alexander Henry, but are re-written from his journals by one George Coventry, who seems to have been a family friend. No date is given to the copying, nor is there any intimation where the original documents are to be found."

The journal extends from 1799 to 1812, and between the dates 1808 and 1809 are vocabularies of the Ojebwa, Knisteneaux, Assiniboine, Slave, and Flat Head, about 300 words each of the first three and a somewhat larger number of the last two. Copies of these have been furnished the Bureau of Ethnology by Mr. Bell.

Hymns in Ojebwa pp. 1-338.—Vocabulary of some of the principal words contained in the hymns, with definitions in English, pp. 359-361.

In Mr. Stinson's preface it is stated that "already have two editions of the Ojibway hymn book, translated and printed under the direction of the Methodist church, passed through the press; but the increasing number of our mission stations and members requires a third and more enlarged edition." Nothing is said in the preface to indicate that the two previous editions were the work of Messrs. Henry and Evans. According to the Rev. Peter Jones, in his History of the Ojibwa Indians, p. 189, these hymns were first printed for the Canadian Missionary Society.

Manuscript, 843 pp. 42, with maps, in the library of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia, Pa. It is divided into three parts:—1 English and Delaware; 2 Delaware and English; 3 Delaware proper names and their translation. Compiled in 1859 and 1860. Title and note from Brinton's Lenape and their legends, p. 86, whence I take the following:

"It includes, without analysis or correction, the words in Zeisberger's Spelling Book, Boer Williams' Key, Campanius' Vocabulary, those in Smith's and Strachey's Virginia, and various Nanticoke, Mohegan, Minsi, and other vocabularies. The derivations of the proper names are chiefly from Hecke-welder, and in other cases are venturesome. The compilation, therefore, while often useful, lacks the salutary check of a critical, grammatical erudition, and in its present form is of limited value."

Manuscripts, in possession of Rev. D. W. Stevens, Vineyard Haven, Mass., who writes me concerning them as follows:

"As near as I can judge I have six or eight sermons of Zachariah Howwoswe, or Zachary Hosswelt, as his name has sometimes been written, in the Indian language, and two or three in the English language. The whole number is in five parcels. He established a Presbyterian church at Gay Head, Martha's Vineyard, and preached for many years in the Indian language. It appears that he was in the habit of sewing large sheets of paper together into small leaves six inches by three and a half inches in size. At the end of one sermon in the Indian language there are several uncut blank leaves. In the middle of one parcel I found the date of January 23, 1763. It appears that he preached in the Indian language as long as any considerable number could understand him. After that he preached in the English language, as his sermons show beyond a doubt. It appears that he preached almost to the time of his death, which occurred June 10, 1821. He was the last person that used this language publicly in the world."

My copy of this work was presented to me by the Rev. John McDougall, of Morley, Alberta. It bears many corrections or changes, in pencil, of the syllabics; and some entire hymns, written with pencil on separate pieces of paper, are pinned into it, indicating that it has been used in the preparation of a new edition. In transmitting it Mr. McDougall wrote me as follows: "I am sending you one of our old hymn-books, some of the hymns of which I revised and altered considerably, both in sense and dialect. Our book [see McDougall (J.) and Glass (E. B.)] is as near as we could make it pure Cree, while those in use formerly were written in a local dialect of the Cree. The translators of this book were Mrs. Hunter, the Rev. H. B. Steinhauer, and Peter Erasmus, a native interpreter."

Mrs. Hunter (née Ross) was born July 28, 1822, at Cumberland Fort, Hudson's Bay Company's Territories. She was sent to England to be educated, and, returning, was married to the Rev. James Hunter July 10, 1848. In 1865 Mrs. Hunter returned to England with her husband, and in 1888 was residing at Helperry, Yorkshire. She rendered Mr. Hunter much assistance in his linguistic work.

It is probable that Messrs. H. B. Steinhauer and Peter Erasmus assisted Mrs. Hunter largely in her various translations.

[Philadelphia: William Bradford. 1698?] (*)

Title from a list of "Books Printed and Sold by William Bradford in Philadelphia," in a copy of Daniel Leeds's "Temple of Wisdom," Philadelphia, 1688, belonging to the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.

Concerning this advertisement, Mr. Charles R. Hildeburn writes me as follows: "While the list of books contains some which Bradford did not print, the book [named above] . . . is among those which I am inclined to think he did, and if so it must be the earliest book on an Indian language printed in the middle colonies."

The original of this book, of which no copy has been found, was without doubt the manuscript "Indian Interpreter" of which a transcript, dated 1684, is still preserved on file as a part of the Salem town records, liber B, in the office of the secretary of state at Trenton, New Jersey. The manuscript contains a list of 267 words and phrases in the Delaware Indian language, with English definitions. It has been printed in the "American Historical Record," vol. 1, pp. 308-311, Philadelphia, 1872, under the title of "Old Records from New Jersey," with the following preliminary remarks:

"The first English emigrants to New Jersey soon discovered the necessity of having a faithful translation of the language used by the Aborigines. This grew out of their social and business intercourse, coupled with the determination to deal fairly with the people—thus avoid dissatisfaction and perhaps bloodshed. The proper authorities of the Salem Colony, with John Fenwick as Governor, have left on record, in one of the books of those early periods, a translation of Indian terms into the English and which was, no doubt, considered the standard in all things pertaining thereto. Several of the manuscript books of the proceedings of the Courts of that Colony are on file in the office of the Secretary of State at Trenton, New Jersey, and often examined with much interest by Antiquarians."

This primer differs considerably from Eliot's Indian primer of 1680 and 1687. Grindall Rawson's translation into the Indian language of John Cotton's Spiritual Milk for Babes, originally printed in 1691, is on leaves numbered (on the verso) 30-46, but with alterations in the wording and orthography which were made perhaps by some other person. If the object of these changes was to conform it more nearly to the Nope dialect, spoken on Martha's Vineyard, where "the most valuable body" of the Christian Indians then resided, it is probable that Experience Mayhew may have prepared or edited the primer. His translation of the psalter and the gospel of John into that dialect had already been printed (Boston, 1709), and he was actively engaged for many years afterwards in preaching and ministering to the Indian congregation on the island, where he was settled as minister. As the primer was much used in the Indian schools, it is probable that other editions were printed between those of 1687 and 1720, of which no copies have been found.

A portion of this edition, comprising the "Words of one Syllable or Division" to "Words of fifteen Syllables or Parts," the Lord's prayer and the ten commandments, was reprinted in the second volume of the third series of the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society (Cambridge, 1830), in the appendix to Josiah Cotton's Indian vocabulary, edited by Dr. John Pickering, pp. 244-249.

Copies seen: Boston Public, British and Foreign Bible Society, British Museum, Lenox, Trumbull.

the above titles are copied. The only known copy (imperfect) is now in the Lenox Library. It was purchased at the sale of the first portion of Mr. George Brinley's library, in New York, March, 1879 (no. 794), for $25. Leaves 1-17, 27-29, 45-46, 51-52, 61-66, 75-76, 78, and 80-84, are lacking. The lower half of leaf 26 and the upper half of leaf 30 are also lacking. The primer is in English on the right hand side of every leaf and in Indian on the left. Each page in Indian contains a translation of the English on the opposite or right-hand page and bears the same leaf number. The contents are as follows on the English side: The Christian belief as it was taught in the ages following after the apostles, l. 18; The Christian belief in twenty and four questions and answers concerning Christian doctrine (including the ten commandments), ll. 19-26; Spiritual milk for babes, drawn out of the breasts of both testaments, for the nourishment of their souls, by John Cotton, B. D., ll. 30-44; Marks by which any man coming to the Lord's table, should examine himself, ll. 47-48; General duties. The duties of parents, and of children, ll. 48-50; The duties of husbands and of wives. The duties of masters and of servants, l. 50; God's judgment on mocking children. Against lying children, l. 53; Against those who break the Sabbath day. For the encouragement of Godly children, ll. 54-55; The promises of God, which the poor Indians may hope to receive, ll. 55-57; The anger of God against drunkenness, ll. 57-58; Against idleness, ll. 58-59; Against lying, ll. 59-60; Against uncleanness, l. 60; Selections from Psalms, ll. 67-70; Psalm 119 selections, ll. 70-73; Psalm 125 selections, ll. 73-74; The first Psalm (in metre), l. 74; Some verses of the 103 Psalm (in metre), l. 75; The names of the books of the Old and New Testaments, l. 76.

Dr. Trumbull remarks, in his note on this edition in the Brinley catalogue: "This seems to be the edition from which that of 1720 was reprinted. The two agree page for page and line for line nearly, but there is a difference in the type. As this contains Rawson's translation of Cotton's Milk for Babes, it was probably printed after or not long before 1696. This opinion, however, must have been confirmed, as both type and paper are of the appearance of a much later date. The impression is excellent, and seems to be from a stereotype of a face which I have not found in any book printed in Boston much earlier than 1774. Before that date, the same type appeared in the work of the same body, was used by the Boston printers and paper-makers, and by S. Kneeland and T. Green, 1774. It is far from their press it was probably used as far from the year 1760.

Contains many Algonquian terms, examples, etc.

Edward Jacker, missionary, born in Swabia, Germany, about 1830; died in Red Jacket, Lake Superior, in August, 1887. He received a thorough education, studied theology, and was ordained a priest of the Roman Catholic church, and came to the United States as a missionary to the Indians, among whom he passed his life. He served as vicar-general to Frederic Baraga, bishop of Marquette, and was the bishop's inseparable companion in his journeys and labors for several years before the latter's death in 1867. He was mentioned at the time in connection with the vacant bishopric, but his tastes led him to avoid official power and responsibility. He was thoroughly conversant with the Indian languages, especially with the dialect spoken by the Chippewas, and wrote in the latter and published a selection of hymns and other works. Father Jacker was a man of great erudition, an enthusiastic worker, and a delightful companion, being one of the best known and most highly esteemed missionaries in the Lake Superior region. He contributed various interesting articles on the Indian tribes to the Philadelphia "Catholic Quarterly Review."—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Manuscript, pp. 32-139, 8°, belonging to Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull, of Hartford, Conn., who describes it for me as follows:

"The volume of which this is a part—and the only part that relates to American languages—was found in a junk-shop in Albany, N. Y., by Mr. George R. Howell, in 1879, from whom I received it. The first page of the volume had the name of 'E. James, 1823.' The vocabularies, etc., were gathered at a later date, probably in 1825 or 1826. The writer was easily identified by Dr. James's peculiar spelling of Menomini and Ojibway (Chippewa) words, as in his Appendix to John Tanner's Narrative, in 1830, and elsewhere."

Edwin James, geologist, born in Weybridge, Vt., August 27, 1797; died in Burlington, Iowa, October 28, 1861. He was graduated at Middlebury College in 1816, and then spent three years in Albany, where he studied medicine with his brother, Dr. Daniel James, botany with Dr. John Torrey, and geology under Prof. Amos Eaton. In 1820 he was appointed botanist and geologist to the exploring expedition of Maj. Samuel H. Long, and was actively engaged in field work during that year. For two years following he was occupied in compiling and preparing for the press the report of the "Expedition to the Rocky Mountains, 1818-19" (2 vols. with atlas, Philadelphia and London, 1823). He then received the appointment of surgeon in the U. S. Army, and for six years was stationed at frontier outposts. In 1830 he resigned his commission and returned to Albany. In 1834 he again went West, and in 1836 settled in the vicinity of Burlington, Iowa.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Fort James, 19th of November, 1668, printed in Documents relating to the colonial history of New York, vol. 14. pp. 610-611, this catechism is referred to as follows:

"I very much approve of yo<sup>r</sup> compose of a catechisme. . . . That wth I shall desire from yo<sup>r</sup> at p<sup>re</sup>sent is the Catéchisme wth some few select chapters & Laudatory Psalms fairly transcribed in the Indian Language wth I will send over to England & have quantities of them printed, & if yo<sup>r</sup> thinke it necessary I conceive a small book such as shall onely serve to the instructing y<sup>e</sup> Indians to read may likewise be compiled & sent wth them," etc.

The Rev. Thomas James, first minister of the Congregational church at East Hampton, on Long Island, settled there about the year 1650 or 1651, and died at the same place on June 16, 1693, after a ministry of about forty-five years. In September, 1690, he informed the Commissioners of the United Colonies, then in session at New Haven, that he was "willing to apply himselfe to instruct the Indians" of Long Island "in the knowlidge of the true God." An allowance of 10*l*. was therefore made for him "towards the hiring of an Interpreter and other charges." In 1692 he was paid 20*l*. "for instructing the Indians on long Island," and the same allowance was continued for the two following years.

The catechism referred to above was probably never printed.

and another: "Now belongs to Andro H. Arnolda, purchased at the sale of the late Ma-cruder's effects, 1846."

I have placed the work under Du Jaunay upon the authority of the Rev. A. E. Jones of St.
Mary's College, Montreal, a gentleman well versed in the history of the missions and missionaries of the Catholic church in Canada, who writes me as follows concerning the authorship:

"You ask me how I know that the Indian dictionary at McGill College was the work of Father Du Jaunay. Here is positive evidence: The labour entailed in completing each letter has some special patron. He places the letter D under the protection of the Blessed Virgin while presenting Our Lord in the temple:

"D—Sub protectione Delparæ Virginis Filium suum offerentis, quod festum amabile ante hos dies quindecim celebrabamus, quo die [2 Feb.] vota suae professionis emittebat caris-simus socius meus P. de la Morinie; item sub protectione x<sup>a</sup> a diabolo tentati et jejunantia, quae stupenda Domini Nostri Dei Hominis cras in evangelio legemus prima Quadragesimæ Dominica," etc.

"That is to say, he undertook the letter D on Saturday the 18th day of February, 1741, fifteen days after the feast of the Purification, 2d Feb., and on the eve of the first Sunday of Lent. Easter that year fell on the 2d of April, Ash Wednesday on the 15th of February, and the first Sunday of Lent on Feb. 19. I have in my possession the official record of Father de la Morinie's last vows on profession. They were taken at St. Ignace, Michilimackina, on the 2d of February, 1741, in the presence of F.
Du Jaunay, his companion in that mission."

[—] Vocabulary of the Delawares of New Jersey.

Manuscript in the library of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia, Pa.

A copy, made by Mr. Duponceau, and forms no. x of a collection made by him and recorded in a folio account-book, of which it occupies pp. 42-45. It is dated Dec. 1792.

Arranged in four columns to the page, two of English and two of Delaware, and contains about 250 words.

— A Vocabulary of the language of the Unquachog Indians, who constitute the Pusspatock settlement in the town of Brookhaven, south side of Long Island. By Thomas Jefferson, Esq.

Manuscript in the library of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia, Pa. It forms no. xi of a collection of copies made by Mr. Duponceau and recorded in a folio account-book, of which it occupies pp. 46-48.

Arranged four columns to the page, two of English, two of Unquachog, and contains about 180 words.

"The orthography is English. This vocabulary was taken by Thos. Jefferson, Jan. 13th, 1791, in presence of James Madison & Genl. Floyd. There remain but three persons who can speak its language: they are old women; from two of these brought together, this vocabulary was taken; a young woman of the same tribe was also present who knew something of the language."

There is a copy of this vocabulary in the library of the Bureau of Ethnology, Washington, D. C.

In a letter to Mr. Harris, dated Washington, April 18, 1806, Mr. Jefferson says:

"At a very early period of my life, contemplating the history of the aboriginal inhabitants of America, I was led to believe that if there had ever been a relation between them and the men of color in Asia, traces of it would be found in their several languages. I have therefore availed myself of every opportunity which has offered to obtain vocabularies of such tribes as have been within my reach, corresponding to a list then formed of about two hundred and fifty words. In this I have made such progress that within a year or two more I think to give to the public what I then shall have acquired."

In a letter from Monticello, dated Sept. 21, 1809, to Dr. Barton, he says:

"I received last night your favor of the 14th and would with all possible pleasure have communicated to you any part or the whole of the Indian vocabularies which I had collected, but an irreparable misfortune has deprived me of them. I have now been thirty years availing myself of every possible opportunity of procuring Indian vocabularies to the same set of words. My opportunities were probably better than will ever occur again to any person having the same desire. I had collected about fifty, and had digested most of them in collateral columns, and meant to have printed them the last year of my stay in Washington. But not having yet digested Captain Lewis's collection nor having leisure then to do it, I put it off till I should return home. The whole, as well digested as originals, were packed in a trunk of stationery, and sent round by water with about thirty other packages of my effects, from Washington, and while ascending James river this package, on account of its weight and presumed precious contents, was singled out and stolen. The thief, being disappointed on opening it, threw into the river all its contents, of which he thought he could make no use. Among these were the whole of the vocabularies. Some leaves floated ashore and were found in the mud; but these were very few, and so defaced by the mud and water that no general use can ever be made of them."

"The following translation of John's Gospel into the Ojibwa language, was made by John and Peter Jones, who are native religious teachers employed by the Methodist Episcopal Missionary Society in Canada, and published by the British and Foreign Bible Society. The edition here presented is copied from that of the British and Foreign Bible Society, with scarcely any alterations, except the changing of a few words to render them more intelligible, and more conformed to correct usage, as the language is spoken in this part of the country. The orthography, however, is entirely different: this edition being written in the orthography adopted by the missionaries of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions in writing the Ojibwa language.

Compiled by the Rev. L. H. Wheeler, who speaks of it in the preface as follows:

"The design of this little volume of hymns, in Indian and English, is to meet the present urgent wants of the north-western Ojibwas. The hymns are selected from the hymn-book of the Rev. Sherman Hall, [see title of 1844 edition, p. 269], as compiled from the books of the Rev. Peter Jones and the Rev. James Evans and George Henry. The book of Mr. Evans was published by the American Tract Society, New York, in 1837 [see Henry (G.) and Evans (J.)]; that of the Rev. Peter Jones was a new edition of the former work, in which a number of the old hymns were omitted and several new ones added. It was printed also in an improved orthography, with the corresponding English hymns on opposite pages. It was published at Toronto in 1840 [see p. 268]. The book of the Rev. Mr. Hall was published by the American Board for Foreign Missions in Boston, in 1844 [see p. 269]. This was printed only in Indian, the French vowel sounds being used in the orthography. These different editions are now all exhausted. Hence the necessity of the present volume, in issuing which it was thought desirable to have the hymns written in a new orthography, upon the basis of the English vowel and consonant sounds, and also to have the English hymns printed on the opposite page. Readers of the former books will notice some changes here in the plan of syllabification. The attempt has been made in this book to form the syllables more in accordance with the grammatical principles of the language. Some changes, also deemed important, have been made in a few of the hymns. It is the design of the compiler, should life and health be preserved, to prepare for the press a much larger work than this as soon as the materials can be obtained and be properly fitted for the press. In the meantime, the hymns now published may supply the wants of the people for whom they are designed."

Peter Jones was born in the woods on a prominent tract of land called Burlington Heights. At the age of sixteen his father, of Welsh descent, and a government surveyor, got him baptised at the Mohawk Church, on the Grand River, near Brantford. About three years after his baptism he was truly converted to God, at a camp-meeting held near Ancaster. Having furnished satisfactory evidence to the fathers and brethren of the Wesleyan Church that he was called to the office of a Christian minister, he was solemnly set apart to that work as deacon, by the imposition of hands, at the Kingston Conference, by the Rev. Bishop Hedding, in 1830; and as priest at the Toronto Conference in 1833, by the Rev. George Marsden. He died at his home near Brantford, June 29, 1856.—Osborn.

Dr. P. E. Jones is the seventh son of the late Rev. Peter Jones, and was named after his father, Kah-ke-wa-quo-na-by, the full translation of which is "the sacred waving eagle's plume, or feathers," his father belonging to the eagle clan or family of the Mississauga tribe of the Ojibway nation. Kah-ke-wa-quo-na-by junior was born in October, 1844. He graduated in medicine at Queen's College, Kingston, Ontario, in 1866, and practiced in the old town of Niagara during 1866-'67. In 1868 he went to Hagersville, Ontario, where he still resides. This village is on the Grand River reservation, and at that portion of it occupied by the Mississaugas. In 1874 he was elected head chief and in 1875 appointed medical attendant. On December 27, 1887, he was appointed Indian agent. Dr. Jones has been secretary of the Grand General Indian Council for a number of years, and during that time has strongly advocated the enfranchisement of the educated Indians. In December, 1885, he started the periodical "The Indian," but his financial condition would not justify him in continuing it more than a year.

The characters in which these books are printed were invented by Father Christian Lelercq, and were in use (in manuscript) among the Gaspeziens during and after his sojourn among them. For his own account see Lelercq (C.). So far as I know, these are the only books printed in these characters. For description of manuscripts written in them see Micmac. On one of these manuscripts, which is in the library of Major Powell, to whom it was presented by the late Rev. S. T. Rand, it is stated that Father Kauder was aided in his work by Michael Christmas, an educated Indian of Nova Scotia.

Rev. Christian Kauder was born at Ettelbruck, near Luxemburg, May 3, 1817. After being ordained a priest in Europe August 24, 1840, he entered the Congregation of the Most Holy Redeemer, and in May, 1845, came to the United States. He exercised the ministry at Baltimore, at St. Mary's Colony, Pa., in Ohio, at Pittsburgh, New Orleans, and Philadelphia. His health had by this time become very much shattered, and he left the Redemptorists in 1852. He sought an asylum at the Trappist Abbey of Petit Clairvaux, Tracadie, Nova Scotia. Here he became interested in the Micmacs, learned their language, studied their hieroglyphics, and obtained aid from influential friends and patrons in Austria to print the books described above.—Shea.

In a prefatory note Archdeacon Kirkby says:

"The Hymns and Sacred Songs in this little book are from the graceful pen of Mrs. Hunter [q. v.], and are sure to become great favorites among the Indians, wherever they are known. With the view of rendering them more extensively useful they are put into this form.

"The Prayers are from a compilation made by his Lordship the Bishop of Rupert's Land [Rev. David Anderson], for the use of his diocese. It was translated into Cree by the Rev. J. M'Kay [q. v.], and an edition printed at the Mission Press, Stanley, which did much good among the Indians. The book is still in large demand by the people of this district, but being out of print it cannot be had. The writer has thought therefore that the Hymns of Mrs. Hunter and this little book of Prayers would form a handy and very useful Manual of 'Prayer and Praise,' for the daily use of that large portion of the Cree-speaking population who read only the syllabic characters."

Oct. 15, 1767. Received on account of general printing for 2000 Indian prayer books containing 6 sheets in 8vo in English [character of type] in Algonkin language at 25 dollars per sheet, from Labrosse, Jesuite missionary, £45, 0, 0.

Do. to make the Indian Alphabets in 4to at the same price with the above 8vo £1, 1, 0.

May 7, 1768. To general printing, 100 Indian calendars for Père Labrosse, £2, 6, 0.

Sept. 24, 1768. To general printing for a balance remaining on Labrosse's Indian calendars for Madame Germain £0, 4, 0.

J. B<sup>e</sup> Labrosse Jesuite, owes as follows, the dates as per margin from Mem<sup>d</sup> Book:

Nov. 10, 1770. 600 Indian alphabets in Abenakis language making half a sheet 8vo in English [character of type] £3, 0, 0.

July 29, 1773. Printed for J. B<sup>e</sup> Labrosse Indian calendars for 1773-4-5-6-7-8 for each [year?] 127 copies, and delivered them to Louis Germain his agent a 25/6 per year, £7, 13, 0.

April 11, 1774. Received of J. B<sup>e</sup> Labrosse by the hands of Louis Germain for Indian calendars £7, 13, 0.

April 11, 1774. Received of J. B. Labrosse by the hands of Louis Germain for Indian calendars £7, 13, 0.

June 5, 1778. Printed for the Rev. J. Bte Labrosse, Jesuit missionary, Indian almanacks for seven years to come, 500 copies for each year, making on the whole 3500, £18, 4, 7.

Père de la Brosse was born at Magnat, diocese of Angoulême, France, Feb. 29, 1724, and died at Tadoussac, where he is buried, April 11, 1782. He entered upon his novitiate at Bordeaux, Oct. 9, 1740, and was ordained priest Feb. 2, 1753. He arrived in Canada in the summer or fall of 1754. In 1755 his name is found among those of the Abnaki mission, his post probably being on the river St. John. During 1756-1758 he belonged to the community of the college of Quebec. In 1759-60 he was still missionary to the Abnakis, and in the former year his signature appears on the register of St. François-du-Lac. In 1761 he was transferred to the residence at Montreal, and in 1762 he still belonged to that residence. The reverend father signed his first act at St. Henri-de-Masouche, May 13, 1761, and his last June 12, 1766.

Father de la Brosse was well versed in the Montagnais language. After gathering into one volume all the writings, both French and Montagnais, left by his predecessors in the missions, he made various corrections and added many notes to the instructions published by the Reverend Father Antoine Sylvi up to 1778, translated into French by the Reverend Father Claude Godefroi Coquart. "In several places," says Father de la Brosse, "annotations have been added, not in a captious or hair-splitting spirit, but to guard the reader against the mistakes which not rarely occur."

The following extracts are from the journal of Père de la Brosse: "In September, 1766, Father Jean Bte de la Brosse, a native of Magnat (aged 42 years), arrived at Tadoussac as missionary, having been sent by the Reverend Father Augustin de Glapion to take charge of the Montagnais missions. Father Claude Godefroi Coquart died on the 4th of July of the preceding year at the mission of St. Francis Xavier. 1767.—During this year, for the benefit of those who can read and those who will learn to read, I had printed three thousand books of alphabets and two thousand books of prayers and catechism. The last touch was given to this work on the last day of October, at the ninth moon. In the following year, 1768, I wintered in the mission house. I taught many savages to read, write, sing by note, and assist at ceremonies and rites, mass and evening office. In the following year, toward the end of November, I moved to a point of land below the Jeremie Islands, called de Betsiamis, and there wintered among the savages, teaching them to read, write, and sing by note. In the following year, 1770, having traversed the tribes of the king's domain, I moved to Quebec and wintered in the parish of Saint Lawrence on the Isle of Orleans. I spent a good deal of labor, perhaps to no very good purpose, in reducing to alphabetic order the compilation of the Montagnais dictionary begun three years ago. In the following year I took charge of the Acadians of Kaknagui, the French around Green Island and at Sainte Marie des Anges and Saint Germain at Rimouski, wintering on Green Island, in the parish of Saint John the Baptist. In 1772 I visited the mission of Ristigouche, where I consecrated a church in honor of Saint Ann, and wintered at Bonne-Aventure."

Printed in red ink on one side of a large sheet 28½ by 21¼ inches in size.

The fourteen large woodcuts which represent the stations of the cross are numbered I to
xiv. Below each one are three inscriptions, the first in Chippewa (Roman characters), the second in Cree (syllabic characters), and the third in French. The same woodcuts, with the same Chippewa and Cree inscriptions, but without the French, are also printed in Lacombe's "Prières, cantiques, catéchisme, etc. en langue Crise," Montréal, 1886, pp. 52-78. On each side of the sheet are six small woodcuts representing the twelve months, with inscriptions in French. The remaining three woodcuts, in the middle square of the top line, represent the cross, the monogram AM, and the sacred heart of Jesus, with an inscription in French. The whole is surrounded by a narrow ornamental border.

Albert Lacombe was born at St. Sulpice, Quebec, Canada, Feb. 28, 1827. He was ordained priest at St. Hyacinth in 1848 and immediately left for Pembina, where he remained two years. In 1851 he was sent to the mission of Lake St. Anne, 40 miles north of Edmonton, where he remained for twelve years, his charge including the surrounding country inhabited by French half-breeds and Cree Indians, a large portion of his time being devoted to the study of the language of the latter. During his stay at the Lake St. Anne he joined the order of Oblates. In 1863 Father Lacombe founded the new mission of St. Albert, 9 miles north of Edmonton, and in 1866 the mission of St. Paul des Cris on the Saskatchewan, where were gathered a number of Prairie Crees. From this point he made numerous journeys to the Indian camps, among others a long trip to Slave Lake and Ft. Dunvegan, returning by Lake Labiche. Later he visited the Blackfeet, spending much time among them, principally to study their language. In 1871 he visited Montreal, but, returning to the mission on the Saskatchewan, he revised his Cree manuscripts, and in 1872 again visited Montreal to arrange for their printing. He visited Europe the same year, returned in 1873 and was appointed parish priest at St. Mary of Winnipeg, where he remained until 1876, when he was appointed an agent for the immigration of French Canadians to Manitoba, retaining this position for three years. In 1879 Father Lacombe again visited Europe as a delegate to the Oblate council, and upon his return was made chaplain to attend the Catholics working along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, then building, in which capacity he remained two years. In 1882 he returned to his work among the Indians of the far North-west, his headquarters for some years being at Calgary and later at MacLeod.

The only complete set of the three-volume edition I know of is that in the Carter Brown library, Providence, R. I., and this set I have used in the above description, which will not apply in all respects to other copies of the first two volumes of this edition. The Lenox copy for instance—a sound and fine copy in the original binding—is minus the double-page engraving preceding the title-page in both volumes 1 and 2; and the large folded maps in volumes 1 and 2 of the Brown copy are in volumes 2 and 1 respectively of the Lenox copy.

According to Sabin's Dictionary, no. 38636, this is the original edition of Lahontan's Voyages. I have seen two other editions, two volumes each, in French, of the same date, as follows:

— Nouveaux | voyages | de | M<sup>r</sup> le baron de Lahontan, | dans | l'Amerique | septentrionale, | Qui contiennent une Relation des differens | Peuples qui y habitent; la nature de leur | Gouvernement; leur Commerce, leurs Coutumes, leur Religion, & leur manière de faire la Guerre. | L'intérêt des François & des Anglois dans le Commerce qu'ils font avec ces Nations; l'avantage que | l'Angleterre peut retirer dans ce Pais, étant | en Guerre avec la France. | Le tout enrichi de Cartes & de Figures. | Tome premier. | [Scroll.] |

Over the figure are the legends Planche du Titre and Et leges et scripta terit. Facing p. 9 is a single-page map, Carte generale du Canada en petit point, and facing p. 136 the folding map with headings Carte que les Tinnacitares ont dessiné etc. and Carte de la riviere longue, etc. Besides these there are scattered through the volume 13 engraved plates. Priced by Leclerc, 1878, no. 737, 40 fr. and by Quaritch, no. 12162, old calf, gilt, 1l. 5s.

Assuming, as Sabin says, that the 3-vol. edition of 1703 is the original, vol. 1 of each of the two 2-vol. editions agrees with it page for page and nearly line for line in the matter following the preface, i. e., from the beginning of the text, p. 1. In vol. 2 the editions run alike page for page throughout the text; the tables at the end agree in the two 2-vol. editions, both of which differ from the second volume of the 3-vol. edition. The type of the two 2-vol. editions is very nearly the same, but differs materially from that used in the same (second) volume of the 3-vol. edition. The head and tail pieces and the initial letters differ materially in all three editions, as do also the engraved plates and maps; and there are minor discrepancies throughout the text of all the editions.

It will be noticed that the position of the figure in the preliminary plate in vol. 1 of each of the two 2-vol. editions is reversed from that in vol. 1 of the 3-vol. edition belonging to the Carter Brown library, and that it does not appear at all in the second volume of either of the 2-vol. editions or in the third volume of the 3-vol. edition. Altogether, the make-up of the 2-vol. editions is inferior, especially in the engraved plates, to that of the 3-vol. edition.

I am indebted to the owners of these editions for kindly sending them to me for inspection, so that I have been fortunate in having them all under the eye at the same time. I took advantage of the opportunity to make a photographic copy of each of the title-pages, as well as of those of some other editions, and have thus been enabled to read the proof of these titles from fac-similes. It has not been thought necessary to call special attention, by the use of brackets, to all the minor errors and differences in spelling and punctuation.

probably as a private soldier, in 1683, being stationed successively at Chambly and at Fort Frontenac, Fort Niagara, and Fort St. Joseph's.
He was sent to Mackinaw and Sault Ste. Marie with a detachment; was at Green Bay the year following, and claimed to have explored and discovered Long river, a branch of the Mississippi. He returned to Quebec, and went to France in 1690, but came back the following year, and soon afterward was sent by Count Frontenac with despatches to the French Government announcing the failure of Sir William Phipp's expedition against Quebec. The vessel on which he sailed put into Placentia, Newfoundland, and he rendered such valuable service in defending that port from an attack by the English that he received a command as King's lieutenant in Newfoundland and Acadia.
Truth and fiction are so blended in his works they have long since ceased to have any authority.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Robert Gordon Latham, the eldest son of the Rev. Thomas Latham, was born in the vicarage of Billingsborough, Lincolnshire, March 21, 1812. In 1819 he was entered at Eton. Two years afterwards he was admitted on the foundation, and in 1829 went to Kings, where he took his fellowship and degrees. Ethnology was his first passion and his last, though for botany he had a very strong taste. He died March 9, 1888. — Theodore Watts in The Athenaeum, March 17, 1888.

Père Pierre Laure was born at Orleans, France, Sept. 17, 1688, and entered the Society of Jesus Oct. 29, 1707; came to Canada in 1711, and for several years was connected with the Collège des Pères at Quebec; was ordained priest June 23, 1719. In 1720 he was designated by Father Pierre de la Chasse to reopen the Saguenay missions, which had been abandoned many years for want of missionaries. The remainder of his life was spent almost wholly among those missions. He died Nov. 22, 1738.

Rev. Jean Nicolas Laverlochère was born in France. He began to work among the Indians in the year 1845. In 1847 he went for the first time to James's Bay, and visited the Indians of the Moose and Albany forts. In 1851, on his way back from Moose Factory, he was struck with palsy, and had to be carried to the mission of Lake Temiskamingue. He died there in 1855.

He had translated into the Maskegon dialect the catechism and some prayers; his manuscripts were left to his successor and companion, the Rev. André Garin.

Le Boulanger (Père Joseph Ignatius). [French-Illinois dictionary.]

New York: Cramoisy press. 1865.]

No title-page, heading "Dictionnaire;" text pp. 1-8, 8<sup>2</sup>, alphabetically arranged by French words; double columns; includes Abbaissier—Ainsi.

Of this work, which was to form one of the series of Shea's American Linguistics, but one signature was printed. When this portion was put in type the manuscript was sent to the owner at his request and was never returned.

The following is an extract from the prospectus:

"A Manuscript Dictionary exists of the Illinois language, which, in extent and in careful preparation, exceeds any work known on any of the Algonquin dialects. It is to all appearance the work of the Jesuit Father Le Boulanger, whose labors on the Illinois language are highly extolled in the Lettres Edifiantes. The Illinois have now disappeared, but for purposes of research and study their language is one of the most interesting of the various dialects of the wide-spread Algonquin. They were on the extreme Southwest, and were separated on the East by the Iroquois from the Delawares, and had on the West the Dakota tribes. Their language, as shown in this Dictionary, throws much light on western names of tribes, rivers, lakes, &c., and by comparison with that of the kindred Leni or Delawares, as preserved by the Moravians, furnishes the amplest known material for the study of the Algonquin language.

"As it is liable to perish by any untoward accident, I have obtained permission to print one hundred copies. The dictionary will form over five hundred pages, in fine type, double column, similar to that used in the French-Onondago Dictionary issued by me. It will be issued in four parts, of about one hundred and twenty-five pages each, at $5 per part. Ten copies will be printed on large paper, at $10 per part."

At the top of the first leaf, the verso of which is blank, is the following note in a modern handwriting: "La langue dans laquelle est écrit ce volume est celle des Miami-Illinois, voyez au mot illinois et au mot langues dans le dictionnaire, pages 102 et 108. R. Martin."

The next 22 leaves contain, minutely written in double, treble, and quadruple columns, the following prayers, hymns, catechisms, and gospels in the Illinois language: "Acte de foi de la presence de Dieu, Examen de Conscience, Acte de Contrition, Priere pour les parents, &c., Prieres pour La S<sup>m</sup>. These are followed by 14 leaves, all of which are blank, excepting the verso of the 14th, which contains "Passion de Jesus C.", filling one-third of the page. Brief grammatical forms, in single, quadruple, and quintuple columns, fill both sides of the next leaf and the recto of the following one, on the verso of which the dictionary begins with folio 1. This is written in a single column, on the outer margin or half page of the verso of every leaf, the inner half and recto being left blank. A column contains on an average about 18 French words, each of which is followed by a number of Illinois equivalents and phrases, making in all about 80 lines. The total number of French words in the dictionary is nearly 3,000. The apparent imperfections after leaves 11 and 44 are merely errors in numeration. Leaves 82-84 are wrongly numbered 72-74.

A manuscript note on the fly-leaf says: "This manuscript was purchased for me by Messrs. Hector Bossange & Son at the sale of the books and manuscripts of M. Marcel, formerly the Director of the Imperial Printing Office and Member of the Commission of the Institute of Egypt &c., on the 9th of May 1859, at Paris: Hen: C. Murphy."

In the Historical Magazine, first series, vol. 3 (1859), pp. 227-228, Mr. Murphy speaks of the manuscript as follows:

"This volume is the production of some of the early French missionaries among the Illinois. . . . The manuscript is closely written, but very plain. It is not the dictionary of that language which is mentioned by Mr. Duponceau and Mr. Gallatin, in the possession of the former, and which, it is inferred, is a short vocabulary; for the words which Mr. Gallatin could not find in the latter are contained in this, and there are many variations, showing the particular tribal origin to be different. Some of the words are identical with what Mr. Gallatin calls the Old Algonkin, for which he gives Lahontan as authority. The paper on which the work is written resembles that in use 150 or 200 years ago.

"A note on the fly leaf says: 'This precious volume is an example of the superhuman efforts with which the love of the salvation of human souls inspired the Catholic missionaries.' In fine, it is, no doubt, the most complete repertory of the Western Lenape in existence, and from the care and fullness with which it has been written, has been the work of a life-time. . . . The only clue to the authorship that approaches to probability is furnished by Father Gabriel Marest, in his letter dated Kaakaakias, 9th November, 1712, and published in the Lettres Édifiantes. Speaking of Father Gravier, the founder of the mission to the Illinois, he says: 'He first investigated the principles of their language, and reduced them to grammatical rules, so that we have since only been obliged to bring to perfection what he began with so great success.'—Kip's Translation, p. 206. From this it may be inferred that the volume . . . is the compilation of many fathers, a conclusion to which we more readily come, since it accords with that already expressed by Mr. Shea, in his History of the Catholic Missions among the Indian Tribes of the United States."

In the prospectus of the French Illinois dictionary which Mr. Shea was printing from this manuscript he ascribes it to Father Le Boulanger, it being, in his opinion, the work of one who had got far beyond the rudimentary stages of the study, and evidently of a single author who had mastered his subject, a reputation enjoyed only by Le Boulanger.

See Gravier (J.) for a description by Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull of a manuscript Illinois-French Dictionary.

At the sale of Mr. Murphy's library, in March, 1884, this manuscript was purchased for the John Carter Brown library for $240.

This work is erroneously entered under Délaage (F. R.) on p. 109 of this catalogue. Père Lebret writes me concerning it as follows:

"As to the catechism you mention, I would say that the author of the earlier edition [Nihima?] was one of the Sulpicians of Montreal. When I re-edited it in 1806 I changed it somewhat and added something to the body of the work itself, and particularly to the hymnal verses at the end of each lesson, which are as a recapitulation of the whole lesson; also the hymns at the end, and the a, b, c and primary reading lessons at the beginning."

Rev. Louis-Marie Lebret was born at Hénabithen, Département des Côtes-du-Nord, France.
November 30, 1829; joined the order of the oblates of Mary Immaculate in 1857; left Marseilles in 1859 and came to Ottawa, Canada, where he continued his theological course until he was ordained to the priesthood, March 17, 1861. He was immediately sent to the Indian missions of the upper Ottawa and Hudson Bay, where he labored for eight years.
Then he was removed to Lowell, Mass., where he remained two years. Thence he was recalled to Canada and put in charge of the Novitiate of the O. M. I. at Lachine, remaining four years, and then sent to St. Paul, Minn., where he spent nearly three years, organizing a new parish and building a new church—St. Joseph's.
Returning to Ottawa, he was made *économ*e of the college, now the Catholic University of Ottawa. After two years (in 1879) he was sent again to the United States, at Plattsburgh, N.
Y., as pastor of St. Pierre's church. In 1882 he was sent to Winnipeg, Manitoba, where he now (1890) resides. Since 1882, however, he has been absent from Winnipeg much of the time, having spent two years at Qu'Appelle and three years at Fort Alexander, Lake Winnipeg.

Dr. Shea, in his sketch of Father Le Clercq, gives in vol. 1, p. 19, the Micmac title of Kander's catechism, and on a plate opposite p. 16 the Lord's prayer in Micmac hieroglyphics (a fac-simile of which is given herewith), accompanied by the following remarks:

“As these hieroglyphics are still in use among the Micmacs, who write and read them, and a font of type for them has actually been cast at Vienna, in which a prayer-book has been printed in our day, through the exertions of Rev. Charles Kander [q. v.], a Redemptorist missionary, who spent some years at Tracadie, it will not be out of place to give Le Clercq's own words:

“The easy method which I found for teaching our Gaspeians their prayers with certain characters which I have formed, effectually convinces me that the majority would soon become instructed: for, indeed, I should find no more difficulty in teaching them to read than to pray to God by my papers, in which each arbitrary letter signifies a particular word, and some even two together. They so readily grasp this kind of reading that they learn in a single day what they would never have been able to retain in a whole week without the aid of these cards, which they call Kignamotinoor or Kateguene. They preserve these instructive papers so carefully and prize them so highly that they keep them very neatly in little bark cases adorned with wampum, beads, and porcupine quills. . . .

“Our Lord inspired me with this method the second year of my mission, when, being greatly embarrassed as to the mode in which I should teach the Indians to pray, I noticed some children making marks on birch bark with coal, and they pointed to them with their finger at every word of the prayer which they pronounced. This made me think that, by giving them some form which would aid their memory by fixed characters, I should advance much more rapidly than by teaching on the making them repeat over and over. I was charmed to know and that these on paper prove that in a few days they learned all their prayers without difficulty. . . . I enlarged them so as to include all the prayers of the Church, with the sacred mysteries of the Trinity, Incarnation, Baptism, Penance, and the Eucharist."

Chrétien Leclercq, French missionary, born in Artois, France, about 1630; died in Lens, France, about 1696. He was a member of the Recollet order of Franciscans, and in 1655 was sent as missionary to Canada. Landing on the coast of the island of Gaspé, he learned the language of the Indians, and labored among them for six years, when he was sent to France to obtain permission to found a house of Recollets in Montreal. He was successful, and returned to his mission in 1662. After passing several years in Canada and meeting with little success in his work, he returned to France and was made guardian of the convent of Lens. Leclercq claims for the Recollets the honor of being the first to compile a dictionary of the languages of the Indians of Canada.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Rev. Émile Legal was born in the western part of France, near Nantes, in 1849. After the regular course of study he was ordained a Catholic priest in 1874, taught mathematics five years, and then joined the congregation of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. The following year he was directed to come to the northwest territories of Canada. In November, 1881, he arrived among the Blackfoot tribes in southern Alberta, where he has remained ever since.

A number of errors of pagination occur: p. 89 is numbered 66; p. 94 is not numbered; p. 122 is numbered 121; pp. 125 to 176 are numbered 225-276, except p. 174, which is numbered 374; at p. 177 the numbering is again correct; p. 193 is numbered 293; p. 211 is numbered 111. The Privilege occupies about one-half of p. 216. At the head of the first page of the text (p. 3) is an ornament about half an inch wide which extends across the page, in the center of which is a full-length cupid with wings outstretched and with extended hands, each of which rests on a cornucopia.

In Harrisse's Notes pour servir à l'histoire . . . de la Nouvelle France, pp. 70-71, the two titles of the Relation for 1633 are given, with the statement that on page 1 of the one is a vignette of the head of a goat, and on page 1 of the other a vignette of a cupid. His error consists in the page number, p. 1 being the title-page, while the ornaments occur on p. 3 (the first page of the text). The vignette on page 1 (i. e. the title-page) of each consists of two storks. The same mistake is made in "Contributions to a catalogue of the Lenox library, No. II, The Jesuit Relations." This error is not important except that it leads Mr. Winsor in his Narrative and Critical History of America, vol. 4, p. 301, after mentioning these two issues, to say, "A third issue has a vignette of two storks," a remark evidently based upon Mr. Harrisse's statement that the vignette (presumably on the title-page) was in the one case a goat's head, in the other a cupid.

According to Harrisse's "Notes pour servir à l'histoire . . . de la Nouvelle France," p. 73, and Sabin's Dictionary, vol. 16, p. 537, there was a second issue of this Relation in the same year. Mr. Kames in the latter points out the differences in great detail. Following the title-page is a table des chapitres 1 l. and the privilege occupies one leaf at the end. Pp. 220, 221, 281, 304, 310, and 321-336, are respectively misnumbered 200, 121, 283, 204, 210, and 323-338. He adds: "These two editions, which agree line for line in the title, and nearly so in the text, may also be distinguished apart by the variations in the ending of the bottom lines of the following mentioned pages. . . ."

Paul Le Jeune, French missionary, born in the diocese of Chalons, France, in 1592; died in Paris, 7 Aug., 1664. He became a Jesuit in 1614, was sent to Canada in 1632, and on his arrival in Quebec was made superior of the missions. In 1637 Commander de Sillery sent word to Le Jeune with a request that he would employ them in founding villages for the Christian Indians. The superior conducted them to a point about four miles above Quebec, and there founded the village of Sillery. In a few years this settlement became a considerable town, and the Indian inhabitants cleared a large tract, and were gradually civilized by Le Jeune. He ceased to be superior in 1639, and in 1649 returned to France, where he was made procurator of the foreign missions.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Lesueur (Père François Eustache). [Ser-

language. 1716-1753.] (*)

Manuscript, forming part of a quarto volume of 176 pages preserved in the archives of the Roman Catholic mission at Pierreville, Canada, and described by Judge Charles Gill in his Notes sur de vieux manuscrits abenakis
q. r. as follows:

The volume is formed of separate parts bound together and paged separately; on the first page is the following:

Hoc codicex continetur: 1 Quæstio de saltatione Sylvicolum cum fumigatorio tubo, à cobo Lesueur, Sylvicolum Uanbanakao-astore. 2 Variæ conciones, paræneses, tutiones ejusd.

The first part is written entirely in French and has at the head: "En 1734, par le R. P.
Jacques Lesueur, à St.-François-de-Sales. Riv.
Araiganteg Histoire du Calumet et de la Dance."

This French manuscript was published in the "Soirées Canadiennes," nos. 4 and 5, for April and May, 1864.

The first two pages of the second part are in Latin, under the title "Baptismum confe-rendo," and the remainder of the volume is in Abnaki, some of the titles being in Latin and one in French. The titles of the sermons and instructions are generally in Indian.

See Virot (C. F.) for description of the remainder (parts 3 and 4) of the manuscript.

— Dictionnaire de racines de cette [Abnaki] langue. [1716-1753.] (*)

Manuscript, 900 pp. Title from Maurault's Histoire des Abenakis, p. 504, whence the following note is taken:

Lesueur was born in 1685 at Lunel in Languedoc. He joined the Jesuit order and was sent to the missions in America, arriving in Canada in June, 1715. He remained at Sillery nine months studying the Abnaki language, and in September, 1716, was sent to the Abnakis of Bécancourt, which is situated much nearer the Trois-Rivières than St. Francis [Pierre-ville], where he lived until 1753, with the exception of a few years, at different times. In 1753 he went to Quebec, where he died in 1755, aged 70 years.

He was well versed in the Abnaki language and wrote a dictionary of roots in that language; this work is still preserved. Besides other manuscripts he left several [in Abnaki!] containing sermons, instructions upon the sacraments and morals.

"An account of the various publications relating to the travels of Lewis and Clarke," by Dr. Elliot Coues, appears as Bulletin 6, second series, of the publications of the Hayden Survey, Washington, 1876, 8°. In this work Dr.
Coues says that all the editions of Lewis and Clarke—and there are many—are spurious so far as they claim to be narrations of the expedition.

— The Acts of the Apostles, translated into Delaware by Abraham Lukenbach. (*)

Manuscript, 83 ll. sm. 8°. Obtained by Dr. D. G. Brinton, in April, 1885, at the Delaware Indian reservation, Canada. He informs me that the manuscript is complete and well written, in the handwriting of Lukenbach, with occasional interlineations; that he regards it as the most extensive and complete specimen of the language left by that accomplished Lenapist, and that no one seems to have known of its existence.

— [Manuscript in the Delaware language.]

A blank book, duodecimo in size, most of the pages of which are blank. It contains "Extracts from the life of Christ," 13 pp, and "Advent," 3 pp.

This manuscript was in possession of Mr. John W. Jordan, of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, Dec. 27, 1887, as was also the following:

— [Sermons and extracts from Spangenberg's "Idea fidei fratrum," in the Delaware language.]

Manuscript, 62 ll. 12°, written on both sides and entirely in the Delaware language. At the top of the first leaf is "Abr: Lukenbach, April the 28th, 1808," the verso of which is blank, the text occupying 61 ll.

The contents are as follows: Sermons, 9 pp.—Address, 4 pp.—Sermons, beginning of lent (Esto mihi), 3 pp.—Sermon, 21 March, 4 pp.—Sermon, 5 pp.—Extracts from Idea fidei fratrum, § 119, 62 pp.—Sermons, 34 pp.

The Rev. Abraham Lukenbach may be called the last of the Moravian Lenapists. With him, in 1854, died out the traditions of native philology. Born in 1777, in Lehigh county, Pennsylvania, he became a missionary among the Indians in 1800, and, until his retirement forty-three years later, was a zealous pastor to his flock on the White river and later on the Canada reservation. A short Ms. vocabulary in German and Delaware is in the possession of his family in Bethlehem, as also some loose papers in that language.—Brinton.

Dr. Ludewig, though but little known in this country [England], was held in considerable esteem as a jurist, both in Germany and the United States of America. Born at Dresden in 1830, with but little exception he continued to reside in his native city until 1844, when he emigrated to America. In 1846 appeared his 'Literature of American Local-History,' a work of much importance, and which required no small amount of labour and perseverance.

These studies formed a natural induction to the present work on 'The Literature of American Aboriginal Languages,' which occupied his leisure concurrently with the others, and the printing of which was commenced in August, 1856, but which he did not live to see launched upon the world; for at the date of his death, on the 12th of December following, only 172 pages were in type. It had been a labour of love with him for years; and if ever author were mindful of the non um prematur in annum, he was when he deposited his manuscript in the library of the American Ethnological Society, diffident himself as to its merits and value on a subject of such paramount interest." Biographic memoir.

The first Baptist mission among the Indians was begun by Rev. Isaac McCoy, of Kentucky, who in October, 1818, purchased a small tract of land near to the Wea Indians in northern Indiana, and erected two log cabins for a residence and a school.

In November, 1819, Mr. Johnston Lykins, then nearly twenty years of age, was employed to teach the school, which contained only eight Indian children. This position he held until May, 1820, when the mission was removed to Fort Wayne, near the Miami Indians. His engagement having terminated, he returned to the settlements on the Wabash river. About two years later, in February, 1822, Mr. Lykins removed to Fort Wayne, and again entered the service of Mr. McCoy. In June he professed religion and was baptized, at the same time offering to devote his life and services to the Indian work. He was therefore duly appointed a missionary at the Fort Wayne station, according to the regulations of the Baptist Board of Missions for the United States.

In December, 1822, the mission was removed to a place about one hundred miles northwest of Fort Wayne, on St. Joseph's river, in Michigan territory, among the Potawatomie Indians, where a new station was founded called the Carey mission house. Here Mr. Lykins applied himself to learn the Potawatomie language, and in September, 1824, he commenced to read religious discourses to the Indians in their own tongue. In the following year he received a government appointment as teacher at a new mission station called Thomas, which had been located among the Ottawa Indians on Grand

River. During the next six years his labors were divided with Mr. McCoy and the other missionaries between the two stations, by which arrangement they all acquired a better knowledge of the Ottawa and Potawatomi languages. They were joined in 1824 by Mr. Robert Simerwell, in 1825 by Mr. Jotham Meeker, and in 1826 by Mr. and Mrs. Slater. In 1826 Mr. Lykins was licensed to preach the gospel, and in 1828 he was married to Mr. McCoy's eldest daughter.

After the formation of the Indian territory by act of Congress, May 26, 1830, preparations were made to remove the Baptist missions from Carey and Thomas stations. Mr. Lykins was directed by the board of missions to settle in the northern part of the new territory, among the Shawanoes, on the line of the state of Missouri. To this place he accordingly removed in June, 1831, and in the following year he was authorized to erect the necessary buildings. By September, 1832, matters had progressed so well under his management that public religious exercises were held in the mission buildings, for the benefit of the Shawanoes, and a small school for Indian children had been opened. In February, 1833, Mr. Lykins visited the Delaware Indians on the neighboring reservation, and made arrangements for instituting regular preaching among them, and to open a school. Mr. Ira D. Blanchard, who had already gone among them to learn the Delaware language, was employed for this purpose.

In the autumn of 1833, Mr. Meeker arrived with a printing press, which was set up at the Shawano mission, and before the 10th of May, 1834, a small book in Shawano by Mr. Lykins, and another in Delaware by Mr. Blanchard, had been printed, according to the new system of orthography. During the summer of 1834, "missionary operations progressed with increasing interest, both among the Shawanoes and Delawares. Many among both tribes learned to read in their own languages, and the publishing and distribution among them of small books, which many had become able to read, promised a happy result." Mr. Lykins also prepared hymns and some other prints, which were used advantageously by the Shawanos, Delawares, Peorias, and Weas, in the neighboring Methodist mission, under the care of Rev. Thomas Johnson.

In March, 1835, the first number was issued of a semi-monthly paper entitled Shau-wau-nove Kessauthrau, edited by Mr. Lykins, and printed at the Shawano mission press in the Shawano language. During the summer of the same year Mr. Lykins assisted Rev. John Davis, the missionary to the Creek Indians, in compiling a small school book in the Muscogee or Creek language, and in translating the gospel of John into the same, both of which were printed at the mission press in the new alphabet. He also compiled, with the help of the native missionary, a book in the Choctaw language, which was printed by Mr. Meeker. This book, however, was not brought into use. On the 18th of October, Mr. Lykins was regularly ordained to the work of the gospel ministry.

In the winter of 1835-'36, while engaged in translating the gospel of Matthew into the Shawano language, he was attacked with a nervous affection of the head, occasioned, perhaps, by too close application to study, which rendered him almost an invalid for several years, and hindered greatly the work of translation. The printing of the gospel, which had advanced to the middle of the 17th chapter, was necessarily discontinued, and some copies of the book were issued in an incomplete form. It was not completed and finished at the press until 1842, when a new title was printed with that date.

In 1837, Mr. Lykins compiled a primer or "first book" in Ojaga, with the help of one Joe Skigget, a Delaware youth who had acquired a knowledge of that language. The book was printed according to the new system, before October of the same year.

Between 1834 and 1839, according to Mr. McCoy's statement, "in Shawano, three books have been printed, and part of the Gospel by Matthew. A second edition of one of these books has been printed; also, one book in Shawano, for the Methodists." Besides, a considerable number of hymns were printed in the same language, which are not included in the above list. All of these were prepared in whole or in part by Mr. Lykins.

The following particulars have been furnished by Mr. John B. Dunbar: In the spring of 1843, under the direction of Rev. Isaac McCoy, who had been appointed general agent of the American Indian Mission Association at Louisville, Mr. Lykins left the Shawano station and established a mission among the Potawatomi Indians, at a place about four miles west of where Topeka, Kansas, now is. He remained in charge of this mission for three years, and then returned to his former station, where he resided until the mission was discontinued, about the year 1855. He afterwards removed to Kansas City, where he died in 1876.

For an account of the new system of orthography in which these books were printed, see Meeker (J.)

— [Prayers in the Cree language.]

In Kirby, W. W. Manual of prayer and praise pp. 78-126. London, 1879. 18°. In syllabic characters.

The Prayers are from a compilation made by the Bishop of Rupert's Land [Rev. David Anderson] for the use of his diocese. It was translated into Cree by the Rev. J. M. Kay, and at once printed at the Mission Press, Saskatoon [Saskatchewan], which did much good among the Indians. The book is still in large demand by the people of this district, but being out of print it cannot be had. The writer has thought therefore that this little book of Prayers would form a handy and very useful Manual of Prayer and Praise for the daily use of that large portion of the Cree-speaking population who read only the syllabic characters. — Preface.

M'Kenzie (D. M.) The vocabularies of the Blackfeet, of the Crows or Upsarokas, and of the Grosventre, Rapid, or Fall Indians who call themselves Ahnenin; by D. M. M'Kenzie of the St. Louis American Fur Comp.

Manuscript, furnished by the Hon. Albert Gallatin to Dr. James Cowles Prichard, by whom it was loaned to Dr. R. G. Latham, from whose "Opuscula" (1860), p. 379, the above title is copied.

Extracts from the manuscript are printed in Latham (R. G.), Opuscula, London, 1860, pp. 276-283, 379-380, with the Blackfoot and Crow vocabularies, pp. 380-384.

On p. 378 Dr. Latham suggests a doubt as to the accuracy of the word Ahnenin and asks should it not be Aetsina, in which he is right.

The vocabularies are referred to by Dr. Prichard as follows: "Mr. Gallatin has had the kindness to communicate to me the vocabularies of the languages of the Black-foot Indians, of the Crows or Upsarokas, and of the Gros Ventres or Rapid or Fall Indians, who call themselves Ahnenin. These vocabularies are in manuscript; they were collected since the publication of Mr. Gallatin's work by Mr. Mackenzie, a very intelligent man, who resides at the junction of the Yellow-Stone and the Missouri rivers as principal agent of the St. Louis American Fur Company, and who trades principally with these nations."—Researches into the Physical Hist. of Mankind, vol. 5 (1847), p. 414.

Mr. Gallatin, in his introduction to "Hale's Indians of North-West America" (Am. Ethnological Society's Trans. 11 (1848), cxi), refers to the author as "Mr. Kennet McKenzie, the active partner of the St. Louis Fur Company, who has resided twenty years near the mouth of the Yellowstone River, and to whom we are indebted for the best vocabularies of the languages of the Blackfeet, the Upsarokas or Crows, and several other tribes."

In the same volume Mr. Gallatin gives extracts from the Blackfoot vocabulary, compared with Algonkin, pp. cxiii-cxiv, and the words marked M in the vocabulary on pp. 88, 90, 92, 94.

On pp. 62, 163 are found the following remarks concerning the invention of the Cree syllabary: "He [Eames] found two efficient and willing helpers in Mr. and Mrs. Ross, the factor and his wife. An old Hudson's Bay employee informed the writer that Mrs. Ross rendered the chief help to the missionary in studying the language. . . . Quick to observe the principles of language, he beheld with joy the recurrence of certain vowel sounds, which, when fully grasped might prove of great service in simplifying language and preparing a literature for the people. . . . Pondering deeply, . . . at last, in the year 1841, the Cree syllabic system was completed, the alphabet distributed among the Indians and placed in the school, and instructions given in its arrangement. In less than one year from his advent to Norway House he had devised and perfected the syllabic system upon which his enduring fame rests."

of Aug. 24, 1887: "I have this well under way. It is a dictionary, not a vocabulary, and includes grammatical notes as well as the meaning of the words. There are at present over ten thousand words recorded, and when completed, which I hope to do in from six to twelve months after the grammar, will contain probably from twenty to twenty-five thousand words."

— [Grammar of the Blackfoot language.] (*)

Manuscript in possession of the author, who is preparing it for publication; in a late letter (April 8, 1890) he informs me he hopes to have it published in the succeeding autumn, and that it will probably make a volume of 250 pages, 12°. Under date of Aug. 24, 1887, he outlines its contents, as follows:

Preface, introduction.

Part first: Orthography. The alphabet; accentuation; euphony.

Part second: Etymology. Definition of parts of speech, with examples; notes on the articles.

Chapter I, the noun: Classification of nouns, with examples; noun terminations, with examples. Formation of nouns: diminutive nouns: nouns of contempt; personal abstract nouns. Gender; modes of denoting sex. Number; how formed; elision. Case; different cases; how formed (fully exemplified); possessive terminations; the double possessive. Declension of the noun.

Chapter II, the pronoun: Kinds of pronouns: personal pronouns; inflection. Possessive pronouns: separable, conjunctive. Demonstrative pronouns: animate, inanimate. Interrogative pronouns. Relative pronouns. Indefinite pronouns.

Chapter III, the adjective: Separable adjectives. Inseparable adjectives. Verbal adjectives. Comparison of adjectives. Numeral adjectives: cardinals; multiplicative numerals; ordinals: numerical combinations; numerical expressions of time, age, money, measure.

Chapter IV, the verb: "I am now working at this department of my grammar."

Chapter V, the adverb: Adverbs of time, place, interrogation, quantity, manner, comparison, affirmation, negation, uncertainty.

Chapter VI, the preposition: Separable prepositions; inseparable prepositions.

Chapter VII, the conjunction.

Chapter VIII, the interjection.

Part third: Syntax. "I am now working at this."

"The reason I am taking so long with the grammar and dictionary is that I am determined to make them full and accurate, that they may be entitled to be called standard works."

— Translation of the Lord's prayer into the Blackfoot language.

— [Translations into the Blackfoot language, 1885.] (*)

Manuscript in possession of its author, who has kindly described it for me as follows:

"Contains five chapters from Matthew's gospel, the Lord's prayer, and selections from the scriptures and prayers, with one or two hymns.

"In translating these I used an interpreter, but found the work so unsatisfactory that I gave up translating and applied myself enthusiastically to the study of the language, deferring translation until I was fully master of the subject."

In the preparation of his linguistic material Mr. McLean is using the alphabet adopted by the Bureau of Ethnology.

Rev. John McLean was born in Kilmarnoch, Ayrshire, Scotland, Oct. 30, 1852; came to Canada in 1873, and was graduated B. A. from Victoria University, Cobourg, Ontario. Some years afterward his alma mater conferred on him the degree of M. A. In 1874 he entered the ministry of the Methodist church. In 1880, at Hamilton, Ontario, he was ordained for special work among the Blackfoot Indians, leaving in June of the same year for Fort MacLeod, Northwest Territory, accompanied by his wife. At this point were gathered about 700 Blood Indians, which number was subsequently increased by the arrival of Bloods and Blackfeet from Montana to 3,500. Mr. McLean settled upon the reserve set apart for these Indians and diligently set to work to master their language, history, etc., and on these subjects he has published a number of articles in the magazines and society publications. I am informed by Mr. James N. McDonald, editor of the Moose Jaw Times, that, at the request of the anthropological committee of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, Dr. McLean has for several years prepared notes on the language, customs, and traditions of the Blackfoot confederacy, and that the results of this labor are partly given in one of the reports of the committee, but at this writing I have not seen the article referred to. Although burdened with the labors of a missionary, he found time to prepare a post-graduate course in history and took the degree of Ph. D. at the Wesleyan University, Bloomington, Ill., in 1888. Besides the articles which have appeared under his own name, Dr. McLean has written extensively for the press under the nom de plume of Robin Rustler. He is now (May, 1890) stationed at Moose Jaw, Northwest Territory, having left the Indian work in July, 1889. He has for several years been inspector of schools, and is now a member of the board of education and of the board of examiners for the Territory.

quite imperfect, seeing that very few have fathomed the genius of that language. Mr. Maillard is the only one known who has investigated it deeply, and who has been in the best situation to give us the true principles of a tongue conforming so little to the genius of other languages. A beginner can do nothing better than to study his manuscripts in order to learn to speak Indian purely and correctly. However, to facilitate the study of this language I have undertaken to work up his grammar, which lacks method and even clearness in places."—Avant-propos.

"It is regretted that we have not the remainder of Mr. Maillard's remarks. All the precepts included in this cahier are purely from him; we have only labored to write them out in a continuous and more methodical order. Somebody will be pleased, perhaps, sometime, with our work, especially in respect to the order in which the verbs are placed. The conjugation of the verbs with an object of animate things is still needed, and rules of syntax. We can not better terminate these precepts than with this sentence of the respected missionary [Maillard]:

"In order to learn the Micmac language and put one's self in condition to speak it as purely and as easily as the Micmacs themselves, it is necessary, when one has to live and dwell among them, especially in the character of missionary, not to neglect to fix in the mind each day a few of these remarks. The true means of making one's self loved, feared, and listened to by them, and even of succeeding in making them think and act as one wishes they should do and act on certain occasions or under certain circumstances, is to know how to express one's self like them; to apply one's self to doing it with ease, especially in the church when it is necessary to paraphrase some texts of the old or new testament."—Closing paragraph.

The manuscript of this grammar, pp. 1-184, 4°, in a bound book, is in possession of Dr. J. G. Shea, Elizabeth, New Jersey; and there is a copy as follows:

— Cahier de la langue Mimak [sic] Rédigé par les soins de Monsieur Maillard ancien missionnaire. Copié par M. Joseph Bellenger.

Manuscript, 4 ll. pp. 1-154, sq. 8°, preserved in the library of the Archbishopric of Quebec. A copy, corrected and revised from the original by the Rev. Joseph Bellenger, according to notes by him at the beginning and end of the manuscript. The manuscript is bound in gray cloth and is very well preserved.

Of the 4 preliminary leaves two are blank; the title above appears on the recto of l. 3, on the verso of which begins a table of contents, which is continued on the recto of the succeeding (4th) leaf. The verso of the 4th leaf contains a note by the Abbé Bellenger on an oblique case which answers to the accusative of the Latin, and "which the Abbé Maillard could not have observed."

The text begins on p. 1 with the heading: De la langue sauvage Micmac [sic]. Des noms. The first line begins with the words: "Dans cette langue les noms ne se déclinent point." The last paragraph begins: "Si l'on veut faire précéder la négation . . ."

The Rev. Thomas Gill of the Séminaire de Nicolet, Montreal, has furnished me the description of a manuscript preserved in the library of that institution which he considers the original of Maillard's Grammar, and which he describes as follows: It contains pp. 1-44, 80. The first page bears the heading "Traité de la Langue des Mikmaques copié en 1813 et 1814." A preliminary leaf contains a "Preamble" which states that the treatise is probably by Mr. Maillard, of which I have but little doubt, for on comparing extracts from it with Maillard's Grammar by Bellenger, I find similarities sufficiently striking to suggest that this very manuscript may have been in Mr. Bellenger's hands. The manuscript was presented to the Nicolet Library about 1883 by Rev. Mr. Le Bois, a curé of Maskinogé, P. Q., who acquired it from Rev. M. Frs. Magloire Turcotte.

The collection, which was begun Nov. 4, 1754, and finished March 5, 1755, is well written and in good preservation. It includes the morning prayer, baptism, sermons, prayers for mass, vespers, evening prayer for each day of the week, etc.

ric of Quebec. Bound in parchment, and considerably mutilated by mice.

On the recto of the first leaf is a fancy design, in the middle of which is written "P. Maillard, pretre missionnaire." The 4 pp. next following contain a notice to the missionary readers.

In the middle of p. 15 is written P. Maillard, pretre missionnaire; the verso of this leaf and the three following pages contain a notice to missionary readers. On a blank leaf attached to the front cover is a design within which is the note "Pridie kalendas octobris, anno salutis 1759," presumably the date of the drawing; and on the corresponding page at the end of the volume is "Quarto nonas octobris, Anno Dni 1759," the date at which the manuscript was finished. In the various ornamental drawings which separate the principal parts of the text are recorded the dates which mark the progress of the work; thus on p. 116 is "11<sup>re</sup> 9<sup>bris</sup> ann. 1757;" on p. 126 "12<sup>re</sup> 9<sup>bris</sup> 1757," etc. the last date thus intercalated being found on p. 346 and reading as follows: "Junii, die vigesima nona, dum apud D. Manach degerem. Anno salutis 1759." Père Manach was a co-laborer in the missions with Père Maillard.

The manuscript is divided as follows:

Les matines du dimanche: Pater, ave, credo p. 1.—Les psaumes et les leçons, pp. 2-14.—Te Deum, p. 15.—Laudes, p. 17.—Prime, p. 29.—Tierce, p. 45.—Sexte, p. 90.—Nones, p. 96.—Asperges, p. 52.—Messe, p. 56.—Confiteor, Acte de contrition, etc. p. 60.—Prone pour chaque mois, pp. 62-78.—Prone pour chaque dimanche, p. 78.—Credo, Agnus, etc. p. 85.—Dominicum, p. 89.—Vêpres, p. 103.—Complies, p. 114.—Matines du lundi, p. 126; du mardi, p. 137; du mercredi, p. 150; du jeudi, p. 150; du vendredi, p. 171; du samedi, p. 176.—L'enseignement (partie dogmatique) sur Dieu, p. 48; sur l'incarnation, p. 93; sur la rédemption pp. 157 and 190; des sacrements, p. 99; du baptême, pp. 127-128; de la confirmation, p. 138; de la pénitence, pp. 139 and 150; de l'eucharistie, pp. 161, 163, 168; du mariage, p. 183; de l'extrême-onction, p. 173.—L'hymne Jam lucis orto sidero, office ferial du lundi, p. 196; du mardi, p. 197; du mercredi, du jeudi, du vendredi, du samedi, p. 201.—Instruction sur les sept jours de la semaine, pp. 202, 204.—Autres instructions, p. 205.—Prières de tous les jours, p. 205; du matin, pp. 224-234; du soir, pp. 251-262.—Psaumes quam dilecto, 255.—Fête-Dieu, p. 262.—Dimanches de l'aveu, p. 263.—Généalogie de Jésus-Christ, Noël, p. 265.—Messe de Noël, p. 267; pour le carême, p. 273.—Dimanche des rameaux, p. 276.—Hymnes de la passion, p. 285; petit catéchisme, pp. 288-300.—Abrégé de l'histoire sainte en catéchisme, p. 300.—Traduction du catéchisme historique de l'Abbé Fleury, et abrégé du nouveau testament, p. 318.—Catéchisme des sacrements, p. 332.—Catéchisme de la communion, p. 346.—Actions de grâces après la communion, pp. 353-356.

preliminary leaves, the Abbé Maillard speaks of a French translation of the Micmac text of his euchology; of a second manuscript in the Micmac language containing the prayers for morning and evening with the sections which might be sung correctly noted; and finally of a third manuscript, larger than the latter, which contained all the service put into plain chant. The text of all these is contained in the above manuscript.

Following this manuscript is one of 18 ll. which is, I think, not the work of Abbé Maillard. It is without title or date. The recto of the first leaf is blank; on the verso begins the mass for the dead in Micmac, which extends through 3 pp. followed by a French grammar 3 pp. table of contents 3 pp. estimate of the author and of his work by M. Abbé Maillard, born in France late in the 17th century, died in Halifax, Nova Scotia, in 1768. He was sent to Canada about 1738, and was afterward appointed vicar-general of Acadia. After the capture of Louisbourg in 1758 he remained in the neighborhood, hiding in the woods during the daytime and at night attending to the religious needs of the fishermen that were allowed to stay in the country. On the conclusion of peace in 1760 he left his retreat, and labored among the Indian tribes and in the few Acadian villages in Cape Breton and on the coast of Miramichi.—*Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Marest (Père Gabriel). [Catechism and collection of prayers in the Illinois language.] (*)

According to letters of the Jesuit fathers from 1676 to 1702 (Relation des affaires du Canada), Father Marest writes to another father "that priests of the Quebec seminary passing one winter in his mission and not knowing the Illinois language, he gave them a collection of prayers and a catechism translated with the remarks made on that [Illinois] language." This letter is dated from the land of Illinois in New France, April 29, 1699.

Father Julien Binnetean, a Jesuit, in a letter to another father of the same order (Illinois, 1699), says that Father Marest has the first talent in the world for these missions, having learned the language in four or five months to such a degree as to give lessons in it, of which he ought to have left manuscripts.

Gabriel Marest, or Marét, French missionary, born in France; died near Peoria, Ill., in 1715. He was sent as a missionary to Canada, and labored successfully among the Illinois Indians in 1697, after acquiring a good knowledge of their language. He then established his mission permanently near Fort Peoria, and most of the tribes in the neighborhood became Christians. Father Marest is the author of two naratives that have been published in the "Lettres dantes." The first gives an interesting journey that he made to Hudson

Although the three works last titled have the name of Rev. Wm. Mason on their respective title-pages, denial has been made in a number of instances that they were translated by him. In a biography of the Rev. Mr. Steinhauer in the Missionary Outlook for Jan. 1881, published in Toronto, there occurs the following passage:

"When the Rev. James Evans went to the North-West, in 1840, he was already meditating the possibility of reducing the Cree tongue to writing. In this he succeeded, by inventing what is known as the syllabic characters. Mr. Evans not only invented the characters, but cut the first type in which an attempt was made to print them. Soon after, the work of translating the Scriptures began, and it was in this work that Bro. Steinhauer rendered efficient service in conjunction with John Sinclair, a half-breed, afterwards employed as a native assistant at Oxford House. Mr. Sinclair translated the Old Testament as far as the end of Job, also the Gospels and Acts; while Mr. Steinhauer translated from the beginning of the Psalms to the end of the Old Testament, and from the beginning of Romans to the end of the New.

"The manuscript of these translations was entrusted to the Rev. Mr. Mason, who was now a missionary of the Church of England at York Factory. He took it to England, where the work of printing was undertaken by the British and Foreign Bible Society. When the work was passing through the press, Mr. Mason, with characteristic modesty but very questionable morality, had his own name printed on the title-page as the translator of the work. Subsequently, after the death of James Evans, Mason claimed to be the inventor of the syllabic characters, and within a couple of years the writer has seen the claim asserted in his behalf in an English paper."

In an article by Rev. E. R. Young, entitled "James Evans as inventor of the syllabic system," published in the Canadian Methodist Magazine for March, 1882, the following language is used: "Let it be known to all, that long before Wm. Mason reached Norway House, the Rev. Jas. Evans had not only perfected his invention, but had so far utilized it, that portions of the Gospels and also several hymns had been printed by himself and his Indian helpers. . . . For years, catechisms, hymn-books, and large portions of the Word of God were printed at Norway House."

I have myself seen nowhere in print the claim put forth in behalf of Mr. Mason that he was the inventor of the syllabic system, though, as appears above, vigorous denial of the claim is made.

In the same periodical for May, 1885, is an article on "American Indian Literature" by the Rev. Jno. McLean, who says: "In 1840, the Rev. H. B. Steinhauer, an Ojibway Indian, recently deceased, went out to the Hudson's Bay Territory with Jas. Evans. After a residence of a few years, he and John Sinclair, a half-breed, translated the Bible into Cree. Sinclair translated the Old Testament to the end of Job, and the New Testament to the end of the Acts of the Apostles. Mr. Steinhauer translated the remaining parts of the Old and New Testament. I have in my library a manuscript copy of Genesis written in the Cree syllabic characters by Jno. Sinclair. It is a beautiful specimen of penmanship." See, further, under McLean (J.), James Evans, inventor of the syllabic system of the Cree language.

In order that the case might be presented from both sides I wrote to Archdeacon Kirkby, who had spent many years among the Crees and neighboring tribes, and who is thoroughly acquainted with the syllabary, and who has written and published a number of works therein concerning the matter. After cautioning me against confounding the invention of the system with the translation of the Bible by means of the syllabary, he proceeds as follows: "Whilst in charge of the mission at Norway House, Mr. Mason married a daughter of one of the Hudson Bay Co.'s officers, a half-caste lady thoroughly well educated. Of course Cree was her mother tongue. Texts, portions of scripture, and possibly one of the Gospels were in circulation among the Indians, but she longed to have the entire Bible printed for their use, and she, with her husband, began. Possibly, at that time Messrs. Steinhauer and Sinclair may have helped them, as they were associated with Mr. Mason in the mission, but it could not have been to any great extent, as they were not educated men. Anyway, the translation was not completed until long after Mr. Mason had left the Wesleyans, and had taken charge of the York Mission. There is not the slightest doubt that the translation belongs to Mr. Mason and to his good wife. She was a devoted Christian lady and an admirable Cree scholar. The manuscript was printed for Mr. Mason by the British and Foreign Bible Society, and done under the eye of Mr. Mason, who went to England to see it through the press. I am not aware that the Wesleyans have ever translated the Bible into the Cree language."

Some time after compiling the above notes I was pleased to learn that the Rev. Mr. Mason was still living, at Long Horsey, Morpeth, England, and immediately wrote him concerning the matter in question. He replied, under date of December 30, 1886, as follows:

"In the translation of the Bible into the Cree language I was assisted by Henry Steinhauer and John Sinclair, who were at the time schoolmaster and interpreter at the Rossville Station, where I was minister, and by other Indians. The final revision was the joint work of myself and my wife, Sophia Mason. I never claimed to be the inventor of the Cree Syllabary: that honor belongs to the Rev. James Evans. I went in 1840 to Rupert's Land, in connection with the Wesleyan Society, having been set apart in the usual manner of that society. My first sphere of labour was Lac la Pline, where I remained from 1840 to 1844. I was then stationed at the Rossville Mission. In 1854 the mission was given up by the Wesleyans and I went to Red River, where I saw Dr. Anderson, the late bishop of Rupert's Land, who said, 'If you return to your own church I will ordain you, and your fourteen years' work shall be counted as if you had never left it.' I consented, and was ordained deacon and priest by him in 1854. I was married in 1843 to Sophia, daughter of Dr. Thomas, then Governor of Red River, and from that time till her death in 1861 we were jointly engaged in the work of translation. After my ordination I was stationed at York Factory, where I remained until 1858, when we both returned home in order to carry the Cree Bible through the press, and just before the fatal termination of her illness Mrs. Mason had the joy of seeing the last verse of Malachi in print. In 1862 I returned a widower to Rupert's Land, and continued my labours at York Factory until 1870, when I finally returned to England, and after six years of deputation work for the Church Missionary Society was presented by the Lord Chancellor, the late lamented Lord Cairns, to the vicarage of Long

Énemond Massé, clergyman, born in France in 1574, died in Canada, 12 May, 1646. He entered the Society of Jesus in 1596, and was sent by his superiors to Port Royal (now Annapolis) in Acadia, where he landed 12 June, 1611. A vessel was fitted out which sailed for Port Royal, took Massé on board, and landed him on Mount Desert island. Here he established a mission settlement under the name of the Holy Saviour. A fort was built, but it was soon after attacked by Samuel Argal, who took the missionaries and most of the colonists to Virginia. Massé appears to have been allowed to return to France in 1614. He endeavored to persuade

I. Some Reasonable Considerations, Propounded unto the Reason and Conscience of the Prayerless Householder.

1. INasmuch as all Men are Commanded to Acknowledge God in all their Wayes, Surely every Religious Society doth owe Religious Acknowledgments unto God: And it is a very great wickedness for People in a formed Society, to neglect or refuse to express their dependance on the Blessed God for his Blessings.

Now is not a Family the very First Society, that by the Direction and Providence of God is produced among the Children of Men?

And for such a Society never to unite in any Acts of Piety, is it not a most unnatural Profanity and Impiety?

Affinity to, or Derivation from, any European speech that we are acquainted with. I know not what thoughts it will produce in my Reader, when I inform him, that once finding that the Demons in a possessed young woman, whereof I have heretofore given the world some account, understood the Latin and Greek and Hebrew Languages, my curiosity led me to make trial of this Indian language, and the Demons did seem as if they did not understand it."

In his Magnalia (book vi, p. 75), this statement concerning the bewitched young woman is repeated, under date of November, 1688, as follows:

"Perceiving that her Troublers understood Latin, some Trials were thereupon made whether they understood Greek and Hebrew, which it seems, they also did; but the Indian Languages they did seem not so well to understand."

Dr. Trumbull, in the Memorial History of Boston, criticises Mather's knowledge of the language. "The devils," he says, "who found Mather's Indian too hard for them were not without excuse. Judging from the specimens he printed, he had not mastered the rudiments of the grammar, and could not construct an Indian sentence idiomatically. It is not certain how much of these translations was his own work, and how much was obtained from incompetent interpreters."

In the life of Cotton Mather by his son it is stated that "he learned the French and Spanish Tongues and in his Forty-fifth Year conquered Iroquois Indian: in each of which he published Treatises for their Instruction." This refers, without doubt, to the tract entitled Another Tongue brought in, printed in 1707.

Charité envers le prochain

The manuscript is legibly written and well preserved.

[—] [Sermons in the Nipissing dialect.]

Manuscript, pp. 1-30 and 56 unnumbered ll. 4°. There is no title-page or list of contents; the sermons are dated in the years in which they were delivered, perhaps by his successors, some bearing several dates, from 1797 to 1822.

The six manuscripts titled above are preserved in the library of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada.

Manuscript; a fragment consisting of 2 ll. the verso of the first of which is blank, 4°, in the possession of the compiler of this bibliography. In poor condition. French equivalents frequently appear. At the top of the first page are the terms "Passion, Resurrection, Sur la perfection," etc.

"Jean Claude Mathevet, a Sulpitian missionary, whose Indian name was Wakwi, was born in the diocese of Viviers, in France, in 1717. He came to Canada in 1740, and was missionary at Lac des Deux Montagnes from 1746 to 1781, where he learned the Algonkin and Iroquois languages. He has left in the former several manuscript sermons, a catechism (which has been printed, with corrections, several times since 1830), and a history of the old and new testament, which I had printed in 1859-61, and of which, as the edition is entirely exhausted, I am at present preparing a new one. In the Iroquois he has composed sermons, prayers, and a grammatical essay. He died in 1781, aged 64 years."—Cuq.

It is probable that the catechism referred to by the Abbé Cuq is that described herein under Nihima.

I have seen Mathevet referred to by the Indian name of "Tahorhensere;" perhaps that is his Iroquois and "Wakwi" his Algonquian name.

Manuscript; title as above on the recto of the first leaf, the text, consisting of sermons in the Montagnais language, beginning on the verso and continuing through four other unnumbered pages, followed by two blank leaves and 1 leaf, on the recto of which are some remarks in Latin, verso blank, 4°.

This manuscript, preserved in the library of the archbishopric of Quebec, is bound with Silvy (A.), Instructions Montagnaises: It is written on paper a little smaller than that of the remainder of the volume.

Père Maurice was a native of Passy, France, and came to Canada in 1734 with the Pères Nau and Coquart. He left Quebec June 14, 1746, to succeed Père Laure, who had died two years before, and was a missionary at Chh and Tadoussac until 1745, when he died, his death occurring March 2<sup>d</sup> of forty-two.

"The dialect of the Vineyard had some peculiarities, but these were gradually lost after the Indians learned to read Eliot's version of the Bible and his other translations. In 1722 Mr.
Mayhew observed (in a letter to Paul Dudley) that now 'our Indians speak, but especially write, much as those of Natick do.' The difference, however, was still perceptible, and may be detected in Mr. Mayhew's translation of the psalter. Josiah Cotton, at the end of his Indian vocabulary, compiled about 1727, gave a dialogue between himself and one of the Indians of Plymouth Colony, in which the latter says
'it is very difficult to get the tone' of their language, and that when Cotton preached the Indians could not always understand him, 'because he did not put the tone in the right place,' and also, 'because he had some of his father's (the Rev. John Cotton's) words, and he learned Indian at Noye [Martha's Vineyard], and these Indians don't understand every word of them Indians.'

"Mayhew's version of the Psalms and Gospel of John is founded upon Eliot's; but every verse underwent revision, and scarcely one remains without some alteration. The spelling differs considerably from that of Eliot and others, who had learned the language among the Indians of the mainland. In exploring 'the latitudes and corners' of Indian Grammar, Mr. Mayhew probably went further than Eliot had gone; and the fact that his work passed through the hands of 'J. Printer' gives it additional value as a monument of the language. James, the Indian printer, learned his trade from Samuel Green in Cambridge, and had worked on both editions of the Indian Bible.

"The Massachussee Psalter, in good condition, is rare. Most of the copies I have seen bear marks of much—and not always gentle—handling, and have lost more or less of their

Mayhew's letter is dated from Chilmark, March 20th, 1721-1722, and addressed "To the Honorable Paul Dudley, Esqr." It occupies pp. 12-17, and, besides a general discussion of the Indian language, contains the Lord's prayer in the dialect (Niantic?) of the Indians of Connecticut Colony.

Reprinted as follows:

— Observations | on | the Indian language, | by | Experience Mayhew, A. M. | Preacher of the Gospel to the Indians of Martha's Vineyard in New England, in 1722. | Now published from the original ms. by | John S. H. Fogg, A. M., M. D. | Member of [ &c. two lines. ] | Boston : | MDCCCLXXXIV [1884].

Printed cover with half-title, title verso printed etc. 1 l. text pp. 3-12, sm. 4<sup>o</sup>. One hundred copies printed.

Copies seen : Eames, Pilling.

The manuscript of this letter is in the possession of Dr. Fogg who procured it from the late J. Wingate Thornton of Boston.

The Lord's prayer from this manuscript was first printed in Trumbull (J. H.), Notes on Forty versions of the Lord's prayer in Algonkin languages. Dr. Trumbull there says it is certainly not in the Pequot dialect, but probably that of the Niantica.

— See Indiane primer.

Experience Mayhew, minister to the Indians on Martha's Vineyard, was born on that island January 27, 1673, and died there November 29, 1758. His grandfather was Thomas Mayhew the younger, a sketch of whose life is given under the next following title. His father, John Mayhew (born 1652, died 1689), was well acquainted from his youth with the Indian language, and began to preach in it about the year 1673.

Mr. Mayhew, in his own account, says: "I learnt the Indian Language by Rote, as I did my mother Tongue, and not by Studying the Rules of it as the Lattin Tongue is comonly Learned." In March, 1694, about five years after his father's death, he began to preach to the Indians. The field of his labors is described in an account of "the present condition of the Indians on Martha's Vineyard," dated June 2, 1720, which he prepared as an appendix to one of his sermons printed at Boston in that year. The following extracts are taken from this account as reprinted in Cotton Mather's India Christiana (Boston, 1721):

"The Number of Indians on these Islands is very much diminished, since the English first settled on Martha's Vineyard, which was in the Year 1642, there being then, as was supposed on that Island about 1500 Souls. At present there are in the Vineyard six small Villages, — in all of them, about 155 Families, — Souls may be about eight

"Each of these Villages is provided with an Indian Preacher to dispence the Word to them on the Lord's Days. when I am not with them. They meet for the Worship of God twice a Day on the Sabbath, and after Prayer, sing a Psalm; then there is a Sermon Preached on some Portion of Scripture, which being ended, they sing again, while the Days be of a sufficient length; and then conclude with Prayer.

"There has, from time to time, been much care taken that the several Villages might be provided with School Masters to teach the Children to Read and Write; yet some of them have not been so constantly supplied, as is to be desired; and generally when the Spring of the Year comes on, the Indians take their Children from School, alleging they want them for Tillage of the Land: and so the Schools fall till the Fall; and this has much hindred their Progress in Learning: Nevertheless, I think the greatest number can Read, either in the English or in the Indian Tongue; and some in both.

"There is also care taken to Catechise the Youth: For besides what is done in this kind, by the Indian School-Masters & Preachers, I frequently examine the Young People my self, and have determined to attend this Service once a Fortnight, in some or other of the fore-mentioned Villages; and this Method will, I hope, prove very advantageous: many grown People as well as Children, attending these Exercises."

"Having now Preached to the Indians upward of 25 Years, I have never yet had any special charge of any one single Congregation committed to me; but have visited the several fore-mentioned Assemblies alternately, as I have thought most necessary; Preaching ordinarily, unto some or other of them every Lord's Day, and on working days once a Fortnight; constantly also attending their Church-Meetings, to assist & direct them."

"The Rev. Mr. Josiah Torrey, Pastor of the English Church in Tisbury on the Vineyard, has also for many Years past Preached as a Lecturer unto the Indians on that Island, having for that End learned their Language. He Preacheth in some or other of their Assemblies once a Fortnight, and goes frequently to their Church-Meetings, to advise & assist them; so that the Indians have a Sermon every Thursday Preached to them, either by Mr. Torrey, or my self: And we strengthen the hands of one another, by going together to these Weekly Exercises.

"The Rev. Mr. Samuel Wiswall Pastor of the Church in Edgartown, has also now almost learned the Indian Tongue, with a design to do what Service he can among that People.

"The Indians on Martha's Vineyard & the adjacent I-lands, do hitherto understand the Indian Tongue much better than that of the English: and therefore complain much for want of Indian Bibles, having now but very few among them. Nor are there any to be had; the last Edition being now gone. These Indians are therefore very desirous of another Impression of the Bible, if it might be obtained; and divers of them have told me, as well as some of those on Nantucket, (whom I have divers times visited) that they should be willing according to their capacity, to contribute to it.

"But the disadvantage which the Indians are under thro' the Scarcity of Bibles is somewhat helped by the Care of the Honourable Commissioners to supply them with other useful Books in their own Language, viz. The N. England Confession of Faith; Several Catechisms; The Practice of Piety; Mr. Shepard's Sincere Convert; Mr. Baxter's Call to the Unconverted. And several Sermons of Dr. Mather's, &c. besides the Psalter, & the Gospel of John, Printed in the Year 1709. And the Indian Primer Printed this Year, in Indian and English. All which Books are now very useful unto them."

Mr. Thomas Prince, writing in 1736, states that Mr. Mayhew had "the prudential Care and Oversight of five or six Indian Assemblies; to whose Service he has been wholly devoted, and to one or other of which he has constantly preached for above these thirty two Years."

In 1707 his translation of one of Cotton Mather's sermons was printed at Boston, and about the same time he was employed by the Society for propagating the gospel in New England to make a new version of the psalter, which was printed in 1709. In 1727 he published his Indian Converts: or, some account of the Lives and Dying Speeches of a considerable Number of the Christianized Indians of Martha's Vineyard, in New-England. To this work is appended "Some Account of those English Ministers who have successively presided over the Indian Work in that and the adjacent Islands," by the Rev. Thomas Prince. Several other tracts and sermons from his pen were also printed between 1720 and 1744.

Mr. Mayhew was accounted one of the "greatest Masters" of the Indian language in his time. His version of the psalms, according to Dr. Trumbull, "in literal accuracy and its observance of the requirements of Indian grammar . . . perhaps surpasses even Eliot's." He left four sons, one of whom, Zechariah Mayhew (born 1717, died 1806), was ordained a minister on Martha's Vineyard December 10, 1767, and labored for many years as a missionary among the Indians there.

Manuscript; probably not extant.

Thomas Mayhew, the younger, first minister to the Indians on Martha's Vineyard, was born in England about the year 1621, and was lost at sea in 1657. His father, Thomas Mayhew, came to Massachusetts before 1636, obtained the grant of Martha's Vineyard and the neighboring islands from Lord Stirling in 1641, began a settlement at Edgartown in 1642, and died there in 1661, aged 82. Shortly after the new settlement was begun Mr. Mayhew the younger became minister of the first English church on the island. In 1643 his missionary work among the neighboring Indians was commenced by the conversion of Hiacommes. In 1646 he had acquired sufficient knowledge of their language to address them in public meetings, which were held at first once a month, and afterwards every fortnight.

"The way that I am now in," he writes in 1650, "for the carrying on of this great work, is by a Lecture every fortnight, whereunto both men women and children do come; and first I pray with them, teach them, catechise their children, sing a Psalm, and all in their own language. I conferre every last day of the week with Hiacommes about his subject matter of preaching to the Indians the next day, where I furnish him with what spiritual food the Lord is pleased to afford me for them."

In October, 1651, he writes again of the Indians: "There are one hundred ninetie-nine, men, women, and children, that have professed themselves to be worshippers of the great and everliving God. There are now two meetings kept every Lords day, the one three miles, the other about eight miles off my house: Hiacommes teacheth twice a day at the nearest, and Mumanequem accordingly at the farthest, the last day of the week they come unto me to be informed touching the subject they are to handle."

. . . I have also undertaken to keep by the help of God two Lectures amongst them, which will be at each once a fortnight."

In January, 1652, a school for the teaching of the Indian children was opened by Mr. Mayhew. Before October of the same year the number of converts under his care had increased to 283, and he had prepared for them a covenant or confession of faith in the Indian language, of which an English translation is given in the tractentitled Tears of Repentance, London, 1653.

It was for the use of these Indians that the above-named catechism was prepared. In a letter written by Experience Mayhew, grandson of the author, in 1722, which has been printed for Dr. John S. H. Fogg, of Boston, the book is mentioned as follows:

"My Grand Father in his time composed a large and Excellent Catechism for the Indians of this Island, agreeable unto their own Dialect; but not being printed the Original is, I think, utterly lost, and there only remains of it, about 40 pages in Octavo, transcribed as I suppose, by some Indian after his Death; but this goes not so far as to have the Lord's Prayer in it."

It is probable that Mr. Eliot's primer and catechism was also used to some extent by Mr. Mayhew's Indians. The difference between the dialects of Martha's Vineyard and Natick, according to Experience Mayhew, "was something greater than now [1722] it is, before our Indians had the use of y<sup>e</sup> Bible and other Books translated by Mr. Eliot, but since that the most of y<sup>e</sup> Little differences that were betwixt y<sup>e</sup> have been happily Lost, and our Indians Speak, but especially write much as those of Natick do."

In November, 1657, Mr. Mayhew sailed for England with one of his Indian preachers, but the ship in which he took passage was never heard of more. After this, the mission work was continued by Mr. Mayhew the elder, who had also learned the Indian language. In 1670 the first Indian church was formed on Martha's Vineyard, and Mr. Mayhew was requested to become its pastor, although over eighty years of age. This office he declined, and the Indian Hiacommes was thereupon chosen and ordained as its minister.

Two Delaware primers are titled in Sabin's Dictionary (no. 47377, note), under Mr. Meeker's name as author, which were in fact only printed by him. The error was caused by twisting the titles, in copying them, successively, from Trübner's Bibliographical Guide to American Literature (1859), p. 250; Ludewig's Literature of American Aboriginal Languages (1858), p. 66; and Schoolcraft's Bibliographical Catalogue (1849), nos. 66 and 67, where they were first printed.

Mr. Jotham Meeker joined the Baptist missionaries at Carey station, Michigan territory, in November, 1825, when about twenty-one years of age. He was from Cincinnati, Ohio, and a printer by trade. For a while he assisted Mr. Johnston Lykins and Mr. Robert Simerwell in teaching the Indian children. In August, 1827, having been duly licensed to preach, he was placed in charge of the mission among the Ottawas at Thomas station on Grand river. On this occasion the Indians conferred on him the name of Máúó-kéké-toh, signifying "he that speaks good words." He had by this time acquired sufficient knowledge of the Ottawa language to enable him to read religious discourses in it to the Indians.

In September, 1830, Mr. Meeker was married, and in the following year, on the breaking up of the mission and the removal of Mr. Lykins to the Indian territory, he returned to Cincinnati, with the intention of going into the printing business. The other missionaries, however, soon persuaded him to change his design, and to resume the Indian work. It was at first proposed to put a printing press in operation among the Cherokees of Arkansas, under his management, but the plan failed for want of support.

The Chippewa mission next attracted Mr. Meeker's attention. As he had acquired "a pretty correct knowledge of the Ottawa language, which is virtually the same as the Chippewa and Putawatomie," he yielded to a desire to labor among a people with whom he could converse. In the autumn of 1832, having obtained the consent and support of the Baptist board of missions, he set off with Mrs. Meeker for the lakes. At Detroit they were joined by Rev. Moses Merrill and his wife, with whom they proceeded to Sault Ste. Marie, between lakes Huron and Superior, where they associated themselves with the Chippewa mission under the care of Rev. A. Bingham, who had been located there since 1828. They remained in this place, however, only a few months. Early in the spring of 1833, the board directed both Mr. Meeker and Mr. Merrill to abandon the Lake Superior mission, and to proceed at once to the Indian territory.

In September or October, 1833, Mr. Meeker arrived at the Shawanoe mission station with his wife. By direction of the board he brought with him a printing press and types, which he had purchased in Cincinnati. On the 9th of March, 1834, with the assistance of William Ash, "he commenced printing, first printing 50 copies of the alphabet for several tribes, and on the 21st he completed the first book printed in the Territory—a primer of 24 pages in an Indian language." See Linapi's. By the 10th of May an elementary book in Shawanoe, prepared by Mr. Lykins, was also printed. Other works in the Delaware, Shawanoe, Putawatomie, Ojé, Choctaw, Muscogee or Creek, Wéa, and Kansas languages, were printed by Mr. Meeker during the next three years, besides a number of pamphlets in English.

A few Ottawas had, by this time, located in the Indian territory, and as Mr. Meeker still desired to labor for that tribe, the requisite authority was obtained from the Indian department at Washington to establish a mission among them. This was early in the year 1835. The proposed undertaking was delayed, however, by other affairs, and especially by the work of the printing press, which employed much of Mr. Meeker's time. His labors were largely increased in 1836 by the long continued illness of Mr. Lykins, and in September of the same year his own health became so poor that he was unable to attend to the press. Arrangements were thereupon made to obtain another printer.

On the 14th of May, 1837, Mr. J. G. Pratt of Massachusetts arrived at the Shawanoe mission and took charge of the printing office. In June, Mr. and Mrs. Meeker removed to the Ottawa settlements, about thirty miles west of the Missouri state line, near the site of the present city of Ottawa, Kansas. Here a school was opened, and preaching held. In the following year Mr. Meeker prepared one or two elementary books in the Ottawa language, which were printed at the Shawanoe press.

The state of the Ottawa mission in 1839 is described by Mr. McCoy as follows: "Mr. Meeker has a small school, in which instruction is imparted in the English language, and he receives pretty good attention to preaching. David Green, an Ottawa, who has been baptized within the last two years, takes a part in the performance of public religious exercises, and acquits himself much to the satisfaction of the missionaries."

During the next six years several other books were printed in the Ottawa language. The printing press was afterwards removed from Shawanoe to the Ottawa mission station, where Mr. Meeker again took charge of it, and printed two books in 1850. He died at the mission on the 12th of January, 1854.

The "new system of writing and reading," invented by Mr. Meeker, was adopted in all the Indian books printed at the Shawanoe mission press. This system, according to its advocates, "wholly excludes spelling," and "enables the learner to paint his thoughts on paper, with precision, as soon as he acquires a knowledge of a number of characters about equal to the English alphabet." The following account of it is taken from McCoy's History of Baptist Indian Missions:

"To each Indian language, and to each dialect of language, belong peculiar sounds, which cannot be obtained by the use of the English alphabet. To designate syllables which could not be spelt, or sounds which could not be obtained by the ordinary use of letters, writers who would write intelligibly have been compelled to introduce arbitrary characters, each according to his fancy. It can easily be conceived that serious inconvenience attended this course of things.

"Mr. Guess, a Cherokee, had discovered that the language of his tribe could be written with about eighty syllabic characters. Guess's plan was tried in relation to some other languages, and found to be inapplicable, because characters would be multiplied beyond the bounds of convenience.

"To remedy the evils which attended the ordinary methods of writing Indian, and the complexity which would attend the universal application of Guess's system, the idea suggested itself to Mr. Meeker, then at Sault de St. Marie, of using characters not to designate syllables, but certain positions of the organs of speech. His first writing was rather a combination of this new principle with the syllabic system and the system of spelling.

"When the press was put into operation at the Shawanoe mission house, the missionaries among the Shawanoes and Delawares took up the new principle of Mr. Meeker, and reduced it to a system, excluding entirely the syllabic or hieroglyphic system, and also that of spelling.

"By spelling, we mean that process by which the learner is required to familiarize the memory with certain names of characters, (letters) and then, after combining these in a certain order, a sound (syllable) must be uttered — not one produced by the combination, but altogether arbitrary. This sound, unmeaning in itself, must be born in mind until, by a similar process, a second, third, or fourth, be obtained; and, lastly, these sounds must be combined, in order to form a word.

"Upon the new system, every uncompounded sound which can be distinguished by the ear is indicated by a character. These sounds, in Indian languages, usually amount to about eight or ten, the greater part of which, but not all, are what in the system of spelling would be denominated vowel sounds; other sounds are such, for instance, as the hissing sound of the letter s, in which consists its real value, the sound obtained by ch, as in church, &c. The other characters, usually in number about twelve or fourteen, merely indicate the positions of the organs of speech preceding or following the sounds, by which the beginning or ending of sounds is modified; thus, the character p, would require the lips to be pressed together with a slight pressure within; this, o, would indicate a sound which could be heard by the ear — say the short sound of o; this, t, would require the end of the tongue to be pressed hard to the roof of the mouth. Now, if the sound of o intervenes between the pressure of the lips and the pressure of the tongue, as above indicated, the word pot is necessarily pronounced; transpose the characters, and adhere to the same rule, and the word top is unavoidably pronounced.

"Hence, as soon as the learner acquires a knowledge of the uses of the characters, more than twenty-three of which have not yet been found necessary in writing any Indian language, he is capable of reading; because, by placing the organs of speech, or uttering a sound, as is indicated by each character as it occurs, he is actually reading."

The new system, however, did not meet with much favor from others. "Pretty soon after we had issued a few prints upon the new system, from the press at the Shawanoe mission house, two influential Presbyterian missionaries from among the Choctaws visited us. They had published a few books in the Choctaw language, written upon the principles of orthography. Peculiar sounds could not be obtained by the use of the English, or any other alphabet, and to remedy this evil they had invented new characters, and procured new types to print them. The superiority of our cheap, and expeditious, and correct system, over their worse than old-fashioned plan, was so obvious to us, that we hoped for their ready and hearty co-operation in introducing it into common use in the Indian country. In this we were grievously disappointed; and, to add to our mortification, they zealously urged us to reject our system, as futile. No reason, however, was offered, only that they had written a little in Choctaw, and all our prints ought to be uniform. They seemed to overcome by their glyphs, and use of the in order t write in Delaware, Shawanoe, &c., without introducing others to represent sounds peculiar to these languages respectively.

"Our Methodist brethren were not disposed to show it any public countenance. This was indeed the more surprising to us, because they had adopted it themselves. This, however, they had not done so much from inclination, as from the necessity of gratifying a popular desire of the Shawanoes. Hymns, and some other prints, prepared by the Baptist missionaries, were used advantageously by Shawanoes, Delaware, Peorias, and Weas, in the Methodist connection.

"But if we have reason to grieve on account of the little favor which has been shown to the new system by the Presbyterians and Methodists, we have still greater cause of grief on account of the indifference of our own (Baptist) denomination to this important matter."

The four principal alphabets according to this system are as follows:

"The Vowels always have the same sound in all cases.

"It will be found difficult to give the Consonant its proper sound when by itself; as the sounds that are given (when learning them) are the same as when pronounced in connection with a vowel, in a syllable or word. This difficulty will be obviated by connecting the sound with that of a vowel.

"This letter denotes a guttural sound peculiar to the Delaware, and is quite indescribable."

n	"	"	n	no	n-o
p	"	"	p	part	p-art
t	"	"	t	take	t-ake

"The Consonants are not pronounced alone; but have precisely the same sound as in reading English.

"Example.—Bk, pronounced the, (th hard).—Here the character b has just the position of the organs of speech, and sound, as occur before the voice opens on e, in saying theory.

"Ck, pronounced che.—here the character c has the same position of the organs, and sound, as occur before the voice opens on ee, in saying cheese. And so with all the consonants."

EXPLANATION OF THE PUTAWATOMI CHARACTERS.

[From Simerwell's Putawatomi primer (Wúkr Potwatome Mšina'kin), 1834.]

"In this system the common types are used for the purpose of avoiding the inconvenience of procuring type of a peculiar form, but reading is performed by an application of the letters different from their uses in other languages.

"Some of the characters indicate sounds, others merely show the positions of the organs of speech. They are therefore not (properly speaking) letters, but characters.

"Those which are denominated Vowels denote sounds as follows:

a	as	a	in	far
e	"	e	"	me
i	"	i	"	pin
o	"	o	"	note
u	"	u	"	tub
y	"	i	"	pine
w	"	o	"	move

r denotes a sound like e short, partaking somewhat of a long.

"B indicates the position of the lips as they are placed when about to express the name of the letter b; or, as the organs are left on pronouncing a word ending in b.

"D, K, M, N, P, and T, in like manner indicate the position of the organs as they are placed when the words in English begin with these letters. or, as the organs are placed when the words in English begin with these letters. or, as the organs are placed when the words in English begin with these letters.

"G denotes the position of the organs when prepared to express a word beginning with g hard.

"H indicates the sound of ch in church.

"L has the sound of sh in she.

"S signifies a hissing sound, as occurs in the commencement of the pronunciation of the word see.

"Example.—Makwr—Here the lips are closed, and a slight nasal sound is emitted, on s the lips open with hissing, k denotes the position of the organs as described above without articulation, and the voice opens on w as oo, and ends with r as e short, and the word mesqueh (blood) is unavoidably pronounced.

"The learner is, therefore, not taught the names of these nineteen characters, but their uses.

"Again, let the characters lkinor be used as above directed, in succession as they are placed here, and the word shkin-o-weh (young man) is unavoidably pronounced.

"The learner can acquire a knowledge of these 19 characters in as little time as he could learn the names of the same number of letters of the alphabet. He is then capable of reading, because the repeating, or, rather, the using of these characters as they are written, is really reading.

"Single words are arranged in columns merely for the purpose of bringing them more distinctly to the notice of the learner, and not for the purpose of spelling. The same remarks apply to the division of words, apparently, into syllables.

"Sounds occur in one Indian dialect which do not in others. Hence, some of the characters describe different sounds, and different positions of the organs, in different dialects.

"The apostrophe denotes an abrupt interruption, and, sometimes, a sudden termination, of the voice.

"When an aspiration precedes a vowel, as h in how, the vowel is marked thus, hw, waónwr; pronounced how, wau-hone-weh.

"Points are used as in English.

"Figures are applied as they are in English, but with the Indian names to each.

"This system may be applied to the English, or to any other language."

"The Ottawa Alphabet may be divided into three classes, viz. vowels, semi-vowels, and mutes. The six first letters are vowels, which have a full and invariable sound. The semi-vowels are seven in number; they have each an indistinct sound, which is exactly the same that is heard when the words containing those letters are spoken. The three last letters are mutes, and are only known by the position of the organs, without any sound.

"Example.—Poer—Here the word begins with a mute, followed by a vowel and semi-vowel, and ends with a mute; so that when the learner endeavors to name the various letters in it, he begins by placing his lips tightly together, pressing upon them with his breath; he then lets his voice open on the vowel o; then looks on the third letter, and makes barely a hissing sound; then to express the last letter he stops all sound by the point of his tongue—therefore by naming the various letters in a word he articulates distinctly the word itself."

The following is a summary of the Indian books printed at the Shawanoe mission press by Mr. Meeker and Mr. Pratt, according to the new system:

In the Delaware language: Fifty copies of the alphabet in March, 1834; three small books by Mr. Blanchard in the same year (see Lina-pie); and a harmony of the four gospels in 1837 (see Zeisberger (D.) and Blanchard (I. D.)); all printed by Mr. Meeker. Also, a second edition of the primer in 1842 (see Blanchard (I. D.)), printed by Mr. Pratt. According to Mr. McCoy, four books had been printed in Delaware on this press before 1839, "three of which were small, and one large; the latter being a Harmony of the Gospels."

In the Shawanoe language: Fifty copies of the alphabet in March, 1834; two editions or issues of a primer in the same year; a periodical entitled Shau-wau-noue Kessuthwau or "Shawanoe Sun," from March 1st, 1835, to 1837 or 1838, semi-monthly and monthly; a small hymn book of sixteen pages in 1835 or 1836; and a portion of the gospel of Matthew in 1836; all printed by Mr. Meeker. Also, a second edition of the primer in 1838; the complete gospel of Matthew in 1842; and a second edition of the hymn book in the same year; printed by Mr. Pratt. According to Mr. McCoy, three books had been printed in Shawanoe on this press before 1839, "and part of the Gospel by Matthew. A second edition of one of these books has been printed; also, one book in Shawanoe, for the Methodists." See Lykins (J.)

In the Putawatoni language: Probably fifty copies of the alphabet in March, 1834; a primer of thirty-two pages in the same year; and a hymn book and catechism of eighty-four pages

in 1835; all printed by Mr. Meeker. According to Mr. McCoy, four books were printed in Putawatomie on this press before 1839. See Simerwell (R.)

In the Ojé language: A small primer in 1834; a hymn book of twelve pages in the same year; a second Ojé reading book in April, 1835; and part of the gospel harmony in 1837; all printed by Mr. Meeker. They were prepared and translated by Rev. Moses Merrill, who died in 1840. Three books, according to Mr. McCoy, were printed in this language, "all small, one of which has been reprinted for the use of the Presbyterians among the Ioways." These publications "consisted of two small school books, some hymns, and a part of the New Testament, equal to about one-half of the gospel by John."

In the Choctaw language, one book was printed by Mr. Meeker, in 1835. It was compiled by Mr. Lykins, with the assistance of the native Choctaw missionary.

In the Muscogee or Creek language, two books were printed by Mr. Meeker in 1835. One of these was a small school book; the other was the gospel of John. They were both prepared by Rev. John Davis, with the assistance of Mr. Lykins.

In the Wea language, one book was printed for the Presbyterians, probably in 1834 or 1835. It is referred to by Mr. McCoy as follows: "A Presbyterian missionary among the Weas [Rev. Joseph Kerr or Rev. Wells Buahnell?] compiled a small book, which was printed upon our press. He knew it would be rejected by the Indians, as unnecessarily obscure, if he wrote wholly upon the plan of spelling, yet, so tenacious was he of what had appeared right to his brethren from the Choctaw country, that he introduced some of their new formed characters; and as we neither possessed nor desired to possess such types, having no use for them, he furnished them himself. He therefore approached so nearly to the new system as to make his book acceptable to the Indians, and yet departed so far that it was not fully the same."

In the Kansas (Kauzan) or Kaw language, one book was printed for Rev. William Johnson, the Methodist missionary, probably in 1836 or 1837.

In the Osage language, one elementary book was printed with the following title: "Wafafé Wagrysy Laekens Wa-Kaxa Peo. Shawanoe Mission: J. G. Pratt, printer. 1837." It was prepared by Mr. Lykins. The first eleven pages are in alternate lines of Osage and English; the remaining pages being in Osage. "The Indian portion of the book is represented by the use of the phonetic alphabet devised by Rev. Jotham Meeker, with an alphabet of twenty-five letters, representing the eight vowel and seventeen consonant sounds of the Osage language. The letters of the English alphabet are employed to represent these sounds."

In the Ottawa language, a primer or "first book" was printed in 1838; another small book about the same time; the gospel of Matthew in 1841; the gospel of John in 1844; and a hymn book in 1845. They were all prepared by Mr. Meeker, and printed at the Shawanoe mission by Mr. Pratt. After the removal of the printing press to the Ottawa mission, Mr. Meeker printed, in 1850, a second edition of the Ottawa first book and a third edition of the hymn book.

A considerable number of hymns in different languages, not included in the above list, were also printed at the Shawanoe press.

The work is a comparative vocabulary in various languages of words having a similar sound and meaning. Each one of the four volumes is arranged under a separate alphabet, and with five columns to a page. The first column, headed German, contains words in German, Dutch, English, Danish, Swedish, etc.; the second column, headed Slav, contains words in Slavonic, Russian, Polish, Bohemian, etc.; the third column, headed Gael, contains words in Latin, Greek, French, Italian, Spanish, Welsh, Irish, Breton, etc.; the fourth column, headed Mixta, contains words in miscellaneous European, Asiatic, African, American, and Oceanic languages; and the fifth column, headed No-tulae, contains explanations.

Scattered words of several Algonquian dialects are given in the fourth column under the general name of American, under which heading are also included many of the Mexican and South American words. The other North American languages represented under their proper names are the Greenlandish, Eskimo, Kinai, Tschukchei, Canadian, Mohac, Huron, Mexican, Lule, and Galibi, in several of which numerous examples are given, and in others only one or two specimens.

Manuscript, 68 unnumbered ll. folio, forming part of an old blank book. In the Micmac hieroglyphs invented by Le Olerog (C.) and used in the printing of the Micmac works of Kander (C.) A few pages have the Micmac interlined in Roman characters. It consists mainly of extracts from Kander's works.

The manuscript, which is in the possession of Maj. J. W. Powell, to whom it was presented by the Rev. S. T. Rand, is clearly written, or drawn, but some of the pages are badly worn.

A note by Mr. Rand says that Father Kander was aided in his work by Michael Christmas, an educated Indian of Nova Scotia.

Manuscript, 52 pp. 8<sup>o</sup>, in the Public Library of Toronto, Canada. Under date of Nov. 15, 1888, Mr. James Bain, jr. chief librarian of that institution, writes me as follows concerning it:

"The manuscript is written on loose sheets, stitched together after being written on, and is interspersed with notes as to quantities and prices of furs and goods. French is employed throughout. It was presented to the library by Fulton St. George, whose father, a French royalist, formed one of a large party of royalists who settled a few miles north of Toronto (then York). After the return to France of most of the settlement, Mr. St. George engaged in business, one branch of which was the purchase of furs. His son says that he was in the habit of taking journeys into the interior to trade, and especially noted one place at the outlet of Lake Simcoe where he regularly opened out his wares. All evidence fixes the date between 1798 & 1805."

Mr. A. F. Chamberlain, in an article in the Folklore Journal, vol. 1. p. 152, says: "It contains, as nearly as I can estimate, some 560 words, some 400 verb-forms and sentences, some dozen or so of proper names and half a dozen snatches of songs. . . . The dialect of the manuscript is undoubtedly that of the Mississagwas of the region between York and Lake Simcoe."

transferred from the original Passamaquoddy very perceptible in this, and I have endeavored to give this form to my version. It is called the Story of Niffon. Niffon was a beautiful girl, the granddaughter of the Rain, who warned her against going to the North. But she disobeyed, and when there is frozen. The Rain calls on her warriors, such as the South and West winds with their attendants, who make war on the Cold or North, and finally rescue her. The poem is very vigorous and beautiful.

Manuscript, in Indian [Micmac?] and English, in possession of Charles G. Leland. Title from Leland's Algonquin legends, p. x.

— [Songs, folk-lore, traditions, legends, and stories of the Passamaquoddy Indians.] (*)

Manuscripts, in possession of Charles G. Leland, who describes them for me as follows, in a letter dated Dec. 17, 1889:

I.

Songs in Passamaquoddy Indian, with English translation (literal), both by Louis Mitchell, a Passamaquoddy Indian, formerly member of the legislature. The songs are as follows:

M'utch hunt winto wag'n. The Devil's song. This song consists of only 13 words. It is believed to have been sung by the evil spirit at a dance.

Keewaquay M'node. The song of a man who bewails his lonely, desolate condition, having been changed to a giant of the wilderness by sorcery.

Peematt kee poosin. The snake-dance song. Meta malia. A dancing song.

Nolma mea inton aganell. Two songs of barter or exchange sung by the nolmi higan or clowns when articles are exchanged. This is a game, but the goods thus bartered are kept. These are also mentioned as Nol ma me into waganell.

A Mareschite Indian song beginning with the words Tefa Malia clinisyan, etc. (Your name is Maria.)

M'ska nen intoo wagan. Song of salutation, sung by the Passamaquoddy Indians when visited by the Penobscots, Micmacs, or other Indians.

Whip pow less or Bick chess quess. Song of the Whippoorwill.

Wap pee pee. The song of the Wa pee pee, a bird which sings every three hours. Name in English unknown to the transcriber, L. Mitchell.

Chee lau chee lee. The robin's song.

Wol ma me winto wag'n. Song of the porcupine.

Three lullaby songs of about 150 words each. One is sung to a crying babe, one to a babe which is quiet, and the other to make the child sleep.

The lonesome song. Sung by a captive awaiting torture (death song), invoking the Chee pel anqu' or spirit of the night to come and bear him away.

The song of a disappointed lover.

Wiskittapeas and Pilaqueas. A song of two lovers who became rocks. One of these rocks is the well-known "Friar" at Campobello.

This forms altogether a manuscript of 71 pages, half Indian, of about 120 to 150 words to a page.

II.

Answers to a number of questions on the folk-lore of the Passamaquoddy Indians, put by Charles G. Leland to Louis Mitchell; questions suggested by incidents in the Norse Edda. Contains a few Indian words, e. g. Lox, the Indian devil; K'tchik nangtch, the Great Turtle, etc. 14 pages.

III.

Traditions of Algonkin Indian wars (?). Sketches of life and customs among the Indians, with curious rude sketches, by L. Mitchell. Contains a few Indian words. 13 pages.

IV.

Passamaquoddy legends, translated by Louis Mitchell:

Story of At waak ni kees.

The story of Niffon.

The story of Appodumkin.

Contain a few Indian words. These were originally songs, or were chanted. 32 pages.

V.

Passamaquoddy Indian dream-book, with the relation of dreams to magic; by Louis Mitchell.

Contains Indian words. This is one of the most singular or curious works of the kind ever written. 14 pages.

Passamaquoddy stories, transcribed by Louis Mitchell for Charles G. Leland.

The lazy Indian; one of the legends of Mount Katahdin.

The Maquajess.

Quabeeti squeeas, or the Beaver's daughter.

Alamu'sitt. The Humming Bird.

All contain Indian words. These are stories which were once sung, or poems. 35 pages.

I have packed away and not now at hand three or four times as many manuscripts of the same kind.

ter N. Y., 17 Dec., 1881. He was graduated at Union College in 1840, and then studied law.
He acquired reputation by his researches in anthropology, especially in relation to the history of American Indians, in which he was the pioneer investigator. For the purpose of more closely studying their social organization and government Mr. Morgan visited the Indians

26: 1847.)"

The Church of England mission was established among the Muncey Indians on the Thames river, Ontario, in 1835. The first convert was the leading chief of the tribe, Capt.
Snake, who was baptized in 1838. At the time of the publication of this book, the number of Indians under Mr. Flood's care at Muncey-town was 230, besides 20 Potawatomes. An account of a visit to this mission is given in James Beaven's Recreations of a long vacation; or A Visit to Indian Missions in Upper Canada
(London and Toronto, 1846), pp. 68-82.

For a later edition containing an exact reprint of the prayers, page for page and line for line, and a large number of hymns, see Wampum (J. B.) and Hogg (H.)

A black morocco copy was priced by Quaritch in 1887, 7s. 6d.

Manuscript in the Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris, numbered 1 in catalogue 327. There are two blank leaves at the beginning, followed by the modern title as above verso blank 1 l. title as above verso blank 1 l. contents verso blank 1 l. preface (signed Louis Nicolas p. missionnaire) pp. 4-6, avis p. 7, text pp. 8-31, 1 l. pp. 1-15, 1 l. pp. 16-35, 1 l. pp. 36-55, 1 l. pp. 56-61, 1-13, 1-20.

Première partie de l'ouvrage begins on p. 8, with the Première declension, the discussion of the verb continuing to p. 31. This is followed by 1 l. on the recto of which is: Second caier De la grammaire Algonquienne, verso blank. Pp. 4-31 are numbered even on the rectos and odd on the versos.

The succeeding leaf is headed: Second partie de l'ouvrage, and this extends through pp. 1-15 (the verso of the latter is blank) and treats of the alphabet, the noun, its cases and numbers, the pronoun, its cases, declensions, persons, and significations. This is followed by 1 l. bearing on the recto: Troisième caier de la grammaire Algonquienne, verso blank, followed by: Du verbe, pp. 16-35. An unnumbered l. follows, on the recto of which is: Quatrième caier, verso blank, the discussion of the verb continuing with no apparent break through pp. 36-47. Pp. 48-55 contain remarks upon nouns, pronouns noble, pronouns ignoble, etc. An unnumbered leaf follows, headed: Cinquième caier, verso blank; Remarques sur le syllable; Remarques sur les mots, etc. pp. 56-61. Pp. 16-61 are numbered even on rectos, odd on versos.

Troisième partie de la grammaire Algonquienne, etc. pp. 1-13, is devoted to "Syntaxes."

Quatrième [sic] partie (pp. 1-20) treats of adverbs, prepositions, interrogations, conjunctions pp. 1-6; Des particules pp. 7-20; colophon p. 20: Fin des particules et de la grammaire. This is followed by a paragraph as follows:

"Tay mis partout autang a J'ay peu la signification française sous chaque mot sauage quand J'ay este trop contraint, J'ay marqué avec des chiffres l'ordre qu'il faut tenir dans l'explication de chaque mot. Je n'ay gardé le mesme ordre dans la suite des lieux communs q je vous presente icy en suite. Lieux communs," and here the manuscript stops.

Father Nicolas was of the province of Toulouse and entered the Society of Jesus Sept. 16, 1654. He came to Canada in 1664, landing on the 25th of May. He returned to France in 1675.

Manuscript, 216 pp. sm. 4°, preserved at the Roman Catholic Abnaki mission at Pierreville, Canada. Title from Gill (C.), Notes sur de Vieux Manuscrits abenakis, p. 16, where it is entered as nos. 3 and 4 and described as follows:

This work, which I designate by the name of Radicum Sylva, is a dictionary, Abenakis-Latin, of which 116 pp. are Latin-Abenakis, and 100 Abenakis-Latin.

No. 4 is only a copy of the Radicum Sylva, or Abenakis-Latin dictionary, and does not include the alphabetic index, or Latin-Abenakis dictionary; mainly, though not always, in the same handwriting as no. 3, the variant being not so legible as the main portion; written in a large and long book ruled for accounts.

Nudénans, who compiled the work, is evidently the name of an Indian instructed by the Jesuit fathers. No one of his name is now living among the Abenakis of Pierreville, the only name resembling it being that of Annans.

I am informed by Mr. Gilfillan that this is a revised edition of the little Chippewa prayer-book published in 1875; that it was revised by him, assisted whenever any doubt arose by various Indians whom he called to his aid; that it contains perhaps forty hymns which were not in the prayer-book of 1875, and that most of these are from the collections of the Rev. Peter Jones and the Revs. Evans and Henry, though a few, as Nos. 7, 8, and 15, are original translations.

The Church of England mission to the Chippewa Indians at Sault Ste. Marie was begun about the year 1835, under Rev. Mr. McMur-ray, who was obliged to retire a few years later on account of ill health. The mission then passed into the hands of Rev. Frederick A. O'Meara, LL. D. For many years he was stationed on Great Manitoulin Island in Lake Huron, where the Canadian government endeavored to concentrate the neighboring Indians in 1840 or 1841, after the mission at the south end of Lake Superior had been discontinued.

The following extract from a letter of Rev. J. L. Breck, of the Chippewa mission, Canada West, printed in Bagster's Bible of Every Land (second edition), p. 452, contains a reference to Dr. O'Meara's work: "Whilst the Indian is making gradual improvement in several respects, yet no feature of the mission is so attractive as the religious. The daily Ojibway service is attended, with great regularity, by a large number of Indians who are still pagans; thereby affording us the very best opportunity for instructing them in Christianity. They conform with the greatest apparent interest to all the usages of the Church as regards posture, and are beginning to respond and sing. We use the Anglican Prayer Book, which has been translated into Ojibway by an English missionary, the Rev. Fred. A. O'Meara, D. D., who ministers to the Chippewas on the Manitoulin Islands in Lake Huron. This help, in administering religion to a pagan people, is valuable beyond computation."

Dr. O'Meara was afterwards transferred to Port Hope on Lake Ontario. The exact date of his death has not been ascertained, but it was probably not far from 1870. According to Morgan's Bibliotheca Canadensis, he was also "the author of several tracts in the Ojibwa language," the titles of which have not been found or identified.

Sta8as.

Manuscript, 1 l. and pp. 1-154, 8°, in the library of the Laval University, Quebec. The title is on the recto of the first (unnumbered) leaf, on the verso of which is the French translation of the Ottawa text on the opposite (numbered) page. Throughout the manuscript the versos are in French, the rectos in Ottawa.

The catechism is divided into two parts: the doctrine, and the explanation of the prayers.
The first part contains the chapters: De fine religionis, p. 1.—De signo crucis, pp. 2-4.—De Deo, pp. 4-6.—De Deo uno et trino, pp. 6-7.—De Deo incarnato, pp. 7-8.—De Jesu nomine, pp.
8-9.—De Jesus par entibus, p. 9.—De nativitate
Jesus et vita, pp. 9-10.—De Jesus morte, p. 11.—
De Jesus resurrectione et vulneribus, p. 12.—
De Jesus ascensione, pp. 12-13.—De morte, pp.
13-14.—De judicio particulari, de inferno, p.
14.—De paradiso, de purgatorio, de resurrectione et judicio extremo, pp. 15-16.—De peccatis, pp. 16-17.—De sacramentis, pp. 17-18.—De bap-tismo, pp. 18-20.—De confirmatione, p. 20.—De penitentia, pp. 21-26.—De Eucharistia, pp. 27-52.—De Extrema Unctione, pp. 52-53.—De ordine, pp. 53-54.—De matrimonio, pp. 54-57.
Verso of p. 57 blank.

The second part has, on the recto of p. 60, the title: De precibus christianis; and contains the following chapters: Enumeration des principales prières chrétiennes, pp. 61-62.—De signo crucis, pp. 63-64.—De Oratione Dominica, pp.
65-83.—Salutatio angelica, pp. 83-91.—Symbolum apostolorum, pp. 91-131.—Dei mandata (the 9th and 10th commandments are omitted), pp.
131-153. The verso of p. 153 is blank.

Within the same covers is another Ottawa manuscript, as follows:

— Prières Outaouises.

Manuscript, 1 l. pp. 1-17, 5 ll. 8°, in the library of Laval University, Quebec. The above heading is on the recto of the first (unnumbered) l.

the verso of which is blank. The prayers (pp. 1-17) are written on the rectos only, the versos being blank. They begin without heading, with the sign of the cross: In nomine Patris. Then follows the Pater, Ave Maria, and the Credo. The prayers on pp. 3-9 are either without heading or are in Ottawa only. The Angelus, p. 10; the Sub-teum, the Benedicite, the Agnus gratias, pp. 11-14; the prayer for the evening, p. 15; the Memorare, p. 17.

The 5 unnumbered ll., written on both sides, in double columns, contain religious songs: they consist of the Veni Creator, the Pange lingua, hymn for Christmas, for New Year's day, for the Twelfth night, on the Passion of Our Savior, and on His resurrection.

This manuscript is bound with the preceding (Catechism 828as), in a black leather volume, with gold ornaments on the sides, now hardly visible. A few leaves are nearly detached. They are anonymous and undated, and, though not models of calligraphy, are very legible.

Our Forest Children. Vol. 1, No. 1. Shingwauk Home. February, 1887 [-Vol. IV. No. 6. September, 1890].

Edited by Rev. E. F. Wilson, and published monthly at the Shingwauk Home, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario; sm. 4°. No. 10 of vol. 1 is a "Christmas number." In 1888 a "Summer number" appeared—no. 4 of vol. 2; also a "Christmas number"—"no. 10" of vol. 2, although the next issue is numbered 10 also. These special issues are larger than the regular ones, and illustrated. The regular issues consisted of 2 ll. or 4 pp. each until no. 3 of vol. 3 (for June, 1889), when the periodical was made a 16-page illustrated monthly. The first seven numbers of vol. 1 were in size about 6 by 9 inches, and were unpagged; with no. 8 the size was increased to about 8 by 10 inches, and the pages numbered, each issue being pagged independently (1-4) until the beginning of vol. 2, from which a single pagination continues (excepting nos. 4 and 10) to no. 1 of vol. 3 (pp. 1-48), the next no. being pagged 5-8. No. 3 of vol. 3 (no. 1889) begins a new series and a new and various pagination (1-256), each issue then having a new series of pages being provided and—that for already been Our Forest appear and then studied law. He returned to Salem in 1801, and, after being admitted to the bar, practiced in Salem until 1827, and then removed to Boston. Mr. Pickering became celebrated by his philological studies, which gained for him the reputation of being the chief founder of American comparative philology. These he began as a young man, when he accompanied his father on visits to the Six Nations of central New York, and as he grew older they increased by his study abroad until, according to Charles Sumner, he was familiar with the English, French, Portuguese, Italian, Spanish, German, Romance, Greek, and Latin languages; less familiar, but acquainted, with Dutch, Swedish, Danish, and Hebrew, and had explored with various degrees of care Arabic, Turkish, Syriac, Persian, Coptic, Sanscrit, Chinese, Cochinchinese, Russian, Egyptian hieroglyphics, Malay in several dialects, and particularly the Indian languages of America and the Polynesian islands.—*Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. He spoke both French and English tolerably, and was well acquainted with Skoffie, Micmac, and Mountaineer dialects."—Introductory remarks.

This copy differs from the one described above only in the six preliminary leaves. In the title-page the third line, "Beschreibung" is printed in larger type than in the other copy; the word "allerletzt" in the fourth line begins with a small a; and the word "Frankfurt" in the imprint is without the final h. The other preliminary leaves vary in several places in the line endings. The first line on the verso of the second leaf ends with "dasz die e" instead of "dasz diese Pro-" as in the other copy; the first line on the verso of the third leaf ends with "an allen Or-" instead of "an allen Orten" as in the other; the first line on the verso of the fifth leaf ends with "weniges von" instead of "weniges von der" etc.

"Even the Micmac vocabulary of Gabriel can not be depended upon, and although he was an Indian boy, yet he was not a Micmac native, but a Mountaineer, whose dialect differs widely from the Micmac language. I have examined his vocabulary, and compared it with the manuscripts of Father Menard and with the living Micmacs, and I found it very erroneous. Whatever may be his worth in the Mountaineer language, his Micmac is certainly not correct."—Vermont, manuscript Abnaki dictionary, preface.

A biographical sketch of Mr. Pierson is given at the end of this article. On account of the curious variation in the title-pages of the two varieties of this edition, the following particulars concerning the interpreter named in the above title are inserted here:

Thomas Stanton was born in England about the year 1615. In 1635 he sailed from London to Virginia, and from there to New England, where he was one of the first settlers of the town of Hartford, in Connecticut, founded in 1636. In 1637 he was employed as an interpreter of the Indian language, to accompany the English forces in the expeditions against the Pequot Indians. He was also in the service of the Commissioners of the United Colonies as an occasional interpreter as early as 1644, and was often employed by them in treating with the Indians. In 1650 he was regularly "entertained . . . to attend the meetings of the Commissioners as an Interpreter to the Indians to gather up the Tribute; and to doe such other services for the Commissioners with Reference to the Indians as might accrew," for which he was to receive a yearly salary of 30l. out of the tribute paid in.

When Mr. Eliot was preparing his Indian catechism for the press in 1653, the Commissioners recommended "Thomas Stanton to assist in the worke; whoe is the most able Interpreter wee have in the country for that Language that the worke may bee the more perfectly carried on." In 1656, they "spake with and desired Tho: Stanton to advise with Mr. Pearson about a fitt Season to meet and Translate" in Translating a Catechisme." The original title-page of the little book, printed in 1658-59, accordingly contains the words: "Examined, and approved by Thomas Stanton Interpreter-General to the United Colonies for the Indian Language, and by some others of the most able Interp[re]ters amo[n]gst us." In 1657, the Commissioners wrote to the Corporation in England as follows: "wee heare that Thomas Stanton is taken notice of and possibly recorded as a very able Interpreter for the Indian language which is certainly true, and that a sallarie of 50 lb. per annum is appointed for him in England which hee may take vp heer and charge vpon you this may bee a mistake but if true wee maruill att it; the Comissioners doe Employ him as Interpreter betwixt themselves and the Indians in ciuill occasions of the Colonies and doe afford him conuenient recompence for the same." At their meeting in September, 1660, it was recorded that, "forasmuch as some of the Tribute is now ceased; and the Rest brought in by the Indians themselves as it hath been for some yeares past the Comissioners thought a lesse sallary might bee a sufficient Recompence [to Mr. Stanton] for the yeares past and soe for the time to come; and therefore tendered him the sume of ten pounds for this yeare Intimateing to doe the like heerafter onely for his attending the Comissioners meetings; and for other Services to allow him proportionable as hee shalbee Employed which hee not accepting The Comissioners payed him his former sallary of thirty pounds; but declared they were not willing to bee att the like charge for the time to come; and therefore left it to him to doe as hee should see cause." For this reason, probably, his name does not appear in the records of the Commissioners for 1661; but in 1662 and 1663 he was again employed by them on several occasions.

"to the Indian language of Connecticut" following year they gave "wages" for having "Learned Mr. Pearson . . .

About the year 1658 he removed to Stonington, where he resided until his death in 1678. Of this town he was elected representative in 1666. In 1667, and again in 1671, he was at Southampton on Long Island, where he was employed as Indian interpreter. In 1674 he was one of the founders of the first church in Stonington, over which the Rev. James Noyes was ordained as minister. Mr. Stanton had nine children, of whom the two eldest, Thomas and John, were educated in early life for the Indian work. The latter is mentioned as commander of the New England Indians in the expedition under Major-General Winthrop towards Canada in 1690, and again as an Indian interpreter at New London in 1699 and 1700.

The only other copy of this edition known to be extant has a different title, as follows:

This copy differs from the other only in the title leaf, which has been inserted in place of the original (cancelled) title. In other respects the two copies are of the same edition. The circumstances under which Pierson's catechism was prepared, "At the Motion, and published by the Order of the Commissioners of the United Colonies," and the fact that it was translated with the help of their official interpreter, Thomas Stanton, and was "examined and approved" by him, as also "by some others of the most able Inter, reters amongst us," are fully and explicitly set forth in the records and on the original title-page. With this certain knowledge the new title is at variance. Not only does it not mention the commissioners, who promoted and published the work, but it omits the name of Thomas Stanton, together with the reference to the other interpreters, and in their stead represents Captain John Scott as the sole examiner and approver of the book. It also characterises him as "that Experienced Gentleman (in the Indian Language)"—a statement which appears to have no confirmation, or even mention, in the records or elsewhere. Indeed, so little is known to the credit of "that mischievous adventurer," as he is termed by Dr. Trumbull, that it seems "highly probable that this title page was substituted by himself, or at his motion, and, probably, after the restoration." The alteration of the imprint from "Printed by" to "Printed for" Samuel Green, was more likely to be made in England than in America.

But little is known with certainty of John Scott's early career. According to one account, he was born of "very meane parentage" at a place called Ashford in Kent, probably about the year 1632, and "whilst a boy was brought over by his mother into New England." From his own statements it appears that he was "an unlucky boy," who "would cutt ye souldiers girts of their saddles yt were against ye King and such like tricks, soe yt some of them gott him transported to forraign parts, wher he was a servant many years." He also declared that he was ordered to be sent to New England "under the tuition of one Downing, who dealt most perfidiously" with him. Upon his arrival at Boston, with other children under Downing's care, in September, 1643, he was bound as an apprentice to Lawrence Southwick of Salem, whom he served until 1649 or 1650, part of the time being employed in tending cows. From the records of the general court at Boston in May, 1648, it may be inferred that he was then guilty of some misdemeanor, for his master was obliged to pay certain charges, and Scott was ordered to serve him additional time, "when his time shall be expired," or to make satisfaction in some other way. At the end of his apprenticeship, he was "forced to court any employment to acquire a livelihood, employing himself in and about an island called Long Island," where he "traded for himself and dwelt long with ye natives." In March, 1654, he was arrested on Long Island by the Dutch authorities, and examined with other suspected persons before the council at Fort Amsterdam. In April of the same year, an action of defamation was entered against him in the court at New Haven, but the affair was settled privately. In 1657 he was made a freeman at Southampton, and on December 9th, 1658, was granted a home lot there of three acres, and five other acres, provided he remained three years. His name appears in the records of that town as an attorney at a trial held on the 30th of April, 1660; and again on the 2d of May following as the seller of a tract of land for 40*l*. He also claimed that he had purchased from the Indians a large portion of Long Island; and of this land, Brodhead relates, "he executed numerous conveyances, which, after much litigation, were found to be fraudulent and void."

One of his contemporaries wrote of him a few years later as follows: "Hee having a nimble genius, though otherwise illiterate, with the helpe of a little reading, having a good memory to retaine the same and greater confidence, hee became somewhat above the common people & being weary of home, upon news of the kings restoration in England, hee found means to be transported over to London." It has been ascertained that he sailed from New Amsterdam in the ship Eyckenboom, probably in October, 1660. In May of the following year it was falsely reported that the whole of Long Island had been conveyed to him by a new patent from the king. It seems that his petition for that grant had met with some favor; but after the arrival in England of John Winthrop in the autumn of 1661 with a report to the king, decision upon his requests had been postponed, and they were finally denied in 1662. At that time he was called "Captain" John Scott. In April, 1663, while employed as agent for the Atherton company, a body of land speculators from Massachusetts who had laid out a plantation on Narragansett

Bay, he wrote that he had used "a parcel of curiosities" to the value of 60*l*. to interest "a potent gentleman" in favor of a petition in the company's behalf. About two months later, in June, 1663, he had another petition before the king, in which he claimed that his father had advanced 14,300*l*. to the cause of Charles I., besides losing his life in the service; that on account of his own loyalty, he himself had been banished to New England, where he had afterwards purchased "near one third part" of Long Island; and that he therefore prayed his Majesty "to bestow upon him the government of the said island and islands adjacent, or libertie to the inhabitants to chuse a governor and assistants yearly." On the failure of this petition, and the announcement of the king's intention to grant Long Island and the neighboring Dutch possessions to his brother the Duke of York, Scott determined to sail for America.

To this period of his career belong some characteristic acts which have been brought to light by the recent researches of Mr. G. D. Scull. While in London, Scott had become acquainted with a Major Gotherson, and also with his wife, whose name was originally Dorothea Scott, of Scott's Hall in Kent. Having ingratiated himself into their confidence, by claiming a relationship to Mrs. Gotherson's family, he sold to Major Gotherson, in 1662 and 1663, several large tracts of land on Long Island. He also made them liable for large sums of money which he pretended he had paid out on their account, and by these transactions finally ruined their entire estate. When he left England, in the autumn of 1663, he took with him 200*l*. worth of Mrs. Gotherson's jewels which he had fraudulently detained. At the same time he persuaded them to send to New England in his care their only son, a lad about thirteen years of age, whom he afterwards sold into service there, with other young men he had "tempted along with him out of England upon promise of preferment."

His chief object now "was to promote his private interest, in securing the ascendancy of the English over Long Island." On the 23d of November, not long after his return to Long Island, "Colonel" Scott, as he was then called, was again buying land from the Indians. In December he was appointed by the government of Connecticut one of three commissioners, with magistratical powers, to settle the difficulties with the Dutch on Long Island. On the 4th of January, 1664, he succeeded in having himself declared "president" of the English towns on the island, to act in that capacity until the Duke of York should take possession. On the 11th and 12th of January, having raised a company of over 150 foot and horse, he invaded Breuckelen and the neighboring Dutch towns "with sounding trumpet, beaten drum, flying colors, great noise and uproar," and proclaimed the English ownership of the land, declaring also that he would run his sword through the body of Stuyvesant, the director general. When he met the Dutch commissioners on the 14th, he exhibited an unsigned writing, "wherein his Majesty of England granted to him the whole of Long Island." A temporary agreement was then made that he should leave the Dutch towns unmolested for a period of one month, which limit was subsequently (February 24th) extended to one year. On account of these and other unwarranted proceedings, the government of Connecticut issued a warrant for Scott's arrest, March 10th, 1664. He was accordingly taken into custody, and on his trial was convicted, May 24th, of the following "Hainous crimes and practises seditious:" 1, Speaking words tending to the defamation of the king's majesty; 2, Seditious practices and tumultuous carriages; 3, Abetting and encouraging the natives in hostile parties, one against another; 4, Usurping the authority of the king, pretending to pardon treason; 5, Threatening his majesty's subjects with hanging and banishment; 6, Gross and notorious profanation of God's holy word; 7, Forgery and violation of his solemn oath; 8, Acting treacherously to the colony of Connecticut; 9, Usurping authority upon pretence of a commission; and 10, Calumniating a commissioned officer with the charge of villanous and felonious practices. He was therefore sentenced to pay a fine of 250*l.*, to be imprisoned during the pleasure of the court, and to give 500*l.* bonds for future good behavior. Before July, he had escaped from prison and returned to Long Island, where, in the latter part of August, he joined the English forces under Col. Richard Nicolls before New Amsterdam, with his own company of horse and foot. On the 11th of September, wishing to return to his residence at Ashford on the island, but fearing another arrest from Connecticut, he requested and obtained from Nicolls a passport which protected him from interference.

On the 18th of January, 1665, his name appears as attorney in a trial at Jamaica; and again on the 1st of March in a trial at Hempstead. On February 1st the secretary of Connecticut wrote to Coll. Nicolls, "that Mr. John Scott according to his wonted course is agayne making disturbance amongst the people of Setawckett, by laboring to deprive the people of that place of the land expedient for their subsistence." This complaint was followed by an order of the General Meeting at Hempstead held in March, 1665, "wherein Capt. John Scott was obliged to bring in at the General Court of Assizes following a certain deed or writing called by the said Capt. Scott a Perpetuity with the King's Picture on it, and a great yellow wax seale affix't to it, which hee very frequently shew'd to divers persons and deceived many therewith." Before the court met, however, Scott became alarmed at the prospect of his forgeries being exposed, and deserting his wife and child, he fled to Barbados. On the 4th of October, 1666, Coll. Nicolls issued a special warrant to the high sheriff to seize and confiscate all "Lands, Goods or Chattells the said Capt. John Scott hath any right or pretense unto within this government." At this period it is related that Scott's mother "lived miserable poore in this Government, a poor bankrupt miller's wife till very lately, even next unto want and beggary, scarcely ever looked at or acknowledged by her son in his grandeur here, or ever remembered by him, by letter, token or recommendation." On the 24th of October, Coll. Nicolls wrote to Secretary Morrice, that "formerly the very Originall of Mr. Maverick's petition to the King & Councell (concerning the Massachusetts Colony) was stolen out of the Lord Arlington's Office in Whitehall by one Captaine John Scott and delivered to Governor and Councell at Boston; This I affirme positively to bee true, though when I question'd Scott upon the matter, hee said a Clarke of Mr. Williamsons gave it him. This same Scott by a pretended seale affixed to a writing in which was the King's picture drawne with a pen or black leat, with his Majesties hand Charles R. and subseign'd Henry Bennet, hath horribly abus'd His Majesties honor in these parts, and fled out of the Country to Barbados. My Lord Willoughby sent me word that hee would send the said Scott prisoner into England upon this account and therefore I thought fitt to give you this information against him, that such fellows may have some marke of Infamy put upon them." In another letter of Nicolls, written to the Duke of York, he gave an account of "Capt. Scott who was borne to worke mischief as farre as hee is credited or his parts serve him. This Scott (it seems) aim'd at the same patent which Your Royal Highness hath, and hath since given words out that hee had injury done him by Your Royal Highness, whereupon he contriv'd and betrayed my Lord Berkely and Sir G. Carterett into a designe (contrary to their knowledge) of ruining all the hopes of increase in this Your R. Highness territory, which hee hath fully compleated, unless Your Royal Highness take farther order herein."

After Scott's flight to Barbados, he obtained a commission as Captain, and was engaged in fighting against the Dutch in Tobago. In 1667 he returned to England, and through the influence of his friends, who considered him "a very useful rogue," was appointed geographer to the king, August 29th, 1668. This position he did not hold long, for Coll. Nicolls, on his return to London soon after, told the king, the queen, and the duke enough about Scott to make the latter "forsake Whitehall." He next appeared on the continent, and about the year 1672 was detected in taking sketches of the fortifications of Bruges, and ordered to leave the town within twenty-four hours. In 1673 and 1674 he was in the service of the Dutch in Holland as major and afterwards as colonel. In 1678 he returned to England from France, and shortly after was arrested while in disguise on suspicion of being a spy. His appearance was then described as follows: "Hee has one or both legs crooked, a proper, well-sett man, in a great light cockered Perriwig, rough-visaged, having large haire on his eyebrows, hollow-eyed, a little squinting or a cast with his eye, full-faced about ye cheekes, about 46 years of age, with a Black hatt and in a straight boddy'd coate, cloath collar with silver lace behind." In 1679 he engaged in a conspiracy against the government, as well as against Samuel Pepys and Sir Anthony Deane, both of whom he charged with treason. In 1683 he brutally killed a coachman in London, upon some slight provocation, and was arrested and held for trial. He made his escape, however, and fled to Norway, where he remained until 1694, when he obtained a pardon from the king and returned to England. His later history is unknown, but his descendants are still living on Long Island.

It is probable that the altered title-page of Pierson's catechism, with the words "Examined and approved by that Experienced Gentleman (in the Indian Language) Captain John Soot," was also one of his forgeries—a supposition which is strengthened by the above sketch of his life. Dr. Trumbull was the first to suggest that the substitution of this spurious title "may have been Scott's own device, to give himself, in London, a certificate of position and character, and perhaps add weight to his statements in support of the title of the Narragansett proprietors and of his own claims to lands for which he had procured deeds from Indians on Long Island."

The portion of Pierson's catechism here reprinted comprises the whole of the first sixteen pages (signature A) of the original issue of the edition of 1658, which also breaks off in exactly the same place, with the catchword ask. It is referred to as follows in the prefatory epistle to the first part of the tract: "Two great works we find here further undertaken in order to that service. The one some helps and directions to the Indians how to improve their natural reason unto the knowledge of the true God. The reason why there is so short and imperfect a specimen given of it is, because the ships came away from New-England, before any more of the Copy was wrought off from the presse."

Abraham Pierson—the name was so written by himself and by his son—was born, probably, in Yorkshire, England, about the year 1608. In 1632 he graduated at Trinity College, Cambridge, and, after being ordained a minister, remained for a while at Newark, in the county of Durham. He came to New England in 1633, and arrived in Boston. At the end of September of the same year he embarked for the interior of the country.

itants of Lynn, "finding themselves straitened" in their town, had determined to form a new settlement elsewhere. They therefore organized a new church, over which Mr. Pierson was installed as minister in November of the same year. In the following December they removed to the southeast shore of Long Island, and began a new town at Southampton. Mr. Pierson remained there about four years, until the place was brought under the jurisdiction of Connecticut in 1644, when, being dissatisfied with the consequent change in some of the laws relating to church government, he removed with a portion of his congregation to Branford, in New Haven Colony, where a new settlement had already been made. There he organized another church, over which he officiated for more than twenty years.

In that neighborhood, and westward along the northern shore of Long Island Sound, were the settlements of the savages whom Mr. Pierson undertook to Christianize some years later. The Quiriipi, or "long water" Indians, as the natives of "these southwest parts" are called by Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull, spoke a "dialect having a place between the dialects of Massachusetts, Narragansett, and eastern Connecticut, and those of the Middle States; showing nearer affinity than other New England dialects to the (true) Delawares or Renapi of New Sweden." The names Quinnipiac and Quillipiac, which also belonged to places near New Haven, and signified "long-water land" or country, are thus explained by Dr. Trumbull: "In the Mohegan and Narragansett dialects, the first syllable was pronounced, quin; by the Conn. river Indians, quill; and by the Indians west of the 'long water,' quir." The earliest reference to Mr. Pierson's work among them appears to be in a letter from the Commissioners of the United Colonies to the Corporation in England, dated at New Haven, September 10th, 1651, in which they wrote that "Mr. Loweridge, Mr. Blinman, Mr. Pierson &c. are studying the language that they may the better treat with them concerning the things of their peace." In another letter, dated September 12th of the same year, and addressed to Mr. Eliot, they wrote: "Mr. Higginson hath spent some time formerly about the Indian language and Mr. Pierson hath done the like and continueth with much serianes therein." In September, 1653, Mr. Rawson was ordered by the Commissioners "to pay Mr. Pierson of Branford within Newhaven Jurisdiction the summe of twelve pound towards his Charge and paines in fitting himself to teache the Indians;" and in September, 1654, it was "agreed that Mr. Pierson for his paines and Charges and fitting himself for the Indian Worke shalbee paid fifteen pounds out of the Corporation stocks."

The Commissioners wrote to the Corporation in London, September 25th, 1654, in reference to Mr. Eliot's work among the Indians, as follows:

"one Cattschesme is already printed and Mr. Pierson is preparing another to suite these southwest parts where the language differs from theirs who live about the Massachusetts." At their meeting in New Plymouth two years later, in September, 1656, "A letter from Mr. Pierson of Branford dated the 25th August last was read and some part of a Cattschisme by him framed and propounded to convince the Indians by the light of Nature & Reason that there is onely one God who hath made and Governeth all things &c was considered and the Commissioners advised that it be perfected and turned into the Narragansett or Pequot language that it may be the better understood by the Indians in all parts of the Country and for that purpose they spoke with and desired Tho: Stanton to advise with Mr. Pierson about a fitt Season to meet and Translate the same accordingly without any unnecessary delay that it may be fitted for and sent to the press and they promised him due Satisfaction for his time and paines; it was agreed that Mr. Pierson be allowed fifteen pounds for his paines hee shall take in this worke the yeare ensuing." The catechism was completed and a copy transcribed for the press before the next meeting of the Commissioners in September, 1657, when they wrote to the Corporation on the 19th of that month, that "wee have alsoe improved his [Mr. Stanton's] skill in helping Mr. Pierson an able and usefull Instrument for other Indians spirituall good in Translating a Cattschisme Mr. Pierson hath made for their use and Instruction and as the account will shew have given him a suitable allowance; . . . wee have alsoe sent you . . . Mr. Pierson's Cattschisme; which wee have desired Mr. Ince to Transcribe whome you may please to Imprime to overlooke the presse to prevent mistakes especially of the Indian wee desire the worke may be expedited and that 1500 Coppies be sent hither to vs by the first opportunitie."

This catechism, however, never reached England, as the ship which carried it was lost at sea with all on board. The Corporation replied to the Commissioners, April 30, 1658: "As for Mr. Pierson wee concur with you concerning his fitness and Ability for the Indians spirituall good; and for the Cattschismes mentioned in your letter of his Composing for their use and Instruction which wee should have taken care to have printed according to your Desire and should have sent over the number mentioned in your letter but wee feare it is miscarried being sent as wee understand in Mr. Garretts shipp which is yett missing; and therefore wee Intreat you to send it over by the first opportunitie." On the 16th of September, 1658, the Commissioners wrote to the Corporation that "Mr. Pierson wee heare is repairing his Cattschisme for the presse and is expected heer every day; wee hope to send it you by the next together with this yeares actes which as yett wee have not had time to perfect;" and again in a letter dated from Boston, September 22d, 1658, they added: "By our last of the 16th Instant wee were certified you of our purpose to send Mr. Piersons Catechisme by the first opportunity to bee printed in England since which time it is come to our hands but vpon further consideration in regard of the hazard of sending and difficultie of true printing it without a fitt overseer of the presse by one skilled in the language wee haue chosen rather to haue it printed heer and accordingly haue taken order for the same and hope it will bee finished within three monthes."

The printing was not begun, probably, until two or three months later, as only the first sheet (sixteen pages, including the title) had been "wrought off from the presse" of Samuel Green at Cambridge, when the ship by which a specimen was sent to England sailed from Boston at the end of December of the same year. This specimen sheet was reprinted for the Corporation in their report entitled "A further Account of the Progress of the Gospel amongst the Indians in New-England," which was published in London before May, 1659. Although the title of the Cambridge edition is dated 1658, the impression of the catechism was not finished until the autumn or winter of the following year. On the 7th of May, 1659, the Corporation wrote to the Commissioners: "Concerning your printing Mr. Piersons Catechisme in the Indian language in New England wee concur with your judgments therein Conceiuing you haue ordered it for the best; in regard that such errors as may bee comitted in printing the same will bee the better corrected there then they would heer; . . . wee haue thought good to print your last letter with two other letters received from Mr. Endicot and Mr. Elliott; as also the Indians exhortations and the sheet of Catechisme composed by Mr. Pierson all which are printed for publicke satisfaction." To this letter the Commissioners replied from Hartford, September 7th, 1659: "we haue ordered Mr. Vsher to send you forty Copies of Mr. Piersons Catechisme if finished before the shipes sett saile; but feare by reason of Mr. Piersons sicknes the worke may haue bin retarded; and we and you suffer a disappointment; but wee shall endeavor by the next to satisfy your expectations therein." In the account of charges sent with this letter, was one item of 40l., "To Mr. Green for printing the Psalmes and Mr. Piersons Catechisme." At the meeting held in New Haven in September, 1660, it was resolved that "The Commissioners for the Massachusetts are desired and Impowered to account with Mr. Green for the forty pounds payed him the last yeare on account for printing Mr. Piersons Catechisme and the Psalmes." The treasurer's account of "Indian stocks" submitted at their next meeting at Plymouth in September, 1661, contained an entry of 5l., "Item by discount with Mr. Green ouer payed on account of printing Mr. Piersons Catechisme." The present knowledge of the fact that this catechism is not in the Narragansett or Pequot dialect of eastern and southern Connecticut, as might be inferred from the letters and records of the Commissioners, but in that of the Quipori or southwestern Indians of the same colony, is due entirely to the learned researches of Dr. Trumbull.

The salary paid by the Commissioners to Mr. Pierson for his labor in instructing the Indians was raised from 15l. to 20l. in 1657, and again to 30l. in 1661; but at the meeting in September, 1667, his allowance for services during the year was lowered to 15l., probably on account of his removal from Branford. In 1665, when New Haven Colony was joined to Connecticut, Mr. Pierson again came under the church laws, which led him to remove from Southampton. A large number of the inhabitants of Branford were of the same mind as their pastor, and accordingly in 1666 they united with others of Milford, Guilford, and neighboring towns in founding a new settlement on the banks of the Passaic River, in New Jersey, to which they gave the name of Newark. To the new town Mr. Pierson and his congregation removed, probably in June, 1667, and there he remained as the first minister of the new church until his death, August 9th, 1678. He was succeeded in the ministry by his son, Abraham Pierson, junior, who had been his assistant since 1666, and who afterwards became the first rector of Yale College, in Connecticut, where he died in 1707. After Mr. Pierson's removal from Branford, Mr. James Fitch, senior, the pastor of the church at Norwich, "having gained some understanding in the Indian language," preached to the Indians who lived near him. In a letter to Daniel Gookin, dated November 20th, 1674, he wrote of the result of Mr. Pierson's labors as follows: "Concerning the Indians in this colony and at Long Island, I cannot understand that they have any inclination to learn the knowledge of God: but when Mr. Pierson did frequently try, in the several plantations in this colony, they did generally show an averseness, yea a perverse contempt of the word of God; and at present they will not yield to any settled hearing or attendance upon the ministry of the word."

Manuscript, 56 ll. folio. These vocabularies are arranged in parallel columns for comparison, and contain from 1,500 to 1,700 words each. The manuscript was submitted to Dr. J. H. Trumbull, of Hartford, Conn., for examination, and was by him copied on slips, each containing one English word and its equivalent in the dialects given above, spaces being reserved for other dialects. They were then sent to Mrs. A. E. W. Robertson, then at Tullahassee, Ind. T., who inserted the Chikasaw equivalents.

These manuscripts were formerly in possession of the Smithsonian Institution, later transferred to the Bureau of Ethnology, and finally returned to the author at his request.

Albert Pike, lawyer, born in Boston, Mass., December 29, 1809, and entered Harvard in 1826. In August, 1831, he accompanied a caravan of ten wagons from St. Louis to Santa Fé, where he remained until September, 1832, then went down the Pecos River and into the Staked Plain, then to the head-waters of the Brazos. Finally Pike, with four others, left the company, and reached Fort Smith, Ark., in December. In 1833 he became associate editor of the "Arkansas Advocate." During the Mexican war he commanded a squadron in the regiment of Arkansas mounted volunteers in 1846-47. At the beginning of the civil war he became Confederate commissioner, negotiating treaties of amity and alliance with several Indian tribes. While thus engaged he was appointed brigadier-general, and organized bodies of Indians, with which he took part in the battles of Pea Ridge and Elkhorn. In 1868 he removed to Washington, D. C., where he practiced his profession in the supreme and district courts. He retired in 1880, and has since devoted his attention to literature and Freemasonry.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Also in Drake (S. G.), The old Indian chronicle, pp. 1-38, Boston, 1836, 18°.

According to Drake there was no demand for his first reprint (1833) of the "Present state" and its accompanying "Continuation," and it "lay some three years on hand, excepting what were gratuitously distributed." They "were not reprinted (for the first edition [of the Old Indian Chronicle]), as enough of them remained on hand in 1836 to complete the edition of some 250 copies." In order to complete the edition of the Chronicle, of which 500 copies had been printed in all, these two tracts were reprinted shortly afterwards differing in the arrangement of nearly every page from the edition of 1833. The title of this reprint of the "Present state" is as follows:

Preston (Capt. William). [Vocabulary of the Potawatamy, Miami, Delaware, Shawnee, and Cherokee languages.]

Manuscript in possession of the late Col. John Mason Brown, Louisville, Ky. Recorded in a blank book 6½ by 8 inches in size, probably the orderly book of the company commanded by Captain Preston. The date, January 29, 1793, appears on the inside of the cover.

The Potawatamy vocabulary covers three pages, and consists of 72 words and phrases, including the numerals 1-9. This is followed by geographical names in the Miami, which cover one page and give the Indian designation of the Ohio, Kentucky, Kanawha, and other rivers, sixteen in all. The following page is occupied by a similar list in Delaware, and this is followed by a list of words and phrases in the Miami, occupying six pages and containing 129 words and phrases.

Following the last mentioned is a vocabulary of the Shawnee language, with certain remarks on pronunciation of the aspirates and accentuation of syllables. The first page bears date February 7, 1796, at Greenville. There are nineteen pages of this vocabulary. The English words are arranged alphabetically, or approximately so, followed by the Indian equivalents, amounting to 481 words and phrases.

Preston (W.)—Continued.

The sixteen geographic names in Miami and Delaware found in this manuscript were published in The Virginian, vol. 4, pp. 166-167, Staunton, Va., 1835, 4°. (Pilling.) The editor of that periodical, Col. Jed. Hotchkiss, then submitted a copy to Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull, who supplied some valuable notes on the significance of the Indian names. The vocabulary with Dr. Trumbull's notes was then reprinted in The Industrial South, vol. 6, pp. 19-20, Richmond, Va., January 13, 1836, 4°. (Pilling.)

William Preston, soldier, born in county Donegal, Ireland, 25 December, 1729; died in Montgomery County, Virginia, 28 July, 1782. He became deputy sheriff of Augusta County in 1759; was elected to the house of burgesses and accompanied General Washington on several exploring expeditions in the west. He was appointed one of two commissioners to make a treaty with the Shawnee and Delaware Indians in 1767. He became surveyor of the new county of Montgomery in 1771, and was early engaged in the organization of troops for the Revolutionary war; became colonel in 1776, and led his regiment at Guilford Court-House, S. C., where he received injuries that caused his death in the following July.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Rev. Médéric Prévost, O. M. I., was born February 1, 1847, at St. Jacques de l'Achigan, county of Montcalm, Province of Quebec, Canada. He was ordained a priest May 11, 1873, and soon after was sent to the residence of Lake Temiskaming, an Indian mission. Since that time he has visited the Indian missions of Fort William, on the Ottawa River, Mattawan, Abitibi, Kipewa, Kitchi Saking, Mekiekan, Waswanipi, Kikendatc, Kakebongang, and Weymontching. In 1879 he was sent to Maniwaki, at the head of the Gatineau River. Since the year 1874 he has been charged by his superiors with the preparation of the calendar for every new year. His present residence (1888) is Hull, near Ottawa.—Lorrain.

[Hymns in the Mohican language.
1745.] (*)

Title from Reichel's Memorials of the Moravian church, vol. 1, pp. 138-140.

Mr. John W. Jordan, of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, who has interested himself in the Moravian missionaries and their works, writes me as follows: "I examined the Bethlehem diary for the year 1745, and under date of September 18th it is recorded that the first translation of hymns (two) into Mohican, made by Rev. J. C. Pyrlæus, 'appeared to-day.' They were revised by the convert John, a Mohican from Shecomeco. Prior to this date Pyrlæus had studied Mohican as well as Mohawk. From the writing of the record I am led to believe that these translated hymns were printed in slips either by Franklin or Saur. I am not able to verify this by the record, unfortunately.

"The Moravian Indians who were sojourning at Bethlehem, Pa., in 1745-'46 caused Pyrlæus to begin the translation of hymns for a Mohican hymn book, to which other Moravians contributed—J. Martin Mack, David Bruce, and G.
Büttner."

tionen der Mahikander, Delawares und etliche Verse in der Sprache der 6 Nationen. 1746. (*)

Manuscript, pp. 1-28, sm. 8°.

Title from Mr. A. Glitsch, of the Unitäts-Bibliothek, Herrnhut, Saxony, where the manuscript is preserved.

"Jno. Christopher Pyrlæus, the Mohawk scholar, was born at Pausa, Voigtland, in 1713.
Studied for the ministry at the University of Leipsic between 1733 and 1738. Here he became attached to the Brethren, visited Herrnhut, and accepted an appointment as missionary.
Sailed from London in company with Büttner and Zander, and reached Bethlehem October 19, 1740. Commenced the study of the Mohawk at Tulpehocken, in January, 1743, under Weiser's direction. The Brethren having failed to procure a Mohawk Indian from Freehold to instruct in that language such of their number as were set apart for the mission, Pyrlæus undertook this, and on the 4th of February, 1744, opened his Indian school. In September of 1745 his first translations of hymns into Mohican appeared.
This was the beginning of a collection for the use of the mission. In November of 1751 he sailed for England, where he labored until 1770.
He next went to Germany, where he died May 28, 1788."—Reichel.

Copies seen: Lenox, Massachusetts Historical Society.

On the blank page opposite the title of the Lenox copy is the following manuscript note, in Schoolcraft's Bibliographical Catalogue referring to the later edition

"This translation was made by John Quinney and Capt. Hendrick, who received their [sic] commission from General Washington."

Mr. Brinley's copy (no. 5691), bound with two other tracts, sold for $24, and is now in the Lenox Library. Another copy has since been offered for sale for $50.

John Quinney, to whom this translation is attributed, was an Indian of the Moheakunnuk or Stockbridge tribe who lived about the middle of the eighteenth century. He was probably an assistant or interpreter to Rev. John Sergeant the elder, missionary at Stockbridge from 1735 to 1749, whom he perhaps aided in translating prayers and other works into the Indian language. Nothing has been learned of his personal history; but his descendants were prominent in the later history of the tribe.

His son Joseph Quinney, whose name is also spelled Quan-au-kaunt or Quinequaun, was town constable in 1765; and in 1777, after the death of the sachem Solomon Un-haun-nau-waun-nutt, he was made chief of the Moheakunnuk nation. Another Joseph Quinney, perhaps a son of the former, was chosen deacon of the New Stockbridge church in 1817; and in the following year was one of the leaders in the emigration of his people from the state of New York to a new home in the west. John W. Quinney, born in 1797, and educated at Yorktown, Westchester County, N. Y., was chief of the tribe in 1819-52, while residing on Lake Winnebago in Wisconsin.

The translation of the Assembly's Catechism was probably made by John Quinney under the supervision of the elder Mr. Sergeant. According to the Indian tradition, as preserved by Mr. Schoolcraft in his Bibliographical Catalogue (1819), no. 63, it "is understood to have been done prior to the American Revolution, while this tribe dwelt at Stockbridge, Mass., on the Housatonic River."

From this it may be inferred that there was an earlier edition printed, of which no copy has been found. However that may be, the work must have been thoroughly revised afterwards, and the spelling changed to agree with the language as written in 1795. This is evident from the fact that Dr. Watts's Shorter Catechism for Children, as printed on pp. 27-31, is certainly a revision of Mr. Sergeant's translation made before 1749, although it differs considerably in the orthography, and occasionally in the wording, from that version as printed on pp. 8-15 of the first part of Mr. Sergeant's prayers.

The edition described above was printed for the use of the Moheakunnuk Indians, after they had removed from Stockbridge, Mass., to New Stockbridge, N. Y. It was published without doubt at the instance of Rev. John Sergeant the younger, who also understood the language, and who had been minister of the Indian church since 1775.

See the fac-simile of the first page.

At the bottom of page 34 are the words: "The foregoing is printed in the Moheakunnuk, or Stockbridge | Indian Language."

Copies seen: Boston Athenæum, Massachusetts Historical Society, Pilling, Wisconsin Historical Society.

On one of the preliminary blank leaves of the Boston Athenæum copy, which formerly belonged to Mr. Henry R. Schoolcraft, is the following manuscript note:

"This translation was made by John Quinney and Capt. Hendrick who received his commission from General Washington. Little else has ever been translated into the Stockbridge language besides this."

The first twenty-five pages contain an exact reprint of the edition of 1795; the remainder was probably translated by Capt. Hendrick, at the suggestion of Rev. John Sergeant, who died in 1824. The exact date of its publication has not been ascertained; but from the appearance of the paper and the typography, it would seem to belong to the period of the removal of the tribe from New Stockbridge, N. Y., to Indiana in 1818, and to Wisconsin in 1822. Mr. Sergeant wished to have his Indians well supplied with books before their departure. "My people," he writes, March 30, 1818, "can read their own language very fluently, when they pronounce English very indifferently. This will always be the case, so long as they speak their own language in their families." In another letter, dated December 16, 1821, he says: "I am in hopes to obtain copies of Elliot's Bible in the Indian language, and am of opinion, that this Bible will be understood by a good part of the natives in the N. W. Territory."

Captain Hendrick Aupaumut, an Indian of the Stockbridge tribe, was a man of eminent among his people. In personal appearance "his gait," says one, "and his demeanor, appeared like royalty." He was often employed as interpreter; and in this capacity his "strong memory, his clear, lucid manner, and his min-

Quinney (J.) and Aupaumut (H.)—Con.

illuminated face," as he conveyed the thoughts of a preacher to his people, are highly praised. His public speeches are spoken of as "always remarkable for perspicuity and sound sense." According to a common custom in the tribe, he dropped the Indian name Aupaumut, and was known as Capt. Hendrick. Since then, Hendrick has been the surname of the family. (Jones's Stockbridge, pp. 119, 120.)

He probably received his commission as Captain from General Washington during the revolutionary war. In 1777, when Joseph Quinney became sachem, he made Hendrick one of his counselors. In 1785 the tribe removed from Stockbridge, Mass., to a tract of land six miles square, given to them by the Oneida Indians, situated in what is now Madison County, New York. There they built the village of New Stockbridge.

Capt. Hendrick is mentioned by Rev. Mr. Kirkland, in a letter to General Knox, dated April 22, 1791, as "one of the chiefs of the Stockbridge tribe." "As you are in a measure a stranger to Captain Hendrick," he continues, "allow me to say, from long personal acquaintance with him, that he is very little inferior to Cornplanter, who himself has a high esteem for the Stockbridge chief." In 1792 the Indians of New Stockbridge and their neighbors of the Six Nations were invited to Philadelphia by President Washington, "that measures might be concerted to impart such of the blessings of civilization as might suit their condition." On this occasion Capt. Hendrick accompanied them, and while there he was employed by the Secretary of War to go on a mission to the western tribes.

In 1809 he formed the plan of collecting all the eastern Indians and settling them on lands near the White River in Indiana, which had been given to this tribe by the Miami more than a century before. About the same time, when the Stockbridges and Delawares were solicited by Tecumseh and his brother, the Prophet, to join them in a league against the whites, the advice and exertions of Capt. Hendrick kept them aloof. In the war with Great Britain which soon followed, he joined the American army, was favorably noticed, and promoted to office.

In 1816 or 1817 Capt. Hendrick resigned the chieftainship, on account of old age and increasing infirmities. His youngest son, Solomon Aupaumut, or as he was usually called, Solomon C. Hendrick, was made sachem in his stead, but he few years later. In September, 1818, the removal of a part of the tribe took place, to Stockbridge, Indiana, but the venturer the direct tract of the of Hendrick, however, remained behind until September, 1829, when he too removed to Green Bay with his family. The date of his death has not been ascertained, but it probably happened not long after.

During his residence at New Stockbridge, Capt. Hendrick compiled and wrote in English the traditional history of the "Muh-he con-nuk Nation." Some fragments of this curious and interesting work have been preserved in Dr. Dwight's Travels (New Haven, 1821-22), and in Jones's Stockbridge (Springfield, 1854).

After the death of Solomon Aupaumut, about the year 1823, John Metoxin was made sachem, which office he held for a dozen or more years. In 1833 and 1834, by treaty with the government, the Stockbridge Indians were obliged to remove from the Fox River to the east side of Lake Winnebago, where the body of the tribe remained until the present reservation was selected for them about seven miles west of Keshena, Shawano County, Wisconsin. In 1839, a company of seventy or eighty individuals separated from the tribe and emigrated to lands set apart for the Delaware Indians, five miles below Fort Leavenworth, on the Missouri River. In May, 1851, the tribe numbered 235, including the little colony in Missouri, which had become reduced to twenty-five or thirty persons. Those who had become citizenized were 71. At that time it was related that "their own language has gone very nearly out of use for want of a native literature, and the English only is taught." In 1881 their number had decreased to 135.

After the removal from New York, the first missionary who visited them at Green Bay was Rev. Jesse Miner, in 1827, but he died about two years later. In 1829 Rev. Cutting Marsh was sent to them as minister, and Mr. Jedediah Stevens and his wife as teachers. In 1834, Rev. Chauncey Hall and Mrs. Hall joined the mission. Mr. Marsh resigned the care of the Indian church in 1849 to Rev. Jeremiah Slingerland, who was a native of the tribe and the adopted son of deacon Joseph Quinney. Mr. Slingerland had received a theological education at Bangor, Maine. He was still minister of the church on the Stockbridge Indian reservation in 1881.

Halifax, N. S.: | Nova Scotia printing company. | 1888.

Abridged title on cover, title as above verso key to the pronunciation 1 l. preface pp. iii-viii, text (English-Micmac only, in double columns) pp. 1-288, 4°.

The preface contains the analysis of a word illustrating holophrasis, and ground forms connected with the noun "mâté," a foot.

"The compiler of the following work has been for more than forty years laboring as a missionary among the Micmac Indians. He considered it a matter of prime importance to make himself acquainted with their language, and early set himself to the task, with what few helps he could command; and his success has surprised himself as well as many others. As many as forty thousand of their words have been collected and arranged in alphabetical order. . . . It [this dictionary] is but one portion, and that the smallest and least important portion of the whole work. It is, however, complete by itself, and will give a good idea of the language, and may lead, it is devoutly hoped, to the publication of the larger and more important portion, viz: the Micmac-English, which is ready for the press, or nearly so, and the printing may be begun as soon as the means for defraying the expense is forthcoming. The Dominion Government have paid for the manuscripts of both portions of the work. They have declined to undertake the cost of publishing both portions, but have furnished means of printing the smaller portion—the English-Micmac."—Preface.

The remaining portion of this work, still in manuscript, is as follows:

— [Dictionary of the language of the Micmac Indians. Micmac-English.]

Manuscript, 4 vols. 4°.

The following particulars concerning this work were furnished me by Mr. Rand some time ago, and before he had made an arrangement to have it printed:

"General plan of the work: 1. To record all the words in the language so far as they can be discovered. 2. To give their equivalents in English as correctly as possible, both their primary and secondary significations. 3. To give the principal parts of the verbs—and most of the words in the language are verbs, while all, almost without exception, can assume a verbal form—so that the verb can be conjugated through person and number, mood and tense, and voice. 4. To write the word phonetically, so that the true pronunciation—the real word—may be distinctly seen and heard. 5. To give the compounds to some extent, the most usual ones, and the derivatives, for these are an essential part of the language.

"I have, in the course of about thirty-four years, collected and arranged alphabetically about 20,000 words. I am this winter [1888-9] making it my chief business to complete the correcting and the copying out into a fair hand of the fourth volume of this work.

"You ask the names of my assistants. The meagre outlines of a Micmac Grammar, published some years previous in the Royal Gazette of Charlottetown, P. E. Island, by Mr. Irving [q. v.], who had obtained the manuscripts of a deceased French priest, who had resided in Nova Scotia, L'Abbe Lapsyrie [q. v.], gave me some—I may say a good deal—of help. Irving died before I could see him, and I could not obtain any of his manuscripts. . . .

"The first man I found who could really help me was a Frenchman named Joseph Brooks, who had resided among the Indians many years. One of his sons, Tom Brooks, became finally one of my most efficient teachers, though he never learned either to read or write. The greater part of my translations and compilations was done with the assistance of Tom Brooks. I had one other clever assistant for several years who could both read and write. His name was Benjamin Christmas, of Cape Breton."

Of the above I have seen only vol. 3, which, with many other of his manuscripts titled below, was kindly sent me by the author that I might describe it.

— Micmac catechism.

Manuscript, 38 pp. 16°. Written in a small blank book labeled "Translations from [the Roman Catholic] Indian prayer-book—Micmac. S. T. Rand, Charlottetown." Each question and answer is followed by an English translation, written in an easy style of phonography, more or less of which appears throughout most of Mr. Rand's manuscripts.

This manuscript, together with most of those titled below, was kindly loaned me by its author a few years prior to his death. I do not know into whose hands they have since fallen.

— Micmac Ollendorff. (*)

Manuscript, in the possession of Mr. Hubbard, of Boston, Mass., to whom it was sent by its author, who says: "The Micmac Ollendorff comprises, as near as I can remember, about 400 pages, and consists of a series of questions and answers, facing each other, and numbered off into lessons, à la mode Ollendorff. It is intended as a simple aid to the learning of the language."

— The decalogue as | read from the [Roman Catholic] Indian | prayer book by Peter [Christmas] | at Escisogunic | June 12, 1852.

Manuscript, 4 pp. 16°, apparently incomplete. This is written in the same blank book as the catechism described above, which it immediately follows, and, like the catechism, it is accompanied by English equivalents in phonographic characters.

— Sentences in | Mic Mac. | Ēlēnu wegädigün.

Manuscript in my possession. No title-page, heading as above; pp. 1-63, 16°. Paged reverse of usual—even numbers on rectos, odd on versos. Alternate pages Micmac and English, in some cases the former occupying the rectos, in others the versos.

The manuscript includes not only sentences, but short stories and portions of the scriptures, and on pp. 9-10 is a partial conjugation of the verb to see.—Exodus 20, pp. 11-14.—Genesis 1, "translated March, 1847, by the aid of Joseph Brooks," pp. 33-42.—John 4, "being the first whole chapter translated by me (us) into Mic Mac," pp. 42-52.—Gen. 2, pp. 53-58.—Gen. 3, pp. 58-63, and continued on p. 1.

Concerning this work the author wrote me as follows: This is a collection of about 300 words, in which I saw, or fancied I saw when I composed it, a resemblance between many Micmac words and those of other languages, chiefly the Greek. I am under the impression that a comparison conducted on proper etymological

Manuscript; a copy; 94 unnumbered ll. 4°.

"In hunting among my papers, I have discovered a manuscript that I can not well pass over if you wish a full descriptive catalogue of such unpublished manuscripts as are in my possession referring to our Indians and their language. I send you the copy which I retained.

"This was its origin. When we sent the manuscript of the Book of Psalms, translated into Micmac, to the British and Foreign Bible Society, it occurred to them to inquire whether it had been translated from the Hebrew or from the English. I replied that I had translated directly from the Hebrew, and that while I had made use of the common English version and others, I had not servilely followed it or any of them, but that my version varied from the English in a good many places; I did not know how many. Whereupon I was directed to state all the cases in which the Micmac differed from the English, and to state briefly my reasons. I did so. Then we had a committee of our learned divines of Halifax appointed to examine my paper, over which they spent a good many days. Suggestions were made and amendments proposed, and the dissertation was gone over again carefully and revised, then copied, and sent to London. The publishing committee of the British and Foreign Bible Society expressed themselves well satisfied, and I was sufficiently complimented for the literary aspect of the work, and the book was immediately published."—Rand.

[—] Extracts from the Micmac | Hieroglyphic Prayerbook, translated into Roman Letters | with some of the words in English. [187-?] ]

Manuscript, pp. 1-11, 10bis-25, 25bis-38, two unnumbered pages (blank), pp. 39 (blank), 40-44, 46-80, 4°. In possession of Mr. Wilberforce Eames, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Contains a transcript of portions of the Micmac hieroglyphic books of devotion published by Kauder (C.) in 1866. The hieroglyphs are arranged in a single column on the left-hand margin of each page, and are accompanied in many places by the Micmac words in roman characters, partly with the equivalents in English. At the end are two unnumbered leaves on smaller paper, apparently a fragment of another manuscript, containing on the recto of each leaf a column of hieroglyphs, without explanation.

Pp. 1-25 of the manuscript comprise pp. 5-13 of the printed Gesangbuch.—Pp. 25bis-31 comprise pp. 5-6 of the printed Katechismus.—Pp. 31-38 comprise pp. 52-54 of the printed Gesangbuch.—Pp. 40-80 comprise pp. 6-14, 17-19, of the printed Katechismus, breaking off in the middle of a sentence.

Contents: The Holy Mass, pp. 1-2.—Kyrie, p. 3.—Gloria, pp. 4-7.—Graduale, pp. 7-9.—Credo (Symbolum Apost.), pp. 9-11, 10bis-12.—Sanctus, pp. 13-14.—Agnus Dei, p. 15.—Messe an den Festtagen, pp. 15-18.—Asperges, pp. 19-20.—Kyrie, p. 20.—Gloria, pp. 21-25.—Graduale, pp. 25-25bis.—Von dem Zeichen des heiligen Kreuzes, pp. 25bis-31.—Adjutorium, etc., p. 31.—Confiteor, pp. 32-37.—Miseratur, p. 38.—Von der Wesenheit eines katholischen Christen, pp. 40-42.—Von der Unsterblichkeit der Seele, pp. 42-44, 46-47.—Von dem Ziele des Menschen, pp. 47-58.—Von Gott, dem Schöpfer aller Dinge, pp. 58-68.—Von den drei göttlichen Personen, pp. 69-80.

[The small catechism in Micmac hieroglyphs, with the corresponding Micmac words in roman characters. [187-?]]

Rand (S. T.)—Continued.

This is a transcript, probably, of one of the manuscript Roman Catholic prayer books. Some of the hieroglyphs differ considerably in shape from the same figures in the books printed for Father Kauder. The order of the text also varies somewhat from that of "der kleine Katechismus," printed on pp. 22-27 of Kauder's Katechismus. Each page contains a single column of hieroglyphs, accompanied by the equivalents in roman characters, and in a few places by the English translation.

[Tracts and hymns in the Micmac language.]

Manuscript, pp. 1-340, 5 1/2 l. 4°, bound. Pp. 1-198 are numbered on the rectos only, the verses of the leaves bearing no numbers, and usually being partially filled with hymns and interpolations and additions to the facing page; from page 199 on the pagination runs through every page. The tracts and hymns alternate throughout. The titles are as follows:

1. The only place of safety.
2. The Justifier.
3. How can a sinner be justified?
4. What a contrast.
5. If thou knewest the gift of God!
6. Worship, or one in ten.
7. The handcuffs.
8. The lunatic and his keeper.
9. The coalmine explosion.
10. Are you going to Heaven or Hell?
11. Just in time to catch the train.
12. That is your man, sir!
13. Smashed to pieces.
14. The little garden.
1. One there is above all others.
2. Nothing either great or small.
3. God in mercy sent his Son.
4. When this passing world is done.
5. The half was never told.

Manuscript, pp. 1-17, sm. 4°; bound in a blank book marked "Personal Diary," which latter occupies the remainder of the book. Of the pagination the even numbers are on the rectos of the leaves, the odd numbers on the versos.

On p. 1 is the following note: "I have transcribed in this book a few Micmac and Maliseet Psalms. They are chiefly literal and prose translations, but arranged so as to suit the tunes. ## Rand (S. T.)—Continued.

— [Manuscripts in the Maliseet and Micmac languages.]

About 400 pp. mostly unnumbered, 4<sup>o</sup>, bound.

This book contains the final copy of the Maliseet tract titled "The ten commandments; John 6 and the 50th Psalm, in Maliseet; and the epistles to the Romans and Galatians, in Micmac. Of these, all have been published except the 50th Psalm.

"This is a rough draft. A fair copy is bound up in a volume now in the hands of Mr. Lucius L. Hubbard, of Boston, Mass."—Rand.

— A vocabulary of Maliseet words.

Manuscript, about 500 unnumbered ll. 4<sup>o</sup>, bound. This book is, perhaps, not more than half filled, but it contains a large number of Maliseet words, arranged to some extent alphabetically by the Maliseet, the English equivalent following.

— [Hymns in the Maliseet language.]

Manuscripts. Titles as follows:

1. Psalm 50.
2. Psalm 51.
3. Abide with me, that falls the eventide.
4. I'm going home to die no more.

— [Maliseet Ollendorff and other translations.]

Manuscript, pp. 1-418, 4<sup>o</sup>, bound.

It consists of a series of familiar questions and answers in the style of the Ollendorff textbooks, the questions in English being on one page and the Indian answers facing them with corresponding numbers. About 50 pages are filled with lists of Maliseet words and grammatical inflections explained in English. It contains, also, the last two chapters of Luke in Maliseet, "some extracts from the Catholic prayer book in Penobscot," two hymns in Maliseet, and the second commandment written by an Indian.

— [Manuscripts treating principally of the Maliseet language.]

About 400 pp. 4<sup>o</sup>, bound. The first portion contains the first draft of the tract in Maliseet described above under the title "The ten commandments," etc., with an accompanying list, on the pages opposite, of words and grammatical forms collected while translating the tract. The verbs are generally conjugated fully through the present indicative.

Besides the tract, vocabulary, and grammar, this book contains a translation of the 34th Psalm, a hymn in Penobscot, and another in Maliseet, "both from the Catholic prayer book," and a vocabulary of the Maliseet language, consisting of 90 pages closely written.

"The translating was done for me by a very intelligent Maliseet Indian residing at St. Mary's, opposite Fredericton, N. B., named Gabriel Thomas. The tract was translated from the Micmac, which Gabriel spoke fluently, as he did also the English and his own tongue. But he could neither read nor write. It was my first lesson in Maliseet, and I carefully collected a vocabulary and made a grammar as I went along."—Rand.

Rev. Silas Tertius Rand was born in King's County, Nova Scotia, May 18, 1810. His study of English grammar was not begun until he had reached the age of 22. In April, 1834, he entered the Baptist seminary at Wolfville, where he made some progress in Latin. His stay here was of short duration, but he pushed forward his study of Latin and Greek while working at his trade—that of a stonemason and bricklayer—devoting all his leisure moments to study. That same summer he began to preach. He again attended the Wolfville academy a few weeks during this summer (1834), and still again a few weeks some years subsequently. In the summer of 1836 he commenced the study of Hebrew, which, together with that of Latin

Mr. Rand relates how he was led to the study of the Micmac, as follows: "My attention was directed to the wandering tribes of our own country, and I resolved to acquire a knowledge of the Micmac language. I began the study in the spring of 1844. I got very little help from books. I had to compose my own grammar and vocabulary, and I would have given up the study as a hopeless case had I not come in contact with a Frenchman who had been brought up among the English and had turned Indian when he was a wild young sailor, and who, when I discovered him at Charlottetown, P. E. Island, spoke English, French, and Micmac with equal ease."

In the year 1844 Mr. Rand took up his residence with his family at Charlottetown. In the autumn of 1849 the Micmac missionary society was formed, being formally organized the following year. Mr. Rand engaged to devote his whole time to the work of the mission. For about three years he maintained his residence at Charlottetown, acquiring a more intimate acquaintance with the Micmac language, into which he translated portions of the bible. The society, deeming it desirable to found a missionary establishment, recommended Mr. Rand to proceed to the neighborhood of Hantsport, Nova Scotia, and judge of its eligibility for the purpose contemplated. It was selected, and thither, in November, 1853, Mr. Rand removed with his family. There he made his residence until his death, Oct. 4, 1889. Until 1865 he was connected with and received a salary from the society, but for over twenty years there has been no organized society, and Mr. Rand continued his missionary and linguistic labors without any regular assistance.

For a separate edition see the Addenda.

In the appendix to his Essay on a uniform orthography for the Indian languages, Mr. Pickering gives the following description of the manuscript of the dictionary:

"The volume consists of two parts, the first of which is a general Dictionary of the language in French and Indian. This part consists of 205 leaves (as they are numbered) about one quarter part of which have writing upon both sides, and the remainder, upon one side only. The pages are divided, though not with regularity throughout, into two columns; the first of French, and the second of Indian, containing each about twenty five lines. The second part of the volume consists of twenty five leaves, almost all written upon both sides, and has this Latin title—'Particulæ.' In this part the Indian words are placed first, and the author gives an account of the particles, making his explanations sometimes in French and sometimes in Latin.

"From a comparison which I have made of several words of the language now spoken by the Penobscot Indians (as we call them) who, at the present time, occupy a small territory on the river Penobscot, it appears to be, as we should naturally expect, exactly the same with that of Ride's Dictionary. A few years ago one page of this Dictionary, containing the Indian numerals, was published in our Massachusetts Historical Collections, vol. x, p. 137; but a very natural mistake, either of the printer or of the transcriber, runs through this extract, in constantly printing ai instead of au. This error probably arose from the uncommon use of the dieresis, which is here put over a consonant (N) instead of a vowel as is the practice in other languages. Ride seems to have used the dieresis thus in order to point out when the letters an were not to have the nasal sound which they had in the French language."

Mr. Pickering's "Supplementary notes and observations" in the dictionary contain extracts from Father Raales' letters, a description of the original manuscript, the alphabet used by the

"Father Raales, in one of his letters, dated at Nanrantouak (Norridgewock) the 12th of October, 1723, and published in the Lettres Édiifiantes, makes the following general remarks upon the Indian languages and his mode of studying them:

"On the 23d of July, 1689, I embarked at Rochelle; and after a tolerably good voyage of about three months, I arrived at Quebec the 13th of October of the same year. I at once applied myself to the study of the language of our savages. It is very difficult; for it is not sufficient to study the words and their meaning, and to acquire a stock of words and phrases, but we must acquaint ourselves with the turn and arrangement of them as used by the savages; which can only be attained by intercourse and familiarity with these people.

"I then took up my residence in a village of the Abnaki nation, situated in a forest which is only three leagues from Quebec. This village was inhabited by two hundred savages, who were almost all Christians. Their huts were in regular order, much like that of houses in towns; and an enclosure of high and close pickets formed a kind of bulwark which protected them from the incursions of their enemies. . . .

"It was among these people, who pass for the least rude of all our savages, that I went through my apprenticeship as a missionary. My principal occupation was to study their language. It is very difficult to learn, especially when we have only savages for our teachers.

"They have several letters which are sounded wholly from the throat without any motion of the lips; ou, for example, is one of the number, and in writing, we denote this by the figure 8, in order to distinguish it from other characters. I used to spend a part of a day in their huts to hear them talk. It was necessary to give the closest attention, in order to connect what they said and to conjecture their meaning. Sometimes I succeeded, but more frequently I made mistakes; because, not having been trained to the use of their gutturals, I only repeated parts of words, and thus furnished them with occasions of laughing at me. At length, after five months' constant application, I accomplished so much as to understand all their terms; but that was not enough to enable me to express myself so as to satisfy their taste.

"I still had a long progress to make, in order to master the turn and genius of their language, which are altogether different from the turn and genius of our European languages. In order to save time, and to qualify myself to exercise my office, I selected some of the savages, who had the most intelligence and the best style of speaking. I then expressed to them in my rude terms some of the articles in the catechism; and they rendered them for me with all the delicacy of expression of their idiom; these I committed to writing immediately, and thus in a short time I made a Dictionary, and also a Catechism containing the principles and mysteries of religion.'

"The Dictionary here mentioned was, without doubt, the identical manuscript which is now, for the first time, printed in the present volume. The author has left no other account of it; nor has he, either in the work itself or in his Letters given any other explanation of the character of his alphabet, than the short remark above quoted respecting the sound which he calls a guttur, and which he denotes in his Letter by ou, and the figure 8, but in his Dictionary by the character 8, borrowed from the Greeks.

"The ms. is a small quarto volume, in Father Rasles' own handwriting; and on the first leaf the author has made the following note, which is placed at the head of the present edition: '1691. Il y a un an que je suis parmi les sauvages, je commence à mettre en ordre en forme de dictionnaire les mots que j'apprens.' Immediately below this, on the same page is added, in an old handwriting, the following: 'Taken after the Fight at Norridgewock among Father Ralle's Papers, and given by the late Col. Heath to Elisha Cooke Esq.—Dictionary of the Norridgewock Language.' It is understood to have been presented by Mr. Cooke to the Library of Harvard University, to which valuable collection it now belongs.

"Some years ago I gave a bibliographical account of it, which was published in the Memoirs of the American Academy, as an Appendix to an Essay on a Uniform Orthography for the Indian Languages of North America; to which the reader is referred.

"This Dictionary is now printed from the original in Father Rasles' handwriting, and with as much exactness as was practicable. His abbreviations of words are retained, though, in all cases where an unpractised reader of French or Indian would be at a loss, they are explained by printing the abbreviated word or phrase at full length, in brackets, immediately after the abbreviation.

"Lest the numerous errors of orthography and accentuation in the French part of the work should be ascribed to the carelessness or ignorance of the Editor, it is proper to apprise the reader, that such of them as are properly errors, and not the authorized orthography of the age when Rasles compiled his work, have been suffered to remain, from a desire of scrupulously following the manuscript.

"It should be farther observed, that the leading words of each article, which are printed in capitals and between brackets, have been added by the Editor, in order to lessen, in some degree, the extreme inconvenience which would have been experienced in using the work without such aid. In all other instances, also, every addition by the Editor is printed in brackets.

"The manuscript was evidently begun upon the plan of first filling up the right hand page of the book, and reserving the opposite one for subsequent additions. Most of these blank pages were afterwards either partly or entirely filled with additional matter; many of them, however, still remain blank. This state of the MS. will explain to the reader the reason why the paging in the margin of the present edition is double, as (2, 3), &c. As the additional words on the left hand pages belonged to different places on the right hand pages and required to be inserted under their respective heads, it would have been impracticable, and contrary to the author's own plan, to have printed the pages consecutively; it was thought best to consider the corresponding right and left pages as constituting a single entire page, and to affix the double numbers as abovementioned. Those readers who may wish to consult the manuscript will now be able to do it with great convenience by means of this marginal paging.

"In general the ms. is fairly written, and perfectly legible; a few places, however, are quite illegible; and, where this is the case, there is of necessity an hiatus in the printed copy; of which the reader is apprized by a series of periods placed in this manner, . . . . . Where a word was not wholly illegible, but the reading doubtful, a note of interrogation is placed immediately after it, in brackets, thus [?]. Many passages which at first defied the keenest eye-sight were subsequently restored by the application of the tincture of nut-galls. The discovery of numerous obscure readings is due to the critical sagacity of my friend, Mr. Charles Folsom, A. A. S., whose indefatigable care also detected many errors which would otherwise have remained unobserved."

Sebastian Raale, French missionary, born in Dole, France, in 1658, died in Norridgewock, Me., 12 Aug., 1724. His name is often improperly spelled Raale, Rale, and Ralé. After completing his studies in Dijon, he became a Jesuit, and taught Greek for a time in the college of the society at Nîmes. At his request he was attached in 1689 to the missions of Canada, and sailing from La Rochelle, 23 July, he landed at Quebec on 13 Oct. After having charge of various missions (among the Illinois at Mississimakinak, etc.), he was placed in charge of the station of Norridgewock, on Kennebec River about 1695. Here he made a thorough study of the Abenaki language. In the winter of 1706, Capt. Hilton, with a party of 270 men, including forty-five New Englanders, surprised Norridgewock and burned the church, but Raale escaped to the woods with his papers. When peace was restored in 1713 he set about building a new church at Norridgewock. In January, 1723, a band of 300 men, under Col. Thomas Westbrook, succeeded in reaching the mission, burned the church, and pillaged Raale's cabin. There they found an iron box, which contained, besides his correspondence with the authorities of Quebec, a valuable dictionary of the Abenaki language in three volumes. In 1724 a party of 208 men from Fort Richmond surprised Norridgewock in the night, killed several Indians, and shot Raale, who was in the act of escaping, at the foot of the mission cross. His body was afterward mutilated by the incensed soldiery, and left without burial; but when the Abenakis returned a few days later, they buried his remains. In 1833 the citizens of Norridgewock raised a subscription, bought an acre of land on the spot where Raale fell, and erected there a monument to his memory.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

— See Indiane primer.

Grindal Rawson, the translator of the two books described above, was born in Boston, January 23, 1659, and died in Mendon, February 6, 1715. He was the youngest son of Mr. Edward Rawson (born 1615, died 1693), secretary of the colony of Massachusetts Bay from 1656 to 1666. In 1678 he was graduated at Harvard College. After studying theology for a while, he began to preach at Mendon in 1680. Four years later he was regularly ordained minister of the church in that town, where he remained until his death.

He began to study the Indian language about the year 1687, with the purpose of preaching in it to the Indians of his neighborhood. In 1689 he revised and prepared for the press Mr. Eliot's Indian translation of Cotton's Sincere Convert ("Sampwutteahae quinnuppekompansenin"); and in 1691 he published his own translation of Cotton's Spiritual Milk for Babies in Indian. In 1696 Mr. Rawson and Mr. Samuel Danforth were directed by the commissioners for the propagation of the gospel among the Indians in New England to prepare a report on the number and condition of the Indians in the province of Massachusetts Bay. Their visitation was begun on the 30th of May and completed on the 24th of June. The results were embodied in a narrative which was printed in the same year, at the end of Noyes's election sermon, New-Englands Duty and Interest, pp. 86-99, and reprinted in the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society, vol. 10.

About the same time, by order of the commissioners, Mr. Rawson commenced to translate the "Confession of Faith" of 1690 into the Indian language, "a work," he remarks, "never yet attempted by any." The version was completed in November, 1699, and was printed the same year. In the epistle dedication Rawson says: "How I have desired Trust you have committed to me, and unto the judgment of those who are versed in the language; all that I have to say for myself is, that I have endeavoured to meet of my ability to render the whole as comprehensively as I could, so that I doubt not but all amongst them though but of an ordinary Capacity, will readily understand the Translation."

At this period Mr. Rawson was receiving a salary of $51 a year for preaching to the Indians. Six other ministers were also in the pay of the commissioners for like services; but with the exception perhaps of Mr. Samuel Danforth of Taunton and Mr. Samuel Treat of Boston, they probably delivered their sermons through interpreters. "Mr. Grindal Rawson," the Earl of Bellemont writes, in a letter to the Lords of Trade dated Oct. 17, 1709, "is the only Minister in the list that speaks the Indian tongue and preaches in it."

After Mr. Rawson's death, Rev. Cotton Mather delivered a eulogy on his life and labors, which was printed in the tract entitled Just Commemorations, Boston, 1715. "We honoured him," he says, "for his doing the Work of an Evangelist among our Indians, of whose Language he was a Master that Indians as an Equal, and for whose Welfare, his Fugations and Performances, were such as render our loss therein hardly to be repaired." The same book contains some "memorials" of Mr. Rawson, furnished by his widow, from which the following extract is made:

"As for his Labours among the Indians, it was Twenty Seven Years since he undertook the Work. It was thought Two Years was Time little Enough to Learn their Language in. But applying himself to the Business, with Gods Blessing on his Extraordinary Pains, it was not above Nine Months before he Preach'd to the Indians, to their good Understanding. Within Two Years, they removed their Habitations, to be so near him, that for a whole Summer his Custome was, when he came from his own English Congregation on the Lords-day, about five a Clock, to take about half an Hour Repose, and then go to the Indians; and Pray with them, and Preach to them; so that he performed Three Exercises every Lords-day, while he had Strength to attend them."

Mr. Rawson's other publications consist of two election sermons, printed in 1703 and 1709. He had eleven children, one of whom, also named Grindal Rawson (born 1707, died 1777), was a minister in South Hadley from 1723 to 1741, and in Hadlyme, Connecticut, from 1741 to 1745.

the limits of our township, unto whom, these many years past, I have, from time to time, imparted the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ in their own language, and I truly hope not without success." Mr. James Freeman, in his history of Eastham (Mass. Hist. Coll., viii, 174), gives the following account of Mr. Treat's labors among the Indians: "He had made himself so perfectly acquainted with their barbarous dialect, that he was able to speak, and to write it with great facility. Once in a month he preached in the several villages. At other times the Indian teachers read to their congregations the sermons which he had written for them, they not being permitted to deliver compositions of their own. In addition to these weekly tasks, he was at the pains to translate the Confession of Faith into the Nauset language, for the edification of his converts. The book was printed, and many years ago was in the possession of one of his grand-daughters [Miss Eunice Paine]."

Ridout (Thomas). [Vocabulary of the Shawanese language.]

Manuscript, 8 ll. 12°, in possession of the grand-daughter of its author, Mrs. M. Edgar, Toronto, Canada, who kindly sent it to me for examination. The recto of the first leaf is blank; the vocabulary, with no apparent arrangement, and without introduction of any kind, begins on the verso of the 1st leaf and extends to the verso of the 6th leaf, and consists of about 225 words and phrases. On the recto of the 7th leaf at the top (verso blank) is the following note: "This little book of Shawanese words was written by me when I was a prisoner amongst that nation in the year 1788.—Th: Ridout." The recto of the 8th leaf is scribbled upon in English and Shawanese, and the verso is blank.

The following is an extract from Mrs. Edgar's letter transmitting the vocabulary:

"I have two vocabularies, one containing about 200 words, the other about 400, of which some are the same as in the smaller book. The story of the way in which the dictionary was written is contained in a manuscript narrative written by my grandfather, Thomas Ridout, and containing an account of his capture by the Shawanese Indians and his life among them during the spring and summer of 1788. I quote his own words:

"I had by this time acquired a tolerable knowledge of their language, and began to understand them, as well as to make myself intelligible.

"My mistress loved her dish of Tea, and with the tea paper I made a book stitched with the bark of a tree, and with yellow ink of hickory ashes mixed with a little water, and a pen made with a Turkey quill, I wrote down the Indian name of visible objects. In this manner I wrote two little books, which I carried in a pocket torn from my breeches and worn around my waist tied by a piece of Elm Bark."

"One of these little books I enclose to you by registered letter, hoping it may not be lost on the way.

"The other and larger vocabulary is written in my diary, which book was written by the Indians. I am now compling my grandfather's and father's letters, and thought of putting the narrative of his capture as an appendix to the book, meaning to include also the dictionary of Shawanese words. I am therefore sending you the book for your private perusal."

Mr. Ridout died at Toronto February 8, 1839, in the 75th year of his age.

Manuscript; title, 9 pp. of contents in German and English, text 268 pp. in the Unami dialect of the Lenape, 4°. A fragment, formerly in possession of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia. Title from Brinton's Lenapé and their legends, p. 72, whence I take the following remarks concerning the work and its author:

"Roth has left us a most important work, and one hitherto entirely unknown to bibliographers. He made an especial study of the Unami dialect of the Lenape, and composed in it an extensive religious work, of which only the fifth part remains." On pp. 80-83 of the work quoted, Dr. Brinton gives an extract from this manuscript consisting of Matthew xxii. 1-14, with English translation interlined; and from pp. 78-79 of the same work I extract
the following paragraph:

"Another competent Lenapist was the Rev.
Johannes Roth. He was born in Prussia in 1726 and educated a Catholic. Joining the Moravians in 1748, he emigrated to America in 1756, and in 1759 took charge of the missionary station called Schechschiquanuk, on the west bank of the Susquehanna, opposite and a little below Shesequin, in Bradford County, Pennsylvania. There he remained until 1772, when with his flock, fifty-three in number, he proceeded to the new Gnadenbüthen, in Ohio.
In 1774 he returned to Pennsylvania, and after occupying various pastorates, he died at York, July 22, 1791."

I presume this manuscript has been returned to the Moravian authorities at Bethlehem, from whom it was borrowed by the American Philosophical Society; at any rate I was unable to find it during a visit to the library of the [redacted] in March, 1889.

Schmick (Johannes Jac.) Miscellanea linguae nationis Indicae Mahikan dictae, cura suscepta à Joh. Jac. Schmick. (*)

Manuscript, 2 vols. sm. 8°, formerly in the library of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia, Pa., from the catalogue of which, p. 1005, I have taken the above title.

Dr. Brinton, in The Lenape and their legends, p. 22, foot-note, says: "Schmick was a Moravian missionary, born in 1714, died 1778. He acquired the Mohican dialect among the converts at Gnadenhütten. His work is without date, but may be placed at about 1765. It is grammatical rather than lexicographical, and offers numerous verbal forms and familiar phrases.

During a visit to the library of the American Philosophical Society in March, 1880, I was unable to find this manuscript. It has probably been returned to the Moravian authorities at Bethlehem, from whom it was borrowed.

This work is entirely made up from the stereotype plates of the same author's Oneota. No part of the text was reset. By cutting some of the plates and fitting them together, the several articles of each series were made continuous. The selection and arrangement, however, were very carelessly done. Some articles were cut off in the middle of a sentence, or divided and inserted in different places. In one of the linguistic articles (pp. 266-288), one entire page belonging before 288 was omitted, and two other pages (286 and 287) were transposed. None of these errors and omissions are corrected in the later editions of 1848, 1851, and 1853, described below.

Henry Rowe Schoolcraft, ethnologist, born in [Water-vliet] Albany county, N. Y., 28 March, 1793; died in Washington, D. C., 10 December, 1864. Was educated at Middlebury college, Vermont, and at Union, where he pursued the studies of chemistry and mineralogy. In 1817-'18 he traveled in Missouri and Arkansas, and returned with a large collection of geological and mineralogical specimens. In 1820 he was appointed geologist to Gen. Lewis Cass's exploring expedition to Lake Superior and the headwaters of Mississippi river. He was secretary of a commission to treat with the Indians at Chicago, and, after a journey through Illinois and along Wabash and Miami rivers, was in 1822 appointed Indian agent for the tribes of the lake region, establishing himself at Sault Sainte Marie, and afterward at Mackinaw, where, in 1823, he married Jane Johnston, granddaughter of Wabesjong, a noted Ojibway chief, who had received her education in Europe. In 1823 he founded the Michigan historical society, and in 1821 the Algic society. From 1823 till 1825 he was a member of the territorial legislature of Michigan. In 1823 he led a government expedition, which followed the Mississippi river up to its source in Itasca lake. In 1825 he negotiated a treaty with the Indians on the upper lakes for the cession to the United States of 16,000,000 acres of their lands. He was then appointed acting superintendent of Indian affairs, and in 1829 chief disbursing agent for the northern department. On his return from Europe in 1843 he made a tour through western Virginia, Ohio, and Canada. He was appointed by the New York legislature in 1845 a commissioner to take the census of the Indians in the state, and collect information concerning the Six Nations. After the performance of this task, congress authorized him, on 3 March, 1847, to obtain through the Indian bureau reports relating to all the Indian tribes of the country, and to collate and edit the information. In this work he spent the remaining years of his life. Through his influence many laws were enacted for the protection and benefit of the Indians. Numerous scientific societies in the United States and Europe elected him to membership, and the University of Geneva gave him the degree of LL.D. in 1846. He was the author of numerous poems, lectures, and reports on Indian subjects, besides thirty-one larger works. Two of his lectures before the Algic society at Detroit on the "Grammatical Construction of the Indian Languages" were translated into French by Peter S. Duponceau, and gained for their author a gold medal from the French institute.

To the five volumes of Indian researches compiled under the direction of the war department he added a sixth, containing the post-Columbian history of the Indians and of their relations with Europeans (Philadelphia, 1857). He had collected material for two additional volumes, but the government suddenly suspended the publication of the work.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

A copy bound in mottled calf was sold with the library of Royal Woodward, Esq., of Albany, at New York, December 8, 1884 (no. 1239), for $21, Mr. Charles L. Woodward being the purchaser. It now belongs to Mr. John B. Dunbar. In the Memorial History of Boston, vol. 1 (1880), Dr. Trumbull says: "I know of only two copies: one in the library of the Essex Institute, Salem, the other belonging to Hon. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn, N. Y." The copy here referred to as in Mr. Murphy's possession does not appear in the sale catalogue of that gentleman's library, which was sold by auction at New York, in March, 1884.

These two tracts in the Mohegan or Mohegunkunnuk language (15 and 23 pp.) were issued together, stitched in paper covers, without title or colophon. They were first identified as the work of Rev. John Sergeant by Dr. J. H. Trumbull, in volume 1 of the Memorial History of Boston, Boston, 1880. When Dr. Trumbull's essay on the "Origin and Early Progress of Indian Missions in New England" was read before the American Antiquarian Society at Worcester, in October, 1873, their existence appears to have been unknown.

In the sketch of Mr. Sergeant's life given below it is stated that he translated these prayers, etc., "by the Help of Interpreters." One of these assistants was probably John Quinney, or Quan-au-kaunt, whose translation of the Assembly's Shorter Catechism into the same language was printed in 1795. That publication also contains, on pp. 27-31, a revision in slightly different orthography of Mr. Sergeant's version of Dr. Watts's Shorter Catechism for Children, first printed with the above prayers. Although the Assembly's Shorter Catechism is not included in the list of Mr. Sergeant's translations, it is probable that this version of it was originally prepared under his supervision. For an account of it see Quinney (J.)

John Sergeant, whose grandfather was one of the first settlers of Newark, New Jersey, in 1666, was born in that town in 1710. A few years later his father died, and his mother was married again to a Col. John Cooper. By an accident the lad was deprived of the use of one of his hands, which rendered him unfit for manual labor. On this account his stepfather resolved to give him a liberal education. In September, 1725, John was sent to Yale College in New Haven, where he graduated in the degree of B. A.

later the degree of Master of Arts was also conferred upon him. In 1731 he was made a tutor in the college, which position he held for about four years.

At this time the Mubhekaneok or Mohican Indians, commonly called the River Indians, were the largest tribe of any near the English settlements in New England. They dwelt mostly along the eastern border of New York, partly in the northwest corner of Connecticut, and in the southwest part of Massachusetts, on Housatunnuk river.

In July, 1734, proposals were made to send a missionary to the Indians of the last-named place, under the direction of the Honorable Commissioners for Indian Affairs at Boston, and at the expense of the Society for the propagation of the gospel in foreign parts. Mr. Sergeant was also recommended as a fit person to undertake the work. The conditions having been arranged, he was appointed to go to them in the following September, at a salary of 100*l.* a year. In October and November, 1734, and again in May, 1735, he made two preliminary visits to Housatunnuk, and preached to the natives through an interpreter. Their number, great and small, was then about fifty. In July, 1735, on the termination of his official labors at the college, Mr. Sergeant determined "to spend the Rest of the Summer, and indeed of his Life, with the Indians." On the 31st of August, he was regularly ordained to the ministry, and his salary as missionary was raised to 150*l.* An assistant, Mr. Timothy Woodbridge, had already been engaged to aid him in the work of teaching and catechizing.

Mr. Sergeant now commenced his missionary labors at Housatunnuk in earnest, and before the close of the year had baptized nearly forty persons. He "soon became sensible," Mr. Hopkins relates, "that the Method he was at first oblig'd to use of instructing the Indians by an Interpreter, would not answer his End." He therefore entered upon "the new and difficult Study of their Tongue, and prosecuted it with utmost Application. He found it, upon Trial, extremely difficult to learn, being entirely different from any Language he was acquainted with; and often express'd his Fears, that he should never be able to make himself Master of it." Perseverance, however, soon brought its reward. By the middle of February, 1736, he was able to pray with the Indians in their own language. In March, 1736, when the Indians went on their annual trip into the woods to make maple sugar, Mr. Sergeant accompanied them and stayed in their camp six weeks. "I was treated very well," he writes, "while I was with them; and learn'd more of their Manners, and Language, than ever I had before." During this period he was "employ'd, in the Day Time, in teaching the Children to read; and in the Evening he taught the Indians to sing, in which they took great Delight. He pray'd with them Morning and Evening, in their own Language, and said Grace before, and after Meat, in the same. He also preach'd to them on the Sabbath by an Interpreter, and pray'd in their own Language; which he began to do on February 18th, and continu'd it ever after. As they being desirous, that Prayers might be made in their own Language, Mr. Sergeant (by the Assistance of Interpreters) had compil'd Prayers for such Occasions, in the Indian Language."

In April, 1736, "the General Court granted to the Indians a Township, six Miles square, above the Mountain; comprising in it Wabtukook, or the Great-Meadow." Here a new town was laid out, which was named Stockbridge, and to this place the Indians removed in May. At the suggestion of Mr. Sergeant, accommodation was made for several English families, partly that he "might have the Comfort of their Neighbourhood, and Society; but especially to civilize and enlighten the Indians, and to be a Help to them in their secular Affairs." The number of Indian inhabitants in June was upwards of ninety, of whom fifty-two had been baptized. Mr. Sergeant had hitherto lived in English families, below the mountain, but in January, 1737, he also moved up into the Indian town, and lived with Mr. Woodbridge. Under the date of August, 1737, it is related that as he "had, by the Help of Interpreters, before this, translated some Prayers into the Indian Language, for their daily use; so now he had translated Dr. Wast's first Catechism into the Indian Tongue, that the Children might understandingly read and learn it." About the same time he also translated the form for marriage into Indian.

On the 7th of August, 1737, according to Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Sergeant began to preach to the Indians in their own language, "by the Assistance of an Interpreter; who aided him in the Translation of his Sermons. And, in about two Years more, by constant Use, he obtain'd an exact Pronunciation of their Tongue, tho' very hard to gain: so that the Indians were wont to say, Our Minister speaks our Language better than we ourselves can do." In August, 1739, he was married. Ninety Indians attended the wedding, and conducted themselves with great gravity and propriety.

Besides attending to his own charge at Stockbridge, Mr. Sergeant visited the Indians in many other places, both in Connecticut and Massachusetts. In May and June, 1741, he undertook a missionary journey to the Shawnees on Susquehanna river, and also to the Delaware on Delaware river, in the province of Pennsylvania, the villages of the former being about 220 miles distant from Stockbridge. On the 6th of May, 1743, he wrote concerning the progress of the Indian boys in their studies, that one of them in particular had made extraordinary progress in his learning, and appear'd truly pious, and had been singularly serviceable to him, "assisting him in his Translations, Expositions and Application of the Scripture." In 1743 and 1744, Mr. David Brainerd, the young missionary, visited Stockbridge several times, for the purpose of studying the Indian language with Mr. Sergeant.

In a letter dated January 22, 1747, Mr. Sergeant wrote: "It is now a little more than eleven Years since I was first settled in this Part of the Country, with a Design to proselite the Indians to the Christian Faith. Having spent Part of the foregoing Year with them, in two Visits I made them, I found such Encouragement as induced me to devote myself to this Service: And have now, with a great deal of Pains, gain'd such an Acquaintance with their barbarous Language as to converse with them in it; and with a little Assistance, in my Study, from an Interpreter, to preach to them, and to read Prayers, which I have composed for the publick Worship, which they attend as constantly as People generally do in English Assemblies. Their Language is extremely hard to learn, and perhaps I shall never be a thoro' Master of it; there never having been any European that ever was, except one or two, and they learn'd it when they were Children. But the young People among them learn English well; most of them in this Place understand a great deal of it, and some speak it freely & correctly. There are many that can read English well, and some are able to write. When I came into these Parts first they were much dispersed, four or five Families in a Place, and often moving from Place to Place. They are now gathered together at this Place, and are much more fixed than they used to be. Instead of their Bark Huts, they own seventeen English Houses, fifteen of which they have built themselves at their own Cost, and some of them are comfortably furnished with Household Stuff. There were in this Place but eight or ten Families when I first came, we now reckon near Fifty besides old People & transient young Persons."

As Mr. Sergeant had a mixed auditory, "he was obliged," as Mr. Hopkins relates, "on each Part of every Lord's-Day, both to pray and preach in the English and Indian Language, that all might profit by his Ministry." "He was oblig'd to compose four Sermons every Week, two for the English, and two for the Indians; his Congregation consisting of both. Those he prepar'd for the Indians, he first wrote at large in English, and then translated them into the Indian Tongue, as he also did a Portion of Scripture to be read to the Indians on the Sabbath," and that he might "be very exact, he did, for a considerable Time, keep an Interpreter by him two Days in a Week, at his own Cost, to assist him in the Translation of his Sermons into the Indian Tongue."

"His Manner was to begin the publick Exercise in the Morning, with a short pathetic Prayer for a Blessing on the Word, in the Indian Language. Then he read a Psalm, with explanatory Notes: on such Passages as seem'd most to need them, in both. All his publick Prayers & the Communion Service were in both Languages; and it was his steady Practice to preach four Sermons every Lord's-Day, two to the English and two to the Indians; except in the short Days and cold Season of the Winter he preach'd but three, one to the English and two to the Indians. And besides all this, it was his constant Custom, in the Summer Season, to spend about an Hour with the Indians, after divine Service was over in the Afternoon; instructing, exhorting, warning and cautioning of them in a free, familiar and pathetic Manner, in their own Tongue. The Indian Language abounding in Gutturals renders the Pronunciation of it a most laborious Exercise to the Lungs: that therefore, with his other Exercises, so exhausted Mr. Sergeant's Spirits and Strength, that he was scarcely able to speak when they were over."

"The Translation, which, with much Care and Exactness, Mr. Sergeant made in his Course of Reading the Scriptures to the Indians, singly consider'd, cost him a vast Deal of Labour: for, endeavouring to lead them into the Knowledge of the Way of Salvation by Christ, to which they were utter Strangers, He, in his Course of reading the Scriptures to them, translated those Parts of the old Testament, which appear'd most needful for that End, viz. The Account of the Creation, of the Fall of our first Parents, of God's calling Abraham, of his Dealings with the Patriarchs and the Children of Israel, of the Prophecies concerning the Coming of Christ, &c. the four Evangelists, the Acts of the Apostles and all the Epistles, he also translated. A Performance which must of Necessity cost him much Time and Pains."

Besides the Indian Prayers described above, Mr. Sergeant was the author of a sermon preached at Springfield before the associated ministers of the county of Hampshire, and of a letter containing a "Proposal of a more effectual Method for the Education of Indian Children," both of which were printed at Boston in 1743. In the latter part of June, 1749, he was taken ill with "a Nervous Fever, attended with a Canker and an Inflammation in his Throat," which terminated fatally. He died on the 27th of July, at the age of thirty-nine years. At that time the number of Indians in Stockbridge had increased to two hundred and eighteen, one hundred and eighty-two persons had been baptized, and the church contained forty-two native communicants. The school under Mr. Woodbridge's care had belonging to it fifty-five Indian scholars. Mr. Sergeant left three children, Eleota (born 1740, died 1798), Erastus (born 1742, died 1814), and John (born 1747, died 1824). His widow died in 1791, aged sixty-nine.

John Sergeant, son of the missionary of the same name, was born at Stockbridge, Mass., in 1747, and died near New Stockbridge, N. Y., Sept. 8, 1824, aged seventy-seven years. When he was about two years of age his father died, and in 1752 his mother was married again, to Gen. Joseph Dwight, who died in 1785. The first ten or dozen years of his life were spent in Stockbridge among the Indians, from whom he acquired that knowledge of the Mohogan or Moheakunnuk language which was so useful to him in later years. He attended school for a while at Newark, N. J., and then returned to his native town, where he studied theology under Rev. Mr. West, minister of the church there. In 1775, although without college honors, he was judged to be fully qualified to preach the gospel.

After the death of the elder Mr. Sergeant, in July, 1749, the Stockbridge Indians were without a minister for two years. In August, 1751, Rev. Jonathan Edwards was installed as pastor. He did not attempt to learn the Indian language, believing it better for the Indians to learn English. His sermons to them were therefore delivered through an interpreter. In January, 1758, he left Stockbridge to accept the presidency of the College of New Jersey at Princeton, but in the following March he died. For about a year Rev. Mr. Stoddard ministered to the church, and in 1759 Rev. Stephen West became its pastor. In 1775 Mr. West resigned the care of the Indian portion of his congregation to young Mr. Sergeant, whose knowledge of the language peculiarly fitted him for that work. From that time Mr. Sergeant received the salary of the missionary, and Mr. West was supported by the whites as pastor only.

Sergeant (J.), the younger — Contd.

For the next ten years Mr. Sergeant ministered to the Indian congregation, and taught in the Indian school, which had been kept separate from the school for white children since 1768. In 1785 the Stockbridge Indians removed from Massachusetts to land given to them by the Oneidas in New York state, where they built the village of New Stockbridge. Mr. Sergeant did not accompany them, but remained behind. In the following year, however, he visited the new town with the intention of staying there to preach, and leaving his family in Massachusetts. With a view to his mission among them, he was duly ordained as an evangelist in 1788, at a salary of four hundred dollars a year. In the meantime the Rev. Simon Oocom, a Mohegan Indian, had visited the people of New Stockbridge, and made known his desire to be their minister. This resulted in a division, and the formation of two Indian churches, one party, with the Brotherton Indians, choosing Mr. Oocom for their pastor, and the other party remaining under Mr. Sergeant's care. Mr. Oocom died in 1798, and then the two churches were united.

Mr. Sergeant's ministry at New Stockbridge lasted nearly thirty-eight years. A few years after he first commenced his work there he built a frame house and removed his family to it. The farm on which the mission house stood, about fifty acres, was set off for his use by the Indians. The church was built by the Missionary Society, and would accommodate five hundred persons. The mission was supported, in part, by the Scotch Society for the propagation of the gospel, in part by the Corporation of Harvard College, and in part by the American Society for propagating the gospel among the Indians and others in North America. For a while Mr. Sergeant employed white men to teach, for the benefit of his own children; but, with this exception, the Indians taught and sustained their own schools. Some of the Indian girls, however, were afterwards educated at Clinton, and some of the boys at the Cornwall school in Connecticut.

In 1795 there was printed at Stockbridge an edition of the Assembly's Shorter Catechism in the Mohegan language, with Dr. Watts's Shorter catechism for children at the end. It was published without doubt under the direction of Mr. Sergeant and was intended for the use of the Indians under his care. For an account of the book see Quinney (J.).

During the residence of the Stockbridge Indians in the State of New York, Mr. Sergeant prepared for their use a code of laws. Two of his daughters were also active in the mission work, and one of them started an Indian temperance society. The neighboring Oneidas and Tuscaroras also attended the New Stockbridge church, and were addressed by Mr. Sergeant through their interpreter, Capt. Nicholas Cusick, father of David Cusick, the Indian historian. In 1822 Dr. Morse wrote of the Stockbridge Indians (Report, appendix, p. 86), as follows: "Mr. Sergeant preaches to them regularly on the Sabbath, usually in their own, the Moheakunuck language. Most of them understand English; numbers can read and write it, and several are able to instruct others. They are more advanced in the knowledge of our language, and in civilization, than any Indians in our country; and many of them are capable of rendering essential service in accomplishing the plan of the government in respect to other tribes."

In 1818, so great had become the evil of vicinity to the whites, that preparations were made for a general removal. Before the end of the year a company of seventy or eighty persons, including about one-third of the New Stockbridge church, emigrated to Indiana. Another large party removed to the Fox river, near Green Bay, Wisconsin, in 1822. A new edition of the Assembly's shorter catechism, in the "Moheakunuck or Stockbridge Indian language," was printed about this time, probably before the second removal in 1822. Mr. Sergeant wished to have his people supplied with useful books before their departure, and endeavored to procure a quantity of Elliot's Indian bibles for them to distribute. He himself was not able to go with them, on account of failing health, but his son accompanied them to their final destination, and saw them settled in their new homes.

[Shawanoes baptist mission press. 1835-1839.] (*)

Printed by Jotham Meeker until 1837, and by Mr. J. G. Pratt from 1837 to 1839, when it was discontinued on account of the illness of the printer and his family. The following account is given of it in McCoy's History of Baptist Indian Missions:

"March 1st, 1835, the first number of a semi-monthly newspaper, printed at the Shawanoes mission house, in the Shawanoes language, was issued. This was the first newspaper ever published exclusively in an Indian language. It was entitled Shau-wau-nowe Keesauthwau, (Shawanoes Sun.) It was small, only a quarter sheet, was written upon the new system, and edited by Mr. Lykins. The disadvantages under which it was prepared for the press were great, and the labour considerable; which accounts for its diminutive size.

"Many of the Shawanoes had, by this time, become readers of their own language, and in this periodical they soon took a deep interest, and sometimes contributed matter for it from their own pens. These writers were adults, who lately had been wholly ignorant of letters in any language, and who had recently learned to read and write their own. This they had done without regular attendance or instruction, which, in their circumstances, could only be imparted by occasional visits. The facility with which they acquired a knowledge of reading, and some of them of writing, was alone attributable to the simplicity of the new system."

In another part of the same book, under the year 1839, Mr. McCoy adds: "There was issued, until late difficulties occasioned a small monthly paper, of only edited by Mr. Lykins, entitled Keesauthwau — Shawanoes Sun

A small card, 3 by 5 inches in size, headed as above, and containing twelve "Promises of Our Lord to Blessed Margaret Mary," in the Ottawa language, on the verso of which is a colored picture of the sacred heart with inscriptions below in English. Mr. Kemper has published the same promises on similar cards in many languages.

I have seen the same card minus the first line of the above title, also. (Eames, Pilling.)

Silvy (Père Antonio). [Dictionary of the Montagnais language. 1678-1688? (*)

Manuscript, 164 ll. 12°, of the 17th century.
Alphabetically arranged; irregularly paged, some leaves numbered, others not. The handwriting is extremely fine and small, but fairly legible. The margins are covered with signs and points, such as crosses, bars, angles, etc., but there is no key to these to determine their meaning. Bound in caribou leather.

In 1885 I was furnished by the Abbé Sam-ville of St. Foy, Quebec, with a minutely detailed description of the above manuscript and of one by Père Alloues (q. v.), both belonging to Surgeon-Major Nelson, of Kingston, Canada.
Since then these descriptions have been published (see Samville (J.) and Shea (J. G.), and from that publication I have condensed the above, and made the following extracts:

"This manuscript is of particular interest to those philologists who devote themselves to the study of the primitive languages spoken by the savages of North America.

"It belonged formerly to the library of the Jesuits in their ancient college at Quebec.

When in 1800 the British government took possession of their property after the death of the last survivor of the Jesuit order in Canada, Father Cazot, their library was sold at auction, and the Honorable John Neilson became the possessor of a number of volumes, among which was found, by a happy accident, the manuscript [by Allouez] which we have analyzed in the preceding pages and the Montagnais dictionary, not less precious, the description of which is found on the opposite page.

"There is no date or hint as to the date when the manuscript was composed. But in following the career of Father Silvy, it may be assumed that this work was done during his stay in the Montagnais missions of Tadoussac and Hudson Bay, since this dictionary reproduces the language of his neophytes.

"The date of the manuscript may therefore with some reason be placed between the years 1678 and 1688."

[—] Instructions Montagnaises.

Manuscript, ll. 1-11, and 43 unnumbered ll. sm. 4<sup>o</sup>, in the library of the archbishopric of Quebec. The title above is on the recto of the first leaf, verso blank, the text beginning on the recto of l. 2. The headings are as follows: De fine nominis, 11 pp. followed by a French translation, 9 pp.—Then follows, De Deo uno, 6 pp.—De Deo ut trino, 8 pp.—De creatione rerum, 7 pp.—De creatione angelorum, 8 pp.—De custodiendis angelis, 4 pp.—De creatione nominis, 4 pp.—De creatione mulieris, 4 pp.—De peccato primo parentum, 4 pp.—De penis a Deo primis parentibus inflictis, 5 pp.—In these discourses the Montagnais and French renderings are in double columns on the same page. The following are in Montagnais only: De promissione redemptoris in ipso paradiso facta, 9 pp.—De peccati originalis omnium peccatorum fontis prima prole; invidia ex qua fratricidium ac homicidium ortum est, 5 pp.—De diluvio universal, 5 pp.—De divisione linguarum, 4 pp.

Father Antonio Silvy, a Jesuit missionary, arrived at Quebec June 7, 1671, and returned to France in 1707. He labored in the regions of the West for 7 or 8 years; afterward at Tadoussac and on Hudson Bay, for about 10 years. He resided for some years at Montreal and Quebec, prior to his departure for France.

Manuscript, 32 unnumbered ll. 4<sup>o</sup>, in the possession of the compiler of this bibliography. Pasteboard covers. The recto of the first leaf has the heading "Indian Catechism"; the verso has had a more detailed heading, followed by the Alphabet, but the leaf has been partly torn off and but little of the heading is left. The date, 1832, is preserved. The verso of the second leaf has the numerals 1-13.—Catechism (English interlinear), ll. 4-12.—Hymns (English accompanying), ll. 13-32.

This manuscript was received from Wm. H. R. Lykins, Kansas City, Mo., in June, 1889, who stated that he found it among papers of his father, Johnston Lykins, and that it is in the handwriting of Mr. Simerwell.

Manuscript, 14 leaves, 16<sup>o</sup>. In possession of Mr. John B. Dunbar, Bloomfield, N. J. Towards the end are three pages and a half of conversation in Potawatomi, with interlinear English translation. Apparently written in Michigan before 1834, except five pages which are in the Meekerian orthography. The name of Mr. Cass, who resigned the governorship of Michigan in 1831, is mentioned in one of the dialogues.

Copied from: Boston Athenæum.

Robert Simerwell was born in Ireland, May 1, 1786. At the age of nine he was sent to school, which he attended regularly for two years, and afterwards occasionally until he was fifteen. In the spring of 1803, his parents embarked for America with their family, which consisted of five boys and one girl, and in May they arrived at Philadelphia. Soon after landing, sickness came into the family, and in three months Robert was a homeless orphan. He found employment soon after as an apprentice to the blacksmith trade. At the age of twenty-two years he united with the Baptist church, and in the summer of 1824 he joined the Baptist mission among the Putawatomi Indians, at Carey station, in Michigan territory. He was persuaded to devote himself to this work by Rev. Isaac McCoy, who had established the mission there in 1822. On the 17th of March, 1825, he was married to Miss F. Goodridge. During the next five years he and his wife resided at Carey station, where they assisted Mr. and Mrs. McCoy in teaching and taking care of the Putawatomi children. In these labors they had the help of Mr. Johnston Lykins and Mr. Jotham Meeker, the latter of whom had been induced by Mr. Simerwell to join the mission. Through the influence of Mr. McCoy, Mr. Simerwell received the appointment of government blacksmith to the Indians, at a salary of 265 dollars a year, - all of which he, like those of the other missionaries who received salaries from the Government, threw into the common missionary account, as money belonging to the board, and to be accounted for by a report."

In 1830 it was decided to discontinue the Baptist mission in Michigan, and to remove to the new Indian territory with as many of the Indians as would accompany them. In the following year Mr. McCoy and Mr. Lykins started for the west to select a site for the new mission. Mr. and Mrs. Simerwell remained behind to look after the Putawatomi. The school at Carey having been discontinued, with the exception of seven or eight Indian children whom the missionaries kept with them, "Mr. Simerwell employed his time in the study of the Putawatomi language," of which he soon became a master. In the latter part of 1832 he and his wife started from Michigan, and on the 13th of November they arrived at the Shawano mission house, in what is now Johnson county, Kansas, where Mr. Lykins and the other missionaries had preceded them.

In 1834, the emigrant Putawatomi who had reached the Missouri river and were waiting for the selection of a reservation numbered between four and five hundred individuals. This company was being continually increased by the arrival of others from Michigan and Indiana. While Mr. Simerwell kept his family at the Shawano station and in the vicinity, he frequently visited these Putawatomi, whose encampment was about forty miles distant. He usually remained among them several days at a time, "for the purpose of imparting religious instruction, and of teaching a few to read in their own language." For their use "he compiled, and had printed," Mr. McCoy relates "a small book in Putawatomi." This was probably the primer of thirty-two pages described above. The new printing press had only recently been set up at the mission, under the care of Mr. Jotham Meeker. Among the first things printed on it (March, 1834), were 500 copies of the alphabet for several tribes, in the new system of orthography. One of these alphabets was probably in the Putawatomi language, prepared by Mr. Simerwell. In 1835, with the help of his Putawatomi interpreter, Noaquett, whose English name was Luther Rice, he compiled another book in the same language, containing a catechism and some hymns. Two other books in Putawatomi, the titles of which have not been ascertained, were printed before 1840, according to Mr. McCoy. These were all printed according to the new system, an account of which, with a specimen of Mr. Simerwell's alphabet, is given under Meeker (J.)

In 1836 application was made to the department of Indian affairs at Washington for the requisite authority for Mr. Simerwell to prosecute his missionary labors among the Putawatomies. In February of the following year a treaty was made by the government with the delegations of the Indians living in Michigan and on the Missouri river, in which it was stipulated that a country on the Osage river, within the Indian territory, should be conveyed to them. "This measure," Mr. McCoy remarks, "we rightly judged, would place that tribe in a suitable place, where Mr. Simerwell might make a permanent location among them, and render himself more useful than he had been for a few years previously." Many difficulties, however, were met with in the attempt to carry out this plan. About one thousand Putawatomes, including women and children, had been encamped near Fort Leavenworth for nearly a year. At length, in the latter part of July, 1837, they became divided. Many were taken to a place up the Missouri river, against the advice and wishes of the missionaries; while the others who remained were brought together and assigned to a reservation in the new territory, near the present town of Osawatomie, Kansas.

It was among the latter that Mr. and Mrs. Simerwell settled in December, 1837. "This was an event," Mr. McCoy writes, "to which we had long looked with deep solicitude. We considered this station to be a continuation of the Carey mission, transplanted from Michigan to this place." The greater part of the Putawatomes were still in their original homes in Indiana, Michigan, and Illinois. Efforts were made to induce them to emigrate also, but without much success. Mr. Simerwell was located among those who were considered permanently settled within the Indian territory. The missionaries were very desirous that as many as possible of this tribe, among whom they had commenced their labors nearly twenty years before, should be brought within reach of the institution continued for their benefit.

"In January, 1838," as Mr. McCoy relates, "Mr. Simerwell's prospects among the Putawatomes appeared to be brightening, and many, chiefly adults, appeared willing to learn to read in their own language; but he was alone, and having the affairs of his family to attend—and this, too, under the disadvantages consequent on a new settlement—he was allowed too little time to bestow on missionary labours. He had an opportunity of hiring a half-Indian, to aid him in teaching upon the new system, but he was without the means." In this emergency Mr. McCoy advanced him funds to enable him to hire the man a month or two, in which time the case could be made known to the board and an answer obtained but the board did not authorize his employment, and so that matter ended.

The reservation of the Putawatomes adjoined that of the Weas and Piankashas. An account of their condition, and of the mission among them, at the close of the year 1839, is given by Mr. McCoy in the following words:

"Only about 650 have yet emigrated to this place. They have but recently arrived, and have not had time to make themselves as comfortable as the Ottawas, and others of their neighbours. . . . Assistance to a considerable extent, in the common improvements of civilization and education, has been secured to them by treaty, from the Government of the United States. The Methodists have a mission among them, on a small scale, and the Catholics have a mission in which two priests are employed.

"The Baptist station, transplanted from Michigan, is going into operation here, under auspicious circumstances. A small school in English is taught a portion of the time, and some instruction is imparted in the Indian language. The missionaries from the nearest stations assist Mr. Simerwell, and attention to religious instruction is very encouraging. A temperance society has been formed, the Indian members of which have increased to about sixty, a few of whom are Ottawas. Permanent and comfortable mission buildings are now going up, under the superintendence of Mr. Lykina. Missionary associates are very much needed by Mr. and Mrs. Simerwell in their arduous labours. They have suffered considerably by sickness."

About the year 1840 a Baptist church was established among the Putawatomes under Mr. Simerwell's care. The record book of this church, from March 29, 1840, to January 12, 1844, is now preserved in the library of the Kansas Historical Society at Topeka. In 1848 a log mission building was erected in what is now Shawnee county, and Mr. Simerwell opened a school there. He was also engaged during this period in teaching and preaching occasionally among the neighboring Miami Indians. A few years later, in 1854, the Putawatomie mission was interrupted, and eventually discontinued, on account of the civil war in the state. After that date Mr. Simerwell was employed by the Baptist missionary society as a colporteur and in other missionary work. He died at his residence on Six-mile Creek, Shawnee county, Kansas, December 11, 1868.

His papers, manuscripts and books were presented to the Kansas Historical Society. Of these, a partial vocabulary in manuscript of the Putawatomie language, and a hymn in the same, were given by Mr. Baxter in 1878. In 1879, Mrs. Sarah Baxter and Mrs. Elizabeth Carter, of Auburn, Shawnee county, presented the following: "547 letters, reports and other papers, being copies of letters written by, or of letters written to Mr. Simerwell, of dates extending from the year 1822 to the year 1866; 5 manuscripts embracing discourses, translations and fragments of Indian grammar; rules for regulation of Carey Indian Mission family, 1822; parchment certificate of naturalization of Robert Simerwell, Philadelphia, 1824; 7 books of journals, being Mr. Simerwell's diary from April 9, 1824, to December 10, 1837; 5 books of accounts from 1829 to 1856; book of mathematical examples; do. traveling expenses; list of letters received and sent, from 1824 to 1833; and church, book of branch of Pottawatomie Baptist church, from March 29, 1840, to January 12, 1844; 3 books of minutes of proceedings of the same church."

The preceding sketch is compiled mainly from Rev. Isaac McCoy's History of Baptist Indian Missions, Washington, 1840. Some additional particulars concerning the earlier and later periods of his life have been furnished by Mr. Robert Simerwell Baxter, a grandson of Mr. Simerwell.

Noaquett, who was also named Luther Rice, after a prominent officer of the Baptist board of missions, was one of the Putawatomie Indian boys who were taken into Rev. Isaac McCoy's family and school soon after the establishment of the Baptist mission at Carey station, Michigan territory, in 1822. In 1824, when "about fifteen years of age," he had already acquired considerable knowledge of English. The report of Commissioner John L. Leib to Governor Cass, made in November, 1824, contains the following account of him: "Noaquett, or Luther Rice, and Anthony Rollo, have made such proficiency in the English language as to enable them to interpret between the missionaries and the Indians; and even religious discourses have been explained to their red brethren, in a manner highly creditable to the boys, and satisfactory to the missionaries. Luther Rice, who is not yet fifteen years of age, when he first entered this institution, was wild from the woods, acquainted with no language but his native Indian. He is a very promising lad, making rapid improvements in reading, writing, and arithmetic, and exhibiting an inquisitive mind, and a strong desire for the acquisition of knowledge." In 1826 he was sent with half a dozen other Indian lads to complete his education in one of the eastern schools, probably at the Baptist Theological Institute, Hamilton, N. Y., under the care of Rev. D. Hascall. On or after the removal of the Putawatomie mission from Michigan to the Indian territory in 1833, Noaquett rejoined Mr. Simerwell and his people. His name appears as joint translator with Mr. Simerwell on the title-page of the Putawatomie hymn book and catechism printed in 1835. A few years later, Mr. McCoy mentions, with words of approbation, a speech "delivered by Luther Rice, alias Noaquett, a full-blooded Indian," at a temperance meeting among the Putawatomies, on July 4th, 1839.

Sinclair (John). [Translations into the Cree language.] (*)

In a biography of the Rev. Henry Steinhauer, published in the Missionary Outlook for January, 1881, it is stated that "Mr. Sinclair translated the Old Testament as far as the end of Job; also the Gospels and Acts; while Mr. Steinhauer translated from the beginning of the Psalms to the end of the Old Testament and from the beginning of Romans to the end of the New."

In the Canadian Methodist Magazine for May, 1885, the Rev. John McLean says: "He [Steinhauer] and John Sinclair, a half-breed, translated the Bible into Cree. Sinclair translated the Old Testament to the end of Job, and the New Testament to the end of the Acts of the Apostles. Mr. Steinhauer translated the remaining parts of the Old and New Testament. I have in my library a manuscript copy of Genesis written in the Cree syllabic characters by John Sinclair. It is a beautiful specimen of penmanship."

Peter John De Smet, missionary, born in Ter-monde, Belgium, December 31, 1801; died in St.
Louis, Mo., in May, 1872. He studied in the Episcopal Seminary of Mechlin, and while there he felt called to devote himself to the conversion of the Indians. When Bishop Nerinx visited Belgium in search of missionaries, De Smet, with five other students, volunteered to accompany him, and sail from Amsterdam in 1821.
After a short stay in Philadelphia, De Smet entered the Jesuit novitiate at Whitmarsh, Md.
Here he took the Jesuit habit. In 1828 he went to St. Louis and took part in establishing the University of St. Louis, in which he was afterwards professor. In 1838 he was sent to establish a mission among the Pottawattamies on Sugar Creek. He built a chapel, erected a school, which was soon crowded with pupils, and in a short time converted most of the tribe. In 1840 he begged the bishop of St. Louis to permit him to labor among the Flatheads of the Rocky Mountains, and set out on April 30, 1840. He arrived on July 14 in the camp of Peter Valley, where about 1,600 Indians had assembled to meet him. With the aid of an interpreter he translated the Lord's prayer, the Creed, and the Commandments into their language, and in a fortnight all the Flatheads knew these prayers

and commandments, which were afterward explained to them. In the spring of 1841 he set out again, and after passing through several tribes, crossed the Platte and met at Fort Hall a body of Flatheads, who had come 800 miles to escort the missionaries. On September 24 the party reached Bitterroot River, where it was decided to form a permanent settlement.
The lay brothers built a church and residence, while De Smet went to Colville to obtain provisions. On his return . . . he remained in the village familiarizing himself with the language, into which he translated the catechism. He then resolved to visit Fort Vancouver; . . . on his return to St. Mary's he resolved to cross the wilderness again to St.
Louis. There he laid the condition of his mission before his superiors, who directed him to go to Europe and appeal for aid to the people of Belgium and France. He sailed from Antwerp in December, 1843, with five Jesuits and six sisters, and reached Fort Vancouver in August, 1844. In 1845 he began a series of missions among the Zingomenees, Sinpoils, Okenaganees, Flatbows, and Koetenays, which extended to the watershed of the Saatchewan and Columbia, the camps of the wondering Assiniboins and Creeks, and the stations of Fort St. Anne and Bourassa. He visited Europe several times in search of aid for his missions. During his last visit to Europe he met with a severe accident, in which several of his ribs were broken, and on his return to St. Louis he wasted slowly away.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Of the five copies of this edition in the Lenox Library, one is on large paper, in the original binding of dark blue morocco, gilt edges, with the arms of the Duchess of Richmond and Lenox, to whom the work is dedicated, stamped on one side, and the arms of King James I on the other. It was purchased at the Brinley sale in New York, in 1878, for $1,800. Another copy, also in the original binding, has John Smith's initials "J. S." stamped on both covers, and contains the slip of errata pasted at the bottom of the last page. A third copy is very tall, and is uncut. A fourth copy has inserted four portraits of Smith in different states, and a portrait of the Duchess of Richmond. A fifth copy contains the autograph of Thomas Penn, and was used in the suit of Penn against Baltimore. The portraits of the Duchess of Richmond and Lenox and of Matoaka or Pocahontas, which are usually found in the later editions, do not belong to the first edition as originally issued.

I have seen mention of but one copy of this edition—that in the library of Mr. Alfred H. Huth, London, England. Thinking there was possibly a mistake in the date, I wrote Mr. Huth concerning it, sending him photographic fac-similes of the title-pages of the editions of 1624, 1626, 1627, and 1632 for comparison, and asking that he note the differences not only in the titles but in the books themselves. He responds as follows:

I regret that the only other edition of John Smith's History of Virginia besides that of 1631 that I have in my library is the edition of 1624. Apparently there is no difference in the text between these two editions; indeed I am pretty well convinced that it is the same edition with a new title-page. The ornaments, catch-words, broken type, &c. all correspond; and therefore it is highly probable that all the editions up to that of 1631 at least, are the 1624 edition merely with new titles and altered maps.

In the title the 1631 edition differs from that of 1627 only in the date. The Map of Virginia has "1695" in the r. t. corner. The Map of the Summer Isles has in addition "Peniston's Redoute," and "Printed by James Reeve." The Map of New England has in place of "Charles Prince," "Charles now King"; and in place of "Printed by Geor. Low," has "Printed by James Reeve;" there are also more islands at the mouth of the river Charles.

[Squier (Ephraim George).] Historical and mythological traditions of the Algonquins; with a translation of the "Walum-Olum," or bark record of the Linni-Lenape.

In the American Review, new series, vol. 3, pp. 273-293, New York, 1849, 8°. (Astor, Congress, Eames.)

The paper was read before the New York Historical Society in June, 1848.

Song 1. The creation (in the Delaware language, with interlinear English translation), pp. 277-280.—Song 2. The deluge (in Delaware, with interlinear translation), pp. 282-283.—Songs 3-6, pp. 285-290, contain a number of Delaware words with English significations. Songs 1 and 2 are accompanied by the hieroglyphic symbols.

Issued separately also; pp. 1-23, 8°. (Astor.)

"Among the various original manuscripts which, in the course of these investigations, fell into my possession, I have received through the hands of the executors of the lamented Nicollet, a series by the late Prof. C. S. Rafinesque. . . . Among these mss. was one entitled the 'Walum Olum' (literally 'painted sticks')—or painted and engraved traditions of the Linni-Lenape,—comprising five divisions, the first two embodying the traditions referring to the creation and a general flood, and the rest comprising a record of various migrations, with a list of ninety-seven chiefs, in the order of their succession, coming down to the period of the discovery. This ms. also embraces one hundred and eighty-four compound mnemonic symbols, each accompanied by a sentence or verse in the original language, of which a literal translation is given in English. The only explanation which we have concerning it is contained in a foot-note, in the hand of Rafinesque, in which he states that the ms. and wooden originals were obtained in Indiana in 1832, and that they were for a long time inexplicable."—Squier.

Steinhauer (Rev. Henry). [Translations in the Cree language.] (*)

In a biography of Mr. Steinhauer published in the Missionary Outlook for January, 1881, it is stated that "Mr. Steinhauer translated from the beginning of the Psalms to the end of the old testament and from the beginning of Romans to the end of the new [into the Cree language]."

In the Canadian Methodist Magazine for Nov. John McLean says: "He [John Sinclair, a half-breed, translated the bible into Cree. Sinclair translated the old testament to the end of Job and the new testament to the end of the acts of the apostles. Mr. Steinhauer translated the remaining parts of the old and new testament. I have in my library a manuscript copy of Genesis written in the Cree syllabic characters by John Sinclair. It is a beautiful specimen of penmanship."

See Mason (W.) for a fuller discussion on the translation of the bible into the Cree language.

The Rev. H. B. Steinhauer, an Ojebway Indian, was born near Rama about 1820. In 1828 a great awakening took place among the Indians, and in the same year 133 were baptized at Holland Landing, among whom was the subject of this sketch, who received the name of Henry Steinhauer.

After remaining a year or two at school at Grape Island, young Steinhauer was sent to Cazenovia Seminary, where he remained three years, making commendable progress in his studies. He then returned to Canada and taught school for two years at the Credit Mission. In 1835 he went to the Upper Canada Academy, which he left the following year to teach school at the Alderville Mission. In the spring of 1840 he left Alderville to accompany the Rev. James Evans to the north-west, but was left by the devoted missionary at Lac la Pluie, as interpreter to the Rev. W. Mason, who had been sent to that point by the English Society. Bro. Steinhauer continued in this capacity for several years, and then, by Mr. Evans' instructions, he went on to Norway House, where he served as teacher and interpreter till the year 1850. He was next sent to Oxford House to begin a mission, where he spent four years. During 1854 he went to York Factory, from which point he sailed in a company's ship to England, reaching that country in October. Leaving again in December, he reached Canada before Christmas. At the London conference of 1855 Bro. Steinhauer was ordained and sent to Lac la Biche, where he remained till June, 1857, when he went to Whitefish Lake. After twenty-three years of continuous service Bro. Steinhauer, by consent of the Missionary Committee, is now spending the season in Ontario.—Missionary Outlook for Jan., 1881.

From the Rev. Egerton Ryerson Young's By Canoe and Dog-Train among the Cree and Saulteaux Indians, New York and Cincinnati, 1890, pp. 21-23, I take the following additional notes:

"One of the most devoted and successful of our native Indian missionaries was the Rev. Henry Steinhauer. When a poor little pagan child, wretched and neglected, he was picked up by the Rev. William Case, who patiently cared for the lad, and not only taught him the simple truths of Christianity, but also laid the foundation of an English education, which afterwards became so extensive that many a white man might honestly have envied him."

As the boy was observed to be the possessor of a very musical voice, Mr. Case selected him to be one of a little company of native children with whom he traveled extensively through various parts of the northern States, where, before large audiences, they sang their sweet Indian hymns and gave addresses, and thus showed to the people what could be done by the Indians, who, by too many, were only considered as unmitigated evils, as quickly as possible to be legislated out of existence. In one of the cities visited by Mr. Case and his Indian boys, a gentleman named Henry Steinhauer became so interested in one of the bright, clever little Indian lads that he made an offer to Mr. Case that if the little fellow, who was as yet only known by his native name, would take his name, he would pay all the expense incurred in his securing a first-class education. Such an offer was not to be despised, and as, from that time forward, our Indian lad was known as Henry Steinhauer. When the lecturing tour was ended, after some preparatory work in the mission school, Henry was sent to Victoria College in the town of Cobourg, Canada. Here he remained for some years. After his college life was ended, he devoted himself most thoroughly to missionary work among his own people, and for over forty years was the same modest, unassuming, useful, godly missionary. He spent the last years of his useful life among the Cree and Stoney Indians at White Fish Lake and other missions in the great Saskatchewan country of the Canadian North-West."

Alexander Antoine Taché, Canadian R. C. archbishop, born in Rivière-du-Loup, Canada, 23 July, 1822, was graduated at the college of St. Hyacinth, and studied theology in the Seminary of Montreal. He returned to St. Hyacinth as professor of mathematics, but, after teaching a few months, went to Montreal and became a monk of the Oblate order. He volunteered at once for missionary service among the Indians of the Red river, and reached St. Boniface on 25th Aug., 1845. He was raised to the priesthood on 12 Oct. following. In July, 1846, he set out for Ile-à-la-Crosse, and, after spending a few months at this mission, he went to labor among the Indians that lived around the lakes, several hundred miles to the northwest. Although only twenty-six years old, he was recommended for the post of coadjutor bishop of St. Boniface in 1850. He was summoned to France by the superior of the Oblate Fathers and consecrated bishop on 23 Nov., 1851. After a visit to Rome he returned to Canada in February, 1852, and on 10 Sept. reached Ile-à-la-Crosse, which he had determined to make the centre of his labors in the northwest. He became bishop of St. Boniface 7 June, 1853. St. Boniface was erected into a metropolitan see on 22 Sept., 1871, and Bishop Taché was appointed archbishop.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Terlaye (Père François Auguste Magnon de). [Hymns in the Nipissing language.] (")

Manuscript in the library of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada. Title furnished by the late Mrs. Erminnie A. Smith.

Père F. A. M. de Terlaye, priest of St. Salpice, was born at St. Malo, in France, July 24, 1724; came to Canada September 15, 1754, and was ordained priest May 24, 1755. From 1754 to 1760 he was a missionary at La Galette, and from the latter date until his death, May 17, 1777, at Lac des Deux Montagnes, where he is buried.

For an account of his writings in the Mohawk language, see Pilling's Bibliography of the Iroquoian languages.

Thavenet (Abbe —). Ébauche d'un dictionnaire algonquin-français. (*)

Manuscript; about 10000 slips; preserved in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emanuele at Rome. Title from Teza (E.), Intorno agli studi del Thavenet, where some extracts from it are given, pp. 14-18.

This is the most important of Thavenet's works. In many places two or more slips are taken up with the illustration of a single word, and numerous examples are also given. At the commencement is the following caution: "Ce dictionnaire est pour les missions. On ne doit pas le livrer au public, de peur que les protestants ne s'en servent pour répandre leurs erreurs." The author states that the work "ne contient que les mots que j'ai recueillis de la bouche des sauvages: les missionnaires y ajouteront ceux qu'ils recueilleront aussi."

Concerning this dictionary Prof. Teza remarks: "Non rammento di avere visto citato il lessico del Thavenet che una sola volta, nell'opera di un anonimo francese [Rev. J. A. Cuoq] Études philologiques sur quelques langues sauvages de l'Amérique par N. O. Montréal, 1866: ora il missionario, parlando della voce Odjibwe, nota (pag. 20): 'le savant algonquiniste, M. Thavenet . . . donne dans son dictionnaire manuscrit, un'interprétation . . . plausible. . .'. C'è forse o al Canada o tra i nipissiani di Francia copia di questo dizionario, o un compendio? e non potevano i missionari consultarlo che a Roma, quando era nel convento dei Santi Apostoli? Il libro è una raccolta preziosa: e per l'abbondanza delle parole, e per quella degli esempi; bensì nessuno giudicherà dirittamente quanto possa aggiungere alle cose che i dotti conoscono, se non paragoni con cura questo lessico a quello del Baraga; ma pur troppo il Dictionary of the Ojibwe language (Cincinnati, 1853), già stampato, somiglia a' libri inediti, e benché da anni lo lo vada cercando non mi riuscì di trovarlo. Altri sarà forse più fortunato: non si può errare supponendo che, comparate le due opere, l'una sarà all'altra di sussidio, e di illustrazione."

— Dictionnaire | Algonquin-français.

Manuscript, 2 p. 11. pp. 1-917, 1 l. folio, in the library of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada.

On the recto of the first leaf (the verso of which is blank) is written: "Ce dictionnaire fait par M. Thavenet (Nikik), retourné en France en 1815, a été mis au nat en 1819 par M. Charles De Bellefeuille Prêtre du Séminaire de Montréal. L'original sur de petites papiers a été envoyé en France sur la demande de l'auteur."

The title above occurs on the recto of the second leaf, the verso of which is headed "Avertissement," and contains the rules observed in the dictionary. The text begins on p. 1: "A. a, considéré comme caractère" etc. and is arranged alphabetically by Algonquin words. M. De Bellefeuille in copying this material used only the inside halves of the sheets, i. e. the right hand one-half of the versos and the left hand one-half of the rectos, leaving the respective outer halves for additions, notes, &c. many of which have been inserted by other hands. The dictionary proper ends on p. 911 with the word: "Zan, après un voy.: zan, après un consonne." The verso of 911 is blank, the recto of the next leaf being numbered 912, upon which begins a second list of words from a to w which extends to p. 917. The unnumbered leaf at the end contains a "Liste alphabétique de oiseaux aquatiques, etc. the verso of which is blank.

This manuscript is quite legible and splendidly preserved.

— [Algonquin-French dictionary.] (*)

Manuscript; in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emanuele at Rome. This is merely the beginning of Thavenet's revision of the dictionary described above. It goes only as far as the word dbittawing, not counting other smaller slips, which number at least four thousand. Among the latter are the first collections of words and examples made by the author for use in the dictionary. Description from Teza (E.), Intorno agli studi del Thavenet, p. 20.

— [Algonquin-French dictionary.] (*)

Manuscript; in the Biblioteca Comunale at Bologna. A fragment only of a transcript, probably by Cardinal Mezzofanti, of Thavenet's revision of the dictionary. It contains from A, se transporter, aller, to abbezzerin, sucur, and is accompanied by examples and useful observations. Description from Teza (E.), Saggi inediti di lingue americane, p. 12.

handwriting of Thavenet. Description from Teza (E.), Saggi inediti di lingue americane, p. 12, where the words under the letter P are printed in a foot-note. The vocabulary has been printed in full, with notes by Prof. Teza, on pp. 65-81 of the Catechismo dei missionari cattolici, Pisa, 1872. A list of errata in this printed vocabulary is given in Teza (E.), Intorno agli studi del Thavenet, p. 14, note.

— [Algonquin and French phrases.] (*)

Manuscript; preserved among the papers of Cardinal Mezzofanti in the Biblioteca Comunale at Bologna. It is described as follows by Prof. Teza: "parecchi foglietti di frasi algonchine e francesi, ricopiati in gran parte, e ordinati spesso per modo che al francese scritto dal Mezzofanti il missionario [i. e. Thavenet], che forse gli era maestro, appone di sua mano la traduzione." A short extract from it is given in Teza (E.), Saggi inediti di lingue americane, p. 12.

— Grammaire algonquine. (*)

Manuscript; preserved in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emanuele at Rome. This is merely the commencement of a work which was never finished. It begins with the following notice:

"Cette grammaire, qui a été faite au milieu de la nation algonquine, parait dans son costume sauvage, n'ayant emprunté des grammaires européennes que les mots techniques que n'a pu lui fournir un peuple qui n'a jamais cultivé les sciences. Lorsque j'en ai fini mon travail sur la grammaire de la langue algonquine, ceux des sauvages qui m'avaient aidé me dirent que j'avais fait un livre sur la parole, sur l'écriture, et sur le discours. J'ai adopté cette définition, et je l'ai prise pour division de la grammaire."

"Andava il Thavenet raccogliendo i fatti e ordinandoli: certo aiutato da' lavori più antichi che erano guida a' nuovi missionari; discuteva, rifaceva, copiava, faceva ricopiare. Per alcune parti del suo trattato pareva fosse più contento; e sotto il n.º I abbiamo la redazione ultima de' capitoli sull' alfabeto, sui suoni, sui sostantivi (genere, numero, forma diminutiva, peggiorativa, possessiva, proterica, dubitativa, interrogativa, passiva, positiva: e casi), sui pronomi. Ma non si procede oltre . . .

"È naturale intendere gli algonchini educati dai missionari; e quelle sono le definizioni portate d' Europa. Disgraziatamente quando toccava al verbo, il Thavenet non arrivò a tempo di illustrare i fatti con regole sicure: ed ora il ricomporre in unità tutte quelle note sparse sarebbe un' aspra fatica. Aggiungo poi che, paragonando l'opera del francese con l'eccezionale grammatica ogibua del Baraga, veggio che poco c' è da aggiungere dove il lavoro è quasi completo: poco da sperare dove s'avrebbe ad andare incertamente pescando."

The library press-marks are given by Teza as follows: "L'autografo di questa parte ind. n.º II.—In questo trattato si trovano già gli appunti che abbiamo nel n.º III.—Altre note di primi abbozzi sull' alfabeto e sul nome trovati nel n.º XI e XII."

Manuscript; in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emanuele at Rome. They are mentioned by Prof. Teza, in his essay Intorno agli studi del Thavenet, p. 21, as follows:

"Benai vi sono, in certi fascetti di carta, utili capitoli che mostrano la diligenza e la lunga pratica del Thavenet . . . Tra queste parti che potranno essere utili anche a' tempi nostri sono le schede sulla Division de deux mots en un e quelle Sur le nom change en écrit, trattelli che stamperò altrove: come pure pubblicherò, perchè breve, un Essai de comparaison de l'algonquin avec le montagnais, nel quale abbiamo il Credo nelle due parlate, tanto affini, con noterelle che fanno osservare diversità e somiglianze."

quin language.] (*)

Manuscripts; preserved in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emanuele at Rome. They are described in Teza (E.), Intorno agli studi del Thavenet, p. 21, as follows:

"Si notò già che in questa raccolta, oltre al lessico e alla grammatica, abbiamo alcuni testi:
e perchè questo magro indice sia meno incompiuto aggiungerò che in lingua algonchina ci sono ancora prediche (xxiii, J), preghiere (xxiii, I e xxiii, C), il rituale per il battesimo e per la confessione tradotto alla lettera in latino (xxiii, P. Q) un motet pour l'assomption, et un duo pour la fête-Dieu con le parole e le note (xxiii, H), e in fine un cantico irochese con la versione francese (xxiii, M)."

The abbé Thavenet was a French Sulpitian who passed many years of his life in preaching the Catholic faith to the Indians of the Lac des Deux Montagnes, of Temiscaming, and of Way-montaching, in Canada. His instructor in the Algonquin (Nipissing) language was an Indian named Ignace Pepamipattotch, who died in 1834.
In 1815 Thavenet returned to France, and in 1845 he died in Rome at an advanced age.
Among his manuscript papers, now preserved in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emanuele at Rome, are letters relating to the Algonquin language from the missionaries Durocher, Richard, and Quiblier; and from P. S. DuPonceau, John Pickering, and W. von Humboldt.

Thavenet was the author of the Latin and French versions which accompany the anonymous Algonquin catechism printed at Pisa under the care of Prof. Teza in 1872. The notes to the catechism and the Algonquin-French vocabulary at the end are by him also. When the catechism was printed the authorship of these portions was unknown to the editor.
The original manuscript (64 pp. oblong quarto) is preserved among the papers of Cardinal Mezzofanti in the library of the University at Bologna. There is a transcript of it in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emanuele at Rome (no. xxv), which gives the text only, without the versions, and stops at page 49 of the Bologna manuscript (page 40 of the printed edition), closing with the words: "kaye anicininiwak ka nicqiato." In this transcript there are variations in the text, changes in the orthography, and some omissions, but it contains the Confiteor ("Ni wihtamawák kije-Manito mizi ka ni-tawitôté . . .") and the act of contrition ("Kije-Manito, n'ose, ohdjita kit onicio . . ."), which are lacking in the manuscript at Bologna.
Then there are other fragments of this same catechism in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emmanuele: one (with the press-mark xxiii A) which contains as far as page 13 of the Bologna manuscript (to the end of page 17 of the printed edition); and another (press-mark xxiii B) on the communion, which follows a more or less the Bologna text page 49 (printed edition, p. 40)

Manuscript, about 80 pp. foolscap. The author describes it for me as follows:

Part I. Selections from the Book of Common Prayer; e. g., Creed, Lord's Prayer, Ten Commandments, etc.

Part II. Selection from the Holy Scriptures, Genesis 1-3, and portions of the Gospels concerning the birth, life, etc. of Christ.

Part III. Nine hymns (translations).

Part IV. Elementary instruction for children in schools.

Dec. 31, 1889, Mr. Tims wrote me from England as follows:

"The British and Foreign Bible Society are about to print the Gospel of St. Matthew in Blackfoot, and the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge are about to publish 'Readings from the Holy Scriptures,' which consist of Genesis I-III, and selected portions of the four gospels containing an account of our Lord's birth, life, works, death, resurrection, and ascension. I expect to remain in England long enough to see the proof-sheets and then to return amongst the Blackfoot Indians."

— Indian place-names on Long Island and islands adjacent, with their probable significations. (*)

Manuscript, in possession of its author, who described it for me October 26, 1889, as follows: "So far the manuscript contains over four hundred names. With each name will be given extracts from the early records and deeds of the towns where they occur, showing their appearance, different forms of spelling as given by the early recorders, why the name was so bestowed, etc. With the significations will be given parallels from various cognate dialects. The manuscript is now well advanced, and only awaits the publication of some of the early town records, not deeming it advisable to have it published until all the facts relating to each name can be secured. With the names appear historical data relating to the early history of Long Island never before published. The work will be arranged similar to Dr. J. H. Trumbull's Indian Names in Connecticut.

Hall and Co., 25, Paternoster row, London. | (All rights reserved.) [1873]

Colophon: London: | printed by Grant and co., 72-78, Turnmill street, E. C.

Title verso blank 1 l. advertisement (dated February 7th, 1873) verso blank 1 l. introduction (signed J. B. and dated October 31st, 1873) pp. 1-iv, dictionary of languages (in alphabetical order) pp. 1-361, list of contributors p. 362, errata verso colophon 1 l. 12°.

Edited by James Bonwick, Esq., F. R. G. S., assisted by about twenty-two contributors, whose initials are signed to the most important of their respective articles. In the compilation of the work free use was made of Bagster's Bible of Every Land, and Dr. Latham's Elements of Comparative Philology. There are also references to an appendix, concerning which there is the following note on p. 361: "Notice.—Owing to the unexpected enlargement of this Book in course of printing, the Appendix is necessarily postponed; and the more especially as additional matter has been received sufficient to make a second volume. And it will be preceded with so soon as an adequate list of Subscribers shall be obtained." Under the name of each language is a brief statement of the family or stock to which it belongs, and the country where it is or was spoken, together with references, in many cases, to the principal authorities on the grammar and vocabulary. An addenda is given at the end of each letter.

The following are the principal Algonquian languages represented. Ahannak — p. 2.

"Mr. Longfellow's sonnet on Eliot's Oak, in the March Atlantic, deserves over-setting into Massachusetts. Last evening I made a nearly literal translation, and I herewith send you a copy. J. H. T." The above note precedes the Indian version, which is in twenty-six lines, exclusive of the heading. It is followed by the sonnet in English, "literally translated" from the Indian.

A criticism of this version, by an anonymous contributor, appeared in the Atlantic Monthly for June, 1877 (vol. 39, p. 749). "J. H. T.'s rendering of Mr. Longfellow's sonnet into Massachusetts," the writer remarks, "has naturally attracted a great deal of attention in New England, and particularly in that section of the country in which I chance to reside—Ponkapog, namely. In this old Indian village the study of Massachusetts has long been one of the lighter relaxations of the inhabitants. At fashionable evening parties in Ponkapog the conversation is carried on almost exclusively in that tongue. As in Concord the children 'dig for the infinite' instead of making mud pies, like simpler children in less favored localities, so in Ponkapog the very urchins in the street chatter Massachusetts over their tops and marbles. The increasing interest in this beautiful but too much neglected language warrants me in pointing out one or two imperfections in Mr. T.'s otherwise faithful translation of Ponkapog Oak. To begin with, keonapogunak line, is obviously a misprint for quash. Eliot is not pegi chusee. The omission of the circumflex accent over the fourth a in wadtauatongussuogdek-nish, in the line below, is also probably a typographical error, but it is a singularly awkward one, since it changes both the gender and the tense of the word. However, these are blemishes which cannot have escaped even the most careless reader of The Atlantic. I pass to what seems to me a grave misconception of the original text. The sixth line,

'Kah nishnoh howan nootam nehenwonche wuttinnontoowaonk ketoohkaän,' strikes me as being a very inadequate rendering of

'Thou speakest a different dialect to each.'
If, as the translator gives it, 'every one hears his own language when thou [the tree] speakest,' there would be no difficulty whatever in understanding that Talking Oak; anybody might sit down on an exposed root and have a free and easy powwow with that accomplished old son of the forest. But Mr. Longfellow distinctly states, in the first quatrain of his sonnet, that the 'Myriad leaves are loud

With sounds of unintelligible speech.'

Clearly, J. H. T. is wrong, and has dropped into some unintelligible speech on his own account.

"In criticising so able a scholar I have allowed my interest in the subject to overcome my diffidence. Even Homer sometimes nods, and J. H. T. may easily be forgiven if he does not always get his Massachusetts quite right."

— [A dictionary of the Massachusetts ("Natick") language, compiled from John Eliot's translation of the bible, and his other works of translation, with some additions from other sources.]

Manuscript, 286 ll. 4<sup>o</sup>, written for the most part on one side of the leaf, but making above 300 pages in all. In the possession of its author, who writes me as follows concerning it:

"In this first essay or rough draft of a dictionary of the Massachusetts language as it was written by Eliot, I followed Cotton in entering the verbs under the form that Eliot regarded as their infinitive mood. I discovered my error when it was too late to amend it—in this draft. Ten years later I began a revision of my work, entering the verbs under the third person singular of their indicative present (aeisic), in their primary or simple form. That revised copy [see the next following title] I have been obliged to leave, at present, incomplete. The materials for supplying its deficiency may be gathered from this volume."

Manuscript, 2 vols. 4<sup>o</sup>. Vol. I, 175 ll. (A-Nick); vol. II, 106 ll. (Pd-Tut).

In possession of its author, who writes me concerning it as follows:

"In this revision the verbs are entered under the third person singular of the indicative present; and many corrections of and additions to the first draft [see the next preceding title] have been made. As will be seen, it wants, to completion, all between Nick and P and after T (i. e., U, W, Y)."

— English-Natick Vocabulary, from Eliot's Bible, and his other translations; with additions from Cotton's Vocabulary, Roger Williams's Key, and other sources.

Manuscript, 264 ll. (written on one side), 4<sup>o</sup>.

In possession of its author, who writes me concerning it as follows:

"This English-Indian vocabulary, or dictionary, was compiled, mainly, to serve as an index to the 'Dictionary of the Massachusetts (Natick) language' of Eliot's translations; but to add to its usefulness for ready reference, it includes many words not found in Eliot's works, from various sources, including several manuscript vocabularies, etc."

James Hammond Trumbull, philologist, born in Stonington, Conn., December 29, 1822. He entered Yale in 1839, and though, owing to ill health, he was not graduated with his class, his name was enrolled among its members in 1839, and he was given the degree of A. M. He settled in Hartford in 1847, and was assistant secretary of state in 1847-'53 and 1859-'61, and secretary in 1861-'64, also state librarian in 1861. Soon after going to Hartford he joined the Connecticut Historical Society, was its corresponding secretary in 1860-'63, and was elected its president in 1868. He has been a trustee of the Watkinson free library of Hartford, and its librarian since 1863; and has been an officer of the Wadsworth atheneum since 1861. Dr. Trumbull was an original member of the American Philological Association in 1859, and its president in 1874-'75. He has been a member of the American Oriental Society since 1869, and the American Ethnological Society since 1867, and honorary member of many State historical societies. In 1873 he was elected to the National Academy of Sciences. Since 1866 he has devoted special attention to the subject of the Indian languages of North America. He has prepared a dictionary and vocabulary to John Eliot's Indian Bible, and is probably the only American scholar that is now able to read that work. In 1873 he was chosen lecturer on Indian languages of North America at Yale, but loss of health and other labors soon compelled his resignation. The degree of LL. D. was conferred on him by Yale in 1871 and by Harvard in 1887, while Columbia gave him an L. H. D. in 1887—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Bio.

Manuscript, 150 pp. written in French.

The third part, pp. 120-150, consists of philological, grammatical, and etymological notes, wherein the Cree is compared—first etymologically, then grammatically—with the Assiniboin, the German, the English, the Latin, French, etc.

These manuscripts are in possession of their author, who has furnished me the above information as well as the following sketch of his life and work.

Father Valentin Theodore Végréville, missionary Oblate of Mary Immaculate, was born at Châtillon, Canton of Evron, Department of Mayenne, France, September 17, 1826. He made his studies successively at Evron, Laval, La Martinière, and Marseilles, where he was ordained priest in 1851. For a year he was an O. M. I. religious. By way of Havre, New York, Montreal, Chicago, and St. Paul, he went to St. Boniface, then capital of all the North-west. He commenced to exercise the apostolic ministry in that locality at the same time as the other Oblates and people of the same order. In 1854-55, and prepared to penetrate more deeply into the North. During 1857-1858 he gave his attention to the Montagnais, Chipewyan, and the Cree tribes of the Northwest. The winter of 1857-58 he passed again at St. Boniface. In 1858 he went into the field, leaving St. Boniface in 1860 to take the mission of Lac du Fort, in the midst of the Montagnais and visiting them afterwards in other places. He returned to St. Boniface in 1861, in 1862 he was sent to Lac Seul, where he ministered to the Indians and the Chipewyan speaking of the Montagnais & Cree. In 1864 and 1865 he served the mission of St. Joseph, Edmonton. In 1866, 1867, and 1868 he gave his attention to the Assiniboin and the Chipewyan speaking Cree and French of Lac St. Anne. In 1867 and 1868 he took St. Denis, Fort Saskatchewan, and then returned to Lac St. Anne, 1869-1870. In 1870 he descended the Saskatchewan River, stopping at St. Laurent, where he was to depart for the West, but he stayed the following seasons at St. Eugene, 1871, St. Antoine-de-Padoue, 1872, 1873, St. Anne in the town of Fort Assiniboia, 1874, St. Louis de Langevin, 1875. The next autumn of the year 1880 found him going from one of his missions to another, returning as his previous season required, in those times of trouble and war. In the month of July 1881 he descended again to ward Edmonton, and received the administration of the Mission of St. Christopher. Numerous visits in the neighborhood of the post designated above complete the list of wanderings of this missionary. He is now (January 1880) stationed at St. Albert, Alberta.

Father Verwyst was born November 23, 1841, in Uden, Province Bord Brabant, Holland. He landed in Boston in May, 1848; went to Wisconsin in 1855; was ordained priest in St. Francis Seminary, near Milwaukee, November 5, 1865; and went among the Indians in the Lake Superior country in 1873.

"As to my name, I beg leave to say that I used to be a secular priest, and then my name was Christian Adrian. In 1882 I joined the Franciscan Order, and then, as is usual on such occasions, received a new name, that of Chrysostom. It was whilst I was still a secular priest that I published the 'Mikana gijigong enamog.' In 1896 I published my small English work, 'Missionary Labors,' when I was already a Franciscan and had received the new name Chrysostom.

"As to the spelling, Verweyst or Verwyst, I lately came to the conclusion that the latter mode of spelling is probably the more correct, as many Dutch names are spelled with a simple y, e. g., Van Slyk, Van Dyk."

plying with the request of some gentlemen of New England, to make some investigations as to the dialects of the Abnaki, we have happily met with an ancient manuscript containing the Lord's Prayer and the Angelical Salutation in pure Abnaki language. Its striking difference from the language of the dictionary of Father Rale, and of any existing dialect, corroborates the opinion, that the original Abnaki language is lost, and that at present we have merely dialects of it. We insert these remains here, in order to preserve them as one of the few monuments of the pure Abnaki that have escaped the voracity of time. Every vowel marked with an accent has a nasal sound." This notice is followed by the Lord's prayer in pure Abnaki, Angelical Salutation in pure Abnaki, and the Lord's prayer in pure Mareschit, pp. 578-579.

For an account of one of the manuscripts used by Father Vetromile in preparing this prayer book, see under Oiquard (F.) in the Addenda.

On page 558 is this "NOTE.—Although we do not know the authors of all the manuscripts which we have used in this compilation, yet we are certain that this Mass was written by F. LaBrosse, S. J., Apostle of the Montagnais Indians, who died at Tadoussac, Canada, in esteem of sanctity."

In a letter to Rev. J. M. Finotti, dated from Eastport, January 19, 1875, Father Vetromile writes: "When my prayer book was printed in New York by Mr. Kirker, 8 type setters left him. I corrected the proof-sheets three times, and yet I was obliged to add a long list of errata, because the last correction was not well executed in New York."

Manuscript, 3 vols. folio, in the library of the Bureau of Ethnology. Compiled by Father Vetromile during the years 1855 to 1875, while missionary among the Abnakis. Volume 1, pp. 1-573, contains prefatory remarks, description of the alphabet used, synopsis of the Abnaki language, including brief grammatic remarks, a table of abbreviations, and the English-Abnaki dictionary from A to H, inclusive. Volume 2, pp. 3-595, contains further remarks on the grammar, and a continuation of the English-

Abnaki dictionary, I to Z, inclusive. The dictionary in each of these volumes is divided into four columns; the first containing words from the Abnaki dictionary of the Rev. Father Rasles; the second, words in the Penobscot; the third, Mareschit; and the fourth, Micmac. Volume 3, pp. 1-791, contains the Abnaki-English dictionary, A to Z, and includes words in the Penobscot, Etchimin, Mareschit, Micmac, Montagnie, and Passamaquoddy dialects. In this volume the definitions are also in Latin, "in order to fix the meaning of the Indian words against alterations, which the English language might undergo in course of time."

The manuscript is clearly written and well preserved, being bound in heavy leather.

— The Aborigines of Acadia. | An address before the Maine Historical | Society in 1861 by Rev. Eugene Vetromile | Missionary of the Etchemins, Maine. | Corresponding Member of the Maine Historical | Society etc.

Manuscript, 8ll. 4°, preceded by one leaf containing a letter from Vetromile to Rev. Charles Kauder, dated Biddeford [Maine] July 28, 1862, transmitting the manuscript. It is a general account of the aboriginal settlements, with many native terms, their etymology and meanings, passim.

The manuscript was in possession of Mr. Bernard Quaritch, London, England, who kindly permitted me to examine it. He priced it 1l. 1s.

It is perhaps the original manuscript, or a copy thereof, of the article which appeared under similar title in the Maine Hist. Soc. Coll. vol. 7, for which see above.

The following extract from a letter of Father Vetromile to Rev. Joseph M. Finotti, dated from Biddeford, Dec. 7, 1864, probably relates to this manuscript: "At the request of Rev. Christian Kauder, a missionary amongst the Micmacs of Nova Scotia, I wrote an article on the Micmacs. He was publishing the Micmac Hieroglyphics (discovered by me), and my article was inserted there under my name as a preface to the work. The work could not be published in this country for want of the proper types. The Austrian Government took the matter in hand and cast the proper types for it, and it was published in Vienna. The publisher requested a short history of the Micmacs to be used for preface. Mr. Kauder could not write it, but applied to me, and I wrote it. He translated it in German at Nova Scotia, and sent it to Vienna, where it was published in German. No edition exists in English."

In another letter to the same person, dated from Eastport, 28 Settembre, 1875, Father Vetromile writes: "Circa all'opera del P. Kauder, non credo che sia stampato, perchè i caratteri non esistono, mi sembra che sia litografata in un vol: in quarto di 146 pag: ed il nome del litografo non fu pubblicato. Sarà più facile per — [Letters from Rev. Eugene Vetromile to Rev. Joseph M. Finotti, respecting manuscripts and printed books in the Abnaki and Micmac languages.]

Manuscript, four letters, containing 9 ll. 8<sup>o</sup>, in possession of Mr. Wilburforce Eames, Brooklyn, N. Y. Dated respectively from Biddeford, Dec. 7, 1864. Eastport, 19 March, 1873. Jan. 19, 1875, and 28 September, 1875. They are written partly in English and partly in Italian.

The first letter contains titles and descriptions of the author's own works in Abnaki and Micmac, with a brief account of the Micmac Hieroglyphic prayer book printed for Rev. Christian Kauder. The third letter gives accounts of the prayer books in Abnaki of Fathers Demillier and Romagné, of the manuscript Micmac grammar of Father Menard (i.e. Maillard), and of the manuscript manual of prayer and catechism of 62 pages in Abnaki of Father Francis Ciquard, written in 1792. The fourth letter contains some additional information about Kauder's Micmac prayerbook. Extracts from these letters are given under the next preceding title, and under the names of Fathers Ciquard, Maillard, and Romagné, in the Addenda of this bibliography.

Eugene Anthony Vetromile was born in the city of Gallipoli, in the province of Lecce, Italy, on the 23d day of February, 1819. His first education was under private instructors, then at the College of Naples, and finally at the seminary of his native city, where he was graduated. Subsequently he came to this country and entered Georgetown College, District of Columbia, where he finished his education for the priesthood, receiving the degree of doctor of divinity in 1846. For about twenty years he was a member of the Society of Jesus, but afterwards became an apostolic missionary to the Indians, in which capacity he was connected with the Congregation di Propaganda Fide in Rome. His missionary field was among the Etchemins and Abnakis of Maine, and for a long time he had pastoral charge of St. Mary's Church at Machias; his more recent residence, however, was at Biddeford.

In July, 1867, he left his charge for an extended tour abroad. Upon his return he published (1871) Travels in Europe, Egypt, Arabia, Petraea, Palestine, and Assyria. In 1876 he started on an extended tour around the world, and his observations will be found in his Tour in both hemispheres. (New York, 1880.)

Father Vetromile went abroad again the present year, and while in his native Gallipoli was seized with apoplexy and died on the 23d of August, 1881. By his will he left a sum of money for the benefit of the widows and or-

Claude Francis Viot, French missionary, born in France 16 Feb., 1721; died near Fort Niagara in July, 1750. He became a Jesuit in 1738, and in 1750 was sent to Canada, where he labored for several years among the Abnaki Indians with great success. He was then sent to Ohio river, where he founded a mission among the Delawarees at Sakunk, on the mouth of the Big Beaver. The influence that he was gaining over the tribe excited the jealousy of Pakanke, chief of the Wolf tribe, and he was forced to leave. He afterward acted as chaplain to a body of French soldiers, and was killed when he participated in an attempt to relieve Fort Niagara.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Rev. Casimir Vogt was born at Wurzen, in Prussia, in 1844. He was educated at the college and university of Breslau, was ordained priest in 1870, and served as chaplain at Her-markt until 1875. He then joined the order of St. Francis, and the same year made his home at Tentopella, Ill. In 1878 he was appointed missionary to the Chippewa Indians on Lake Superior, his headquarters being at Bayfield, Wis. until 1884, when he removed to Superior in the same State. He is still engaged in missionary work, his jurisdiction extending to the Indian settlements on the Court Oreilles, Chippewa, South Flambeau, and St. Croix rivers in Wisconsin, and on the St. Louis and Snake rivers in Minnesota.

The origin of many of the names is traced to the Indian languages. The particular Indian language from which the name is derived in any case is seldom stated, but the Algonquian languages are well represented.

The work has been kindly forwarded to the Bureau of Ethnology, for examination, by Mrs. R. M. Watkins, of Beaver, Pa. Where it will permanently remain can not at this writing be definitely stated.

The following biographic notes are extracted from the Official minutes of the Pittsburgh annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 1890 (Pittsburgh, 1890), pp. 51-52:

"William Brown Watkins was born in Bridgeport, O., May 2nd, 1834, and died of apoplexy at 3.15 a. m., August 16, 1890, at Ridgeview, Pa., Camp Ground, where he had been announced to preach on the Sunday following.

His boyhood was passed with his parents in the place of his birth, and the neighboring city of Wheeling, Va. Such education as could be obtained in the common schools of that period was secured in part by the aid of his parents, and in part on the principle of a real self-support. The summer months afforded him employment, and its compensation defrayed his expenses while in the winter school. . . . The building of the Wheeling suspension bridge offered the opportunity of engaging in various labors, and part of his time was allotted to an apprenticeship to a mechanical trade. Afterward he taught in a school, and during this time entered upon the study of law. . . . In early life he was converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in Bridgeport, O. During the pastorate of Rev. J. J. McIllyar, he was received by certificate into the church in the neighboring town of Martin's Ferry, and in 1885 he was there licensed to preach. . . . In all these various fields of labor he was eminently successful; as a preacher, popular and influential with the people who largely gathered to his ministry. . . . His great love for philological pursuits led him to the study of the origin, or derivation, the orthography, pronunciation, and definition of the words in use in the English tongue, and the fruits of his labor quietly entered into words of this kind, and were gratefully received, and their value acknowledged. His last loving labor, left incomplete, a dictionary of proper names, of large scope and research, attests his tireless industry, plodding zeal and enthusiasm in these pursuits, the wide range of his investigations, the skill with which he could use all accessible materials, and his ability to digest and bring out of obscurity the truth. . . .

by Henry R. Schoolcraft, LL. D., and the Hon. J. Hammond Trumbull, whose high reputation and well-known accuracy in whatever relates to the Indian languages, literature, and history, are a sufficient guaranty for the correctness of this portion of the Vocabulary. Information in regard to certain names of the same class has also been obtained from the Rev. Edward Ballard, Secretary of the Maine Historical Society."

In Dr. Trumbull's essay on The composition of Indian geographical names (Hartford 1870, p. 50, he says: "It may be proper to remark in this connection, that the writer's responsibility for the correctness of translations given in that vocabulary does not extend beyond his own contributions to it."

The publishers of Webster's dictionaries, Messrs. G. & C. Merriam & Co., inform me that this etymological vocabulary first appeared in the edition of 1864—Noah Porter's first edition. I have not easy access to a copy of that edition, and so have contented myself with titling the nearest to it in date which the Library of Congress possesses. The etymological vocabulary appears unchanged in the 1888 issue of the Unabridged, but has been excluded from the new (1890) International.

[New York? 1862?]

No title page, heading only; text pp. 1-3, 82.

Alphabet, vowel sounds, consonants, diphthongs, sounds peculiar, pp. 1-2. — Examples (13) in this orthography (Ojibway and equivalent English), p. 2. — The Lord's prayer (Matthew vi. 9-13, in Ojibway), p. 2. — Hymn, "Come Holy Spirit, Heavenly Dove" (five stanzas in Ojibway), pp. 2-3. — Questions and answers (five of each, Ojibway and equivalent English), p. 3.

Miss Harriet Wheeler, Beloit, Wis., daughter of the author, says: "The pamphlet entitled 'Orthography of the Ojibway language' was published in 1862, and was the orthography used in publishing the hymn book [see Jones (P.) and others, pp. 239-270], a copy of which you have." In another letter the same writer says: "After studying the language a few years my father published an Orthography of his own, which he considered more simple and better adapted to the language than the French method. It was used in his mission school at Odawah, and is still used extensively by the missionaries among the Ojibways."

torical Society. The writing stops near the middle of the recto of the 10th leaf. The first 5 ll. are in Ojibwa, the remainder being the equivalent English. The above heading appears at the top of the first page, and the heading "Covenant" at the top of the fourth page. The first portion of the work, occupying the first three leaves, consists of eleven numbered articles or paragraphs, and is evidently the "confession of faith." The "covenant" occupies ll. 4 and 5. The English portion commences on the sixth leaf with the heading "Confession of Faith of The Mission Church at La Pointe" the eleven articles in English extending to the recto of the eighth leaf, near the bottom of which is the heading "Covenant" and the commencement of the English equivalent of that portion of the work.

Manuscript in three parts, in the possession of the compiler of this bibliography, consisting of 12 pp. letter paper, 17 pp. letter paper, and 17 pp. foolscap. The work consists almost entirely of verbal forms. Concerning this work Mr. E. P. Wheeler, of Beloit, Wis., a son of the author, writes me as follows:

"It was my father's plan, had he lived, to carry out his system of orthography in a series of text books for use in the schools where both the English and Ojibwa Indian languages were taught. He hoped also to have completed a grammar which he started, some manuscripts of which may still be in existence."

Miss Harriet Wheeler, a daughter, in sending me the manuscripts above described, says: "My father prepared a grammar and acatechism, but owing to ill health was not able to finish them."

Manuscript, apparently a fragment, 10 unnumbered ll. 6 by 9 inches in size; no title or general heading; in possession of the compiler of this bibliography.

Ojibway and equivalent English facing.

A few headings appear—"Days of the week," "Different kind of houses," "Things used in making a house," "Persons and things in a school house."

— Words from the Peep of Day. [1842-1866.]

Manuscript, 20 unnumbered ll. 6½ by 8 inches in size, with heading as above, in possession of the compiler of this bibliography. Parallel columns of Ojibway and equivalent English. Sub-

Leonard Hemenway Wheeler was born in Shrewsbury, Mass., April 18, 1811. He graduated from Middlebury College in 1837, and from Andover Seminary in 1840. The fall and winter were spent attending medical lectures in Pittsfield and practicing medicine in Lowell. On the 26th of April, 1841, he married Miss Harriet Wood of Lowell, and started for their missionary field, arriving at La Point Island, Aug. 1, 1841. They began work at once, relieving Mr. Hall, the founder of the mission, who devoted the greater part of his time to translating the Bible and Peep of Day into Ojibwa.

The Indians spent their time in hunting and fishing, and, as Mr. Wheeler mingled among them and studied their customs, he became thoroughly convinced that no permanent good could be done the Indians until these roaming habits were broken up. He accompanied them to their sugar camps at Odawah, and, observing the richness of the soil, conceived the idea of locating the Indians upon these lands, giving patents to them and obliging them to work them. By the co-operation of the American Board with the Government, he secured the land for the Indians, and went to Odawah in May, 1845. His time and strength were taxed to the uttermost in building a house for his family, a church and school-house, preaching, teaching, tending the sick, and instructing the Indians in the first principles of farming. In 1856 he opened a manual labor boarding-school for the benefit of the children on the reserve. Their education was thoroughly practical and was intended to make self-reliant, self-supporting men and women of them. The school was a success and was a power for good to all the Indians upon the reserve. In 1862 Mr. Wheeler published a new orthography, which was introduced into the mission school. By its use the English teacher was able to read the Ojibwa with one hour's study. In 1859 he published a hymn-book (see p. 270 of this bibliography), and during the next two years commenced a grammar and catechism, but owing to ill health it was not completed. For thirteen years Mr. Wheeler's constitution had been giving away to the larsons of consumption, brought on by exposure and overwork. In the fall of 1866, by the advice of his physician, he resigned his work and moved to Beloit, Wis., where he died Feb. 25, 1872.

Amiel Weeks Whipple, soldier, born in Greenwich, Mass., in 1818; died in Washington, D. C., 7 May, 1863. He studied at Amherst; was graduated at the U. S. military academy in 1841; was engaged immediately afterward in the hydrographic survey of Pataasco River, and in 1842 in surveying the approaches to New Orleans and the harbor of Portsmouth, N. H. In 1844 he was detailed as assistant astronomer upon the northeastern boundary survey, and in 1845 he was employed in determining the northern boundaries of New York, Vermont, and New Hampshire. In 1849 he was appointed assistant astronomer in the Mexican boundary commission, and in 1853 he had charge of the Pacific railroad survey along the 35th parallel. In 1856 he was appointed engineer for the southern light-house district and superintendent of the improvement of St. Clair flats in St. Mary's river. At the opening of the civil war he at once applied for service in the field, and was assigned as chief topographical engineer on the staff of Gen. Irvin McDowell. — Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

White (Rev. Andrew). Grammar, dictionary, and catechism in the language of the Maryland Indians. (*)

"Father White labored among the Piscataways, and these works were probably in their language. When Rev. Father William McSherry found White's Relatio Itineris in the archives of the Professed House of the Jesuits at Rome about 1832, an Indian catechism accompanied that document. A copy of it was promised me, but in the troubles in Italy the valuable papers were boxed up and stored for safety." — J. G. Shea.

— See Interpretation.

Andrew White, clergyman, born in London, England, about 1579; died there 27 Dec., 1636.

He was educated at Douay college, France, where he was ordained priest in 1605. After his return to England in 1606 he was arrested, with sixteen other priests, and sentenced to perpetual banishment. He entered the Society of Jesus on 2 Feb., 1609, and returned to England at the risk of his life, and was engaged in missionary duties there until 1619. In 1633 he was chosen by the Jesuit general, Mutius Vitelleschi, to accompany Lord Baltimore to this country, with some other Jesuits. After landing he devoted himself to the conversion of the Piscataway and Patuxent Indians. Father White learned the language of the Indians, and compiled a grammar, vocabulary, and catechism. They were all supposed to be lost until Father William McSherry discovered the catechism in the Jesuit archives at Rome.—Ap-pleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

In American Ant. Soc. Proc. April 25, 1860 [no. 32], pp. 45-46, Boston, 1860, 8°. (Eames.)

A list of twenty names of birds, and seventeen names of fishes, mostly with English descriptions. The names are taken from the scrap-book of 112 original drawings, in water-color, of this artist, preserved in the British Museum (Sloane and additional Manuscripts, 5270). This book came to the Museum with the collection of Sir Hans Sloane; and the volume has this entry, which is believed to be in his handwriting: "The original drawings of the habits, towns, customs, of the West Indians, and of the plants, birds, fishes, &c., found in Groenland, Virginia, Guiana, &c.: by Mr. John White, who was a painter, and accompanied Sir Walter Raleigh in his voyage. See the preface to the first part of 'America' of Theodore de Bry, or the 'Description of Virginia,' where some of these draughts are curiously wrought by that graver."

Another collection of drawings by White, perhaps similar to the above, was sold by Henry Stevens to the British Museum in 1860, for 235l. It is described in the printed catalogue of the library as follows: "The pictures of sondry things collected and counterfeited according to the truth in the voyage made by Sr Walter Raleigh knight, for the discovery of La Virginea . . . in the yeare . . . 1585. [The 76 original drawings in water colours made by John White, who was sent by Queen Elizabeth as draughtsman in Raleigh's second expedition to Virginia in 1585, some of which were engraved by Theodor de Bry in 1590 to illustrate his edition of Hariot's 'Report of Virginia' in Pt. I of his America.] [1585] fol. G. 6837r."

The pagination of this work is faulty in several instances, and the collation above does not give the true number of pages, which is 224. The first 16 pages are unnumbered. Up to p. 76 it is correctly paged; 77 is numbered 67, 80 is called 86, and 94 and 95 precede 92 and 93 in numbering though correct in reading. None of these errors, however, affect the number. There is no 96 or 97. After 114 comes 105, and this error of 10 pages in the numbering runs throughout. Allowing for pp. 96 and 97, it leaves a plus of 8 pages, making the number in the book 16 (preliminary), 205, 3 = 224.

"I have read over these thirty Chapters of the American Language, to me wholly unknowne, and the Observations, these I conceive inoffensive; and that the Worke may conduce to the happy end intended by the Author. Io. Langley.

"Printed according to this Licence; and entered into Stationers Hall."

This is the earliest printed book of Roger Williams. In the preface he says: "I drew the Materials in a rude lump at Sea, as a private helpe to my owne memory, that I might not by my present absence lightly loose what I had so dearly bought in some few yeares hardship, and charges among the Barbarians; yet being reminded by some, what pittie it were to bury those Materials in my Grave at land or Sea; and withall, remembering how oft I have been importun'd by worthy friends, of all sorts, to afford them some helpe this way," etc.

Roger Williams, founder of Rhode Island, born in Wales in 1599; died in Rhode Island early in 1683. He embarked at Bristol 1 Dec., 1630, in the ship "Lion," and on 5 Feb., 1631, arrived at Boston. Soon after his arrival in Massachusetts he was invited to the church at Salem as assistant to the pastor, Mr. Shalin.
Mr. Williams was settled 13 April, 1631, assistant or teacher in the Salem church. At Plymouth he was settled in August, 1631, as assistant to the pastor, Ralph Smith. Here he made his first acquaintance with the chief of the Wampanag and Narragansett, and being an excellent linguist soon learned to talk in the language of these Indians.

In 1634 he was settled as pastor of the church in Salem.

In 1636 he assisted John Clarke and William Coddington in negotiating the purchase of Aquidneck, or Rhode Island, for which the Indians were liberally paid.

In 1643 he went to England and obtained the charter for the Rhode Island and Providence settlements, dated 14 March, 1644. Mr. Williams landed in Boston 17 Sept., 1644. Through his exertions a treaty was made with the Narragansett 4 Aug., 1645, which saved New England from the horrors of an Indian war.

Mr. Williams sailed in November, 1653, for England, in company with John Clarke.

He returned to Providence in 1654 and took part in the reorganization of the colonial government in that year. He was chosen, 12 Sept., 1654, president of the colony and held that office until May, 1655.

In King Philip's war Mr. Williams accepted a commission as captain of militia, and was active in drilling the train-bands, though his advanced age prevented him from taking the field.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Mr. Eames has also another copy of this work, in cloth boards, uncut edges, with paper labels on the backs, printed apparently about 1860, but, like the titles, dated 1832. The contents of the two volumes agree exactly with the above as far as page 660 of volume 1, and as far as page 711 of volume 2. The variations are as follows: In volume 1 another appendix is added (no. 4, Sketches of the principal characters in Maine, etc.), filling pp. 661-696. In volume 2 the appendix no. 5 (List of Counties and Towns within the State, etc., pp. 712-714 of the above, ending on page 714 with a note of seven lines), is omitted, and in its place is inserted a new appendix no. 5 (Index . . . a list of counties and corporate towns inclusive), filling pp. 712-729. This is a general index to both volumes. Excepting the titles, and the absence of the portrait and plate, the sheets of this copy are the same as in the edition of 1839 described below, of which it seems to be merely a reissue. In neither do the lists of contents include the additions.

Rev. Edward Francis Wilson, son of the late Rev. Daniel Wilson, Islington, prebendary of St. Paul's Cathedral, and grandson of Daniel Wilson, bishop of Calcutta, was born in London December 7, 1844, and at the age of 1. left school and emigrated to Canada for the purpose of leading an agricultural life; soon after his arrival he was led to take an interest in the Indians, and resolved to become a missionary. After two years of preparation, much of which time was spent among the Indians, he returned to England, and in December, 1867, was ordained deacon. Shortly thereafter it was arranged that he should return to Canada as a missionary to the Ojibway Indians, under the auspices of the Church Missionary Society, which he did in July, 1868. He has labored among the Indians ever since, building two homes—the Shingwauk Home, at Sault Ste. Marie, and the Wawanosh Home, two miles from the former—and preparing linguistic works.

Edward Winslow, governor of Plymouth colony, born in Droithwich, near Worcester, England, 18 Oct., 1595; died at sea, 8 May, 1655.
He sailed in the "Mayflower" with the band of first settlers at Plymouth, and on 22 March, 1621, he was deputed to negotiate with Massa-soit, making a treaty that remained intact till it was broken by King Philip in 1675. In July, 1621, Winslow conducted the first embassy to the Indians, which was also the first attempt of the English to explore the interior.—*Appleton's

Wood (Rev. Thomas). [Grammar, & of the Micmac language.]

Rev. T. Wood, before going to Nova Scotia, for some years, the Society's missionary New Jersey. In 1762 he attended, during illness of several weeks, the Vicar-General Quebec, M. Maillard. After residing some at Halifax, he took up his residence, in 1771 Annapolis (formerly Port Royal), where remained during the rest of his life, dividing his labours between Annapolis and Grand-Pré. He immediately applied himself to the study of the Micmac (Indian) language, with no assistance than he could derive from papers of M. Maillard, and fully determined to persevere until he should be able to publish a grammar, a dictionary, and a translation of the bible. In 1766 he sent home the first volume of his grammar, with a translation of the Lord's prayer, &c., and was now at minister to the Indians in their own language. After a successful ministry of about 10 years he died at Annapolis, on the 14th of December, 1778.—Sprague.

Mr. J. T. Bulmer, librarian of the University of Dalhousie, Halifax, Nova Scotia, writes: "In the report for 1787 the Society for propagation of the gospel in foreign parts acknowledges the receipt of several translations into Micmac and the first part of his French and English Micmac grammar. I am of opinion that, while Mr. Wood could translate and preach in Micmac, M. Maillard's grammar was really the basis of his work. Several circumstances lend probability to this opinion. How did he come to make a French part of Micmac grammar, when the probability against his knowledge of that language was as I have been able to ascertain none of his works were printed, and I have made free applications to the society in London for manuscripts, but in vain."

Chap. XVIII. Of their Language, pp. 91-92, contains a few general remarks. The specimens of language fill the five unnumbered pages at the end, headed as follows:

"Because many have desired to heare some of the Natives Language, I have here inserted a small Nomenclator, with the Names of their chiefe Kings, Rivers, Moneths, and dayes, whereby such as have in-sight into the Tongues, may know to what Language it is most inclining; and such as desire it as an unknowne Language onely, may reape delight, if they can get no profit."

The nomenclator is a vocabulary of about 265 words, in Massachusetts Indian and English, alphabetically arranged. It is followed by the numerals 1-20, "The Indians count their time by nights, and not by dayes, as followeth," "How they call their Moneths," "The names of the Indians, as they be divided into several Countries," "The Names of Sagamores,"
"The names of the noted Habitations," and "At what places be Rivers of note." These supplementary names are all in Indian.

This translation of the Catechisme du diocèse de Québec is attributed to Wzokhilain on the authority of Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull. It is quite certain, however, that the version is of a much older date. The Lord's Prayer and Angelical Salutation on pp. 9-10 are identical with the specimens given by Father Vetroville in the third edition of the Indian good book (New York, 1858), pp. 578-579, from an "ancient manuscript" in the pure Abnaki language, concerning which see pp. 508-509 of this bibliography. About the time of the publication of the above catechism, Wzokhilain abjured Protestantism for a short period, for the purpose of gaining the consent of Simon Obomesawin, great chief of St. Francis, to the marriage of his daughter. It is possible, therefore, that he may have edited the little book as a token of his professed sincerity to Catholicism. The approbation of the bishop of Québec, dated May 15, 1832, is printed on the last page.

Pierre Paul Oumkhirine, afterwards known as "Masta," was an Indian of St. Paul. He received a good education at Mont's Charity School, Hanover, N. H., and returned to his native village as a Protestant missionary. In his tract and primer in the Penobscot language his name on the title-page was incorrectly printed Wzokhilain, because it could not be more exactly transliterated into that language.

About two hundred and seventy-four languages and dialects are here represented, of which twenty-five are American. Among the latter are the Чипевски (Chippewa), Делаварски (Delaware), Шавански (Shawnee), Нарѣчіе народовъ на рѣкѣ Делаварѣ (dialect of the people on the river Delaware), and Нарѣчіе народовъ на рѣкѣ Шаванотъ (dialect of the people on the river Savannah). Numerous words of the three first named are scattered through the work, which is printed entirely in Russian characters. The last two appear mostly in the first volume. Each page is divided into three columns, the first containing in alphabetical order the words of various languages, the second showing the Russian equivalents, and the third giving the names of the languages represented in the first column. This edition was edited by Feodor Yankiewitch. One thousand copies were printed.

Copies seen: British Museum, Eames.

The work of which the above is a rearrangement was begun by the empress Catherine II of Russia in the summer or autumn of 1784. After laboring on it personally for about nine months, she called Prof. Peter Simon Pallas to her aid, and ordered him to digest the material and prepare it for the press. On the 22d of 1786, a circular or prospectus of the work, in 1786 a Modèle du vocabulaire de la comparaison de toutes les langues, printed, and sent out for additional information. specimen was forwarded to General Washington, through the Marquis de Lafayette, with a request for some authentic vocabularies of the North American Indians. The receipt of this application was acknowledged on May 10th, 1788, by General Washington, who wrote on the 20th of the following August to Capt. Thomas Hutchins, enclosing the printed specimen, and asking for vocabularies of the Ohio Indians. A few months later, November 27th, 1788, hearing that Richard Butler had been appointed Superintendent of Indian Affairs, General Washington wrote to him, requesting him to obtain the printed form from Capt. Hutchins, and to collect the desired information. A little more than a year passed before the material was ready. On the 20th of January, 1788, Washington transmitted to Lafayette a vocabulary of the Shawanese and Delaware languages, collected by Mr. Butler, together with a shorter specimen of the language of the southern Indians by Mr. Benjamin Hawkins.

In the meantime, by order of the empress, work on the great comparative vocabulary had been rapidly hurried on. The first section was completed and published, with Latin titles prefixed, Linguarum totius orbis vocabularia comparativa; augustissimae cura collecta, Petropoli, 1786-1789, 2 vols. 4°. (Eames.) It comprised words in 51 European, 137 Asiatic, and 12 Polynesian languages, with the numerals at the end in 225 languages, all in Russian characters. 285 selected words were treated separately, 130 in the first volume and 155 in the second. The Russian word was placed at the head of each list, and followed in numerical order by the names of the 200 languages, each with its equivalent word in one line.

The second section, which was intended to comprise the American and African words, in one volume, was never printed. This was due to a change of plan. The empress, it seems, was not satisfied with the result. She now wished to have all the words arranged in one general alphabet, irrespective of language. As Prof. Pallas was busily engaged in other scientific labors which had been assigned to him, the services of Feodor Yankiewitch de Miriwo, director of the normal school at St. Petersburg, were immediately called into requisition. Under his direction all the material in print and manuscript was recast, the American and African words included, and the whole published in four volumes, as described above.

The manuscript does not contain the Lord's prayer, etc., which are appended to the printed edition of 1776, but, in place of it, the following articles:

"1. A short history of the bible, evidently original, in Delaware and English, in parallel columns.

"The principal authority on the Delaware language is the Rev. David Zeisberger, the eminent Moravian missionary, whose long and devoted labors may be accepted as fixing the standard of the tongue.

"Before him no one had seriously set to work to master the structure of the language and to reduce it to a uniform orthography.
With him it was almost a life-long study, as for more than sixty years it engaged his attention. To his devotion to the cause in which he was engaged, he added considerable natural talent for languages, and learned to speak, with almost equal fluency, English, German, Delaware, and the Onondaga and Mohawk dialects of the Iroquois."—Brinton.

David Zeisberger, missionary, born in Zauchententhal, Moravia, 11 April, 1721; died in Goshen, Ohio, 17 Nov., 1808. In 1740 he emigrated to Georgia, where his church was organizing a mission among the Creeks. Thence he was sent to Pennsylvania, where he assisted in the building of Nazareth and Bethlehem. Preparatory to entering the mission service in 1743, he became a student in the Indian school at Bethlehem, where he was instructed in the Delaware and Onondaga languages. Later he continued the study of the latter at the capital of the Five Nations. In addition to these languages he was conversant with Mohican, Monsey-Delaware, and Chippewa. From 1745 till 1750 he was employed at Shamokin and Onondaga, and in the latter year he visited Europe in behalf of the mission. In 1752 he returned to Onondaga, but was compelled to retire to Bethlehem at the opening of the French and Indian war. Between 1755 and 1762 he visited North Carolina and the New England provinces, labored among the Indians of Connecticut, and also acted as interpreter for Pennsylvania in their treaty with Teedyuscung and his allies. During the Pontiac war he took charge of the Moravian Indians and after the peace accompanied them to Wyalusing, Bradford Co., Pa. In 1767 he established a mission among the Monsey-Delawares on Alleghany river, and three years later he began Friedensstadt, on the Beaver. His first visit to Ohio was made in 1771, and a year later he organized the mission on the Muskingum. In 1788, Zeisberger with a few converts left Canada and founded Goshen, Ohio, where he passed the remaining ten years of his life.—Appleton's Cyclopedia of Am. Biog.

Manuscript, filling 22 pages of foolscap, unbound. Consists of about 900 Menominee verbs, with conjugations more or less complete. Collected and recorded in 1882, 1883, and 1884, at Keshina and elsewhere on the Menominee Reservation. The work is arranged English-Menominee in parallel columns, two of each to the page.

Father Zephyrin also has these verbs classified, on quarto sheets, in Menominee-English order through the letters a, b, and c of the English (about 70 words); he was interrupted in his work at that stage, and this classification was, when he wrote me (July, 1885), incomplete.

On page 48 of this bibliography the title of the above work is given in full, and the date ascribed is 1825. As stated there, I have seen but one copy, and it is possible in copying the title-page I may have incorrectly transcribed the date. In Jülg's edition of Vater's Litteratur-historie (1847), p. 475, the date of the work is given as 1825, from a copy in the Berlin, and this date is copied in Ludwig's Literature of American Aboriginal Languages (1858), p. 44. In Trübner's Bibliographical guide to American literature (1859), p. 248, the work is dated as 1829. The probability that the latter date is the correct one is based upon the following statement:

"On the 12th of March [1828], we received a joint letter from the Rev. A. Bingham and the Rev. Mr. Stannard, missionaries to a small band of Indians at Tonawanta, in New-York, expressing a wish to unite with us in missionary labours. Mr. Stannard died not long after this. We were much gratified with an opportunity of opening correspondence with Mr. Bingham, and were not mistaken in hoping that it might eventuate in enabling the board to meet the engagements we had made with the Department of Indian Affairs, in relation to the establishment of a missionary station at Sault de St. Marie. We wrote the board, without delay, in favour of commencing that station. In 1828, Mr. and Mrs. Bingham were appointed missionaries, by the board, for that station, which they have ever since occupied, with commendable zeal and some success. The station was located near Fort Brady, which is garrisoned as a military post, and not far from a village of two or three hundred Chippewa Indians."—McCoy's History of Baptist Indian Missions (1840), p. 330.

Manuscript; among the papers of C. Mezzofanti in the Biblioteca Comus Bologna. A transcript in the handwriting of the cardinal is also in the same collection; another is preserved among the manuscripts of Abbé Thavenet in the Biblioteca Emmanuele at Rome.

The epistle begins with these words: "Ketchi-ayamie-oyossiminang; Meyakawatch tebeniminang Jesus ondaji ki nipakwiwini-anamikkonimin songa went najwayakisiyang Omani-winiw Otichkwagani." And in Latin: "Res Pater; Qui vices Domini nostri Jesus in orbe terrarum geris; ad pedes sanctae provolutis tribus Algonquin Nipissingorum sinas te salutare." At the end are subscribed the names of eleven Indians, including that of the author, and "Durocher P.<sup>re</sup> M.<sup>re</sup> Ch. de Bell P.<sup>re</sup> Direct.<sup>r</sup> de la Mission."

The above description is from Te Saggi inediti di lingue americane, pp. 1-2. The author is mentioned as follows in of Père Durocher, printed in Tema (E.) agli studi del Thavenet, p. 5: "Mon nipsing, Ignace Chawanabe qui, pour en passant, a le mérite de la composition discours algonquin en réponse au bréviaire sainteté Grégoire XVI." In another letter, Durocher writes, Nov. 5, 1834: "Chawanabe de l'aveu de tous mes sauvages, est le plus posséder le mieux la langue."

Ciquard (Rev. Francis). [Mant prayers, and catechism, in the Algonquin and French languages.]

Manuscript, 62 pp. 12<sup>o</sup>, formerly in possession of Rev. Eugene Vetromile, Biddeford, Me.

In a letter to Rev. J. M. Finotti, dated Eastport, Jan. 19, 1875, Father Vetromile gives the following account of the manuscript:

"When I was in Worcester a small prayer book of 62 pages, 12<sup>o</sup> [12<sup>o</sup>?] was amongst some old papers and books. A friend of mine purchased it, and found it to be in Indian and French made a present to me. I found it to be a manual of prayers and catechism in Abnaki language, written by Fr. Francis Ciquard, missionary in New Brunswick, written in 1792. He could not be the author of them, because he did not know the Algonquin language; nor Fr. Rasles could have written them, because when he commenced his ministry on the Kennebec, 1791 [sic], he had no missionary, as I know from Bp. Carroll of Baltimore (in 1791 [sic] Fr. Rasles had amongst the Indians at the time he commenced his ministry. Ciquard arrived from 1792, and Bp. Carroll amongst these Indians. I have also this second letter of Bp. Carroll, which was sent and delivered by Fr. Ciquard.

"So these prayers and catechism are very old and their author is not known. I have scrupulously preserved them, corrected, and embodied in my prayer book [i. e. Indian good book, New York, 1856, 1857, 1858], not allowing a single alteration. The Bishop wanted me to alter the form of Baptism in Indian, but I declined for the respect of that old formula, and the more I learned the Indian language, the more I found to be correct, and now I do not think that it could be put in better Indian. I do not know of any language of my knowledge, the Greek and Latin included, that could express the form of baptism in a theological point of view as well as the Indian does."

Rev. Francis Ciquard was a native of Clermont, in France. He was ordained priest in 1779, and in 1792 was sent to America. Bishop Carroll at once placed him in charge of the Penobscot Indians at Old Town. At this mission he remained for about ten years, when he removed to take charge of the Indians of Tobique and St. Anne, near Fredericton, in New Brunswick. From 1812 to 1815 he was missionary of the Abnaki Indians at Saint Francis. He died at Montreal.

Eliot (John).

The following additional notices of the Indian new testament and bible have come to hand since the main article was put in type.

(8\*) The new testament of 1661. A copy in the Library of Glasgow University, Glasgow, not mentioned in the list on p. 137. Press-mark, BE 6—d. 9. Bound in old calf, without lettering. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$  by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches. It contains both the English and Indian titles, with the diamond-shaped figure on the latter, and agrees with the collation given on p. 133, including the two original blank leaves. There is in it the following inscription: "Ex libris Bibliothecae Universitatis Glasguensis, Will. Dunlop, prin. Empt: publicis Academiae sumptibus 1691." Information from the librarian, Mr. James Lymburn.

(14) The new testament of 1661, mentioned on p. 138. (14) The bible of 1663, mentioned on p. 145. The Rev. Thomas K. Abbott, B. D., librarian of Trinity College, Dublin, writes under date of November 10th, 1890: "I believe all but one of our copies of Eliot's Bible were disposed of as duplicates some years ago. The only copy retained is classed Press B. 2. 3." It was presented by Robert Hawshaw, A. B., 21 May, 1770, and, as respects the sides, the binding is original, but the back has been repaired. The Indian title appears to be on the original first leaf of signature A of the new testament, and the diamond-shaped figure is on the Indian new testament title. The size of the leaf is 7 $\frac{1}{4}$  by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches. The Indian title precedes the leaf of contents. This title is mounted, and, together with the leaf of contents and the dedication, appears to be of later date. The book is perfect, and in very good condition.

(13\*) The bible of 1663, third variety. A copy in the Bibliothèque Nationale at Paris, not mentioned in the list on p. 145. Press-mark, A. 2484. In old calf binding, probably original, without lettering. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$  by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches. It contains the English general title, the dedication of the whole bible, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title (with the diamond-shaped figure), Matthew to Revelation, the metrical psalms, and the final leaf of rules. The book was purchased for the Royal Library in the time of Louis XIV, and is entered as No. A.

236 in the catalogue of that library printed in the eighteenth century. Information from Monsieur E. Delisle, of the Bibliothèque Nationale.

(27) The bible of 1663, mentioned on p. 148, in the Library of Glasgow University, Glasgow. Press-mark, BE 6—c. 1. Presented about 1698 by the widow of Robert Burns, jun., merchant, of Glasgow. It has been quite recently rebound. Size of the leaf,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  by  $5\frac{1}{2}$  inches. It contains the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title (with the diamond-shaped figure), Matthew to Revelation, 1 blank leaf, the metrical psalms, and the final leaf of rules. Information from the librarian, Mr. James Lymburn.

(1) The bible of 1685, mentioned on p. 157, in the Library of the Faculty of Advocates, Edinburgh. Bound in old calf, plain tooling, no lettering. Size of the leaf,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  by 6 inches. No dedication. On the first blank leaf is the inscription, "Ex dono Josias Clark," and on the second leaf, "Ex libris Bibliothecae Facultatis Juridicae Edinburgi 1703." Information from Mr. William M. Cooper, of the Advocates' Library (by direction of Mr. Clark, the librarian), in letter of November 13, 1890.

(30) The bible of 1685, mentioned on p. 164, in the Library of Leyden University, Leyden, Holland. In the original binding of brown calf, without lettering. Size of the leaf,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  by  $5\frac{1}{2}$  inches. It contains the original leaf of dedication to Robert Boyle, inserted after the title. On the front leaf is the following autograph inscription: "Publicum Academiae Lugduno-Batavae Bibliothecam, Hæc SS. Bibliorum versione Indica apud Cantabrigienses in Nova Angliæ excusa, donat Crescentius Mathernus, V. D. M. nec non Collegij Harvardij, quod est Cantabrigia: Nov. Anglorum, Rector. Julij. 4. A. D. 1687." Information from Dr. W. N. de Rien, chief librarian of the University, in letters of November 4th and 11th, 1890.

(43) The bible of 1685. A copy in the Bibliothèque Nationale at Paris, not mentioned in the list on p. 165. Press-mark, A. 2465. In the original leather binding, without lettering. On the back has been pasted a strip of parchment, inscribed, "Biblia anglo-saxonica." Size of the leaf,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  by  $5\frac{1}{2}$  inches. It has not the dedication to Robert Boyle. The book was formerly owned by Louis Picques, doctor of theology, who died May 9th, 1699. A manuscript note in his hand is on the title-page. A librarian of the eighteenth century has also written on the title, "Nova Albion. Dialectæ samoyeda." Louis Picques bequeathed it to the Jacobin Convent in the rue St. Honore, Paris, where it remained until 1790. It reached the National Library about the year 1798. Information from Monsieur E. Delisle, of the Bibliothèque Nationale.

Concerning the copy of the bible of 1685, left at Winchester College by Mr. Sewall in 1689, as mentioned on p. 168, the librarian, Mr. Thomas

Copies seen: Eames, Pilling, Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge.

The original manuscript of this work is in the possession of its author. Fifty copies of the work were printed from the copy made with the cyclostyle by Mr. Brewer, an employe of the Society.

Mr. Garrioch, of St. Xavier's Mission, Fort Dunvegan, Peace River, was born at St. Paul's Parish, Red River Settlement, or Manitoba, Feb. 10, 1848, and is of Scotch and English parentage. He was for three years a student at St. John's College, Winnipeg, and in 1874 was engaged as schoolmaster by Bishop Bompas for the Church Missionary Society. The winter of 1875-'6 he spent in study with the bishop at Fort Simpson, McKenzie River, and was admitted to deacon's orders, and in the autumn of 1876 he established a Church Missionary Society station at Fort Vermilion under the name of Unjaga Mission. Mr. Garrioch subsequently among the Beavers of Peace River, but at Dunvegan instead of Vermilion. He has translated a number of works into the Beaver language, which have been published.

Gatschet (Albert Samuel). [Vocabulary of the Arapaho language.]

Manuscript, 25 ll. 4°, in possession of its author. Collected at Carlisle, Pa., in 1880, from Waxseesi, an Arapaho student there, and from Gaspar Edson in 1883. It consists of words, phrases, and sentences, and is for the most part unclassified.

— [Vocabulary of the Cheyenne language.]

Manuscript, 12 unnumbered leaves, sm. 4°, in possession of its author. Compiled in 1879 from information furnished by Titchklématsi or Squint-eye.

— [Vocabulary of the northern Cheyenne of Montana.]

Manuscript, 10 unnumbered leaves, sm. 4°, in the library of the Bureau of Ethnology. Collected in 1888.

— [Words, phrases, and sentences in the language of the Cheyennes of southern Dakota.]

Manuscript, 4°, in the library of the Bureau of Ethnology. Recorded in a copy of Powell's Introduction to the study of Indian languages, second edition, of which it occupies pp. 77-228 and 9 unnumbered leaves. Collected from Daniel Little Chief, a Carlisle student, at Washington, D. C., during the spring of 1891.

Most of the schedules are filled, and the unnumbered leaves contain much additional material, notably songs and verbal conjugations.

In two smaller blank books (respectively 34 and 60 pages, sm. 4°) Mr. Gatschet has recorded from the same source much linguistic information not called for in the introduction.

In possession of Capt. Dwight H. Kelton, U. S. Army, who furnishes me the following notes:

The late very reverend Edward Jacker was born at Ellwanger, Wurtemberg, Germany, Sept. 2, 1827, died at Marquette, Mich., Sept. 1, 1887, and was buried at Hancock, Mich. He was ordained a priest at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., in 1854, and from that time devoted his life to work among the Indians, by whom he was greatly beloved. Having received a liberal education, philology became his favorite pursuit, and this he made the leading study of his life, acquiring among others a theoretical and practical knowledge of the Algonquian Indian languages, one dialect of which—the Chippewa—he spoke fluently. His work of twenty years in correcting and amplifying Bishop Baraga's Chippewa dictionary was destroyed by an accident by which he lost his canoe and its contents. His unpublished mss. are in the possession of Capt. Dwight H. Kelton, U. S. Army. He was the author of Indian names of places near the great lakes, published by Captain Kelton, also of the "Indian names" published in the 1891 edition of Kelton's Annals of Fort Mackinac, and of the "Indian names" in the 1889 edition of Kelton's History of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal, which will be found titled on page 277 of this bibliography.

In a letter recently received from Mr. F. Jacker, a brother of this author, he uses the following language: "Though my brother was perhaps the most diligent, and with respect to the Algonquian dialects, the most accomplished and thorough student of Indian languages, but very little of his labors has gone into print. The work of his life, the compilation of an Ojibway grammar, when nearly complete in manuscript, was lost in Lake Michigan by the capsizing of his boat."

the Indian Prayer-book, as my translation could, with a few alterations, be adapted to the Indians in his diocese, speaking the Ojibwa or Ottawa languages; but found that he had himself procured a translation of part of the service into that language, which he had caused to be printed, and which has been for some time in use. The Bishop gave me two copies of this work, which is in the form of a small pamphlet, and though on the title-page it professes to be a translation of the Morning and Evening Services, contains only the Morning Service, the Litany, and the Ten Commandments, to which are added a few hymns taken word for word from Peter Jones's Collection. On looking over the work, I find it very carelessly done, and in many places a total misrepresentation of the spirit and meaning of the Liturgy; for instance, the verse Daniel ix. 9, 10, at the opening of Morning Prayer, is translated as if it were a prayer. The Absolution is also made a prayer of, or rather an unintelligible mixture of prayer and exhortation. Where the word circumcision occurs in the Litany, it is translated so as to make the supplication run thus, 'By the cutting of thy forehead.'

O'Meara (Rev. Frederick A.). See Spelling and reading book.

In addition to the brief account given on pp. 381-382 of this bibliography, the following particulars concerning Dr. O'Meara have been ascertained. He was appointed by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, in 1838, as a missionary to the Indians at Sault St. Marie, and was subsequently transferred by the Bishop of Toronto to the Government Indian mission at Manitoulin Island. In his Second Report of a Mission to the Ottawa and Ojibwas, on Lake Huron (second edition, London, 1847), he gives some account of his translations into the Indian language.

Under date of January 12, 1845, he writes: "Having lately seen more plainly than ever the evil of a book such as the Methodist Hymns being in the hands of my people, after the more public and fatiguing labours of the day were concluded, I tried what I could do at translating some of the Hymns and Psalms from our own collection. I succeeded in this, my first essay in that kind of work, so as to encourage me to proceed in the translation of a small collection to be appended to the Prayer Book."

During the next four months he revised his translation of the Prayer Book, and translated more Psalms and Hymns. In the latter part of May he went to Toronto, in order to make arrangements for the printing of these works. While at Detroit, he waited on the Bishop, for the purpose of ascertaining what he would do towards the Indian Prayer Book. From him he first learned of the existence of Johnston's translation of The morning and evening prayer (Detroit, 1844), concerning which see his remarks on pages 566-567 of this Addenda.

"September 18, [1845].—Sent the first portion of the manuscript of the Indian Prayer-book to the Rev. Mr. Grasset, to be transmitted by him to Dr. Bethune; it contains the Morning and Evening Services and Litany. I have taken much care with the writing, that it may be as legible as possible."

"October 13.—Busily engaged during all the time that could be spared from my usual work, preparing the manuscript of the Ojibway Psalms and Hymns, as the next opportunity will probably be the last this season."

The above-mentioned Prayer Book, Psalms, and Hymns were printed at Toronto in one volume, in 1848, as described on page 379 of this bibliography. Dr. O'Meara ministered to the Indians on Great Manitoulin Island for twenty-two years. According to Rev. J. A. Giffillan, he died at Port Hope in 1888.

Ridout (Thomas). Sundry words of the Shawanese language, the orthography of which is according to the English pronunciation.

In Edgar (M.), Ten years of Upper Canada in peace and war, pp. 376-381, Toronto, 1890, 2<sup>e</sup>. See p. 437 of this bibliography.

Mrs. Edgar has kindly furnished me a transcript, from the original manuscript, of the two Shawanese vocabularies from which the above list of words is compiled. In transmitting them she writes as follows:

"I am also sending you a careful copy of the Shawanese vocabulary, with the accents given, which you will see are wanting in the printed copy. There were two books in which I found it. One you had, the other, which has a larger number of words, seems to have been written afterwards, as it is arranged more in order. Many of the words in the second book are duplicates of the first, though in some cases spelt differently. I send you both versions side by side, and would like much to know which is the more correct form. In the printed copy there are some mistakes, owing to the want of a careful and skilled reviser. In the original some letters are blurred, and of course that made it difficult for one ignorant of the language to supply the deficiency."

Romagné (Rev. James B.) [Prayers and catechism in the Abnaki language.] (*)

Manuscript, formerly in the possession of Rev. Eugene Vétromille, Biddeford Maine. It is mentioned by him as follows in a letter to Rev. Joseph M. Finotti, dated from Eastport, Jan. 19, 1875: "The little book referred to [i.e. The Indian prayer book, Boston, 1834] was written, or rather prepared, by Fr. Romagné. I have seen only the front-page, and I do not believe that there is a single copy. The book was very incorrect by the fault of the editor, and because Fr. Romagné did not understand the language to distinguish and separate one word from the other. This was corrected by the holy Missionary Fr. Demillier at Pleasant point, who made several additions and a good translation in Passamaquoddy, of the petit catechisme pour la Diocèse de Québec. He prepared a neat copy to be printed, but he died before it was sent to the press. This manuscript is in my possession. [See page 110 of this bibliography.]

"Returning to Fr. Romagné's book, the original prayers and catechism were very correct and in good Indian, but its printer ruined it. . . . Fr. Romagné either copied the prayers etc. from some old manuscript, or put them on paper under the dictation of some Indian. Here was the trouble. . . .

"I find those prayers and Romagné, and corrected some very old syin" (anonymous) says the dictation" samaquoddy were copied from an old paper of an Indian called Sawhison. I first thought that they were written by Fr. Rasles."

Father Romagné, a native of Mayenne, was sent by Rev. John Cheverus, of Boston, to reside with the Penobscot and Passamaquoddy Indians about the year 1804. He established his abode at Pleasant Point on the Passamaquoddy, where "his house was a wretched log-cabin of but two rooms; his chapel little better; though both were superior to those of his flock. Worn down by frequent infirmities, he returned to France just after Bishop Fenwick was raised to the See of Boston in 1825."
